The Chair:

No. 727 Resolution appointing Deborah Miskovich, 1322 N. Highland Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15206, as a City Magistrate for a term effective immediately and to expire January, 1991.

Which was read.

Mr. Millions:

I would like my comments brought forward on Ms. Miskovich. I have no problem, Mr.

President, with the bills being taken collectively.

The Chair:

Let's deal with this one individually and then we'll go with the remaining as a group.

Is it the will of Council to have all comments brought forward?

Michelle Madoff:

It would take forever. We talked for one hour.

The Chair:

Okay, then I would like mine brought forward also for the Record.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like a footnote that you can refer to the Committee Session if you want to read my comments.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING -- MESSRS. MILLIONES AND WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON APPOINTMENT OF DEBORAH MISKOVICH AS HOUSING COURT MAGISTRATE,
WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1990)

Mr. Wagner:

Deborah, just a few questions and my colleagues have touched on many things that are of concern to me also.

I've watched you on the Zoning Board and I think you've done a very good job and I feel that you will do a good job here also.

I see the Housing Court as being a court that has increased in importance and will continue to in the future in the City of Pittsburgh with more landlords particularly more absentee landlords as we have more of a transient population in the city and hopefully we make the city better for investment for people to live with the reduction in the wage tax that has occurred and many, many other things that are occurring. So I see the importance of this position enhancing over time. If there has been any drawback in watching the Zoning Board hearings and I believe Mr. Ferlo referred to it earlier, it's the length and the timing and the way that they're conducted in a sense. That has occurred to some degree also in Magistrate's Court and I believe that people that are coming to court should come at a specific time and should be able to have their case heard and move on within a reasonable time period. Now I'm not saying that it should be like clockwork but time is of value to everyone and I would like you to make a commitment to make sure that somehow from a timing point of view that Housing Court moves along in a smooth fashion so that people's schedules are not disrupted for days at a time when they have to appear at Housing Court.

Ms. Miskovich:

I have no difficulty at all making that commitment. As justification, I do want to point out that the Zoning Board of Adjustment cases unlike the cases that come before the Housing Court magistrates are subject to appeal to the Court of Common Pleas and are not Trial De Novos which means that the transcript, the record that is made in the Zoning Board of Adjustment hearings is the transcript that they are relying on for purposes of appeal to the Court of Common Pleas, to the Commonwealth Court, to the State Supreme Court. Because of the importance of my making certain that there is a complete transcript that everybody had a fair opportunity to put their testimony on the record to preserve those issues for subsequent appeal, I do give people time. I do not limit my hearings to five minutes or twenty minutes or one-half hour or one hour. I give them all the time that they need to make a good record but understanding that those cases for the most part are going to be reviewed on the record that I make.

The Housing Court is entirely different. Those are statutory appeals as well to the Court of Common Pleas but on the other hand they're De Novo because they are quasi-criminal in nature.

Mr. Cohen:

If I may interrupt, you should explain what that means.

Ms. Miskovich:

I'm sorry. De Novo means that it's a whole new hearing. It's treated as if, whatever happened at the previous hearing the Court will recognize that there was a decision against your favor but you're given a whole new opportunity with a clean slate to start all over in presentation of your case and likewise prosecution has to present their case all over again so the Housing Court goes on appeal as De Novo, a whole new hearing. Zoning cases are not De Novo. The most that you can ever gain is -- in all of the years that I have been on zoning and with the City's Law Department, the most you ever gain on appeal is to allow for the taking of additional testimony but never to supplant the record.

Mr. Wagner:

However it is and whatever the difference is and I appreciate your explanation and your commitment towards the Housing Court, Mr. Zottola better be able to address this issue because I think the issue is an important issue on the Zoning Board but that's behind us. As long as you're making the commitment in the Housing Court, that's sufficient for me in terms of this discussion.

We have a repetitive situation with absentee landlords not notifying their tenants of various requirements by law such as refuse, placing refuse out in front of buildings. I hope that you are very tough on those people in the future. We are still suffering today in the city from the litter problem created for people putting rubbish out on Good Friday and that rubbish sitting for one week on streets throughout the city and I'm hoping that you are much tougher than your predecessors in terms of enforcing that law.

Ms. Miskovich:

I've turned in my husband whenever he didn't pull the car directly into the garage but let it park on our driveway -- the gentleman seated over to my left. I take a hard line on enforcement of the Code. I have no problem whatsoever going after the owners of property. Ultimately it is the owner of the property who's responsible and not the tenant. And regardless of whether or not he or she attempts to exculpate themselves from liability by including provisions in their lease doesn't do it under the law so I think that since I'll be ultimately going after the property owners.

Mr. Wagner:

Fine, but I want you to know that I would rule that your husband was not guilty because I think people should be permitted to park in their driveway so I hope that you don't enforce that law or maybe Council needs and I know we have all looked at that to some degree and we're continuing to look at it. There needs to be some amendments to that law and maybe they should expedite that process before you're appointed.

On another issue particularly with the absentee landlords, we need to send a message because they are making a profit on residents living in the city and us enhancing the environment where their investments are and we certainly think that their structures should be equal to or better than the residents or the homes around them in terms of appearance in the way they're kept and I'm looking for you to make sure that that happens in the future.

Ms. Miskovich:

You would not be disappointed.

The Chair:

I have a couple of questions. I perhaps will become part of what seems like a fan club you have here around the table. I don't know you and there are only two situations that I would like some further insight on. One was the case in Washington County that you represented and the folks who were opposing Mel Blount's youth home including the Ku Klux Klan and you represented that case. I was very curious as to why given that you -- of course lawyers can represent whom they choose but given that you were an important city public official that was intriguing to me. Could you say a little bit about that?

Ms. Miskovich:

Certainly I can. First of all I am an attorney and along with the privilege of having a license to practice law in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania comes with it the responsibility that I act as an advocate for clients regardless of whether or not they're on a popular side of the issue.

The Chair:

I understand that but that's not what I'm addressing.

Ms. Miskovich:

If I may, on this case I represented two abutting property owners. For those of you who followed the Mel Blount Conditional Use Application in Washington County, there were more than 400 individuals who participated in the proceedings that they had to have held in an auditorium. I represented two abutting property owners. I did not represent any other group whether it was a neighborhood group, a community group or a group such as the White Knights. My clients were not either representative of the White Knights nor were they members of the White Knights. I'm not in the position to pass any further except to say it's always interesting that when you articulate your client's position that the media tend to pick up only on one or two people whom they may have felt articulated a certain position. My clients were opposed to the grant of a Conditional Use Application for an institutional facility in a residential area. I've had perhaps 200 cases like that in the City of Pittsburgh and I've yet to have one of those cases ever come to the Zoning Board that hasn't generated controversy and by controversy I mean abutting residential property owners being concerned. My feelings about group homes and institutional facilities specifically those for youth, I sit in a non-renumerative capacity and had at the time I was arguing that case for AITPYST, which is the program that is out at the Schuman Center, not for the type of youth that Mr. Blount was proposing for his facility which were non-violent misdemeanor offenders and truant children, the children that I sit on the Board of Directors for are violent sexual youth offenders. It's an all-boy facility as well.

If I'm to have guilt by association because my clients were concerned with an issue that generated others' involvement that was not in line akin or in any way remotely indicative of my clients' concerns, then I guess that's always going to happen.

The Chair:

But you could understand why I am concerned.

Ms. Miskovich:

I certainly do and frankly in fact I had a case that's pending right now before me at the Zoning Board for a youth home in Baldwin Borough and I made a point without the request of counsel for the respective parties, I made a point of letting them know that for one's purpose on the one hand I want them to know that I had represented a client who was opposed to an institutional facility and on the other hand I sit on the Board of Directors that is very pro these types of institutional facilities that I from my personal perspective am very much in favor obviously or I wouldn't sit on the Board.

As an advocate I will represent my clients and again I represented two out of three or four hundred people that were there; they just quoted me.

The Chair:

I'm sure you're aware that not only are you a lawyer but you are a public official and with that comes the news media and all that goes with that.

Ms. Miskovich:

I would like to point out one other thing. That issue of the invocation of the KKK did not come up until several months after we had taken on representation. I worked for a corporate law firm and am an associate so I'm assigned to cases. When my firm took on representation of the two abutting property owners, that wasn't the issue. The issues were all the legitimate issues that should be addressed whenever you have a zoning issue before you. They entered the picture several months, it had to be five or six months well into it.

There is a Canon of Ethics that requires that an attorney not withdraw their appearance or cease being an advocate just because a case becomes difficult. If you'll bear with me, I have -- there's a theory called the --

The Chair:

-- I just have one more question. The issue that relates to the giving of variance for folks in the 3rd Ward to build a massive parking lot that abuts the property, the Crawford-Roberts property which everyone knows is going to be a pretty far reaching project and as I understand it you did not vote on that case. Are you familiar with the case?

Ms. Miskovich:

Yes, I'm familiar with it but I did not vote. I sat in it for the first part of the hearing and that case was being argued by Justin Johnson for the appellant developers and I don't believe that there was counsel representing the neighboring property owners.

I sat in and I heard the case. We have an understanding at the Zoning Board of Adjustment that whenever we feel that there is a conflict in a case, whenever we feel that we can't decide a case fairly, we don't participate in the vote and we take that very seriously.

I heard about the first 30 percent of the case and I had some difficulties with it and when -- although I have voted in the dissent on a number of cases, if I don't think that I can fairly judge a case then I won't sit on it and that's why I removed myself from participation.

The Chair:

But that doesn't answer my question. My question was, why didn't you vote?

This is a case that involved virtually every organization and constituent group in the Hill District opposing the building of a parking facility and what happens now happened is that the variance was granted and these community groups of which you had spoken earlier about have been forced to raise money to fight an appeal in Commonwealth Court on a case that has absolutely nothing to do with serving the needs of that community but of some entrepreneur but I'm interested in why you didn't participate.

(AT THIS POINT I WAS TEMPORARILY RELIEVED BY HELEN L. KRIEBEL)

PREPARED BY: MARY ANNE HRUSKA
STENOTYPE REPORTER

Ms. Miskovich:

The difficulty is, that case is on appeal right now as you indicated in the Court of Common Pleas. Although I could enjoy a confidential relationship with you on a one-on-one, I can't publicize my opinion of the case when it's pending on appeal. Right now it's sitting before Judge Penkower.

The Chair:

Yes, I understand. Well my opinion is that the case smells to high heavens, that it's speculation and that I'm concerned as to why a city agency made the ruling in the first place.

Ms. Miskovich:

I do know in all fairness to Mr. Fox and to Mr. Noonan who voted approval, I've always found them to be fair. They didn't discuss their decision with me either before or after.

The Chair:

Thank you.

And shall the appointment pass finally?

Mr. Cohen	Michelle Madoff
Mr. Coyne	Mr. Ricciardi
Mr. Ferlo	Mr. Wagner
	(Pres't)

AYES 6 NOES 1

(MR. MILLIONES VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the appointment of Ms. Miskovich was approved.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, we'll be offering a motion to reject two of the appointments and I don't know if we have to take them separately or not.

The Chair:

We'll take them individually.

Also,

No. 730 Resolution appointing Linda Brown, 223 Schenley Manor Drive, Pittsburgh, PA 15201, to the Board of Water Assessors of the City of Pittsburgh. Linda Brown will replace Robert Ravenstahl.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on this appointment and the other appointment, two of which are employees that the Mayor has suggested to Council be designated as the new members of the Board of Water Assessors, I'd like to raise an objection. My objection certainly is not with the two individual; they are competent staff people, they have served the City well.

I think inherently, though, with the appointment there is a flaw. I believe very strongly that in principle the composition of the Board of Water Assessors should be citizens and residents of the City of Pittsburgh and not appointed employees, especially employees within the very department that is supposed to ferret out complaints, legitimate or otherwise, that citizens have with their water rates and water bills.

In Chapter 303 of the Municipal Code which describes the composition, the duties of the Board of Water Assessors, in the composition it states that the Board of Water Assessors shall consist of three qualified residents to be appointed by the Mayor, one of whom shall be designated as Chairperson by the Mayor.

I think inherent in that description is an implication that these individuals should be residents and should be citizens and not staff people within the City bureaucracy. Every other place that I can think of in the Municipal Code and the powers of the Mayor to appoint membership to the various authorities and boards and commissions and committees, where there are employees to be designated on those authority boards or commissions, committees, whatever form it is, it usually spells out specifically in the Code, for instance in the Board of Code Review it states very explicitly what employees within the City bureaucracy would be on that board. And if you look throughout the Code, you'll find specific references to employees by title who should be on various boards, commissions and authorities.

I think implicit in the composition of the Board is that inherent impartiality that could come from citizens being appointed and not employees, and certainly not employees within the same department. It's sort of the fox watching the chicken coop. In one hand the individual citizen is supposed to go to this Board of Water Assessors and discuss in an impartial forum a problem or dispute they have with their bill, but they're discussing it, and this is in no way casting any aspersion on the individuals who are certainly competent and well qualified.

I think inherent, though, is the implication in the Code, and certainly in the Charter, that there be independent citizens on this Board. I think it's important as far as the due process of an individual citizen meeting with the Board. I think it's important as far as the impartiality that these three board members of the Water Assessors Board would show to an individual citizen who has filed a formal complaint.

And I think another main reason is that throughout the intent of the Home Rule Charter, our references that as much as possible citizens should be involved in government, and this is another form in which citizens have a possibility of being a member of an important board within the City government.

So, for all those reasons, I would ask that we respectfully disagree and reject the appointment of Ms. Brown and the other appointee to the Board of Water Assessors. For this reason, I will be voting no and I would hope that we all vote no and ask the Mayor to rethink this issue in terms of the composition of the Board of Water Assessors.

No one has been more articulate than my colleague, Michelle, over the years. I'm pointing out some of the problems in the Water Department with the billing and the collection and the flat water rate disputes, and I think we need to seek a new level of impartiality on the composition of the Board.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to suggest to my colleagues and the President of Council that we hold these two appointments and meet with the Administration to talk about either expanding the Board to have impartial people on it and see if we can revise the structure of the Board.

There's no question when what we're reading every day in papers is the kind of information that's coming out, even though there's an effort to contain the information, sort of contain the damage control. But every day we hear about someone else having a problem, not the least of which is one of our colleagues. And anybody with any sense of awareness has to look at that article and say how did this City ever allow the sale of a property without a final bill.

There's so much responsibility on the part of the City that I have to share my colleague's opinion that we need to have some impartial people on that, not the City, saying, well, we've done it this way for 35 years, we're going to try to change it, we've been working for a year, and while we're making some stride, it's the same old, same old.

I think it would not hurt us to wait a week and find out whether that Board can be expanded to include independent members.

Further, what is happening is that we are getting a list, perhaps not every member of Council but I will ask the Water Department to give me a list of the abatements. They just say abated. They don't say why. They don't say if the person had their water bill read, whether it wasn't read for ten years. Were we at fault? We don't know anything. We're just saying we're transferring money to give rebates. To whom, for what and why? We don't know those reasons.

I don't think it's an irresponsible role for us to hold it a week.

Mr. Ferlo:

Obviously I feel strongly about this issue and I would ask that we vote these down. I have no problem holding it if I thought that at the end of that discussion we'd actually come out with something different.

The Municipal Code very clearly states the composition has to be three individuals, so the idea of enlarging the Board — We would have to go through the process of amending the Code and informing the various parties and formal legislation to amend the Code. The Code very clearly states that it will be three members.

I might point out to Council that the other individual is Gretchen Donaldson who, as we all know, is the extremely competent Deputy Assistant Solicitor. But, again, that is an individual within the bureaucracy and that individual, coupled with the two appointees, makes it an in-house board. I don't think it's right and I think the citizens would like some impartiality.

Mr. Millones:

Your arguments do make sense to me but it doesn't make sense to me, however, that we would have called these people to the table under rather extensive discussions and questioning and even congratulations, as I recall, and then to come up today and say we don't think you ought to be appointed. It seems to me this discussion should have occurred last week.

Michelle Madoff:

I think Dr. Millones raises a very true issue. Yes, that should have been done that way. However, sometimes we miss the obvious. I wasn't aware of the obvious until Mr. Ferlo raised the issue of hey, this is all in-house. Shouldn't we be looking at it another way? It's like canceling the marriage the night before if the marriage isn't going to work out, or being embarrassed not to cancel because the invitations are out and the gifts are received.

Maybe we ought to look at not making it any worse and trying to solve the problem even at this late date.

I happen to think the two people appointed are outstandingly qualified for working in their particular jobs, but I hadn't thought of it from the perspective that my colleague raises and I think it's worthy of consideration. I see nothing wrong with holding it a week. Perhaps they could be members of the Board without having voting status, be part of informational. Maybe the structure of the Board could be changed in such a way but not having to go back and change the Code. They could sit in as an informational source, share information as to why, how, and so on, but an independent Board could actually do the voting.

The Chair:

Procedurally, we are going to vote on the appointment unless there is another motion put on the floor to hold --

Michelle Madoff:

I put a motion on the floor to hold one week.

The Chair:

Is there a second on the motion? Is there a second?

The motion fails due to the lack of a second.

Now, the motion that is automatically on the floor is for appointment.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just one brief last comment, Mr. President.

In response to my colleague, Dr. Milliones, he is right. I didn't actually start thinking about this issue until I engaged the individuals who were going to be appointed in discussion at the table. I did not learn about this composition issue and I did not research the Code until subsequent to that discussion.

His point is well taken but, to be honest, I really didn't ferret out some of these issues until they came to the table.

The Chair:

Okay, Ms. Brown is up for appointment to the Board of Water Assessors.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, point of order. Would you try to meet with the Administration on this issue and see if we can resolve the procedure of the Board, that they would still be members in good standing to share information representing the City and see if we can get the Administration to put in other names so that we'd have an independent Board?

The Chair:

I don't think that's possible to do both.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MICHELLE MADOFF'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 668, WEDNESDAY, MAY 9, 1990)

Michelle Madoff:

This is repairs, that's the operative word?

Mr. Valent:

The work involved was not repairs. If I can explain it --

Michelle Madoff:

-- it says repairs that's why I'm concerned.

Mr. Valent:

I don't know why it said that.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm sure Mr. Perry picked it up out of the material that was sent.

Mr. Valent:

If I can explain the work involved I'll be glad to.

Prior to the construction of the Bloomfield Bridge Project the Urban Redevelopment Authority negotiated with a property owner namely Allegheny Uniform Company at Finland Street and Bigelow Boulevard to purchase a portion of their property for the construction of the stairway to the Finland Street overpass. In order to construct this stairway they had to take a portion of their property. The agreement was that their retaining wall would be revised and their parking lot extended to provide them ample parking to take and provide them ample parking in substitution for the lot that was taken for the stairwell.

During the construction of the parking lot and the retaining wall it was found that in order to provide them proper access to their property the wall had to be extended and the asphalt paving had to be extended so basically this was the work involved. This work could not be done under the original contract because it involved work on private property.

Michelle Madoff:

When did you know you were going to do this work on private property?

Mr. Valent:

I don't know.

Michelle Madoff:

In relationship to the bridge?

Mr. Valent:

It was prior to the start of the project, yes.

Michelle Madoff:

That's exactly my point. Why didn't somebody include the dollar factor of the needs for the best part of the building of the Bloomfield Bridge at that time and the scope of work so you don't come back for a little add-on like finding an abandon mine on the side of the bridge and now we've got a piece of property that we have to make good on as a quid pro quo. I don't have a problem with that. The problem I have is that I want to know up front and not at the end. We just have this little oversight; it wasn't an oversight, you knew about it. You knew about it right up front. You should have included that in the cost of the project and tell us that this is the scope of work that's going to have to be implemented and there's going to be a cost factor involved.

Mr. Valent:

The cost was known initially as being $45,000.00, it was not known that it would go another $17,000.00 until construction was done.

Michelle Madoff:

You know I have a problem with all of this. The cost estimator really blew it again and again and again and it has to stop.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

I have a number of items I'd like to share with Council, if I may.

I want to thank my colleague, Mr. Ricciardi, because he has set up a precedent which I think is very effective and which I am emulating. You know, it's amazing to be here a number of years and you think you know the best way to do things, but you can always learn something from somebody else.

Mr. Ricciardi has been holding post agendas with the community and with the pertinent parties in the City so that everybody sits down together and shares information as an informational meeting.

I started to think about that. Our office is doing that as well but instead of running out to the community and having to set up meetings with 20 different people, we started to do it in the same way and it's very effective. So thank you.

I started to think about that and I started to think about another problem a lot of us have, and that is, trying to get information that never arrives. Those of us who have been here a long time know that we'll come to this meeting and information we've asked for isn't here.

So, I am going to try to have post agendas on the things that I don't have answers on. When I call a department head and I call all over and spend an afternoon and another day and I don't get answers, maybe the best way is to say, "Okay, we'll have a post agenda", bring them to the table and they have to show up.

So the first one I'd like to request, and it should take ten minutes, is that I've had calls in my office about the installers and supervisors on meters not getting their 26 cents and pay that they are allotted for travel time in lieu of their car.

I've talked to the Controller's Office and they tell me one story and I've talked to Ben Hayllar and I get another story and then I spoke to someone else and I got a third story. I still don't know the answer, but the people haven't been paid for March and April, and here we are into May.

So, I would like a post agenda, even if it's been paid, to find out why it wasn't paid, why the code account -- I was informed that the code account was NSF from the Controller's Office, but told that the money was there through Mr. Hayllar's Office.

Let's get everybody together. This is not a criticism but let's find out so that the Administration will know that we can't get an answer by phone. And if they don't get back to us, we will hold a post agenda because I think it's important that we know these things.

On another matter. This Council, I believe, has agreed in principle and I assumed I had the votes, to waive the -- Engineering and Construction particularly does business in awarding contracts. Somehow or other, the colloquialism or the name that has been applied to this bill has been "not to exceed".

It is not just about not giving the store away by advertising how much we have to give away. It's a number of other things. The Administration has said yes, the other things are wonderful. But how do we take the "not to exceed" out of the not to exceed bill? The whole purpose of the bill is to remove that number.

And so we talked about having a range which is what happens in the private sector. You don't say that you have $3 million to spend if that's what you have; you put a range out from $1 million to $5 million.

I think it would be important that we, again, meet with the appropriate people as a post agenda here in Council as a fact-finding entity.

I just found out ten minutes ago that the person who submits the budget is Jane Downing. She was the one person we never talked to and completely bypassed because I didn't know the budget came from here. We've met with the Law Department; we've met with Mistick and Turner and with everyone. But now it seems that we have to start from scratch and explain it to her.

I did submit to Mr. Turner the information that was supplied by Jim Josephs on categories in ranges so that the bill can be adjusted.

But if I don't have that information by next week in a satisfactory form, and even if we do, it might just be a good idea -- Why should I have this information by myself? My colleagues might want to share in getting that information and, again, we could do a post agenda.

On the issue of the Water Department and what we've been reading in the papers about another problem of major magnitude, significant dollars, I want to know how did we ever have, and I'm asking for about the 900th time but maybe in a post agenda in a fact-finding meeting we're going to find out. How do we sell a piece of property without a final water bill? Was the information passed on to the Church? Was it not? What do we do to prevent this kind of episode from happening again and perhaps creating hardships for people that shouldn't exist?

So, I want to have a post agenda on Water, but I'm going to ask to hold that one until I get the printout sheet which should be here perhaps tomorrow, no later than next week. I'll get back to you on that issue.

So, the two posts I'd like to have would be one on the overtime pay and the pay on personal expenses, and the persons to be present would be Ben Hayllar and the Controller's Office.

On the issue of the "not to exceed", it would have to be Jane Downing, Mr. Turner and Mary Conturo and Member of Council so we can get that information.

On another matter. Many of you and perhaps all of us are aware, I know Jack was there, but the Governor was here for a rally meeting with the elected officials at the Sheraton last week. A number of people crashed that luncheon; they were representing insurance salesmen across the State of Pennsylvania screaming that 16,000 people were going to be unemployed who sell insurance.

The Governor's position is that the Pennsylvania people have been overcharged on insurance and he's going to stand fast.

As you all know, insurance companies are canceling insurance contracts all over.

There is a company called Lojack. I think you mentioned it in some press release before. At the end of January, beginning of February, my office was in touch with Lojack. Lojack is a system to cut into the number of car thefts. Basically what it is is a little black box that is put in your car; you don't know where it's put yourself, so if somebody gets to you with a gun and says, "Disconnect your Lojack", you can't do it, you don't know where it is, so that eliminates that possibility.

The cars reported relatively quickly, almost always it is returned before it is cannibalized, before it is taken apart.

It is not perfect; there are many flaws to it. But the State of Massachusetts raves about it. We've talked to the Chief of Police in Boston. They rave about the process. Lojack is going to be going into New Jersey, Florida, Michigan, California and, as I said, we've talked to Massachusetts.

I just had a memo from a Mr. Conner, I believe, who is I guess the Owner, President. He will be happy to come to Pittsburgh and do a demonstration for us. And so I would like to ask the President of Council to set up a meeting with Mr. Pampera, who is also looking at the process. As a matter of fact, there is a meeting going on as we speak somewhere outside of Harrisburg, the representatives, all the police force who deal in car theft, and they're meeting and Mr. Conner of Lojack is making a presentation.

But I think it would be incumbent upon us to have a presentation from Lojack telling us what impact that process would have on car thefts. And make sure that we have our people but also we need somebody from the Governor's Office or certainly that State on some level.

The problem we're having, we've written to the State Commissioner of Insurance and we've written to - I'm trying to think of the name of the person we spoke to - but we got a letter back as to why they couldn't do it. It didn't make any sense. The State Police, the Pennsylvania State Police, as to why they couldn't do it and it doesn't make any sense to me at all. I don't think you have too many cars stolen around Harrisburg because they get out on the highway and you spot them. The problems are in Philadelphia and in Pittsburgh.

I would very much like us to pursue this as a possibility because that may really have a tremendous impact on the insurance situation.

The Chair:

Give that information to Mr. Perry and he'll set up an informational meeting that all of Council can attend.

Michelle Madoff:

And he will come in with a presentation.

Mr. Cohen:

Briefly, Mr. President, on the issue of auto thefts and Lojack, I'm working on that issue also and agree with Councilwoman Madoff that it has been a very valuable tool that has been used in the State of Massachusetts and Illinois and other states. It cut down auto thefts by 50 percent in Massachusetts.

The problem, and one that I think we all should explore, is one of finances. It now costs approximately $500 for a Lojack device be put in your car. What we need to find is a funding source, a new funding source, hopefully from private enterprise. And I think the insurance companies can help out here because if you have Lojack in your car, your insurance rates will go down. So, I think that it's a very good program that we should try to institute here and maybe together we can help find a funding source for it.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, since we're talking about auto theft and Lojack, I also did a lot of research on this issue several years ago and I proposed the auto theft trust fund. Mr. Cohen is exactly correct; the amount of monies are prohibitive at this point.

The other fallacy in the system is, unless it's applied regionally or multi-police jurisdictions, it has a basic problem of being affective. It's something that has to be done regionally or really, hopefully, state-wide.

It's something that we should explore and I would certainly look forward to an opportunity to hear a formal presentation. I would hope, also, though, at that point if we have the police here, we could just talk to some of the police and get back to basics and talk about how effective is the auto theft squad and what kinds of progress they are making to date. We still have a significant rise in vehicle theft in the City.

I confront many citizens who come out to various Public Safety forums. There was a very large public gathering the other evening in Stanton Heights at Sunnyside School. A gentleman had a car stolen only to be told by the Police, "Well, we know where it is; it's up on this particular street." It brings to mind the traditional question which I've been asking for three years, if we know where so many of the cars end up, particular streets, particular neighborhoods, it would seem to me that we can design some type of an effective police surveillance and follow up.

Either I don't understand the issue fully or there are limited resources of police power, but short of Lojack which would take many years, I think we have to hold the Public Safety Department more accountable for vehicle theft and to have at this forum the Chief, Public Safety Director Cannon, and talk not only about Lojack but talk about, in the meantime, what can we do to reduce vehicle theft.

The Chair:

If I could add my two cents to the issue, I think all the measures all of you are talking about are needed and need to be enhanced. However, until the automobile manufacturers put on anti-theft devices on all automobiles, and that could be mandated either at the State level or the Federal level, we will not see any significant reductions in auto thefts.

Mr. Ferlo:

You also talked, Mr. President, about numbering or identification of motor parts by the industry.

Michelle Madoff:

Wouldn't it be a good idea, Mr. President, to invite the representatives -- They have their own lobbying group that works for them I think probably in Washington. Why don't we find out who the association representing the automobile manufacturer is and have them come to our meeting, at least to a meeting, even if it's not at the same time.

But at this one I would very much like to find out who represents the Association of Insurers. In my naivete, for some dumb reason, I called the State Insurance Commissioner and that was the wrong person to call.

The kind of feedback that I'm getting, and I'm sure that you're getting, and I think we're being stonewalled, is that they're saying it's too expensive. Well, it isn't expensive. I mean, if I'm going out to buy a new car, what am I going to spend on a car? Anywhere from $14,000 to $18,000 today to get a modest car. I'm certainly going to be willing to put $300 or $400 more to my car to protect it from being stolen. This Club that you put in can be sawed right through. The most effective mechanism, it seems to me, is to be able to trace them at the moment.

And while I agree with you that you should have some kind of device put in your car that is anti-theft, I understand there is a radio now on some cars that says, "If you remove this car, it self-destructs". You can never reprogram it, so why bother stealing it? Of course, you get vandalism in any event.

I don't think with the problem that thousands of people aren't going to be insured now in the State of Pennsylvania, and obviously in Pittsburgh, that we can just say, "Well, let somebody else do it." I think it's something that is great concern to everyone and we ought to try to at least have the Lojack people come in. We need somebody, I don't know who you would call from the Governor's Office, to explain why we wouldn't do it. Maybe we could get Pampena be the liaison between the State and with us as to the financial aspects of it.

But I really think that we have an obligation to look at anything that's going to make things better.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, many good ideas have been presented today by you and my colleagues on auto theft. I think what we have to do, though, is take advantage of what is in place right now, and that's the BAT Program, Bear Auto Theft, where two very bright orange decals are put into the back windows of a car and if the car is on the road between Midnight and 5:00 a.m. that that car can be pulled over by the Pittsburgh Police Department. The majority of cars in the Pittsburgh area, statistics show, are stolen between those hours, and unfortunately in Zone 3 of the City of Pittsburgh, only two people have taken advantage of that.

So, I do agree with my colleagues and you, Mr. President, that we should look towards the future, but the City of Pittsburgh has to begin to promote and market our programs that we have in place now a little bit better and I think we are not doing that well. I'm sure if you question many residents in the streets today, I'll bet a majority of them do not know about the BAT Program. So maybe that's something we should look into and Michelle and I might have a post agenda on that too.

Michelle Madoff:

Why don't we just put it on our cable? It was passed in Council.

The Chair:

We'll schedule a meeting where we can talk about all these issues interrelated to auto theft. I think that's a good idea and I think we should do that within the next few weeks.

Mr. Cohen moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, May 8, 1990.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff moved to excuse Mr. Darkins and Mr. Regan for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Ferlo

Council adjourned.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't know if anybody has seen this library, but it is charming. It is stated the tourists center. It is very, very special and I would love to see the McArdle Roadway brought into excellent shape, because Mount Washington is after all, the Niagra Falls of Pittsburgh. When anybody comes to visit, what do we do, we take them to Mount Washington to look at the City and we do have other places within my district that overlook the City which are very beautiful, but this is really our tourist area, and I will be bringing up some legislation as we go along to put McArdle in good shape.

Perhaps you would like to say something?

Ms. Jessup:

Well I would just like to thank you all for recognizing us, we are very excited about celebrating this anniversary. We are going to have a celebration on Saturday, that has a Victorian theme. We've got some victorian costumes which are on display from the historical society. We're going to have some activities for children, such as pony rides and clowns, and for the adults we are going to have some singing and things like that. So please come over, its going to be Saturday afternoon, thank you.

It's going to be from 11:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Ms. Gray:

We're looking forward to a good crowd on Saturday, and we are praying and will you pray with us that it doesn't rain.

Mr. Regan:

You know since I have a love for and affection for our great Councilwoman here, Michelle Madoff, I would like to introduce another great Councilwoman from the North Side, Amy Ballinger, she is visiting here from Florida. God Bless you Amy you still look good. How old are you now Amy?

Michelle Madoff:

60, 60. Amy just tell him what day you were born.

Ms. Ballenger:

August 2nd.

Michelle Madoff:

What day am I born?

Ms. Ballenger:

Her birthday and Sarah's birthday is -- we're Leo's. We're leaders.

Its always a pleasure to be back here for a few days, of course, I miss City Council but not too much, because what I do is much more interesting, you know, being out on the road, in fact, I was with Tiny Tim last week, you know he is 69 years old. He is almost as old as I am. Of course, I am old enough to be condemned.

Michelle Madoff:

Recycled.

Ms. Ballenger:

Oh yea, in fact, I am a recycled teenager. They put a glass of water in front of me and I put my teeth in it. I think happy hour is a nap, you know, when you get as old as I am, but it is always a pleasure and yesterday they took me touring all through your new highways and roadways out to the north where I used to live and I am surprised and I told everybody in the US Air Magazine this week is a story of Pittsburgh and its restaurants, get it!, because if I had never been in Pittsburgh, and after reading that I would have taken the next plane to Pittsburgh. It is so interesting. It really is, its a very good story about the City of Pittsburgh. And to me, I am just amazed, and I am gonna take a ride today on your subway and see whether I approve that or not. Not that anyone gave a damn or not, you know. But it is always nice to be here and meet all of you people who are still here and I hope you'll have many happy returns of your work that your doing.

Mike, I was glad to see Mike, you know, if he were twenty years older, I'd marry him. And if he weren't married already of course. You know at my age with the guys you go with, well, you just go with them period. But, I'm having one hell of a good time. Touring the circle with the young comedians and I hope someday, I heard someone say, "Can't you just send us a tape", I said I can but you'll never play it in City Council. So be good to yourselves and work hard and just keep improving the City and thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

Thank you Amy, its always nice to have you with us.

I'd like the all star great basketball team from the North Side to come up here please. This is Allegheny Middle School, who won the championship this year. Come on up my boy. Right here. Any of you young guys going to be a preacher in your life? We have the big man right here with us.

Mr. Regan and Mr. Milliones presents

No. 804 WHEREAS, the Allegheny Middle School Basketball Team, the "Invaders", won their first City championship, first time in the history as a middle school; and

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

Folks do you want to say a few words?

Mr. Milinski:

On behalf of the school, student body, and the basketball team, I would just like to thank Council for this very prestigious honor, and we would like to award Councilman Regan, since he is our representative on the North Side with this T-shirt that all of our students got this year.

Thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. Stephens, where are you? Here's a guy that used to play for the Dallas Cowboys. He got a lot of money to. Look at that gold in them teeth.

Mr. Stephens:

We would like to thank everyone for bestowing this honor upon us and the only thing that we would like to see, and our main interest is, that even though we are glad to be champs, is that we want our young to be academically prepared when they go on to pursue their various educational goals, and the academics should be priority. In which it is at Allegheny, and we are hopeful that this championship this year will carry on through this week, when we are taking the CAT tests and hopefully we can increase our test scores and the next time we come here we will be getting an honor for our academic performances as well.

Thank you very much.

Which was read.

Also,

No. 729 Resolution appointing John A. Zottola, to the Board of Adjustment for a term effective immediately and to expire December 31, 1990.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Yes, Mr. President, I want to ask for my comments to be brought forward since Mike Perry always rolls his eyes and is worried about that. I think that it is important that we show some support for this gentleman, I was very impressed with his interview, I thought we got into a lot of questions and answers about the role and the board of adjustment and the role the zoning plays in our City and I think we've got into some good discussion on concerns that many of us have on Council regarding the Planning Commission.

Mr. Zottola seems to be young and energetic. I had hoped that there would be somebody coming from the Administration nominated who had more background in zoning matters, but after interviewing the gentleman, I think its again another great appointment made by the Mayor.

I was certainly pleased when the Mayor appointed Miss Miskovich, to the Housing

Court. I think that's one of her best appointments to date. I am beginning to believe very strongly that Mr. Zottola's appointment is maybe her second best appointment, to the board and to the Planning Commission.

The commitment that I understood from Mr. Zottola is that he would be willing to review the administration of the Board of Adjustment itself. Many of us have raised the concern about the board moving more quickly and expeditiously to conclude its work on pending cases, some decisions take many, many months. Some of us have raised the issue of the board possibly meeting more than once a week.

I think it's harmful when individual residents, and/or small business people have to sit there eight, nine, ten hours. I think the work there can be better organized and Mr. Zottola, I think is appreciative of that problem and he seems willing and committed to reviewing that.

He seemed very clear about the issue of due process and citizen input. I think he very clearly stated that anybody who comes into that hearing room will get a full hearing and be allowed to speak, whether it be a formal neighborhood organization or an individual citizen who wants to come down there and participate in the proceedings. I have confidence that he'll be extremely fair, reasonable and will allow input from all those who have an issue to express.

Since he is not only going to be the Chair of the Board of Adjustment, but by virtue of that will also now be on the Planning Commission. I was glad to hear that he is concerned about the Planning Commission and the role of development in our City.

I think he'll be an independent voice on the Planning Commission. I think he represents some new blood on the Planning Commission, which I think that we need very badly and I hope that the Mayor will be able to make some new appointments to the Planning Commission, because I think there are some that need to come off the Planning Commission. Their tenure is up.

So for those reasons and several others I look forward to Mr. Zottola serving our City well on the board as well as the Planning Commission. I want to thank the Mayor for this appointment.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you Mr. President. I said last Wednesday that John Zottola is a blank slate when it comes to zoning matters, because of his sparse experience in zoning and I still think he is in many ways a blank slate, but his resume is very impressive and I thought that he and I had a good discussion as well last Wednesday. I thought that his answers reflected a realization of the balancing act that is necessary, both as Chairman of the Zoning Board but also as a member of the Planning Commission which is the balancing act between positive development on the one hand, and protecting the interest of our neighborhoods on the other.

From his answers, I too believe that he'll be fair and that he will weigh the opinions of every citizen who comes before the Zoning Board or Planning Commission.

Mr. Zottola made some commitments last Wednesday, commitments reflecting the need to give strong weight to people from the neighborhoods, the neighborhood groups, but every citizen from the neighborhoods, because it's really those people that ought to determine the direction of the neighborhoods. The people who live there. The people who have to see changes in their neighborhoods every day, and I will be voting for Mr. Zottola because of his answers and also with the hope and expectation that he fulfills his commitments.

I also would like my comments from last Wednesday to be brought forward. Sorry Mike.

The Chair:

Any other comments on either the two appointments for Mr. Zottola?

Michelle Madoff:

I believe this is an outstanding appointment. I don't recall when anyone has handled themselves that well other than perhaps Deborah Miskovich at this table.

I believe that we are getting an outstanding person as a credit to the Administration that they would propose somebody with this background and credentials, and again I will be delighted to vote for the person and would love to have my comments, because I only had very brief comment the other day brought forward.

The Chair:

Thank you, I also would like my comments brought forward for the record.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen
Mr. Coyne
Mr. Darkins

Michelle Madoff
Mr. Regan
Mr. Ricciardi

Mr. Ferlo

Mr. Wagner
(Pres't)

AYES 8

NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the appointments were approved.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON THE APPOINTMENT OF JOHN ZOTTOLA)

Mr. Ferlo:

First of all, congratulations on your appointment. Hopefully you will be more successful than the last two appointments to the Board of Water Assessors.

I read your resume very briefly. I guess generally I would have a series of questions, and I will try to be brief, because I am sure other Councilmembers have questions.

What type of law do you practice and do you work in a firm or are you an individual practitioner?

Mr. Zottola:

Currently I am working in a 12 member law firm, and we have a varied practice at the present time which includes insurance defense work as well as plaintiff's work, which varies from the toxic tort litigation to other types of insurance defense, which includes coal mine work as well as automobile accidents.

Mr. Ferlo:

What is the name of that firm?

Mr. Zottola:

Robb, Leonard and Mulvihill, located at 2300 One Mellon Bank Center.

Mr. Ferlo:

Has the firm or yourself ever been involved or before the Board of Adjustment?

Mr. Zottola:

No, they haven't.

Mr. Ferlo:

Generally speaking, you as an individual attorney have not appeared before the Board to argue on behalf of the client?

Mr. Zottola:

The firm hasn't -- other members of the firm haven't. I have practiced before the Board, but there were occasions prior to my joining the firm and after I joined the firm, but they don't have a specialized practice that brings them before the Board.

Mr. Ferlo:

As an individual attorney you have been before the Board in the past?

Mr. Zottola:

Yes, I have.

Mr. Ferlo:

Could you generally give us an idea of what kind of clients you represented?

Mr. Zottola:

I represented individual homeowners that were seeking variances for the homes and property that they owned. That was the extent.

Mr. Ferlo:

You represented individual property owners?

Mr. Zottola:

Yes.

Mr. Ferlo:

Since you have been before the Board, I think many of us on Council have been before the Board to speak on behalf of a property owner because of some development issue of one thing or another. The Board, at least under the leadership of Miss Miskovich, took on a different kind of life of its own. I don't know how you feel about this, but one of the things I have been concerned about for the last couple of years is the Board's method of conducting the meetings; it is such, as you know as an attorney, we could go in at 10:00 o'clock in the morning and still be there arguing your case at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon; I have been there many times when I spoke on behalf of a neighborhood group and we were schedule for 1:00 o'clock. I once spoke at 10:45 in the evening. I don't mind that because I am on the public payroll and that is my job, but I picture alot of individual property owners and alot of small business people, I don't know how they can deal with that kind of an agenda.

I am wondering, do you have any viewpoint on that and do you share that concern? And one of the things I am concerned about is the Board possibly meeting twice a week as opposed to just once. Do you have any experience in that regard?

Mr. Zottola:

Yes, I do. I think it is, as has been expressed, a very real concern and I would make every effort to pare down the hearings, as well as pare down, perhaps, the amount of time between the date of a hearing and receipt of the decision. I think there are ways dealing with the rules of evidence and dealing with the rules that are found on the Zoning Board that you can give individuals the opportunity to speak and present their views before the Board, but also keep the hearings at a pace that doesn't inconvenience to a large degree the other individuals that are waiting for the next hearing. Although it is hard to predict before a hearing how many people are going to speak, there are ways in which you can have the representative viewpoint stated and not have what may be unduly, repetitious testimony if it is going to be of the same nature as has been previously stated. So I think I can do that.

Also, I think that if I am approved and if I am confirmed, I think that if the hearings do go on as you described, that if a second day does become necessary, it is something that I would be receptive to, to make sure that all the interests and all the people that would want to speak would have that opportunity. And if a second day requires that, I am amenable to that.

Mr. Ferlo:

Have you declared any specific real estate interests or do you work for any developers in your role as an attorney?

Mr. Zottola:

I don't work for developers as an attorney. I am a homeowner, I own a piece of property with a family member, and that is the extent of the property I own.

Mr. Ferlo:

You don't represent any formal development groups? Which is not necessarily a bad thing, by the way, I just wanted to know if you do and if you did.

Mr. Zottola:

No, our firm actually doesn't.

Mr. Ferlo:

Do you have any general philosophy you could share with Council on the Municipal Code as it relates to zoning? Is there generally a viewpoint you would express regarding zoning laws?

Mr. Zottola:

I think the zoning laws were enacted to provide for the benefit of the neighborhoods and are provided to protect the neighborhoods and not cause problems or cause situations where if you have a detrimental impact on a neighborhood, and the zoning laws are there to keep the integrity of the neighborhoods and keep the integrity of our city, but also be consistent with the improvements that need to take place. And that is a philosophy that I have, in the limited time I have had to review that.

Mr. Ferlo:

You are aware, certainly, then, that oftentimes the Board is seen in controversy because you have many strong viewpoints, especially the presence of viable neighborhood organizations who may be lobbying or advocating a particular issue before the Board. There are oftentimes conflict in development agendas, which I am sure you witness at the Board level.

You mentioned earlier the need to expedite the hearing processing. I hope that in no way would indicate that in expediting that process you would limit the ability of any community person, or resident or citizen to present the information to the Board. As you know, many people come to the Board meetings who do not have an attorney, or are just basically an average individual, and sometimes that setting -- because it is almost like a courtroom kind of setting -- can be intimidating to the average person. I just want to know if you have any views on that in terms of the format of the hearing process itself, in terms of community groups and/or individual residents speaking to the Board.

Mr. Zottola:

It is my understanding, as you have described, that often the zoning issues can be emotionally charged issues or emotionally charged settings. I have had experience in dealing with individuals and issues and emotionally charged settings. A large part of my work in the District Attorney's office before I moved on to the law firm where I am currently practicing involved emotionally charged issues, and it involved people that were in very dramatic situations. And what I felt I was able to do effectively was: One, give these people a semblance of understanding in a system that appeared at first to them to be very confusing; two, be able to deal with individuals in that type of situation. And I think I would strive to do that if I would be confirmed, and give them the opportunity to present their viewpoint before the Zoning Board as well as explaining to them the procedure of the Zoning Board if at some times there appears to be a misunderstanding of what they say and what they are permitted to say. Secondly, I think the input from community groups is very welcome by the Zoning Board. I think input from any source of the community is what you need on the Board, because those are the people that are most affected and those are the people you are looking for input.

Mr. Ferlo:

Do you serve on any board of directors on any nonprofit groups or do you volunteer any of your time for any -- are you involved in any extracurricular activities other than your law practice and your family?

Mr. Zottola:

I do not serve on the board of any type of authority.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you, sir.

(MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON THE APPOINTMENT OF JOHN ZOTTOLA)

Mr. Cohen:

Good afternoon, Mr. Zottola. I also want to congratulate you on your nomination. As you know, it is a very important position you are being nominated for. You really have, if you are confirmed, the power to make a major contribution in shaping neighborhoods for a long time, potentially.

Because your resume is rather sparse when it comes to zoning laws, I have a few questions for you, also. You are really kind of a blank slate right now, so I need to ask you a few.

In terms of your current practice, you mentioned toxic tort law, I think, and some other things. Is that what you are practicing now, is it defense work in toxic tort cases?

Mr. Zottola:

We do practice defense work in toxic tort cases, as well as defense work in other types of law, and plaintiff's work, also.

Mr. Cohen:

How about you personally right now?

Mr. Zottola:

I do all of the above. I have some cases involving the defensive toxic tort litigation as well as plaintiff's cases and other general aspects of the law, general type of cases.

Mr. Cohen:

About how many times have you appeared before the Zoning Board? I think you said to Councilman Ferlo that you had a couple cases before them. But have you personally appeared before the Zoning Board?

Mr. Zottola:

I appeared before the Zoning Board a handful of times in terms of being an attorney. I also appeared before the Zoning Board as a witness in a matter, also.

Mr. Cohen:

Can you describe broadly what that matter was?

Mr. Zottola:

I was requested, I think it was two or three years back. The Pittsburgh Action Against Rape group had petitioned for their office being moved to Highland Park, and they had requested that I serve as a witness on their behalf in terms of -- in effect, as an expert witness with regards to some areas involving child sexual assault, sexual assault cases, perpetrators and things to alleviate some of the questions or concerns that some of the neighbors had. I did serve as a witness before the Zoning Board. I think it was almost three years ago when I was in the District Attorney's office.

Mr. Cohen:

Was it the Pittsburgh Action Against Rape that asked you to serve as an expert witness?

Mr. Zottola:

Yes.

Mr. Cohen:

Let me ask you some general questions under the Zoning Code first about parking. As you know, a commercial activity has to provide for off-street parking under the Zoning Code in order to get a zoning permit. I am interested in knowing what factors you would take into account in determining whether there should be a variance from that zoning requirement.

Mr. Zottola:

Well, the factors that -- I would have to look at all the circumstances before me on each individual case, but I would consider the neighborhood, the traffic patterns that are involved in the neighborhood, whether the neighborhood is a residential neighborhood located near schools, things that would affect the traffic flow and things that would affect the availability of parking. I would examine whether there are large commercial facilities located nearby that take up alot of the parking spaces and determine how that would affect the granting of a variance for a few more spaces.

Mr. Cohen:

How much would you take into account the views of neighborhood groups that live in the area and have to really deal with the parking problem on a daily basis?

Mr. Zottola:

I think the views of neighborhood groups would be very helpful, their input would be very helpful. They are the people that live there and they know best circumstances and the problems that affect the neighborhood, as well as the benefits from what will be taking place in the neighborhood. Ultimately I would follow the law, but I would weigh that into my decision, consideration.

Mr. Cohen:

That gets me into a question that really is a follow-up on Councilman Ferlo's question, about there is an inherent inequality, it seems to me, that exists before the Zoning Board, where sometimes we have developers pitted against neighborhood groups, and the developers have high priced lawyers who have taken a long time to prepare long term plans, and the neighborhood groups who often don't have more than ten days or so notice have to come before the same Board.

Tell me how you would overcome that inherent inequality.

Mr. Zottola:

Well, actually I am not sure there would be an inherent inequality, in that when the facts that would be presented by both sides would be the facts that would affect the decision to be made. It would be the application of what would be told from the neighbors as opposed to the developers, and the application of the law that would form the basis of my decision. The fact that there may be ten individuals in favor of one type of change or one type of variance and one individual that would be opposed to it would not affect my decision, such as the same would go for the developers as opposed to the individuals.

When I practiced in the District Attorney's office, as I continue to practice, a judge will instruct the jury and it is something that I think will be helpful in this situation: You don't count the number of witnesses on each side, you count what they have to say. I think I would attempt to apply that into the law in my determinations or to my opinions, together with the other Board members.

Mr. Cohen:

You mentioned rules of evidence before. Would you apply strict rules of evidence in these cases?

Mr. Zottola:

I think the rules of evidence would be advisory and I would attempt to apply them for, I guess, the flow of the hearings, and I think the rules of evidence could make the hearings go faster, as Councilman Ferlo had indicate a concern, and I would apply them, but I wouldn't apply them strictly to deprive individuals of an opportunity to say what they have to say. There is some variance there.

Mr. Cohen:

That is my concern. I am glad to hear that you will decide on the merits of the case, which is great, but the fact of the matter is that high priced attorneys are able to present a case that visually and otherwise seems to be better prepared, at least than the neighborhood groups have, because they don't have the money to hire high priced attorneys and very often don't have the time. Would that enter into your thinking, that process inequality, I don't mean inequality on the merits, but in the process?

Mr. Zottola:

I am sure that I would strive to weigh both sides equally. I have been on the other side working for the County, working for the citizens, where I would be the one attorney representing an individual in the case and the other side would come in with many attorneys, many people helping them, and I don't think that I was overwhelmed at that point and I don't think that I will be overwhelmed as an individual member of the Zoning Board by those factors.

Mr. Cohen:

Great, glad to hear it. I believe that the standard for determining whether to grant a variance is hardship. I am interested in what you would define as "hardship" in determining whether to grant a variance.

Mr. Zottola:

I think that I would suggest that maybe the factors -- I wouldn't judge a situation without having those facts before me.

Mr. Cohen:

Sure.

Mr. Zottola:

A hardship may be one thing in one set of circumstances and something different, depending on the factors, depending on all the facts. I couldn't judge it on an abstract.

Mr. Cohen:

Let me throw out a specific hypothetical to determine what the factors would be. Let's say an area was zoned "R-3" or "R-4" and somebody wanted to get a variance to allow for multiple units in a dwelling, and let's say on that street there were some other buildings that had occupancy permits for multiple unit dwellings. Let's say that the person before you has a building of seven units in that building now, and say there is only enough square footage for five units. What general factors would you take into account in determining whether or not to grant that person a variance?

Mr. Zottola:

I would take into consideration -- well, there are other factors that don't appear in your hypothetical concerning the parking, the number of spaces available for parking, concerning the neighborhood itself, concerning the feelings of the neighbors. There are so many factors that without having that situation before me, it would be difficult for me to answer.

Mr. Cohen:

That is great. That is what I want to know, what those would be, and I am glad to hear that you would take into account the neighbors, neighborhood groups and its affect on the neighborhood, because I think in my view that is perhaps the most important element.

If the person was an absentee landlord, would that enter into your consideration?

Mr. Zottola:

That is a factor. I would like to question that individual extensively concerning the reasons for the increase in the units, the circumstances involving their past involvement with the community and their community's feelings towards this individual as an land owner. Those would be very, very important factors.

I think that perhaps by people attending in opposition or in favor, that would handle those circumstances, but then we would still have a situation involving parking, involving the character of the neighborhood, and those would be other factors that I would take into consideration in your hypothetical.

Mr. Cohen:

Where the neighbors stand, right?

Mr. Zottola:

Yes.

Mr. Cohen:

Whether or not the building was maintained well or not, would that be a factor in your consideration?

Mr. Zottola:

Absolutely, yes.

Mr. Cohen:

If there were violations in that building, fire violations, you already answered you would take that into consideration. Would you also report those violations to the appropriate agency? Say a building doesn't have a fire escape, for instance. Would you report that?

Mr. Zottola:

Not only do I feel I would be mandated by the position that I have, I think as an individual, if that was brought to my attention I would do that, also.

Mr. Cohen:

Okay. Great. Just a few more questions. What role do you think neighborhood groups should have in initiating zoning changes?

Mr. Zottola:

I think the neighborhood groups represent a segment or a recognizable segment of the community, and if they've elected their officials or elected particular segments of the neighborhood group to act as a zoning committee and this has been discussed and voted on, and this is the opinion that the neighborhood group has, I think the Zoning Board would welcome that input in terms of looking at a zoning change.

Again, after a full hearing and after having both sides in favor or in opposition and applying the law, only then would a decision be made. I would welcome the input of neighborhood groups.

Mr. Cohen:

It seems like there are a number of neighborhood groups that are engaging in initiating down zoning in their neighborhoods. I am wondering what your views are. Again, this is hypothetical and broad, I am not going to commit you to specifics, but what is your view as to the advantages and disadvantages of down zoning?

Mr. Zottola:

I think the advantages and disadvantages depend again on the particular situation you are looking at, and to apply an abstract, in some situations I could see positive reasons for the down zoning, and in other situations it would have a negative impact. I am not sure that without having the facts before me or without having the facts and the applicable law, that I could go into detail on that.

Mr. Cohen:

In many of these cases they pursue down zoning in order to decrease density, in order to increase owner occupied family residents, to try to decrease the number of absentee landlords. Are you receptive to that type of movement if the neighborhood groups wanted to pursue that to obtain those objectives?

Mr. Zottola:

I think those objectives in neighborhoods if they could be obtained, are important, but I think also the providing of multi-family dwellings in neighborhoods is also important. I, again, would welcome input and would welcome that idea and I would look at the facts and circumstances and make my determination from there. I think it is a good objective, but perhaps an objective that may be unrealistic under certain circumstances in terms of having the individuals or the people to occupy those single family dwellings from multiple family dwellings.

Mr. Cohen:

Again, how much weight would you give to the neighborhood groups as to which way to go on that?

Mr. Zottola:

I think the input of the neighborhood groups is important, because they do represent a large segment or at least a noticeable or recognizable segment of the community and they voted on the issue. But on the other hand, you have individuals that would be coming in and maybe not part of that neighborhood group, and I would give the same weight to their viewpoint and take all those viewpoints and apply the law, and again, with the other members of the Board render a decision based on that.

Mr. Cohen:

I agree with you; it is a balancing act. I just want to make sure that the one side of the balancing act, which is neighborhood groups and what they see as the future of their neighborhood, is an import aspect in your decision.

Mr. Zottola:

It is.

Mr. Cohen:

I believe as head of the Zoning Board you would also participate as a member of the Planning Commission; is that right?

Mr. Zottola:

That is my understanding also, yes.

Mr. Cohen:

I am interested in how you see the Zoning Board interacting with the Planning Commission, since you would be, really, the link between the two.

Mr. Zottola:

The Planning Commission, which acts as an advisory board, interacts with the Zoning Board in terms of the Zoning Board enforcing or carrying out the goals or the ideas or the plans that the Commission has set forth. The Planning Commission would make recommendations, and if approved by Council, you would have the ordinances from which the Zoning Board as, in affect, the arm to carry forth those ordinances would be the agency or the group that would be dealing one or one with the people that are coming in, the individual homeowners or the development groups that are coming in and requesting the variance or requesting compliance or noncompliance with the variances that we have. So I think the two do interact, and I would strive to do my best to make sure there is a smooth interaction between the two of them.

Mr. Cohen:

Are there any changes that you foresee that you would like to try to initiate in the Planning Commission?

Mr. Zottola:

Without having been there yet, I couldn't comment on that.

Mr. Cohen:

Will you actively participate in the Planning Commission capital budget hearings?

Mr. Zottola:

I am not sure what my role will be with the Planning Commission. If that is an area that is available to me, I will actively participate in as many areas that I can with the Planning Commission and obviously with the Zoning Board.

(MICHELLE MADOFF'S COMMENTS ON THE APPOINTMENT OF JOHN ZOTTOLA)

Michelle Madoff:

You were asked whether there is any role you would pursue, and perhaps one you are not aware of, but I would urge you to pursue immediately with the Administration, as we are getting into the hot summer months and I have been at a zoning hearing several times and had to cancel it, people couldn't get in; it was too hot. Jack and I were there. I want to make sure you have the facilities that people can feel comfortable, reasonably comfortable, can hear and have room and access. That is something you might want to take up immediately with the Administration. I found it is not a role Council can play. You may want to pursue that; speakers, so people can hear and so on.

I'm glad you mentioned the point that you and your other members -- and for a minute, I thought everyone thought you were the only one making a decision. You really basically chair the meeting, you only have one vote. If there is a tie, your vote means no more or less than anyone else's?

Mr. Zottola:

That is correct.

Michelle Madoff:

Have you been to the Zoning Board when Deborah Miskovitch was chairing?

Mr. Zottola:

Yes, I have.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you agree she is one of the best and toughest and the fairest?

Mr. Zottola:

Yes, she is.

Michelle Madoff:

Will you carry on that tradition?

Mr. Zottola:

I will do my best.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON THE APPOINTMENT OF JOHN ZOTTOLA)

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Zottola, good afternoon. I also looked at your resume. I think you are qualified for the position.

My concerns relate as much towards the Planning Commission as they do the Board of Adjustment, and what I am asking you for today is a commitment to look at the process and determine how we can better expedite the process in terms of laying out a road map for people that must go through the process with potential developments or cases of any type that come in front of both the Planning Commission and the Zoning Board. I see you as being a key player because you are on both, and you will ultimately be the Chairman of the one. But I have great concern and I know some of my colleagues do that potential developments in this city kind of lag behind without giving people a road map as to what they need to do within the bureaucracy of government to move a project forward or what must happen in order for people to determine that a project is not a project that should move forward. So what I am asking you and what I would like you to do is to look at the process as being the Chairman of the one group and a member of the Planning Commission and try to analyze it better so it better serves all the people of the City of Pittsburgh.

Would you like to comment in regard to that?

Mr. Zottola:

Yes, I would. I think that I would make as one of my goals to go through and examine the process and strive to make every effort in terms of making it clear to all individuals what the particular process is and what has to be done. And also in line with what I had indicated previously, I would make every effort to make it clear to individuals with as short a period of time as possible in rendering decisions whether or not they would be able to go forward or not go forward with development. I think that at this point, as you have indicated, there may be a need for a little clearer path or need for some more rules in laying that ground work. I will do that, I will look into that process, and if the rules are not there, set forth what rules will spell out or make it easier for an individual to know what they have to do and also to inform them, once they appear before the Zoning Board, in a shorter period of time what the zoning Board's decision would be regarding their particular development. Obviously some cases would be complicated and take a longer period of time, but I would strive to make every effort to clarify that road as well as pare down the amount of time that the decisions take.

Mr. Wagner:

Okay. Well, I have not seen serious problems in the Zoning Board in terms of time involved in the process except for the meetings themselves and occasionally an opinion coming out as a result of those meetings and the decisions. Obviously, I would ask you to look at that and analyze it and to try to improve it as much as possible.

But what I want you to do, also, is be an active participant in the Planning Commission to analyze that process also, in that to see a project move forward in the city, obviously it needs proper approvals by the Planning Commission, sometimes the Zoning Board of Adjustment, sometimes the Planning Department, sometimes this Council. And the bureaucracy involved to get something moving is unbelievable; sometimes it takes literally years when it should take months, or it should simply take months to tell the proper people that, "This is not a viable project, doesn't fit within the framework of what we want to see happen in the City of Pittsburgh."

All I am asking you is to be an active participant in analyzing the process, improving the process to make it run smoother, to lay out a better road map for all participants in the process.

Mr. Zottola:

I will make that one of my goals.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Michelle Madoff for Mr. Milliones presented

Bill No. 796

Report of the Committee on Finance for May 16, 1990 transmitting one ordinance and sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 694

An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance supplementing the Pittsburgh Code, Title 1 - Administrative, Article VII - Procedures - Chapter 161 - Contracts - by amending Section 161.05 and adding a new section entitled, 'Estimated Cost; Construction Contracts and Professional Services Contracts for Engineers and Architects' and 'Capital Budget' and to provide procedures to ensure the confidentiality of that amount."

---(SPONSORED BY MICHELLE MADOFF)

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, I move to amend Bill No. 694 by substitution. Everybody had a copy yesterday. The amendments are shown by underscoring under Section 161.23, authorization by Council as Section 161.24.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Basically, as I stated when we voted the other day the change is to accomodate the Administration. If I had my preference I would like to have just one total sum in the capital budget for all capital improvements for the year. But, because there may be a problem with bidders, contractors who need to know whether they fall within a certain range, we're putting in a range. In other words as you look at your bill the back page gives you some idea of how the range might be achieved or accomplished or proposed to contractors. There would not be a specific figure but the capital budget would list the items and would have a range beside the item. So that anyone bidding would know whether they could indeed handle it by virtue of being able to obtain a bond.

The success of this bill which is designed, you know I've been working on it for three years at least, will go along way to improving the performance of Engineering and Construction, and essentially stopping the giveaway's by eliminating the not to exceed number. We'll no longer say, we've got this money come and get us.

But, it would be imperative that Engineering and Construction improve the process in which they determine specific numbers so that when they go out for example, they go on a contract and the range is a million to three million, let's say that in-house is it determined that it's a million-two, they really need to research and find out by checking on the cost of materials, time of delivery, allowing for a reasonable profit, and allowing for labor come up with a reasonable as opposed to -- even if they have that number, which I believe they have not had to date, not advertising that number because from time to time and the time I've been here contractors will bid very low, even below what we are prepared to spend on a realistic cost, because they want to keep their personnel together, their engineers, their carpenters, their laborers, and they need that work to carry them over a slow season.

So, why should we advertise publicly the not to exceed number say a million-two, even if that is a real figure, because they may do it $900,000 or $800,000 because of their own personal needs.

I'd like to share with Council some information. I have been working with a number of people in the private sector and I received and article that talks about and I believe I distributed it to everybody. The VA seeks to curb overruns and they talk about exactly the same problems that we have in the City and they're having the same problems. They're overruns are estimated at $28.3 of overruns stemming from inaccurate estimating.

The department also said it has undertaken more aggressive supervisory of architectural engineers and contractors and is requiring that design documents be submitted at a higher level of completeness and competence.

The VA is also reviewing its in-house estimating and may study the role of a cost consultant, which is what I've been asking for a cost engineer, retained by their construction people.

It is improved the screening of their engineering and construction people giving more weight to firms that have proven they can do cost effective designs without budget limitations.

So, they're having it -- and its not unusual for our City to have this kind of problem we're all striving to improve, but giving the number away, we spoke the dollar figure the not to exceed number away, I'll give you the exact comment by Mr. Lofflin, VA Hospitals, who's their Chief Materials Acquisition, also Senior Contract Officer for the federal government, and this is his words, "no, no" not to exceed -- you never publish your number, not to exceed, you give a range. We would never recommend publishing the not to exceed figure.

So, I think that I'm not alone in my comments. You know, folks; nobody's perfect including me and you get nothing done alone so I can't pass this bill without you and I urge you to support it.

But, I don't think this is the last time we're going to look at this. I'm going to be monitoring those contracts. I'm going to be checking them myself. I urge others who are concerned to support me, and we may find in a year or six months that we want to amend this bill in some way to improve it, and I would like to mention that I was sort of non-plus to hear the director who incidentally is very supportive of this legislation so on the positive side he is supportive, but on the negative side coming to this Council and talking about a study that was done that shows that we only went a very small percentage on the overall contract of one percent. Well, when you're giving away $3 million when you maybe you only have to give $2 million. We should not even be going one percent over when we're estimating the cost over the actual realistic figures.

I think I've addressed all the concerns that Council has raised and I don't of any other, and I hope that this is really not a change from last week it is only a range put in opposite the figures.

No. 201 of 1990 entitled: 'Resolution fixing the number of officers and employees of the City of Pittsburgh and the rate of Compensation levels thereof and setting minimum levels for designated positions by making certain additions and corrections.'"

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, on Bill 700 and 701, the companion bills regarding the readjustment of the budget to deal with the issue of additional revenues that are needed for or as the Administration would call it the arbitration award for the police.

I strenuously object to Bill 701 and I urge all my colleagues to vote no on this bill, because it will be a significant and a major retreat by this legislative branch of government in City Council on a very important issue, and that fundamental issue is, what is the number of police officers that are needed to provide some proper level of coverage in the various zones around the City of Pittsburgh.

If we vote in favor of Bill 701 we are basically voting on favor of reducing the budgeted figure of police officers from 1,200 downward to 1,175. It's taken this Council at least five years, as well as a change in Administration's and a Mayoral promise, and a Mayoral election to bring that figure up to 1,200.

I said at the time skeptically that I'll believe it when I see it. I was hoping that I was wrong. Apparently, I'm not wrong. I'm right. I think this figure was never attended to be achieved regardless of the arbitration award received most recently by the bargaining arm the F.O.P. for the police officers.

I think all of us were quite aware both in the firefighters award of five percent and above the other negotiating agreements that part of the reality of running the City government are arbitration awards and you can argue about nine percent being to high versus five percent or three percent, but its the cost of maintaining the operations in City government. Every other year we're going to have to reconsider and realign and decide what our priorities are regardless of the nine percent award in regards to the police contract.

I think its a major mistake for this Council to renig on a commitment. I ran for public office on that commitment of the 1,200, and I think others here also ran on that commitment.

Reversing that commitment today is a terrible mistake and I don't think we should do it. I think as a City Council its our budget and I think we should look at other areas in the overall operating budget to cut if we need to, but I don't think we should reduce the number of police officers that we've made a commitment to in terms of achieving a goal of the 1,200.

We may not actually achieve the 1,200. I don't think we'll achieve the 1,200 even if we kept it in just because of the mechanics of the process of the recruitment and the training period of time, and the timetable, and the chronology of events that take place before we actually put people out into the streets as full fledged police officers.

But, reducing it automatically precludes us from even achieving that stated goal, and I don't think we need a study and to spend a lot of money to decide what the number should be. I think very clearly all of us who are out in the community everyday as is the case with each one the members of Council here, and especially those who have attended Block Watch meetings and various kinds of neighborhood meetings dealing with problems of lack of police protection and police response, know's that even the 1,200 is not the right figure.

In voting on this today, if we vote possibly for 701 we're automatically reducing the number of officers from 1,200 down to 1,175, and I think that's a terrible mistake. I think it reflects the wrong priorities on the part of City Council. I think our priorities should be to beef up the number of available police officers, and decide if need be that it has to be at the expense of something else.

I'm willing to say that I would rather have police officers than white collar administrators in the Public Safety bureaucracy, and I'm saying as a priority we should leave the 1,200 figure and if we have to cut let's cut some of the white collar administration or the bureaucracy of the Public Safety Department.

I think that's what a majority of the citizens want. I think that's what the Mayor ran on as a political pledge and a campaign pledge, and I think it's disastrous voting in favor of this bill today. I think we're sending the wrong message and reflecting the wrong priorities for the Public Safety Department.

Secondly, I think the Administration needs to reevaluate its relationship and love affair with Mr. Schneider whose the labor negotiator who I think is partly to blame for the mess that we're in today. Why they maintain this relationship with this gentleman who has basically been musical chairs in the Administration, one time he's the head of the Civil Service Commission, the next time he's back negotiating. Now, its my understanding although I don't know that its come to Council for approval that we are actually engaging him as an outside consultant in a law firm to do arbitration.

It's a terrible mistake. We should sever our ties and relationship with this individual who is not liked. He's not liked by the people that he represents. He's not liked by any arbitrator, and he's not good business for the City, and why the Administration maintains this love affair with this individual is beyond my understanding. I think the Administration needs to reevaluate its relationship with Mr. Schneider. Not only as it relates to his involvement in police, fire and paramedics, but also it's my understanding he's involved in negotiations currently with the Environmental Service workers.

I think the Administration better take a hard look at its negotiating relationships and its relationship with this individual.

In closing I strongly urge that we vote no on Bill 701. I think it's a terrible mistake to reduce the commitment of this Council to the number of available police officers, and I think we should maintain that commitment to the people.

Michelle Madoff:

While I share the concerns of my colleague Mr. Ferlo, and having been here a little bit longer I don't remember a year and I think Mike will confirm this that at budget time or during the year the issue of inadequate numbers police has not come up, and I agree that in the community there will never will be enough police, and I've been one of the strongest proponents. I've even suggested a tax where the money would go just for police officers over the year when I've done an audited the budget.

But, in the real world this is the first Administration and this not a critique, particularly its a matter of style more than what I'm about to say, but this is an honest budget. When you say that you're going to budget for 1,175 as opposed to 1,200 an actually put the money in to do it, it's a far cry from when we used to put numbers in, we all voted on the numbers but there was never money to hire them.

It's deceptive. It's dishonest. We're misleading the public when we say we're not going to vote for the specific number which is funded. It deceives the public. It gives a wrong impression and it says well we changed it now we're going to have 1,200 police and we couldn't.

Further, even if we were to somehow find the money for the additional police we couldn't put them on between now and the end of the year, and we're approaching budget time. At that time we ought to look very hard at the budget and try to find money to upgrade the numbers to change from 1,175 to 1,200 in next year, and that would be a more realistic approach.

I think we all share the same concerns. As a matter of fact, I am sure the Administration, they even said so, shares the same concerns. They don't want to cut back to 1,175, but you can't buy bread and milk if you don't have the money. And, somewhere perhaps in Council next year we can look for the money. There isn't enough time to put a class on in addition to what we have, and I repeat this is an honest reflection of what we're going to have; and I don't think anybody who has been around government any length of time doubts for one minute with the attrition that we're ever going to have the component that we say we're going to have. It just doesn't happen. You don't know who's going to retire for whatever reason. But, we're coming closer to what we say for the first time in the 12 years that I've been here.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President, I'd just like to state and I'd like to add this to the comments I've already heard, that there's not a neighborhood that I go into and there's no area in the City of Pittsburgh that isn't lacking for police officers.

Although, I admire the Administration and all the moves that they've made, I think the Mayor's done a terrific job, but I do think we need more police officers. We just have to get the money somewhere.

Michelle Madoff:

We all agree on that.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, Michelle's point is well taken. The difference I have with that comment is I mean for many years there was an irreconcilable difference between Council who always wanted more police and budgeted for it, and an Administration who said regardless of whether Council budgets it we're not going to perform, we're not going to fill it.

The difference here is that the Administration has made a commitment even before the re-election of the Mayor to her new term. The commitment was outstanding that we are actually now both Council and the Administration is now committed to this 1,200 figure.

And, what I'm saying is that it's time for Council for to bite the bullet and reassess its priorities. I say we stick to that 1,200. We don't expect Bill 701 as written and we realign other things that are less priority. I think there are other positions in the budget that are less priority to me then achieving the goal of the 1,200 police officers.

I'm saying it's time for Council to set the pace. Council to bite the bullet and determine the priorities. I think the priorities should be the 1,200 officers even if its at the expense of other positions in the Public Safety budget or other administrative level postions throughout the City.

I'm saying that that's where our priorities should be. And, that's the difference that we have now. It's a different scenario than the traditional decade long debates between the Administration and Council.

We've finally reached a commitment of an Administration who said we wanted the 1,200. I'm saying that its not of any less value or priority now. The problem is the money situation and I'm saying lets not change our priorities, let's change the priority base of where the money should come from, and let's maintain our pledge to try to achieve that goal to 1,200 officer.

The Chair:

I think the discussion on these bills is healthy. No matter what is said by Council pro or con I am of the position that a good Police Bureau within Public Safety is dependent upon good hiring procedures, good promotion procedures, and good management, even more so than the numbers.

My concerns have been along those lines all along and still are today. Hopefully, they will improve in the future.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'm voting no on this bill and the reason is that I'm all in favor of the trust fund, but I think it's wrong that we do not have the actual schedule of these fees to vote on.

I thar's Council's prerogative and I think it's part of the trust fund legislation. There should be clear indication from the Administration as to what each event is paying and I think that should be reviewed and debated, and evaluated by City Council. Until that's the case I will vote no.

Michelle Madoff:

I apologize to the President and members of Council. There's a piece of legislation introduced transferring the amount of $29,000 from a Code Account to the Westside Community.

This is money that Council has --

Mr. Coyne:

Point of order, Mr. Chairman. The Councilwoman is interrupting discussion on one bill.

Michelle Madoff:

I thought they finished it. I'm sorry. I apologize.

The Chair:

That bill would have to come up at the end of the meeting.

I'd just like to state in response to Mr. Ferlo's comment. I've always been of the position that those fees have to be legislated, but I think this is just funneling the fees into a trust fund. Whatever the Administration has chosen as the fee structure without legislation.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I agree with you wholeheartedly but the fact that the matter is, let's get down to tactics and strategy here. The Administration's not going to involve us in this decision making process. If we vote in favor of this they have the trust fund, they legally have a way to deposit the money and then they can expend it via a vis the director that's listed in the legislation.

My proposal is that we reject the creation of the trust fund until we have an agreement with the Administration that we're involved in a decision making process on what these fees should be.

By creating the trust fund today it's removed from Council and we'll never get it back before us as an issue.

So, I say vote no on the creation of the trust fund. Let the Administration come back with a companion piece of legislation that outlines specifically the events, what the requirements are on the part of the group, the obligations, what services are we providing, and I think we should evaluate that. I'm not saying that some of these groups shouldn't pay some fees. I'm saying that that should be something that Council evaluates and not just the Administration.

Michelle Madoff:

I respect my colleague and couldn't disagree with him more. I think this is one of the more productive pieces of legislation and after arguing about the fact that we want to have more police officers here is perhaps the way we will find them. This money will be funneled into a special trust fund so the money can perhaps be provided next year to increase our police force.

For example we have a group coming to the City now a musical group that created a great deal of problems for the police last year and each function that comes in the City needs different numbers of police. I don't think we can set a scale here today that's an administrative operation. They will determine based on previous experience what their departments needs. I don't think it's up to us to make that decision. I think its a purview of the administration.

Here is a good piece of legislation. Why are we nit-picking it?

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I think that both Ms. Madoff and Mr. Ferlo have good points and maybe Mr. Regan would consider recommitting it to the next committee meeting. So, certain questions Council has can be answered. I agree with Mr. Ferlo that I know there's certain events that I would like to know what the price and scale is going to be. What services we're going to provide and I know that a lot of the event coordinators make phone calls to Council members asking us for some assistance or asking us to explain to them what exactly's going on, and if we're not in position to do so I think it sort of takes away from the priority of this branch of government.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, I agree wholeheartedly with everything Michelle just said and that's the very reason why I don't think we should vote to approve this bill.

We should know specifically -- first of all every fee that's determined in the City is by act of legislation of Council from swimming pool fees to the fees associated with Building Inspection. All of these fees are an act of legislation by Council, and for the very reasons that Michelle spoke about. What is the methodology that's used? By what process does the Administration determine that one group will pay for certain services and the other will pay others? I'm all in favor of that fee schedule, but I want Council to be involved in evaluating and having an explanation from the Administration as to the manner in which they determine these fees.

You know, you have raised a point, Mr. President, about certain parades in this City. I was down there this past Saturday I don't know how many people marched but all the streets were blocked off. I'm sure there was a tremendous amount of personnel power utilized to set up for the parade. I don't think there were more than a couple of hundred people parading down Fifth Avenue.

Should that be part of the fee schedule? And if so on what basis and by what amount? There may be other events that we host. We're the livingroom for the region. I'm saying let's evaluate all of the events and all the potential resources that we have as far as generating revenues. Not just the mega events, the marathon, the grand prix, the arts festival. There may be other cost recovery activities from the Grateful Dead to these various parades and others.

I'm only asking that Council as a legislative body be involved and hear from the Administration on what methodology, because I think so far the Administration has been arbitrary and capricious in the manner in which it extracts revenue out of these events, and I think they should come to Council with a logical plan. We should all know it. We should debate it. I'm going to support it. I'm going to support the creation of the trust fund. I think Council should be involved the decision making process.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I think that there are numerous procedures for sitting down with the Administration discussing with them what their fee schedule is. What factors they use in taking this into consideration? The bill before us today is to create a trust fund for those revenues to go into. I'm going to be voting for it because it's simply a procedural matter of creating a trust fund. But, at the same I would be receptive to any other method for sitting down with the Administration and having a dialogue on what factors should be used in determining the contributions to be made.

The Chair:

I agree with you Mr. Cohen.

Michelle Madoff:

You know my colleague Mr. Ferlo has given every reason why the bill should be left as it is. He pointed out that there was a parade that was a smaller dimension than other parades. We are not talking about a fee or a fee schedule. What we're really talking about here is that the Administration is going to do an assessment or a back charge for services rendered specifically for specific events -- any more than this Council would be involved in sitting down with hospitals and negotiating what they're going to be paying. We would not be involved in that. We shouldn't be involved in whatever specific negotiations the Administration finds necessary, and its not a fee. It's a back charge for services rendered based on an assessment of what has happened previously or their needs. This is not a fee, I repeat.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. President, I'm going to vote in favor of this bill today. I can't see any reason why we should delay action. Put the trust fund into action. Put it in place and we can always go to the Administration and question them.

Mr. Ferlo:

In response to Mr. Darkins and Mr. Cohen. Just very clearly let's all be clear on our procedures and how things happen around here. We create the trust fund. They have the ability to deposit the money. It will never come back to Council. There's no way for us to get something back on the table in a Wednesday session. Who's kidding who.

If we wanted to review these issues I'm saying hold up on the trust fund. Ask them to come in with a companion piece of legislation. We can do it all by next week. If we vote on it today its a fait accompli. It's off the table. Who's kidding who.

I apologize to Council by oversight I neglected to Waive Rule 8 on a bill and have it on the agenda tomorrow. That's the Westside Community Development Corporation, which this Council has made repeated commitments, and that the Administration has made commitments on their dollars. Part of it is coming from URA the other part will have to come from Council, and I ask that we Waive Rule 8 and we have on the agenda tomorrow.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President, Councilman Darkins and myself just came back from a seminar and I'd like to give a little report on it. I want to be brief but I just want to give you a little outline.

We attended the 1990 International Privatization Congress in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, and it was the only one of its type that we know of throughout the world. There were speakers from all over the United States and a lot from the European block who are doing a lot in privatizing their services.

The main thing that we were there for was for municipal privatization. This includes opportunities for private and public partnerships and employee ownership of municipal services, and that would include for example: water & sewage, public transportation, roads, and anything to do with Public Works. This pertains to contracting out services and saving the municipalities a lot of money.

The Bishop and I were late and missed the plane in Toronto, and there's a lot more to this than meets the eye, because there was 150 union people picketing the convention. We missed that and there was a great debate on television. I was able to watch part of it in between sessions about how many people that they've lost and how many people are out of work on account of it.

So, although it saves the municipalities a lot of money. Does it do a service and people moving out of the area and unemployment? So, that's my little report and anything else that's necessary I'd be glad to bring it forward.

The Chair:

Thank you, Mr. Regan.

Michelle Madoff:

I have another issue, Mr. Chairman.

On this legislation that was just introduced. Kurt tried to see the Finance Chairman, and I'm sorry that they didn't connect, and I think we need some clarification. This is not new legislation. This is not new monies that I'm looking for. This money was approved, budgeted. We had a public hearing. We all felt deeply moved and felt that this was an absolute necessity. When people have to spend $10.00 for a bottle of milk because there's no facility for the people in the area, and no funds to operate their community group. They were written up yesterday as the community trying to pull themselves up by their boot straps and trying to do something.

The Chair:

Councilwoman Madoff, that will be discussed when the bill is in committee.

Michelle Madoff:

But, I just wanted to make a point. I just want my colleagues to know this is not new legislation. This is not end running anybody. This was a commitment by this Council and by the Administration to fund this particular activity which comes up tomorrow, and I would urge that anybody that has any concerns about it between now and tomorrow check on that.

The Chair:

We will discuss that bill tomorrow.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, since we last met we now have a new Police Chief Mayer DeRoy and I just want to thank the Mayor for this appointment, and to congratulate Mayer DeRoy. I think he's certainly been a great police officer, and I think he's going to make a great police chief. I'd like to publicly congratulate him, but also publicly request of him and that is that some of the first concerns I hope that he would review is the whole issue of the zone concept that has been implemented in the Department of Public Safety.

Specifically, I would ask that he re-evaluate the size of Zone 5 with the possibility of reopening the Number 3 Police Station. I think there's some of the other zones that have problems associated with the size of the zone and the available number of officers, and I hope that as the new police chief he'd be open to hearing from the communities involved in these various zones on some of the problems associated with the zone concept.

Also, I hope that the Chief will evaluate, and what will be the commitment of the Police Bureau as it relates to the issue of foot patrol. Something I've been lobbying for and there were some commitments made a couple of weeks ago in Zone 5 and I'm hoping that that won't change radically. I hope that that commitment will be forthcoming.

The issue of foot patrol is something very important and it's something that many of the neighborhood groups in my area have been lobbying for along with myself on City Council.

The best example of the need for foot patrol is a group of prostitutes and hookers on Butler Street between 44th and 46th Street, and a group of hookers that operate a successful business about four or five blocks from Director Cannon's house at Stanton and Negley.

I can't imagine why this activity is allowed to continue, and I believe very strongly that foot patrol, and that's a specific example in addition to other police investigation work, and arrests that could go on will have a direct impact, as well as on street drugs.

So, I would ask that the new police chief while I'm congratulating him, I hope that he will seriously begin to review the zone concept. The issue of where foot patrol is needed and its effectiveness, and I also hope he looks at the communication system, because I think there are still some fundamental problems with response time and problems associated with civilians running the 911 operation.

The Chair:

Is this a verbal request, Mr. Ferlo?

Mr. Ferlo:

Yes. This is a verbal request, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President, I'd just to take my hat off to the Mayor for appointing Mayer DeRoy. I think he's a great police officer, and I'd like to warn my great colleague here not to give the names and the address where these ladies of the night are loafing. We got enough weak people in the City, but I'm sure Mayer DeRoy will take care of that. Thank you.

Mr. Regan moved to approve the Minutes of Monday, May 14, 1990.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Cohen

Council adjourned.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, Councilman Ferlo and I would like to introduce the following two resolutions and we'd like to have the following people come up, please: Barbara Wolvovitz, Peggy Harris, Caroline Mitchell, Jay Hornack, Lois McClendon, Otis King, and Stu Cohen.

Before I begin, let me introduce these people. Barbara Wolvovitz is Executive Director of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union. Peggy Harris is of the YWCA. Caroline Mitchell is the former General Counsel of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission. Jay Hornack is of the National Lawyers Guild. Lois McClendon is of the Thomas Merton Center. Otis King is of the Coalition of Black Trade Unionists. And Stu Cohen is of the Urban League.

Mr. Cohen and Mr. Ferlo present

No. 829 WHEREAS, the equality of employment opportunity is a fundamental principle of our legal system and a right guaranteed by federal and Pennsylvania law; and

WHEREAS, in recent decisions, the U.S. Supreme Court has seriously limited the scope and effectiveness of civil rights protections, particularly in the area of employment discrimination; and

WHEREAS, The Civil Rights Act of 1990 has been introduced in the United States Congress to legislatively restore civil rights protections guaranteed to citizens before the Supreme Court's rulings and to provide more effective deterrence and adequate compensation for victims of discrimination; and

WHEREAS, The Civil Rights Act of 1990 will help to eliminate existing barriers to equal employment opportunity; and

WHEREAS, The Pittsburgh Campaign for Civil Rights was recently founded by local leaders of civil rights and civil liberties organizations and is now working toward the passage of The Civil Rights Act of 1990.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, the City whose own Preamble to its Home Rule Charter guarantees equal protection for all citizens, endorses and supports The Civil Rights Act of 1990, calls for its immediate passage in the Congress of the United States, and commends the Pittsburgh Campaign for Civil Rights in its efforts toward these goals.

Mr. Cohen moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Cohen:

I just want to say a couple of words before Councilman Ferlo introduces the second resolution.

This resolution, this bill before Congress, restores some of the protections that the Supreme Court has undermined, really, in the last few years.

I just got a letter this morning from Senator Heinz saying that he is going to be a co-sponsor of this bill. Senator Spector has also, and our local Congressman. Bill Coyne, is a co-sponsor of this bill as well.

So, I hope that it passes and I think that it will really make a great step forward in civil rights.

Mr. Ferlo and Mr. Cohen present

No. 830 WHEREAS, the Racial Justice Act, Senate Bill 1696, is legislation which aims to eliminate the risk that the race of a victim or the race of a defendant affects the outcome of capital sentencing decisions; and

WHEREAS, the Racial Justice Act was introduced on September 28, 1989 by a bipartisan coalition of Senators who represent opposing positions on the imposition of the death penalty; and

WHEREAS, the Senate Judiciary Committee concluded after hearings on race discrimination in capital sentencing on October 2, 1989, that "there is widespread and disturbing evidence of patterns of racial discrimination in the imposition of the death penalty"; and

WHEREAS, a February 1990 review by the United States General Accounting Office of research in the field of capital punishment reported that race influences the decision to sentence defendants to death; and

WHEREAS, of the twenty prisoners added to death row in Pennsylvania from January 1, 1989 through May 1, 1990, sixteen of them were black; and

WHEREAS, of the 114 defendants on death row in Pennsylvania, 73 are members of minority groups; and

WHEREAS, the Racial Justice Act forbids using the death penalty in a "racially discriminatory pattern"; and

WHEREAS, the Pittsburgh Campaign for Civil Rights was recently founded by local leaders of civil rights and civil liberties organizations and is now working toward the passage of the Racial Justice Act.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, the City whose own Preamble to its Home Rule Charter guarantees equal protection for all citizens, endorses and supports The Racial Justice Act, calls for its immediate passage in the Congress of the United States, and commends the Pittsburgh Campaign for Civil Rights in its efforts toward these goals.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

We'd like Barbara and possibly the others to speak and address the resolutions.

Ms. Wolvovitz:

I want to thank you on behalf of the Campaign for Civil Rights for passing these resolutions.

As Councilman Cohen indicated, both Senators Heinz and Spector are supporting the Civil Rights Act of 1990, but that is not the case for the Racial Justice Act.

So, I hope that this resolution will help and be instrumental in getting their support on this very important act.

I do appreciate the efforts of the Council to eliminate discrimination in all its forms, in employment, in capital sentencing, and I know that this will be very beneficial in our efforts in trying to get this legislation passed. Thank you.

Ms. Harris:

Good morning. My name is Peggy Harris and I'm an officer of the Board of Directors of the YWCA of Greater Pittsburgh.

The YWCA is dedicated to working towards the elimination of racism and sexism wherever it exists in our society. We deplore the fact that employment discrimination is a very serious problem for millions of American women seeking equal opportunity in the workplace. Women of color are particularly disadvantaged by discrimination as they face the double jeopardy of race and sex discrimination.

At a time when more women than ever are in the workplace and are in need of strong anti-discrimination laws in order to compete fairly, the Supreme Court has taken a giant step backwards. In recent decisions, it has applied the Civil Rights Laws so narrowly that fewer and fewer victims of discrimination are benefiting from them. Many women have already been adversely affected and many more will be.

The Civil Rights Act of 1990 will be an enormous help to women because it will reverse recent Supreme Court decisions which severely weaken two federal employment discrimination laws, namely Title Seven and Section 1981.

I'll leave it to the lawyers to detail the remedies to sex and race discrimination found in the Civil Rights Act of 1990. Suffice it to say that the Civil Rights Act of 1990 is of critical importance to women. A discrimination free workplace is a goal that all women have a stake in for themselves and for the families they support.

The YWCA of Greater Pittsburgh also supports the Racial Justice Act which addresses the widespread problem of race discrimination and the application of the death penalty.

We appreciate the fact that City Council is holding this hearing and urge you to pass a resolution supporting both the Civil Rights Act and the Racial Justice Act. Thank you.

Ma. Mitchell:

My name is Caroline Mitchell. I'm here as a private attorney engaged in Civil Rights practice and as a former Assistant General Counsel, not General Counsel, of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission.

Your passage of this resolution today means that the words inscribed over the portal of the United States Supreme Court, "Equal Justice Under Law", can at last become a reality for many victims of racial and sexual harassment who, without this Civil Rights Act of 1990, would have no meaningful relief. Thank you.

Mr. Hornack:

Good morning. My name is Jay Hornack and I'm here on behalf of the National Lawyers Guild, an organization concerned with both the areas of economic and criminal justice.

I'm here to speak this morning briefly about the Racial Justice Act and to thank you again for passing the resolution dealing with that act.

The important point about this piece of legislation is that, regardless of one's views on the death penalty itself, there is, I think, widespread agreement, and there ought to be widespread agreement, that any sentence that is imposed ought not be done in a racially discriminatory fashion.

All this act does is give a remedy to a criminal justice defendant, give them the right to show that the penalty has been imposed by the federal or state government in a racially discriminatory fashion, and allow that individual to then make an argument that there should be a lesser penalty.

This minimum amount of equal justice under law that's provided by this act ought to be passed by Congress and I hope that this resolution here goes a long way in having that accomplished. Thank you.

Ms. McClendon:

Good morning. My name is Lois McClendon and I'm here representing the Thomas Merton Center, but I'm also here representing a group called Women for Racial and Economic Equality.

We just had our national convention here in Pittsburgh this past weekend, and we've adopted as our plan of action affirmative action and we're going to be working on the local as well as national level for the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1990.

The fight for affirmative action is not just a legal fight, it's a political fight. Affirmative action impacts not only on jobs, it also impacts on health rights, children's rights, reproductive rights, as well as the rights to racial and economic justice. But its strongest impact will be on white women and women of color. By the year 2000, though, the workforce will consist of mainly women, people of color and immigrants. Only 15 percent of the jobs will be held by white males. Most of the jobs that will be in the year 2000 will be low-paying jobs and among those who will receive the lowest are women and people of color.

We must begin to see that everyone has a right to a decent living wage and the right to job training, protection and security, and the only way to do that is to have strong affirmative action legislation in place, and also to make certain that it is carried out.

So, we're here today to thank you for passing the resolution here in City Council which is saying on the local level that we're willing to fight for the Civil Rights Act but we're also calling for the Civil Rights Act to be passed and after its passed and implemented and that we want to make certain that the law is followed. We say that affirmative action is not a civil right, it's also a human right. Thank you.

Mr. Cohen:

Hello. I'm Stuart Cohen and I'm here on behalf of the Urban League of Pittsburgh. I want to thank you for agreeing to support the Racial Justice Act and the Civil Rights Act of 1990.

One, I just want to indicate that for those of you who may be wondering what an Act of Congress, how it can affect a Supreme Court Decision, basically what the Supreme Court held in the recent decisions were interpretations of existing statutes, of existing law. They weren't Constitutional interpretations which, to overturn, would require a Constitutional amendment. And so this piece of legislation, the Civil Rights Act of 1990, can restore, in effect, what had been the prevailing interpretation of the prior statutes.

Secondly, for those of you who are politicians and are sitting there wondering, "Is this going to get me in hot water with my constituents because I seem to have voted against the death penalty by supporting this act?", just let me reassure you that, in fact, most people's support for the death penalty dissipates when they are informed that it is possible to have sentences which are for life without hope of parole. I think most people's support for the death penalty is based on the assumption that the justice system doesn't work and that's the only way perpetrators will be punished. The reason you should do it has already been presented. The reason you don't have anything to fear for having done it is the fact I just indicated. Thank you.

The Chair:

Thank you all, very much.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 831 WHEREAS, the Greater Pittsburgh Alliance of Black School Educators is hosting the second annual Northeastern Regional Conference of the National Alliance of Black School Educators in Pittsburgh from June 1 through June 3, 1990; and

WHEREAS, GPABSE purpose is to create a network of communication for all Black Educators by providing a Mechanism to address classroom obstacles and identify methods to remove the barrier; and

WHEREAS, the conference theme is Strategic Planning and Implementation Techniques for Improving the Educational outcomes of African American children; and

WHEREAS, Educational leaders from New England, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, the District of Columbia and Pennsylvania will attend the conference to learn techniques, skills and methods that will enhance their capabilities to improve the quality of education for all students.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh and its residents welcome the National Alliance of Black School Educators to the City of Pittsburgh and extends to them success and longevity in their pursuit to improve the quality and standards of education for all students.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh congratulates the Greater Pittsburgh Alliance of Black School Educators for their leadership in establishing a forum for educators to identify and rectify concerns surrounding the education arena.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like Dr. Edmund Effort to come up, please.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 832 WHEREAS, welfare recipients who are entitled to Medicaid benefits are currently hard-pressed to obtain access to dental services; and

WHEREAS, the lack of access to dental services for Medicaid patients is due to the outdated, inadequate reimbursement fees from the State Department of Public Welfare which has resulted in many dentists, some clinics and some hospitals being financially unable to treat Medicaid patients; and

WHEREAS, the Medical Assistance fee levels for dental services were last adjusted in Fiscal Year 1980-1981 to a level which was at that time 70% of the state-wide reported average and there has been no increase in Medical Assistance fee levels for dental services since 1981; and

WHEREAS, increasing dental practice overhead and inflationary factors, in conjunction with the lack of even nominal increases in reimbursement levels, have eroded Medical Assistance dental fees to below 50% of the Statewide reported average; and

WHEREAS, with the mounting disparity in Medical Assistance fees versus dentists' usual charges, more and more Medical Assistance dental providers are unable to accept new Medical Assistance patients, or are terminating participation entirely; and

WHEREAS, the Pennsylvania Dental Association supports the adjustment of Medical Assistance provider rates to levels that insure participation of the necessary number of providers; and

WHEREAS, House Bill 91 will allow dental service fees to be raised to 75% of the statewide reported average.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh urges the State Assembly to secure an adequate appropriation for Medicaid assistance for dental services for fiscal year 1990-1991 which will allow dental service fees to be raised to at least 65% of the statewide reported average.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Before I introduce Dr. Effort, I do want to give him a plug because he happens to be not only a great dentist, since he's my dentist, by he's a wonderful gentleman.

I know some people view dentists and physicians as being always out on the gold course five days a week. Personally I'd like to say that Dr. Effort is somebody who is working very hard with his volunteer time. He serves on the Medical Assistance Advisory Commission, which is part of the State Department of Public Welfare, representing different constituency groups. Dr. Effort represents the Pennsylvania Dental Association. He's one of the few dentists locally that does accept and provide treatment to Medicaid recipients.

I think as many of us are aware, in the Commonwealth alone, there are over 1 million Medicaid and/or Welfare recipients, which is close to ten percent of our population. There are many, many people, especially here in the City of Pittsburgh, that cannot find dental services if they are on medical assistance.

So, this legislation is badly needed, not only for people like Dr. Effort who do go above and beyond the call of duty of serving Medicaid recipients, but places like Alma Illery Health Center, a community health center in Homewood who maintains dental chairs and could certainly profit and benefit from a rate increase as far as being able to provide those very necessary services.

I'd like to thank Dr. Effort for bringing this to the attention of Council. I would also hope that we would send a copy of this resolution to members of the House and Senate in Pennsylvania.

At this time, I'd like to introduce Dr. Edmund Effort.

Dr. Effort:

I want to thank Councilman Jim Ferlo for taking the time to present this proclamation. My other two good friends, Dr. Milliones and Bishop Darkins, the three of these guys have always been champions of the community and they work hard at what they do. It's this kind of support that will bring this resolution to its completion and, hopefully, the State Legislators will be as open minded and understanding as this City Council is for providing this proclamation. I thank you for your time.

The Chair:

For the final resolution I'd like to ask Mr. Tom Dworkan and Mr. Robert Kniss to step forward to receive it. They are both members of A.B.A.T.E. and upcoming is Motorcycle Awareness Week.

The Chair presents

No. 833 WHEREAS, the Alliance of Bikers Aimed Toward Education is a Pittsburgh based non-profit organization; and

WHEREAS, A.B.A.T.E. participates in civil activities, Toys for Tots, Jerry's Kids and the Central Blood Bank; and

WHEREAS, A.B.A.T.E. further supports local charities such as the Buhl Science Center's Christmas Angel Program and donates regularly to W.Q.E.D.'s telethon; and

WHEREAS, it is important for A.B.A.T.E. to maintain a good image for bikers.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby proclaims the week of June 4 through June 9, 1990 as "Motorcycle Awareness Week" in the City of Pittsburgh."

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I'd like to thank these gentlemen for being actively involved in this program and the many civic activities and promoting biker awareness and safety on the roads in the City of Pittsburgh and to declare the upcoming week as "Motorcycle Awareness Week".

Tom Dworkan would like to say a few words.

Mr. Dworkan:

Members of Council, ladies and gentlemen, on behalf of Bob Kniss, our President of A.B.A.T.E. of Allegheny County, we'd like to thank you for passing this resolution. It's important to us, and we've been doing this for three years right now, as having Motorcycle Awareness Week in the City of Pittsburgh to let the public know to watch out for us on the roads. We are out there; we share the roads with you and our lives depend on it. So, I ask you to please remember that.

This is the 11th year of this run we've had which started out as a helmet protest run because we are opposed to the mandatory helmet laws in Pennsylvania. Over these 11 years, this run has grown into a rally, and we have also joined forces with the Rainbow Kitchens and donated food to them for the last three years.

We're trying to show the public that not only do we wish to have the present mandatory helmet law in Pennsylvania amended to state that riders over the age of 18 who are experienced riders be able to make that choice of whether they wish to wear a helmet or not. That is a freedom of choice. We do have other freedoms to choose in this Country, but unfortunately, those of us who ride motorcycles seem to be pushed aside.

There are other items, there are other things that affect us. I will not get into the details; I don't want to have this meeting carry on longer than it already has. But I invite you to come out and see our rally on June 9th at 1:00 p.m. at West Park Meadows in North Side.

At this time, I would also like to extend an invitation to Mayor Masloff and have her come and say a few words at our rally.

Thank you very much.

No. 806 Resolution appointing Dawn Botsford as Director of the Department of Water, effective June 4, 1990.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd like to have my comments brought forward.

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like to have my comments brought forward as well.

Michelle Madoff:

Ditto.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MESSRS. COHEN AND FERLO AND MICHELLE MADOFF'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 806, WEDNESDAY, MAY 23, 1990)

The Chair:

Our first order of business are directors to be considered,
Dawn A. Botsford for Director of the Department of Water.

Michelle Madoff:

Here we go again. You know I'm delighted that you're on board. I have a number of questions.

It is my opinion that the Water Department is in fact a utility and is markedly different from all other city departments. Have you given any consideration to this fact?

Ms. Botsford:

Well yes. As a matter of fact, I met with the Assistant Directors yesterday and one of the things that I went over with them was the fact that I believe that the Water Department should be run as much like a business as possible. We have customers out there that we serve and that's our goal to run it as a business and to serve our customers.

Michelle Madoff:

Since you knew that you were going to be appointed and because of your involvement in the water peripheral, are you familiar with Chapter 56 of the Utility Code?

Ms. Botsford:

No, I'm not.

Michelle Madoff:

I strongly suggest that you do that.

It's my understanding that the Water Department which is not regulated by the PUC has not taken advantage of the evolution of that set of standards which entitles Utility Customers to fair treatment and requires responsibility to rate payers. All of us as utility customers, whether it's electric, gas or telephone have greatly benefitted from Chapter 56 and have been held responsible by these same standards.

While the Water Department is not required to adhere to these standards, it is unfortunate that we have not adhered to these standards in the past. Will you review these standards outlined in Chapter 56 and seriously consider adopting them as standard operating procedures?

Ms. Botsford:

Well, I would assume that that's one of the things I would review and I'll be happy to take a look at that and if that's one of the ways that you improve your services to look at other people's service so obviously that's certainly a path I would take.

Michelle Madoff:

It spells out almost every problem that we've had in the Water Department and how it's dealt with and I strongly suggest that you look at it.

I know you are familiar with the Remote Meter Installation Program which is under way. It is my belief it is insufficient to merely install meters if no program exists to calibrate, insure their accuracy with routine inspection. Do you agree you will institute such a program?

Ms. Botsford:

Certainly. I'm not familiar with the calibration issue at this time. I know that that is important in meters. I have talked with other people who have had calibration problems and I will look at what we currently do and if we need to install a program to that effect certainly we'll do that.

Michelle Madoff:

As I said, I found the Water Department out of step with accepted standards that other utilities are held to. Once you have familiarized yourself with them, will you be willing to meet with me and share your thoughts?

Ms. Botsford:

Certainly.

Michelle Madoff:

Have you reviewed my audit of the Water Department performed last May, 1989 which I presented to the Water Authority in July of last year?

Ms. Botsford:

No, I have not but I will be doing that.

Michelle Madoff:

Have you been privy to the reports submitted to George Jacoby by Alex Sciulli and Marnie Monheim who was on the Mayor's staff and assigned to the Water Department who was charged with using her expertise obtained in part from her experience as administrative staff perfon to Helen O'Bannon who headed the state PUC?

Ms. Botsford:

I have not seen those reports only because I haven't had an opportunity to review them. I mean, they're available to me but I just haven't had the time and I will be looking at all the available reports.

Michelle Madoff:

I know that the Sculli Report would be available because he's still here and you certainly would have access to that but I question whether you're going to have access to the Marnie Monheim Report because while I have a copy I have not been permitted to share it with anybody. She is a professional and I can't give her material to anyone but it was given to Jacoby and I believe it was given to Alex Sculli and it was given to Lou Borman, and when I tried to get it from two people it wasn't available, nobody could find it. I think George was involved and absorbed with his own problems at the time he knew he was leaving the department and nobody can find these reports. I have a problem as we talked earlier in giving you somebody else's project documents.

Ms. Botsford:

Whatever reports we do have available I will be reviewing all of them.

Michelle Madoff:

Jim Turner graciously met with Ms. Monheim and felt that her material was very beneficial to the City. Perhaps you can make arrangements through Mr. Turner to make some arrangements to meet with her and find out what input you could get from her because as I said it would be inappropriate for me to share that.

Are you aware that when customers choose not to pay their bills this places an unfair burden on responsible rate payers who are in effect subsidizing the dead beats?

Ms. Botsford:

That makes sense, that's absolutely true.

Michelle Madoff:

I think someone else mentioned it but I thought that it was worth repeating. Would you be willing to have a consultant come in to train the Customer Service Department in collections and billing procedure?

Ms. Botsford:

It's too early for me to make a commitment like that. What I'd like to do is to get moved down there and take a look at the situation and from there determine which direction I want to go. If that's one of the directions then certainly I would pursue that.

Michelle Madoff:

You are not adverse to having experts in certain fields come in and help you.

Ms. Botsford:

No.

Michelle Madoff:

I guess the one that everybody is going to ask you and I'll touch on it and I'm sure others will pick up on it. How do you plan to deal with the bills that are the result of the Water Department estimating bills over a long period of time? Do you believe in a standardized payment plan for these bills? In these cases, should interest and penalty automatically be abated or waived? Let me be specific. You go in to buy a suit and I buy that suit for for $400.00 four years ago and now you say, "Well, I wasn't sure so I estimated the price but now I really looked at the tag and the manufacturer sent me my invoice and that dress is really $600.00." Do you think it's fair to come back four years later which is the statute of limitations I understand and say that you made a mistake and you now want $600.00 when people have been counting on the fact that we didn't read the meter. If somebody kept us from reading the meter that's another story but if we didn't do our job for 35 years and particularly in the last four years which is statute of limitations, we didn't go out and read the meter, we only estimated, as my colleague would say, do you think it is fair to charge them for that and don't you believe that there should be a policy to live with what we did in error? It was our mistake and we shouldn't punish anybody and that would help us have the time to collect that -- whatever the number is realistically -- collect that money so we're not spending time spinning our wheels trying to get something done. Do you agree that it needs to really be looked at?

Ms. Botsford:

What I believe needs to be done is we need to look at what we have done and I'm well aware of these problems and I have discussed them with a couple of Councilmembers and we do need to develop a policy that is fair to our customers. As I said earlier, we're dealing with customers here and we have to do as a business would do and we have to develop a policy that's fair to everyone. I don't know yet what that policy should be because I am not that familiar with all the issues but I think that we can come up with a reasonable policy that addresses a consumer's concerns as well as addresses the City's need for financial resources.

Michelle Madoff:

Let me share something with you that you may or may not be aware of. The Water Department is currently not required to notify customers of their rights. Should the Water Department be required to notify customers of their rights? Example, the right to appeal to the Board of Water Assessors?

The Water Assessors has geared up -- I was told all these people are ready to go and I haven't heard from anybody. Yet, I think there were 54,600 complaints during 1988. They may not have been on billing but there are substantial numbers of problems and it would seem to me that at the very least we can tell people they have the right to appeal to a board.

Ms. Botsford:

I certainly believe that everyone should be informed of their rights no matter what issue you're dealing with.

Michelle Madoff:

I would appreciate it if you would really look at that as an immediate thing that needs to be addressed.

In closing, I wish to restate my support for you, Director. I have long felt that what the Water Department needed was a good administrator and not an engineer. I'm delighted that engineer after engineer turned down the opportunity to direct the Water Department.

By now along with everyone else you must be aware of my concern about the outstanding unpaid bills and the need to promulgate policies that will deal fairly with indigents, swiftly with deadbeats and the pressing need to make sure that bills which are sent reflect accurate readings without punishing rate payers for our years of neglect either in laxity of reading meters, overbilling by backcharging and the basic need to address customer relations in a very professional manner. Can I assume you share my concerns for fair play to our 90,000 water customers and will you be willing to review your plans as they develop with me as head of the Water Committee for 12 years?

Ms. Botsford:

I think your concerns reflect the Administration's concerns and obviously I share those.

Michelle Madoff:

Today we will look at the printout one year later.

Ms. Botsford:

That's correct.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Good morning. I want to congratulate you on your appointment and tell you that I am very glad to see that there is going to be a Director of the Water Department.

I agree with Councilwoman Madoff that there are massive problems in the Water Department and she has touched on a number of issues. I think that next to crime problems the Water Department problems probably reflect the greatest number of phone calls that I have received to my office since becoming Councilman so I do want to focus in on a couple of those and the first is on the policy of back charging which the Administration calls catch-up bills which I call illegal back charging and as Councilwoman Madoff referred to, it's a situation where people -- and I'm only talking about responsible consumers and not the scofflaws -- but where people have paid their bills that they've received and in many cases estimated bills and then once a remote meter is put in they get an actual bill and are socked with a bill that's five or ten times may be many more times than that then they have had in the past. That policy in my view is wrong and probably illegal and I want to know what your views are on it and whether you would be receptive to changing that policy.

Ms. Botsford:

My views on that particular policy I'm not familiar with all of the details of that. I understand from talking with you and talking with the Councilwoman that that is indeed a serious problem and I know that we have been working on developing a policy that would be fair to the consumers and what I can tell you right now is that I am very open to developing a policy that suits everyone's needs and does not punish responsible individuals.

Mr. Cohen:

I'm glad to hear that. I'm sure it brings more revenue into the Water Department but there is another factor here and that's the factor of respect for citizenry, respect for the consumer and I think that in the few cases where we do get more money from these catch up bills and these back charge bills, the price that we pay in alienating the consumer is far greater and in many of these cases we're spending a lot of money going through the process, the hearing process, where people are protesting these bills and I think that they're right in doing so. And that gets to my second question which is, when people receive these new bills, these back charge bills, there is nothing to explain why their bill has gone up and in many cases they save ten times what they've been normally paying in the past.

I had a meeting at the Water Department recently and asked them whether they even put an insert in their bill to say this is the reason that your bill has gone up. You now have a remote meter in, we're getting an actual reading, would you be receptive and would you commit yourself to putting an insert in the bill or in some other way communicating to the consumer that this is the reason that your bill has gone up so much?

Ms. Botsford:

I think in any instance if you inform someone of a situation and they understand what's going on they're more receptive to that situation to begin with so I'm certainly not opposed to putting an insert in if it's feasible to do something like that, I would certainly look at doing that. I think that consumers should be informed about what's going on. I know if I get a bill at home and there's a substantial change in any bill that I don't understand I'm quickly on the phone to try and find out what is going on. I don't have to make that phone call if somebody gives me the information ahead of time.

Mr. Cohen:

I think what happens is that they call the Water Department and the Water Department is getting a tremendous number of calls every day and they're calling their Councilpeople, at least in my case I've received a number of calls and I'm sure all of us have where people say "There has to be something wrong here, my bill is ten times more than what it normally is". Why let that occur rather than explaining it to them in the first place and having the kind of respect for them that many companies at least in the private sector have for their customers.

I realize that it's a different situation because it's a monopoly in the private sector and in cases where there aren't monopolies a customer can go to another company so they have to treat them with respect. What I'd like to see and I think that you'll bring this to the Water Department and I hope you do is to have respect for the customer which we really have not had in the past. So whether it's an insert or another form of communication, I want you to commit yourself that you will communicate to them to tell them why their bill has changed.

Ms. Botsford:

That's certainly a commitment on my part and I think that goes along with running the operation as a business and having respect for your consumers.

Mr. Cohen:

Now that the remote program I think is going well and ultimately we'll have remote meters in virtually every facility is my understanding. Will there be any reason to have estimated bills after that? I'd like to see the whole concept of estimated bills be done away with.

Ms. Botsford:

Our long-range goal would be that we have actual bills every single billing cycle. One of the ways to achieve that is through the installation of the remote meters but they also have to be read and that's one of the other areas that we have to address and there has been substantial work done in that area to make certain that the meter readers get their entire route read in any given day. So that is our goal. I can't tell you how soon that will happen but that certainly is our goal.

Mr. Cohen:

I realize of course that you were just appointed and I'm not going to pin you down to particular dates but I'm glad to hear that that's the goal that actual readings will be made throughout the city and not to have estimated bills which brings me to my next to last question which is, until that time occurs, the estimated bills that we have had in the past have been at a percentage of the former actual bill. So let's say in 1980 I had an actual bill and ever since then there have been estimated bills, either because the Water Department personnel haven't gone to my house or they haven't been able to get in. And as you know, the estimated bills have been at 90 percent of the previous year so that after ten years you have a bill that is a small fraction of what it should be. I don't know why that policy happened, no one has been able to give me a good answer as to why the estimates were at 90 percent of the actuals but under your leadership will there be estimates at 100 percent of the actual?

Ms. Botsford:

They are currently being done at 100 percent. So that has been changed. Actually it's about 101 percent, the computer can't figure it at 100 percent but I think it's always better to do it that way than the way they were doing it before.

Mr. Cohen:

I'm glad to hear that. That will bring us more revenue and it will bring the kind of revenue that's appropriate.

Your transition from Director of General Services to Director of the Water Department is I think a difficult one for many reasons. One because the Water Department has so many problems right now but the other is that in your role as Director of General Services the department didn't have nearly as much public contact as the Water Department does and I'm wondering if you thought about that and how you're going to make that transition.

Ms. Botsford:

I don't see that as a problem. I think that what we have to remember is that the public is our customer and we serve the public and that's what we're here for and if you can always keep that in the forefront of everyone's mind that deals with the public then you're doing a good job and that's certainly the way I feel about it and that's the way I would expect my staff to feel about it and I would work closely with them to portray that to the public.

Mr. Cohen:

I'm glad to hear that because I think that that concept has been lost in the Water Department so I look forward to you bringing it back.

Mr. Ferlo:

Director, I don't want to rain on your parade and I've certainly talked to you privately but I cannot vote in good conscience for your appointment as Water Department Director. Over the years both on Council and before I've not been pleased with your role as General Services Director on bid specification problems, the MBE procurement process, the fleet management problems associated and condition of public buildings. I'm just letting you know publicly, it's nothing personal, but based on your performance I cannot vote for you as Director of Water. It's obvious you have the votes so I won't belabor the point. I want to let you know that.

Secondly, I am concerned about the Administration because it's not often that the Mayor and the Administration is allowed to appoint department directors and in appointing directors for making a statement and I don't think you should bear the burden of this being a white female but I am concerned about the lack of minority directors throughout the City's system and there were two opportunities here in this appointment and the appointment of the General Services Director to make that kind of a statement. Thank you.

The Chair presents

No. 807 Resolution approving the appointment of Louis DiNardo as Director of the Department of General Services, effective June 4, 1990.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

I have a question to the President. What is the status of the debate?

The Chair:

The status of the debate is a letter which all of us received this morning, I suspect, to all Members of Council from Dawn Botsford who was, up until that time, Director of General Services. It reads as follows:

"In keeping with our original plans, the American Flag will be flying in front of the City County Building no later than the dedication ceremony for the opening of Grant Street. However, we are attempting to move the Flag installation date up to July 3rd, in time for our City's celebration on Independence Day. The precise date will be dependent upon the availability of materials and approval of any local regulatory agencies.

As you may have noticed, the Flag was displayed on the front of the building on Memorial Day. We will continue to use this temporary measure on holidays until the permanent fixtures are installed."

I consider that letter to be sufficient in terms of a commitment from the Administration. I'm rather disappointed that it took two years to get to this point, quite frankly. I have letters going back to June 9, 1988 requesting that flags be flown in front of the City County Building.

They have not indicated in the letter the commitment to fly not only the American Flag but the County Flag and the City Flag. I suspect that will occur in the three flag pole locations in front of the building. But I am grateful that the Administration has finally made a commitment to do this.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to say that with the Director it was nothing personal and I commend the Administration for their fast action on this. In fact, it's a lot faster than I thought it would be and I'd like to commend them for that.

The Chair:

I also think Mr. DiNardo should be approved and I think he'll make a quality director in General Services.

Mr. Regan:

I second that motion.

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 760, you may recall, Members of Council, that I asked to have information as to who bid on the headsets at $111.00 apiece. The information I got was grossly inadequate. It showed me a picture of what it looked like and who the company was. I wanted to know what other companies were able to provide that item so that I could call them and see if the prices were competitive.

I'm just tired of getting inadequate information and I'm going to be forced to vote no on this bill.

Mr. Ferlo:

Director, why is this gentleman doing this one and secondly, why should we not take this? Do we have a strategy in place either with the community group or through the City's real estate? I mean, any number of given property owners could say I don't want this property, give it back to the City and it removes taxable revenue from the property. What's the motivation?

Dir. Hayllar:

I'm not sure what the Rooney Family's motivation was but I think it's a generous one because it does connect to a playground and an already existing greenway so it would be attached to that. Also, we are in the position to extend Southside Avenue if we choose to and build on the property which would return part of it to the tax roles. I think he felt that he had no use for the property and continued to pay the taxes.

Mr. Ferlo:

I certainly appreciate the offer. I would ask though as Director that there be consideration given to Director Brown in terms of a report from her on what value some of this property could be.

Dir. Hayllar:

This is going through the Planning Department and the Parks Department.

Mr. Ferlo:

Secondly, I would be in touch with the Community Development Corporation there and see if they could be involved in some of the buildable portions.

Dir. Hayllar:

Certainly.

Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Discussion. On lot A, I strongly object to the sale of this property. First of all this is an "R4" zone, this is a non-conforming use so it would have to go to the Board of Adjustment which I would strongly object to. This property owner is part of several property owners in this area that is not a good property owner and I don't think a parking lot is suitable given the location on North Negley Avenue and I would strenuously object to this and I would appear before the Board to oppose its use as a parking lot. There are other adjacent properties one of which is abandoned right next to this parking lot and if any consideration would be given I would hope that it would be given to looking at it as a packaged deal.

The other thing is the Garfield Jubilee and other neighborhood groups in the area along with the URA and City Planning have embarked on an elaborate initiative to do a three-year, multi-year housing plan for part of the Black Street, this part of Negley, Colombo, Margaretta and I think this should fit in being keeping with that overall initiative that we're going to put a lot of resources in it and accordingly I'd like to make a motion to delete Parcel A.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, I think most of you know by now how important this bill was to my community, to me, and really to the whole City because its indicative to keeping our word.

There has been some discussion here about, well, this Council didn't make a commitment. How would this Council feel if we came up with legislation and somebody in this Council went on to something else or left Council? A commitment by this body is a commitment by this body.

My putting this bill forward was because an error had taken place, a misunderstanding had taken place. It is not somebody coming to this Council and saying, well, we now want some money.

Here is a community in Westgate that has been disadvantaged which had not had the opportunity to have the benefits of what we take for granted, being able to go to the store and buy a bottle of milk, some Pampers or groceries for the house. They have to take cabs everywhere.

There is some money being appropriated and the URA, as you know, is working to resolve that end of the problem.

But a group that doesn't exist cannot continue. There is no way of solving the problems of the community if the group that's planning all this and representing the community goes out of business.

I want to very quickly repeat what happened. This Council voted unanimously with the support of the Administration after many public hearings. We were all very deeply touched and made a 100 percent commitment to solve the problem of this community. What had happened was that they had asked for money. Unfortunately, I did not realize, as perhaps many people didn't, was that it was Mr. Ferlo's suggestion so we'd have more ULO money to give to other groups. We didn't understand that you could not take Operating money out of URA dollars, out of bond money. You could only take Capital Improvement money. And so the group was disenfranchised and they lost their $29,000 that was to go to them for their operation expenses like all the other groups in the City get and that I have supported forever since I've been here.

I think it's a terrible thing to punish a group because it appears that we're coming back to get money that we didn't commit earlier. I repeat, not only did we commit earlier, but we committed several times.

What has happened with this body is we've said, "Well, let the Administration come up with the money." And the Administration says, "Well, let Council come up with the money." So, I went to Code Account 10, which is our Code Account. It turns out that there just isn't enough money, nor would it pass this Council because Councilmembers have many other little commitments that they'd like to hold those dollars in reserve.

It was suggested to me by the Budget Office that we take it out of one of our special City code accounts which the Administration had used $300,000 from in recent months. We took $29,000 out of that code account.

I reported to this Council that it was my opinion, from having talked to the Administration, that they would not object to this because they, indeed, have a commitment and it will honor that commitment.

I was under the misunderstanding, and I apologize to my colleagues of thinking that I had explained this and that I had the support of my colleagues. As a matter of fact, one of the members said to me, "What are you worried about? You have the votes."

Unfortunately, through timing or problems, I was under the impression that the Finance Chairman had been briefed by the President of this Council and by the Budget Office because I figured that would be a better way than if I just said, "Hey, this is something we made a commitment for." I wanted the Finance Chairman to have the benefit of all the input.

The Finance Chairman has graciously said that he would look into this and therefore I would like to request that on both this bill and the companion bill that we hold them for two weeks. And hopefully my colleagues will reconsider and understand that they have a moral and ethical commitment to this community. And if it isn't passed, I think we should all hide our heads in shame. But I would move that we hold it for two weeks.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, may I request information first of all? I had requested a post agenda or a hearing at your pleasure that you would chair with reference to the problems the City is going to be confronted with with the Airport and coming up with some plan of our own. I was delighted to find out that the Mayor was also very concerned but what's happening over there we don't know and I think it's imperative that we all work together and we hear from the people that are involved. Have you scheduled that hearing as yet?

The Chair:

Yes. Mr. Perry is in the process. Mr. Perry, what date is that?

Mr. Perry:

It's in June.

The Chair:

It's within the next two weeks.

Michelle Madoff:

Fine.

And there was also a hearing on Lojack because we have such a tremendous number of auto thefts that they had offered to come in and talk to us and bring a film provided we were available to do that and we're trying to get my colleagues together.

On another matter. I had a call from the media, the newspapers, the other day, informing me of my statements made by Mr. Ferlo and by yourself, Mr. President, about problems we're having in the development of various projects in the community. While I was caught off guard, I still have some very strong feelings which I expounded on.

I think the time has come that this Council, either a part or separately from, trying to have a hearing or move forward to see that we have a connection to the Airport, but that we have job opportunities and development here.

We need to find out what it is that our developers feel, from their mouths, what is it that they find that is an obstructionist delaying the development.

The reason I say that is, as I reflect back on the few years that I've been here, I can think of four specific major episodes where developers have decided enough already. I'm going to do this project, or if I don't do this project, so be it. Or, I'm going to take my projects and my money and go elsewhere.

One of the major developers of this community has now told me that he's taking everything out of the City and going to the suburbs and I don't think it's any secret that it's Zamagias.

Something is wrong. I don't know just what that problem is. What is happening with Planning? I don't think there's anybody on this Council or in the Mayor's Office that doesn't want to have planning be done appropriately so that we don't have helter skelter design. But, my goodness, why should it take years and years and years and years to come back with answers? Why do we have obstacles put in the way of developers? Why do we discourage developers?

And then we have information in the media that we're going to have a $50 million shortfall in our taxes this year but we're being obstructionists.

I don't know, but I think we ought to consider having major developers who want to develop in the community come and tell us what it is, the problems they're being confronted with, and what they feel we could do to expedite development.

I'm not talking about, and I want to be very clear on this, I'm not talking about special favors to one developer over another. I'm talking about everybody being treated equally. I'm talking about not putting unnecessary delays and obstacles in their way and getting the Administration to review the Planning Department - I don't think this is news to them; I'm sure they've heard the same complaints we've had - and try to resolve this impasse because the longer it takes to bring these projects to fulfillment the less jobs we have, the less our tax base is, and we're not helping ourselves.

I don't know that we can just sit by idly and say, "Well, so be it." Maybe we need to have a hearing and hear from developers as to what the problems are and I throw that on the table to see if anybody feels in any way that that might be an appropriate procedure.

Mr. Ferlo:

On the same issue, Mr. President. I believe Michelle is specifically talking about the delays in the construction of the Grandview Hotel.

Michelle Madoff:

No, I'm not. I'm talking about Zamagias. I'm talking about what happened with Rauch and the waterfront. We could go on and on and on and on. I would never do that on one issue. Never.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just to clarify, you're talking about a general meeting?

Michelle Madoff:

That's correct.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just to clarify then, Mr. President, one of the concerns that has been raised which is part of this discussion is the delays in the Grandview Hotel.

I would ask that in addition to this meeting on the general issue of development and meeting with developers, I do think we are owed an explanation from the Administration, Mr. Mistick and, in particular, regarding the specific development of the Grandview Hotel. What are the specific problems that the Administration and the Planning Department have with the development? We meet with people directly involved and we get one side of the story and I think we need to hear an explanation from those in the Planning Department. And I think it should be part of the meeting that Michelle has requested.

Michelle Madoff:

I would assume that anybody who has got a project underway would want to come and talk to us about what the problems are. Somebody has got to coalesce this conflict and bring the parties together. I agree with that. But it isn't just enough to say, "Let's hear the other side because we don't want to look like we're playing favorites. This project happens to be in my district and it might look like I'm pushing it." It has nothing to do with that.

Jack Wagner and I were assigned to a committee by Mayor Caliguiri several years ago and we were charged to look at all the entertainment development projects and we made recommendations. It was a unanimous decision by the esteemed committee that we just happened to be representing Council. But very little has happened and years have gone by. How long are we going to allow that to happen?

The Chair:

Why don't we ask Director Downing for a status report on the Grandview Hotel Project? And based on that status report, within the next week or two, we can determine if we need a meeting on that project and also look into setting up some kind of a meeting in regard to planning and development in general.

Michelle Madoff:

May I suggest that you start by talking to the Mayor's Executive Secretary and the Mayor, Mr. Mistick, as to where and how we should proceed. I don't want to take on the Administration; that's not my intention at all. I want to know how Council can work with the Administration to solve these problems.

You must understand, everybody, we've got a new Administration, in a sense. Not only is Sophie new, and she's looking at it from a different side than she did sitting on Council, but we have new people over there. Maybe Joe Mistick is not aware of the history of the delays and obstacles that developers have been confronted with in this community and perhaps we need to sit down or have it all out in the open and see what we can do to resolve this.

Mr. Regan:

I just wanted to agree with the Councilwoman on that. I think that in any way that we can help to cut red tape so that we don't send a negative message out around the country that it's tough to do business in Pittsburgh.

Michelle Madoff:

That's right. That's what the message is.

Mr. Ferlo:

On another issue. In my absence over the weekend, apparently, some controversy has developed once again on the Three Rivers Arts Festival. I believe this time it has to do with a particular Steelworker Statue. I have not seen the statue so I cannot speak emphatically on the issue.

I am in receipt of a letter from the Croatia Fraternal Union which is addressed to our Controller, Mr. Flaherty, and I believe it's being FAXed to each Member of Council individually. I'd like to just read it briefly. It basically expresses the following:

"The Croatia Fraternal Union of America and it's 90,000 members join with you in your protest against the Steelworker Statue in Point State Park for the Three Rivers Arts Festival.

We view the word "hunky" in the same context as "kike", "nigger", "wop", "pigsty", "WASP", and every other ethnic and racial slur. These are words that are unacceptable to the Croatia people."

I think the basic issue, if I understand it, and again I want to clarify not seeing the statue, nor am I for censoring any type of artwork in the festival, in the museum or anywhere else. But I do think that given the importance that ethnic and racial discrimination plays in our City and certainly in our society today, I think as a legislative body, as a group of elected officials, I think we need to be concerned and supportive and speak out against any type of racial and/or ethnic slur. I don't know what was intended or what the viewpoint of the particular artist from New Mexico is.

I would suggest, and I'd like to do this in the form of a motion, Mr. President, if I may be permitted, I'd like to make a motion that on behalf of Council we send a letter to the organizers of the Three Rivers Arts Festival and basically ask them to meet with the Croatia Fraternal Union and others who have expressed opposition to the statue. For purposes of trying to talk about the issue, possibly some compromise can be worked out.

The Fraternal Union explicitly wants the statue removed. I don't think that's the best idea but I think the two groups should meet and I'd like to at least urge that Council request, since we do fund the Festival, that we request the organizers to meet with the Croatia Fraternal Union leadership and others who have expressed opposition.

One suggestion I would make is if the statue does remain, as I think it should, to see if it would be possible to see if there could be some appropriate signage there generally talking about racial slurs and racial and ethnic comments and slurs in this society. I think that's the best idea.

But I'd like to make a motion that Council urge the two parties and others who have opposition to the statue to meet and discuss the issue.

The Chair:

Is there a second on the motion?

The motion dies due to the lack of a second.

Mr. Coyne:

Jim, I was just going to make the statement that I don't think it's really any of Council's business to be getting involved in this. I think the artist had no malice intended at all when he made this statue and for Council to use the veiled threat of funding to the Three Rivers Arts Festival I think smells just like the United States Congress or the Supreme Court disputing art displays throughout the Country because of what some people would deem as being obscene. I believe that if government starts using their leverage when it comes to art displays, it's beginning a path down a dangerous road and I don't think we have any business doing that.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just to clarify. I agree with Councilman Coyne. I just want to clarify that I made the comment about the funding only to indicate that as an organization this activity not only happens on public property but that we fund the organization. I think there's a direct connection and we have an obligation, especially when we have received information from an organization like the Croatia Fraternal Union to address the issue. I believe that if there was a statue there that used the phrase "wop", I know the ISDA and others and myself would be concerned and would be outspoken and I think if there was a statue there that in some way made a derogatory reference to Blacks in the City of Pittsburgh, I'm sure there would be protests and picketing and opposition, as well there should be. I think it's perfectly appropriate for Council to speak out on an issue when it involved racial and/or ethnic slurs.

Mr. Regan:

I agree with the Councilman.

Mr. Ferlo:

You should have seconded my motion.

Mr. Regan:

I should have and I apologize. But I wanted to comment before I seconded your motion.

I think it's an absolute insult to the Slavic community and I don't think it should be. I don't think you can just insult people and then say that the government shouldn't get involved. These are people that helped build America and worked in the steel mills. If it was a derogatory remark 50 years ago, it's still a derogatory remark today.

I think it's an absolute insult to the Slavic community and I think that we should meet with somebody from the Three Rivers Arts Festival and register our protest as I'm registering my protest.

They can get around any issue by saying it's art. That's bullcrap. If you insult a group of people, it's an insult. And I would like to register my protest about that statue. It shouldn't be there and I'll guarantee you -- It shouldn't even be down there. I don't mind if they put art in their living room, that's their business. But when you insult the Slavic community in a City that has a big majority of Slavs, then I think it's an absolute insult.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, I'm not in receipt of the letter Mr. Ferlo spoke about, and I hate to drag this on a little longer and I might have missed the excerpts, but I'd like to ask Mr. Ferlo, did they ask for a meeting, Councilman Ferlo?

Mr. Ferlo:

They want the statue removed. I was suggesting that we, on behalf of Council, communicate to the Arts Festival and ask that they meet with the Croation Fraternal Union and others who have expressed opposition to the statue and see if some meaningful dialogue could come out of it. That was my motion.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I would second that motion of the meeting between the groups if Mr. Ferlo would again make the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think the appropriate motion is to move to reconsider the motion and I'll restate my motion if there's going to be a second.

The Chair:

Would you, please?

Mr. Ferlo:

The motion, basically, is that Council communicate to the organizers of the Three Rivers Arts Festival for the purposes of asking them to meet with the Croation Fraternal Union and others who have expressed opposition to the ethnic slur and derogatory nature of the Steelworker Statue in hopes of working out a compromise and/or meaningful dialogue on the issue.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I don't think that it's the statue itself that is offensive. I think it's the term that was applied to the statue. I personally is not familiar with that term. If that term is, in fact, offensive to that community, then I support the motion. And perhaps the way to go about this is not to talk about removal of the statue, but to talk about how we can make sure that no one thinks that there is a public imprimatur, a public support, of that offensive term.

So, I will support the motion not in a way to remove the statue but to do something about the term that's applied to it. If it is an offensive term, then we should object to it.

Mr. Ferlo:

Apparently either I'm not making myself heard this morning or we're all still not awake. But I thought I explicitly said that the statue, in my opinion, should not be removed.

And in reference to Mr. Cohen's comments, I thought I reiterated one suggestion which I thought is in keeping with the expression just outlined by Mr. Cohen, and that is, I think we should find a silver lining in this and talk generally in the public about the issue of racism and the issue of ethnic slurs and what it means to people. I think it's perfectly suitable as a compromise for some appropriate sign to be in and around the statue because, as Mr. Cohen has pointed out, it's not the statue per se but it's the reference on the statue to Steelworker Hunky.

I think we could turn this into a positive statement by trying to educate the people, especially a lot of the younger people who come to the park as part of the Festival. Let's speak openly about a problem that we have in our society, and that is racism and ethnic slurs. I think something positive could come out of this in terms of educating ourselves and the public about the impact of racism and ethnic slurs.

The Chair:

So, the motion on the floor is for the organizations to meet with the Three Rivers Arts Festival.

Mr. Ferlo:

That we encourage the Festival to meet with the groups who have expressed opposition.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Obviously, it's a very delicate issue. It's an issue of freedom of speech. It's an issue of dignity of a group of people and the issue of art, especially when it comes to public funding, either direct or indirect.

The reason I support the motion, I think communication between all groups and people involved is very good and I think the motion is exactly that, for people to get together and discuss the issue. And in this term, the language that is being used on the back of the Steelworker, I have not seen it. But obviously we're touching upon different issues here, art, free speech, and the dignity of a group of people. I support the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

The reason I have stayed somewhat silent on this, and that's not my style, is that it appears to me that any group that wants to meet with any other group will do so on their own. I don't think they need, "they" meaning Croation people, a representative of that group, nor the Three Rivers Arts Festival, needs this Council to be an intermediary for them to get together and talk.

If the person sending the letter, and I think it's interesting sending it to Mr. Flaherty, were to pick up the telephone and say, "We would like to talk to the Three Rivers Arts Festival representatives, we find that there's a problem." They would not be refused any discussion. So, our doing this puts us in the position of saying that we're either racist or we're anti-ethnic. I don't think this Council, from my experience of this particular body, has one iota of discrimination. That's my sense of this body. And we're being forced to look like we're protecting what we really believe, and I think that's unfortunate to be put in that kind of position.

In addition, I have read with interest what the artist has said, about it was his intention to honor the steelworker that built this Country.

I'm going to say something that I find rather amusing and I think rather sad. Comments have been made to me that the statue looks like it is a Black person and that perhaps that's the reason for the discrimination. I think that if you look at the statue, it's very possible that may have been the intent of the artist and that's something I would like to ask. Was he honoring a Black person who sweated his guts out and his blood out in the steel mills that build this country. Now we're getting a reverse discrimination by saying, "Well, that's really not the Hunky; it's because it's a Black person."

I don't think we should be putting our noses into it. I think we should encourage the Croation body who is very capable and has very excellent representation because I know those people and they're good people, to meet with Three Rivers representatives without our intervention. That's my suggestion.

The Chair:

I'd like to make a comment and I haven't. I don't think we should dance on the issue. I think we should either call it as we see it or else not even vote on the issue. And if we think it's an ethnic slur, have them remove the ethnic slur, request that be done, or remove the statue, and go from there with it.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I don't know what the word "hunky" means. I'm from Canada originally, and I don't know the term. I know people call each other hunkies when they see them in the steelmills and I've worked with steelworkers for years. I never knew it was a slur. Maybe it is and I'm not aware of it. So how could I vote on something I know nothing about?

Mr. Regan:

That's tough to believe, Councilwoman. As smart as you are, that's tough to believe. And I think you're very bright.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, I'm sorry. I do not know that as a slur. That's true. That's why I think we ought to keep our noses out of it.

The Chair:

Back to the issue. We have a motion on the floor for the two organizations to meet and discuss about resolving this issue immediately.

Mr. Ferlo:

Roll call vote.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeable to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen	Mr. Regan
Mr. Darkins	Mr. Ricciardi
Mr. Ferlo	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	(Pres't)

NOES 2

(MR. COYNE AND MR. MILLIONES VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion was approved.

Mr. Ferlo:

Very briefly, Mr. Chairman. Could we please receive a report from the Administration regarding the Zone 5 Police Station which is many, many months past due in terms of getting the police back in there? I heard rumors that there are significant problems associated with engineering and design of the building and major mistakes made by either the City and/or the contract and removal of certain retaining walls in the building and that's what has delayed and caused cost overruns and everything else.

I don't know if that's true at all but I'd like to hear a report from the Mayor and/or Director Cannon regarding Zone 5. We would like to get them back into the Police Station.

And on the motion of Mr. Milliones

Council adjourned.

The Chair:

I'd like to have a moment of silence for the Councilmen from Markleysburg, Fayette County, that died yesterday. Council President Robert Friend and Councilman Keith Cuppett, and Robert Friend's two sons. They died as a result of electrocution

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Darkins:

I'd like to ask Dr. Jackson Loman to come forward and also Michelle Birney and Ms. Butcher.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 853 WHEREAS, in 1987 the Mayor's Commission on families organized the Mayor's Teen Council and the adolescent resource network to encourage youth leadership and address teen pregnancy and other dilemmas confronting today's youth; and

WHEREAS, the Teen Council is composed of 28 students, male and female, in their junior year of high school representing public and private schools including alternative programs; and

WHEREAS, each member serves for two years; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor's Teen Council provides a forum for teens to assess their needs and develop strategies for implementation; and

WHEREAS, the Council also acts as a conduit encouraging teens to feel good about themselves and how to make wise and productive choices.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby commend the Mayor's Commission on Families for organizing and supporting such a significant task force, whose purpose is to inform young people that the choices they make today will follow them for years to come and allow them to take an active role in planning their needs within the community.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

I would like to have the student that this is being presented to to come today along with Dr. Jackson and Dr. Ellis.

Ms. Birney:

On behalf of the Mayor's Teen Council, I'd like to thank the Mayor and Members of the Council and a special thanks to Councilman Darkins for this opportunity to be recognized.

Dr. Loman:

I would also like to thank City Council, Councilman Darkins, for recognizing the Mayor's Teen Council and the efforts of the Mayor's Commission on Families and Adolescent Resource Network and organizing the Teen Council.

I would also like to thank the Pittsburgh Public Schools, Job Corps which is one of the alternative educational facilities that works very closely with us, our youth leadership coordinator, Dr. Lee Wright Ellis, and the many, many others who have been providing efforts and support throughout the years to enable the Mayor's Teen Council to do the things that it has been doing.

One last thought that I'd like to leave you with is that last year the Mayor's Teen Council selected several priorities for focus in a hearing that they conducted with City leaders across the City and County. Their top priority was family and I want to encourage the City Council to continue to address that issue through the work that you're doing. Thank you.

Dr. Ellis:

Good morning. I'm Dr. Lee Wright Ellis and I'd like to thank Councilman Darkins and the other distinguished members of the City Council for giving my kids a chance to receive this honor because we have great kids in the City of Pittsburgh and they're doing great things. And if we encourage them, they'll encourage other young people to do great things too. Thank you.

Ms. Butcher:

I'm the President of Pittsburgh Job Corps Community Relations Council and I would also like to thank the Council and also Councilman Darkins.

As you know, Job Corps is for young people. Young people are our future. And I thank you very much.

The Chair:

Thank you all.

Mr. Milliones:

Would Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Doris Brevard come forward, please?

We have two resolutions to read this morning and I will read one immediately followed by the other.

Mr. Milliones presents

No. 854 WHEREAS, Vivian Williams is the Principal of the Madison Elementary School, with a student body of 99 percent African-American, has contributed much to elevate and accelerate the academic achievement of her students; and

WHEREAS, 70 percent of Madison's student body come from Robinson Court of the Allequippa Terrace Public Housing project and live in single parent families with nearly 80 percent living in low income census zones and receive free and reduced lunch; and

WHEREAS, Vivian Williams has been Principal of Madison Elementary School since 1981 and her students have given an equally impressive performance; and

WHEREAS, since 1986 the students at Madison Elementary have closed the achievement gap in reading four years in a row and missed closing it in mathematics in 1989 by only one point; and

WHEREAS, Vivian Williams, the teachers, professional and support staff of Madison Elementary School, deserve recognition and commendation for this unusual accomplishment.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh join in offering our congratulations to Vivian Williams, the dedicated staff of Madison Elementary School and for their continued efforts to teach these children until they learn.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Milliones presents

No. 855 WHEREAS, Doris Garrett Brevard, a native Pittsburgher and a product of the Pittsburgh Public School System, is Principal of the Robert L. Vann Elementary School, with a student body which is 99 percent African-American, of which 70 percent live in single parent families in the Bedford Dwellings Public Housing; and

WHEREAS, Doris Brevard has been Principal of Vann since 1968 and accumulated an astonishing academic record by closing the achievement gap between African-American and White students in the PPS in reading twice and mathematics three times; and

WHEREAS, in 1989 Vann Elementary School was the highest achieving elementary school in the Pittsburgh Public School System with 91 percent of its students scoring at or above the national norm in mathematics, exceeding the White norm of 74 percent; and

WHEREAS, Doris Brevard, the teachers, professional and support staff of Vann Elementary School, deserve recognition and commendation for this unusual accomplishment, especially since so many believe that African-American children who are poor, who come from single female-headed households, who live in low income census zones, high crime areas, and attend predominantly African-American schools, cannot excel.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh join in offering our congratulations to Doris Garret Brevard, the dedicated staff of Vann Elementary School offering no excuses for their children, having high expectations which the students will meet and even exceed, and exemplifying that they will be satisfied with nothing less for the outcome is excellence.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Milliones:

It gives me great pleasure, of course, to honor both of these women whose students have excelled in terms of academic performance in the Pittsburgh Public Schools, particularly because there is the belief that when a school is majority African-American and come from low income families and housing projects, the stereotypes that go along with that that these kids cannot learn. In fact, as I just read, as you just heard me indicate, last year Mrs. Brevard's kids, 91 percent of her kids scored at or above the national norm in mathematics, exceeding any school, Black or White, in the City of Pittsburgh.

So, I think it's really this kind of performance on the part of these Principals and, as a result, on the part of their students, that really has made Pittsburgh Public Schools one of the top urban school districts in the Country.

And, indeed, it gives me a great deal of pleasure, since when I was on the Board of Education spent almost 11 years focusing in on the question of how well our students can do. These schools have received national recognition from the House Education Committee on Education and Labor, and we're just absolutely proud and hope that they will continue the proud traditions that they have set for their youngsters.

Mrs. Brevard:

Thank you, Dr. Milliones, and a special thanks to City Council.

We will do our best to continue to maintain our reputation at Vann School.

Mrs. Williams:

I'd like to thank Dr. Milliones and City Council for this great honor.

You know, the educating of our young people, our children and our young people, is serious business. They are our future and how well we do our jobs depends upon the kinds of citizens they're going to be in the future and the kinds of leaders we're going to have taking your places.

I take a very serious approach to the educating of our children. I've always done so and I hope to do so for as long as I remain in my position.

I thank you again for this honor.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I would like to ask Richard Bruce, the Assistant Chief Enforcement Officer of the City of Pittsburgh, his colleagues and other neighborhood leaders and volunteers to please step forward.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

No. 856 WHEREAS, Paint Your Heart Out Pittsburgh is a program in which Pittsburgh volunteers paint approximately 75 homes annually for low-income, elderly and disabled homeowners; and

WHEREAS, Paint Your Heart Out Pittsburgh is a volunteer public-private partnership by the City of Pittsburgh, PPG Industries Foundation, the Pittsburgh Clean City Committee and the Neighborhood for Living Center; and

WHEREAS, many other local businesses, neighborhood groups and civic organizations provide support for the project; and

WHEREAS, Paint Your Heart Out Pittsburgh is now in its fifth year; and

WHEREAS, in 1990, a group of Pittsburgh volunteers went to Tampa, Florida to help with their "Paint Your Heart Out Tampa". These "ambassadors of goodwill" from Pittsburgh used their own vacation time and raised the funds themselves to cover gas and food for the project; and

WHEREAS, the following people took part in the project: Richard Bruce, Tom Coppola, Larry Dixon, Tim Gross, Brian Hill, Joseph Laffey, Sr., J.T. and Marilyn Lynch, Colleen Theresa Lynch, Frank Novak, Tony Ovesney, Kenneth Seisek, Elaine Wozniak, John Yurio and Randy Zotter.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh salutes Paint Your Heart Out Pittsburgh and especially the Pittsburgh volunteers who gave their time to travel to Tampa to help them with Paint Your Heart Out Tampa.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you, Mr. President and thank you, Members of Council.

As everyone here knows, Paint Your Heart Out Pittsburgh has been very successful in helping many low-income, elderly and disabled people maintain their homes. And now special recognition to this group of people who used their own time and resources to travel to another city to introduce our program there.

It's a pleasure to introduce Richard Bruce who is an employee of the City of Pittsburgh who first introduced this program to the City of Pittsburgh five years ago. I'd like to ask Richard to please say a few words.

Mr. Bruce:

Thank you very much. I don't want to take up much of your time. I want to thank Councilman Ricciardi for having us here today and all the Councilmembers here who I know very well through many of the things that we work with them every day.

But I would also like to thank our team that went down to Tampa who did invest their time and their efforts to go down there and I think they gave us one of the worst houses in Tampa to paint because it was worse than any of the ones we've had here in the City of Pittsburgh. But I'd like to thank everybody that went with us. There are a few people that are absent here today and I'd like to thank them also.

It was a good project and I think it's a good project for this year also. It will be done on September 15th this year and we hope to see a lot of you out there. Thank you very much.

Also, what I'd like to do is give this to Councilman Ricciardi as an honorary member of the Tampa Paint Your Heart Out team.

I would also like to say that these T-shirts were also paid for by us through our fundraising. The City of Pittsburgh was put on there, "Pittsburgh Goes To Tampa". This was designed with the help of some of our people on the team and was designed by one of the members of the team that went to Tampa. Thank you.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd also like to ask Tom Coppola to please speak for many of the neighborhood groups and neighborhood volunteers who spent a lot of time not just on this project going to Tampa but throughout the Pittsburgh neighborhoods.

Mr. Coppola:

Thank you, Councilman Ricciardi, and thank the rest of the City Council for having us here today and honoring us.

This is a labor of love. It's one way to help our senior citizens. This project which we will be doing, like Rich said, on September 15th again this year and hope to paint 75 homes, mainly senior citizens in the Pittsburgh area.

The first year I got involved, I sort of got roped into it. But after doing it the first year, I went home and I was so tired. But I went to bed tired, hot, worn out, but I went to bed with a smile on my face.

So, we'd like to try to get more community organizations. I know I'm not talking to very much of a crowd here today but every year I put out a challenge to the rest of the community organizations that if you're proud of your community, for you to come out and help somebody in your community paint their house. Thank you.

The Chair:

Thank you.

The final resolution, there is no one here to receive this but I would like to read it in its entirety because it pertains to a meeting we're having later this week with some people involved in the new airport project.

The Chair presents

No. 857 WHEREAS, the new Greater Pittsburgh International Airport will be completed and in operation by October, 1992; and

WHEREAS, the new airport is the most significant economic development project in the Pittsburgh region in decades; and

WHEREAS, it is estimated that the new airport will create 15,000 new jobs and generate hundreds of millions of dollars of new monies into the regional economy; and

WHEREAS, to ensure that the maximum benefits are realized from the new airport development, it is critical that the proper transportation and road system be in operation when the new airport opens; and

WHEREAS, the recent announcement of major reconstruction to the Fort Pitt Bridge and Tunnels magnifies the need for an additional and alternative route between Downtown

Pittsburgh and the new Greater Pittsburgh International Airport; and

WHEREAS, the only realistic transportation alternative that can be implemented by the time the new airport opens is the Corliss Busway which could be utilized to bypass the Fort Pitt Tunnel and the Greentree Hill congestion.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby calls for the commitment of all available resources from the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania Department of Transportation, Port Authority of Allegheny County, the Urban Mass Transit Association and others, to ensure that this project moves forward as expeditiously as possible, and is completed and in operation when the new Pittsburgh International Airport opens.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I'd just like to comment and maybe some other Councilmembers do also. I commend the Allegheny County Commissioners for having the foresight for this project, particularly the Chairman, Commissioner Tom Foerster. It really is a big, big project and its critical that Downtown Pittsburgh and all points east of Pittsburgh can tie in to this new airport and the benefits related to it.

The 15,000 new jobs may be a minor estimate, and if we don't have the appropriate road system, particularly for mass transit back and forth, City residents will not benefit as a result of those jobs. The jobs will go to people that live in the vicinity of the new airport and west into Beaver County and other areas.

So, it's critical, in addition to the southern expressway that's talked about a whole lot, for us to have a way around the tunnel or the mountain to the new airport. And this really is the only conceivable way in which that can happen.

There is a lot of discussion about the MAGLEV system. The MAGLEV system is a great idea but the MAGLEV system won't happen for another 7 or 8 years. And by that time the new airport will be in operation for at least 5 years.

Consequently, we need some alternative and I personally think this is the only realistic alternative. And hopefully we can discuss this at Thursday's meeting. Thank you.

Mr. Cohen presented

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President, I promised the people in Northview Heights that I would wear this hat today, this baseball cap, at our meeting. The reason for it is, it's a cap that they've adopted to help fight drugs and alcohol in Northview Heights.

We're going to have a big meeting up there on the 15th at 7:00 p.m., and we're going to take a walk through the Heights and take the streets back over for the good people.

I'd like to ask any Councilmembers that would be able to be there to join us. I know Mr. Ferlo is coming to represent not only City Council but the Housing Authority. Of course, drugs and alcohol are a curse of this country for our young people.

So, as a tribute to the people of Northview Heights who are trying to do something to help, I wore this hat today in Council. Thank you very much.

The Chair:

Thank you, Mr. Regan.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, I'd like to share a letter that I just sent off to Safety Director Glenn Campell with copies to the appropriate parties.

Mr. Ferlo:

Glenn Campell?

Michelle Madoff:

Glenn Cannon. Excuse me. It's Monday.

Mr. Ferlo:

No it's not; it's Tuesday.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm in bad shape. I have a toothache; I'm on my way to the dentist. What can I say?

Glenn Cannon and it's Tuesday.

Are we ready for something in a more serious vein than my "Oldtimers Disease"?

My letter to Director Cannon reads:

"It has come to my attention that on occasion there is a shortage of off-duty police officers needed to cover special events.

Recently a representative of retired police officers informed me that there are recently retired police officers who would be willing to return to duty to direct traffic and maintain crowd control or, in light of current events, operate 911.

Have you considered using retirees in this manner? Is it a fact that retired police officers lose their certification and right to carry a weapon as well as their arresting powers the day they retire? If so, is this the reason for not doing so in the past?

Has anyone determined whether the City may legally hire retired police officers as needed? Is there any legal reason as to why the City could not use retired police officers? Would their pensions be adversely affected? Does state law allow for this practice? If not, and it is desirable, then perhaps state law could be amended.

If it is at all feasible to utilize this well-trained cadre of people to alleviate police shortages for emergencies, what a boon this would be for all concerned.

I look forward to hearing from you on this important matter."

What happened is that I've learned from people well placed in our Police Department, management level, that indeed there are times when we need to recall off-duty police officers and they're just not available. I thought, since I was contacted by a representative of some of the recently retired police officers, that that might be a way to subsidize their pensions and also to allow us to get some well needed help for the City when it isn't available such as the major concerts and special events.

So, I've made that inquiry and I would hope that if there is no reason why we couldn't do it, that indeed they would look into taking such action. And I'll report back as I hear and let you know what is said.

On another matter. I'm sure that all of us read a rather disturbing article this weekend, "Higher Property Taxes Tarnish Affordable Housing In Pittsburgh". I found the stats very, very interesting that other cities who have far more expensive houses have far less taxes on them for the most part.

That brought us back to where we were a number of years ago, last year in particular, and again in the morning paper, this weekend's paper, about Mr. Jubelirer saying that he has this new tax reform for the City of Pittsburgh. It does everything except let us relieve our tax problems by taxing the non-City residents. All it does is let it raise our commuter tax or head tax from $10 to $20 and it really doesn't alleviate any of our problems.

Again, that made me think of the commitment this Council made when we went through the budget last year on the tax swap. We wanted to refund monies to the senior citizens but there was no vehicle to do that because state law prohibited us from doing it and we were looking into the gentrification bill to see if that was a mechanism for returning money.

So, here we are better than a half year later, nothing is happening that I know of that's meaningful in Harrisburg on tax reform. The senior citizens bear the brunt of it and City property is being, I guess, higher taxed or over taxed in other communities.

I think it's time that we again got together with the Administration to find out what can be done. And I've made a pledge that perhaps the next thing we had to do, and the Administration said they would do it with me, is to go to Harrisburg, sit on the steps, busloads, carloads, and just sit there until we get some tax relief.

We really are in trouble. And everyone is aware that we read in the media, I have not heard it first hand, that we're looking at a shortfall of $50 million in the City and many more millions in the State.

There has to be some equity and some fairness and I don't think that Pittsburghers are getting that fairness and that equity.

May I suggest then, and make it in the form of a motion, that we set up a meeting between the Administration and this Council to update us on what is happening on tax reform and what we need to do now and to address the issue of refunds to senior citizens.

Mr. Ferio seconded the motion.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, it just seems to me that if we're going to discuss this with the Administration, Mr. Kohling should be invited to participate. Since he is the City's representative in Harrisburg, he may know better the status of the current tax reform bill.

Michelle Madoff:

And it may not be such a bad idea to get the Commissioners to come. Two of the three, I don't know where Mr. Dunn lives, but two of the three live in the City of Pittsburgh. And I think they ought to think about it and certainly they know the problems we have. Do we need a sales tax? What can we do to alleviate the problem immediately because the population loss is really hurting us enormously. It's affecting our general funds, both City and State, and we just can't wait until it's a tragedy.

The Chair:

On the motion? All those in favor? Opposed?

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

The Chair:

We will have a meeting. Mr. Perry will schedule with Mr. Kohling, the Mayor's Office, Mr. Turner, Mr. Mistick and request the presence of the County Commissioners.

Mr. Cohen:

On another issue. I'm very concerned about the chunks of concrete falling from the Greenfield Bridge. I know all of my colleagues are, particularly Councilman Coyne who represents that district.

At least 20 incidents have occurred so far and one person has been hospitalized. There have been cases recently outside of Pittsburgh, particularly New York, where somebody actually died from debris falling from a bridge.

Now, we know that debris fell from the actual structure of the bridge on Thursday, but it's still a mystery as to how chunks of concrete fell from the bridge on Sunday. An investigation is being conducted by the Department of Engineering and Construction, but it needs to be a full investigation and one that includes an inspection of the bridge.

We're under federal mandate to inspect our bridges every two years. The last time this bridge was inspected was in 1988. Apparently an inspection had begun, but then the truck broke down.

So, what I would like to do as Chairman of the Engineering and Construction Committee is ask you, Mr. President, to schedule a meeting as soon as possible, hopefully this week, with Director Sciulli of the Engineering and Construction Department, and also see if we can get a representative from PennDOT and ask a representative from the State Police to be there as well. They're investigating this also. We need to find the answer as to why this is occurring and get a status report on how it can be resolved.

The Chair:

Mr. Ricciardi cancelled his post agenda, I believe, for tomorrow at 1:00. How about tomorrow at 1:00?

Mr. Cohen:

I think that would be fine.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, on the same subject. May I remind those Members of Council who may have read about it or recall that a number of years ago we had another episode like that. This is not our first since I've been here. It was the Larimer Avenue Bridge.

There were no nets put under it when it was rehabbed. We were told in this Council that the reason the boulders and the rocks were coming off the bridge was that kids were throwing them off. So, the City went to the expense of putting in a mesh netting, metal netting, a screen that came way up over the bridge.

And guess what? The boulders still kept falling off and they went through two businesses. There was a small machine shop under the bridge and there was a woman who had some kind of a massage parlor or something there. It's a true story. We went out to look at the problems and in this woman's facility she had a chair that she lounged in and right over her head was a hole about four feet in diameter and a boulder had gone right through that building. The machine shop had a lot of equipment destroyed. And again we were told that it was kids throwing the rocks over.

I brought in a number of the boulders in to this office in a cart. I did not alert the news media at the time. We're supposed to be media hogs and they were annoyed to find I had a visual for them and I didn't even let them know.

What happened was that in closer inspection, water, you know the thing I talk about in going out on contracts doing the scope of work, water had seeped into the boulders and they had broken off from the bridge. The freezing and the expansion of the bridge, the pieces falling down had been caused from water leakage.

We learn from history and I think it was important to bring that up again because indeed it may again be water seeping in, expansion and cracking and pieces falling off. But if it is not, if indeed it is the children or vandals throwing rocks over, why don't we offer a reward for information leading to what is really very serious.

Let me tell you what you also may not remember unless you read the story, that everybody poo-pooed me on the Larimor Avenue Bridge and on Election Day, which is very interesting, a boulder fell off putting all the electricity in the area out of operation so they couldn't vote. And one of the boulders went through somebody's car and the person was blinded, permanently blinded.

So I think that this is not something that we want to brush aside. I agree with my colleague. It isn't that it's a bridge in his district or Mr. Coyne's. This is something that has to be a process that has to be addressed to the care of all bridges. And obviously we've heard of other cities where kids throw brick and rocks over highways.

We have to get a strong message out here that there will be prosecution. This is not a little lark. It is not a joke. And we need people to report to a number and I guess at the moment I don't know any other number, I guess it should be 911 if you have any information. You don't have to give your name. Just let us know if you know of anybody that may have been throwing these rocks over. And certainly I want a better report on the condition of that bridge.

Mr. Milliones:

I would encourage us not to do anything, Mr. President, until we get a full report from the professionals.

The Chair:

We will have a meeting tomorrow on the issue at 1:00 p.m.

Michelle Madoff:

May I just answer my colleague? We had a full report on the Larimor Avenue Bridge.

Mr. Milliones:

I'm talking about this bridge.

Michelle Madoff:

Yes, but I was just making the point, and it turned out that the report is not exactly what happened by a far cry.

The Chair:

I think Mr. Cohen's initiative to have a fact-finding meeting is a good one and from that point we can do something.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, you know, we were told what the facts were in the paper and if that's what we're going to hear tomorrow, that it's kids throwing it over the bridge, and I'm saying it turned out on the Larimor Avenue Bridge that it wasn't what happened.

Mr. Ferlo moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, May 22, 1990 and Tuesday, May 29, 1990.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Millones

Council adjourned.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Members of Council, we have several staff members from the Credit Union and several of the officers here. I know Chuck Tanczuk, Mary Lou Ray, Tom Reddy I believe is Treasurer of the Credit Union, and Barbara Curry from the Credit Union. I'd like a couple of them to speak about the issue.

Mr. Reddy:

I'd like to thank Mr. Ferlo, Jack Wagner and the Council for their wisdom in helping the Credit Union movement in the City of Pittsburgh. It has helped many, many employees in the low interest rates and sometimes employees cannot get loans at banks and so forth and they get them here. We would like to thank the Council for this recognition and it will go to our National and to the Pennsylvania Credit Union League. Thank you.

Ms. Curry:

I would also like to thank Jim Ferlo and his staff for all the time and effort they extended to us, and a special thanks to Irene McLaughlin for the courtesy she extended to me.

I'm sure this will make a big impact on the Pennsylvania Credit Union League. It will not only help Pittsburgh City Hall but all the Credit Unions in the nation.

One last request. I would like all Councilmen to write a letter to our Congressmen which will help greatly to support the Credit Unions.

I thank everyone again.

I would just like to extend a special congratulations to Walter who not only gives his time but also gives his personal resources in terms of money. Many times in the past, and also this year, he will be personally sponsoring several children to go up to Wildwood.

Mr. Lease:

I just wanted you to know why I do it but before I say that I want to say to Mr. Ferlo we're taking Nicky Piatak which was the 1989 Reigning Champ, nine years old, the youngest kid ever shot. It looks a little bit like him, he's going to help train him, and this might be your next winner if it were not for Justin.

We haven't forgotten Lawrenceville so don't think that we passed them up. These kids have just practiced a little bit more.

I thank all of you and I hope we can support the program and I hope we can get Jack Mahoney to start picking it up because they'll tell you, I can get down to shoot with them, but they have to help me up. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd just like to go on record in opposition to the four bills, 815 through 818, in relation to the propositions involving the development on Washington's Landing. I'm voting no on those four bills.

Just stating for the public record, my opposition based on what I think is an inadequate square footage cost for the sale of this land and the parcels that are mentioned in the two bills, I do not think the cost is commensurate with the amount of money we have sunk into this island. I think it should be more representative and a return to the City on a fair market of that property.

Secondly, these four bills combined would commit $1,200,000 of Community Development Block Grant Funds and potentially City Bond Funds to support this development. And I think at a time when Congress is potentially curtailing the amount of available funds of CDBG monies, I for one, would rather see those monies targeted in low and moderate income communities and I do not think they warrant the use of these dollars on the opportunities that exist to develop the island.

So, I just want to state for the record my opposition at this time.

Mr. Cohen:

I would like my comments brought forward on Bills 815 through 818.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILLS NO. 815 and 818-Wednesday 6/6/90)

Mr. Cohen:

Director, I think this amendment may answer the question that I had about this. It seems that the amendment does two things; one, is change the amount from $1.5 million to $1,200,000.00, and then change the source of those funds. My question was going to be what those Port Authority transit funds were supposed to be used for, that we are taking this money for Washington's Landing for. It sounds like this amendment will clear that up, if you could explain what it really does.

Mr. Whitmer:

Let me explain the funding first. The Port Authority funds, if you remember, PAT used to have port money, they received the port of Pittsburgh. For some reason they got out of the business. They transferred approximately $1.5 million or $1.8 million, I believe, to the URA to use as we saw fit for property, for riverfront development, that type of thing. Half of that money, or $800,000.00, went for the river rescue facility that is currently being built by the city. The remaining million will be part of the loan to the marina developer.

Now, the reason for this amendment was, essentially, the Port Authority money came from the state, and we cannot use state funds to match additional state funds, which is Strategy 21, so at the last minute we had to make this change.

Mr. Cohen:

Are you really taking it from one pocket and putting it into another, ultimately using these funds but not for this project?

Mr. Whitmer:

No. For Strategy 21 money we have to match it from non-state funds; that could be private, local, whatever. We have to show in the resolution of the Department of Community Affairs that we are matching it with some other money that has been used on the island, whether it be bond funds, CD funds, just as long as they are not state funds.

(MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 817 - Wednesday, 6/6/90)

Mr. Cohen:

Discussion. Director, I am glad to see we are moving along on Washington's Landing. I am sure the other Councilmembers probably have questions.

I would like to limit my questions to the residential portion of Washington's Landing. Personally I feel, and I think you probably agree, that one of the keys to making Washington's Landing work is to have people living there and a residential component to it.

My question is what type of residential development is proposed and do we actually have a developer?

Mr. Whitmer:

Let me answer that and how we went about the RFP. I should mention we have both Mr. Gregory, who is the marina developer, here today and Mr. Harrington, who is with GAMMA Sports who is developing the tennis manufacturing complex.

Our goal, obviously, was housing and the marina. When we went out for the first RFP, we had some interest from three potential developers, and Mr. Gregory and his entity was interested in the development of the marina only. We went through the process and talked to the three people who were interested in housing, and our analysis at the time felt that they wanted too much subsidy. We came to the conclusion that you really need the marina first, such as a golf course, ski slope or wherever, where there is condominium development related to it. So we went back and discussed further with Mr. Gregory and reviewed his plans and ideas on a marina, and part of the agreement we had reached with him is that he will have an option to do the housing once he has completed the marina for a period of time.

Mr. Cohen:

How long is the option for?

Mr. Whitmer:

I believe three years after completion of Phase I.

Mr. Cohen:

Is it your understanding that he will most likely exercise that option? I don't want to keep this open for three years waiting.

Mr. Whitmer:

I think we have a responsibility to him, since he is investing the money in the marina, to allow him to proceed with the option on housing and give him a fair amount of time to do that. Well, he has an option on the first three years, I should make it clear, and then a right of first refusal for three years. I believe that is the way it is set up.

Mr. Cohen:

Okay.

Mr. Whitmer:

Because it is going to take him a year just to get Phase I and then move into Phase II of the marina. He will need another year or two to get it fully built out.

Mr. Cohen:

Is it too early to discuss what type of residential development it would be?

Mr. Whitmer:

I think that is a little bit premature. We discussed that with the housing developers and they weren't sure, either. They had some ideas and we had from other parts of the country, and that is one of the reasons I think we rejected the idea of selecting somebody at this time that was thinking about doing housing, because they had no real concrete plans. We felt it necessary to get something moving on the Island, and the marina was the way to bring about that motion.

Mr. Cohen:

The prices per square feet listed here, these are negotiating prices, I assume?

Mr. Whitmer:

Yes. They are negotiating based on appraisals that we have.

Mr. Cohen:

Are they relatively close?

Mr. Whitmer:

They are. As you move into the different phases, we have come up with some financing schemes that allows the developer to pay, but the first parcel is paid at the appraised value.

Mr. Cohen:

Whose appraiser was it?

Mr. Whitmer:

The appraiser we have, URA.

Mr. Cohen:

Last question: About the environmental situation, are we over that hump?

Mr. Whitmer:

We are not totally over it. We are in the process of cleaning the Island, removing the PCV's to the capsulation area and removing the rendering site. I don't foresee any major problems, but I think the Island itself is clean. We have to look at the parcel beside it and may have to do some work there. We are in the midst of negotiating the final letter, consent order, with DER, and for all practical purposes I think we completed the clean up.

Mr. Cohen:

I know that the veteran Councilmembers at the table here have been frustrated by the slowness of this project, but I am glad that it is moving forward now and it looks like it is moving forward in a positive way. I commend you for that.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 823 - Wednesday 6/6/90)

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. This issue has been in the news quite a bit lately. I don't mean the historical designation of the building, but the building itself; the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall located in Oakland, which is Councilman Cohen's district. There are some fine lines out there, and I have discussed this piece of legislation with Councilman Cohen going back a month or six weeks ago, and recently introduced it basically because many veterans' organizations have requested that the building remain an historical monument to veterans in the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County and Western Pennsylvania indefinitely and to the future.

Passage of this legislation and approval by the Historic Review Commission and the Planning Commission confirming our vote, affirmative vote hopefully, would assure us that the likelihood is that this building would remain an historical monument to veterans indefinitely into the future.

Veterans' groups today are concerned that this building may be changed in some format in the future basically because of the garage that is being built under the front lawn and the pillars that are part of that garage. It has been said that those pillars can hold more than what they are intended to hold, meaning the lawn or four feet of ground that will cover the garage eventually when the project is completed. I don't know if that is true or not, quite frankly, but I have been told by Mr. Cramer, assistant to Mr. Forester, that there is no intent on the county's part to move forward and do anything on that property other than the garage that is being built and the purpose which the building was originally intended.

Furthermore, Mr. Cramer informed me and some others that the building is actually not owned by the county, it is actually owned by the state, the commonwealth, and it is leased to the county for a nominal fee I believe of $1.00 per year. Therefore, any changes to the building or the land would need state approval, in addition to county approval. Subsequently, it is not likely that that will happen in the future.

However, I still think the building in and of itself should receive historical designation. I believe the designer of that building is the same designer of the building we are in today, the City Council Building, and several other noteworthy buildings in the City of Pittsburgh. There is not a veteran's group that does not support this initiative. Everyone I have talked to has said they support the historical designation of this building, they would like to see it happen. It may, in fact, help some of the controversy that exists today. In other words, it may put to rest the issue that or the question that something else may be done to the structure.

So consequently, I would appreciate the support of Council and I would hope that the Historical Review Commission would look favorably upon the historical designation of a building, probably the only building that stands 100 percent to the service of veterans that have served their country in the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Western Pennsylvania.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 843 - Wednesday 6/6/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

Director Cannon, is the relationship of this activity to a specific company? And if you could, just clarify what this trip is about, and are we in any way aiding and abetting one vendor winning a contract versus another?

Mr. Cannon:

No, not winning a contract; it is already in place. The vendor for the City of Pittsburgh Computer Aided Dispatch System is AT&T, and I think most of you have been out there and seen our system. That system is also in place in Denver and Minneapolis. We are the most advanced in the utilization of that system right now in terms of operational, in-place working systems. They have already awarded and have their hardware in place, as well, and are in the process of trying to come up and be on line. They have asked us to assist them, because of the individual we are sending, Brian Bark, who has been with our system since it began, and though we are operationally ahead of where they are, they have purchased a piece of hardware which is a switch that links together a number of systems that we are looking at. So there is also a benefit for us to be able to have this individual there. All the expenses will be reimbursed by AT&T, which was built into Denver's contract for some form of training, it just happens to be that Pittsburgh is going to provide the training, because we are the most knowledgeable in this kind of computer aided dispatch.

Mr. Ferlo:

No equipment is to be purchased, and any equipment has already been purchased?

Mr. Cannon:

That is correct.

Mr. Ferlo:

This has nothing to do with any equipment, RFP's that have gone out?

Mr. Cannon:

Not at all; that is all done.

Mr. Ferlo:

Not AT&T selling something?

Mr. Cannon:

It is already sold.

Michelle Madoff:

Do they have to come before Council, Mr. President?

The Chair:

Yes, they do. I would ask the City Clerk to try to get those people in front of Council tomorrow or as soon as possible. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it's important that we don't drop the ball and we follow through on the very substantive post agenda that was held the other day that I requested and that Councilman Wagner chaired, with reference to the development of the Airport and how the City should not be left behind.

I requested from Stanley Marshall who is marketing the Airport to put a summary together for me so that people can relate to what is happening. I'd like to read what I received in my office this morning. It's very brief.

He states: "The County Commissioners have recognized the new Greater Pittsburgh International Airport for what it is, the great economic opportunity of the '90s. They have moved strongly to establish the active commission to take advantage of that opportunity.

Now the City of Pittsburgh must act. It, too, must seize the opportunity so that its citizens will thrive. If it doesn't, the economic access of Allegheny County will move to the Airport region.

If we don't develop our own strong organization and programs to woo the many businesses and industries who will be attracted to the region, we will run the risk of being an also-ran as we enter the next century.

What will it be? Opportunity or disaster?"

The problem that we learned the other day is that, for example, Jacques Kahn of the Golden Triangle stated that even his members didn't understand exactly what was happening and the impact the Airport is going to have. He stated that if they don't understand, how could we get the message out to the public?

My feelings were that we must do some grassroot educating. We had sort of discussed at that meeting, and it seemed to be the consensus of those present, that legislation would be introduced setting aside some dollars so that the Administration would have an indication of our support to immediately start assigning someone fulltime to this very serious problem of getting jobs for the citizens of our community so Pittsburgh doesn't become a vacuum and the new City of Pittsburgh, in essence, ends up at the Airport.

People better wake up and understand that it affects not only jobs, our property values, our real estate values, what it means to live here and our lifetime investments in the City could be negated to a great portion if we ignore this opportunity and it becomes a disaster. As he stated at the meeting, if it becomes a disaster, we won't have to worry about transportation to the Airport.

I believe, Mr. Wagner, that you agreed to introduce legislation allocating dollars. I think it would be appropriate that we meet with the Administration to see what help they need from us. I don't think it should be that we're attacking the Administration because they're not doing anything because I've learned that they are. They're doing many things, we just don't know what they are. And it would be very beneficial if someone spoke to them and said, "What is it that this Council can do to help the Administration move quickly to get our fair share of the job opportunities, make sure that transportation to the Airport happens concurrently with the development of the Airport.

We learned from SPRPC that there's $18 billion sitting untapped which will go back to the general fund of the United States because that Commission dissolves the dollars, for some reason, dissolves it in the very near future.

We need to have our citizens writing letters by the thousands to our Federal Legislators demanding that the shortfall of $6 billion -- We need $9 billion for this region to have the adequate network of highways and roads, etc., and we have a shortfall of $6 billion. We need to make sure that we're not left behind and, indeed, that Pittsburgh is not faced with disaster but, indeed, takes advantage of this opportunity.

I guess I'm reading the note just to share the information from Stanley Marshall with everybody and to make sure that we don't drop the ball and that we get a report back.

Mr. Wagner, would it be appropriate to hear from you next week as to what the next step will be? Will you be talking to the Administration?

The Chair:

Yes. And others. And if I could just add on that same issue, for the Councilmembers that couldn't make the entire meeting the other day, it really was a very fruitful meeting, but I think one of the points that out that Councilwoman Madoff is bringing up is that the employment center for the new Airport which is an Allegheny County Airport, should be where the County seat is which is in the City of Pittsburgh so that all residents of Allegheny County have the opportunity to apply for whatever jobs become available.

Presently, the State has opened an employment office in Robinson Township. We think that employment office should be in the City of Pittsburgh and we are going to try to move aggressively to get another office or that office here in the City. I think it's an excellent point.

In addition to that, the Advisory Commission asked that any Councilmember that wants to serve on any of the committees is more than welcome to.

So, we are trying to get some information now on the various committees and any Councilmember that would like to serve on them, I think Council should take a very active role in that Commission.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I'm in full agreement with you and Councilwoman Madoff. I thought it was a very productive meeting and I think we were all there to try to assure that even though this is perhaps one of the greatest potential economic boons for the area, that the City of Pittsburgh isn't left in the dust.

I called Stanley Marshall yesterday to participate in the Marketing Committee of that Airport Commission. I think some of the other issues seem to be covered a little bit better by the City but that might be one that we could really use a little more input in, so I would like to do that, and really, the whole question of marketing the Airport and the economic development surrounding the Airport and linking that to the City of Pittsburgh. So, I hope to be involved in that.

The Chair:

If I may just add, and I don't want to take the floor too much on it, I think what the City is doing here is also looking out for all communities east of the City of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County because, truly, the Braddock and the McKeesports and the Clairtons and the Edgewoods and the Wilkinsburgs and all points east, are in a worse situation than the City of Pittsburgh here because we are, from a geographical point of view, closer to the Airport. Consequently, the employment center and all the other linkages are not only critical for our City but all those communities east of the City.

Michelle Madoff:

On another issue. This won't be very popular with my colleagues, I don't think. In 1988 and 1989 I refused appointments to the Leasing Authority and to the Water and Sewer Authority because I believe very strongly that Councilmembers should not serve on authorities for reasons I gave at the time which are as valid today as they were at that time.

I believe that we need to know where we go from here. Is there going to be a public hearing? What is the Administration planning to do about an Ethics Commission? I know that everybody is waiting to see. Alright, so now we've done this report; what happens now?

I would like to make it as a motion that the City Clerk would write a letter to the Administration and ask the Administration what is the next step? How do we plan to get on with getting a workable Ethics Commission? How do we plan to adjust what Mr. Cohen has introduced, the issues in the Ethics Commission that Mr. Pollock introduced? The State Ethics Code, how does that intermesh?

I think we just can't let it sit and pretend it isn't happening and sweep it under the rug because I think the public thinks that's what we're going to do and I think it paints us all as being concerned with our own issues, our own well-being, and not with the well-being of the community.

I just want to know, where do we go from here? What's the next step? What is going to happen? I presume that the Mayor is going to have some meetings to try to reconcile the diverse ethics positions that have been put forward. But I don't think that's satisfactory to be put on hold again. I think concurrently the Administration should be setting up some input from the public and telling us what the next step would be and certainly giving us some timeframes as to what will be happening within certain timeframes.

I think a respectful letter asking for that is in order and I make that in the form of a motion, to ask where we're going.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'll second it for discussion.

If I may, obviously, I'm not in opposition of Michelle Madoff's request for a letter.

If I may, in response to the questioning of Michelle, and unfortunately yesterday Dan Cohen and myself were meeting with several colleagues and we were unable to meet with Michelle. Nothing will ever be swept under the rug. What is happening now, as the rest of my colleagues know and the media and the public know, that this past Friday the Mayor's Commission on Ethics released their recommendations. Last week Dan Cohen and myself, hopefully representing City Council, met with the Mayor's Administration and a committee has been set up. The committee consists of Bob Cindrich who is chairing the committee, Dan Cohen and myself from City Council, Joe Mistick from the Mayor's Office, and Mary Conturo, our City Solicitor.

The charge has been given to our City Solicitor to take the recommendations from Bob Cindrich's committee, and also to look at Dan Cohen's ethics bill and to critique Dan Cohen's ethics bill, and hopefully, within ten days to draft preliminary legislation.

A meeting is scheduled for tomorrow that Dan Cohen and myself will be attending at 3:00 p.m. to look over the Solicitor's recommendation for legislation.

From there, hopefully, we'll be meeting with the rest of City Council for input into the matter. I would say, and I hope Dan Cohen adds to this, that within two, hopefully three weeks, we will have a piece of legislation that hopefully will be acceptable to the Administration, to this body, and I'm sure to the public.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, there's little that I can add to what Councilman Ricciardi has said. I appreciate his explanation of the process.

Councilwoman Madoff, nothing is being put on hold or being swept under the rug. I held my bill for two weeks in order for us to be able to work with the Administration. I'm hoping that with this process of enacting an ethics bill, that it will be a model for how Council and the Administration can work together to come up with the best possible legislation. We're in negotiations now and hopefully we'll be able to come out of negotiations with an agreement. I hope.

On the issue of having Councilpeople on authorities which is what you began with, I respectfully disagree with Councilwoman Madoff on that issue. I do think that having Councilpeople on authorities is a good thing, that it provides oversight for the authorities and also some community input as well.

But one thing that we should realize is that that is in the Home Rule Charter and for us to change that, it's not going to happen through legislation, it has to happen through a vote of the people of Pittsburgh. That would be by referendum and I think probably would not be included in legislation.

So, hopefully, we can, through this conference committee, work together and come out with a bill that has teeth and is both forceful and fair. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

On the same subject. I want to apologize to my colleagues if they thought I was saying that I thought Councilmembers were sweeping it under the rug. I'm saying that the public's perception, if we don't tell the public what's going on as you've just done now which I think is very productive, is that we're sweeping it under the rug. That was the point I was trying to make.

And while I agree that while many of my colleagues who serve on boards and commissions and authorities right now, present members may be committed, honorable people and want to do the right thing, the fact remains, as I stated in 1989, the potential for cronyism, patronage and personal gain is greater than the benefits of Councilmembers sitting on a board voting for the purpose of representing Council. Alsocan and the Public Parking Authority are two primary examples. How do we know that we aren't going to have that kind of thing again? How do we know that the next people being elected might--

The Chair:

That whole issue will have its day in court here in Council and will be debated extensively.

Michelle Madoff:

But I'm just answering the comments. It was mentioned here and I'm just responding to what was said. Equal time, that's all I'm asking for.

And to wind that subject up, I think there are enough people in the university setting that can offer the expertise that we need and we can select those people to have our input. I think it's inappropriate and I just wanted to state that. And it's nice to be able to disagree without being disagreeable. I thank you for that.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Point of Order, Mr. President. Are we going to have a vote on the motion that was seconded?

The Chair:

Would you like us to vote on the motion?

Michelle Madoff:

I think it's appropriate that I withdraw it since there is activity already underway and I thank you for bringing that forth so the public is informed.

The Chair:

Thank you. The motion is withdrawn.

Michelle Madoff:

On another subject. I don't know how many people here read the business times, but I think they summarize my sentiments about the lighting of the bridges.

In light of the fact that we're moving the fireworks from the Fourth to the Third to save $40,000 in police overtime costs, and in light of the fact that we turn to industry to help us maintain the Pirates with contributions of millions of dollars, I was present and I don't know how many other people were there from this Council, at the experimental lighting of one of the bridges. I talked to a number of people who are architects and engineers and the architects said that they thought it was terrible because the effect of lighting the bridges washed out the shore and that while it may light the bridges, it takes away from the Downtown lighting and so on. They weren't too enthusiastic. Of course, that's a matter, like art, one's personal opinion, one's personal view.

I do not think that we can support, nor would I support, $50,000 per bridge, $5 million in wiring costs for 11 Downtown bridges, because I didn't think it was the greatest thing that every happened. Conceptually, it's great, but in practice, from my perspective, it was not workable.

But, more importantly, not knowing what was going to happen that night, I knew they were going to light the bridges, and in my naivete I thought they were going to be lit like we see the bridges now, with the light bulbs. And I went around saying to everybody, "How would you like to buy a bulb? Adopt a bulb for a year and pay the cost of a bulb and the electricity and maintaining it?" Everybody said, "Yes, sure, I'd be happy to." I wasn't kidding. I was sort of kidding on the square, but people were very serious about it.

If we want to light our bridges relatively inexpensively, why don't we have the Blue Bridge and the Purple Bridge and the Red Bridge and the Green Bridge and the Yellow Bridge and the Orange Bridge and people contribute to the lighting, as a tourist attraction to our City, by adopting a light bulb? I'm really serious about this.

I'll take one, when I find out what the cost is. Certainly I'd take one, maybe more than one. It would be a good investment in our City to get public participation. People would say, "That third light bulb on that bridge is mine." It's sort of an investment in the City. It would light up the City and it would be an interesting tourist attraction. The bridge that is lit with the bulbs already is attractive. This may sound silly but it would save us certainly I think a lot of dollars and would still achieve the same goal.

I just put that forward for people to think about. I don't think it's funny; I think it's really workable. And I again repeat that the architect that I spoke to thought that the lighting of the bridges as they were done, washed out the shoreline and was not a productive way to go.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'm still trying to get some streets and alleyways lit up throughout the City which I hope would be a priority. But this is the perfect activity for the private sector. This is the perfect activity for the Allegheny Conference on Community Development to re-emerge as the think tank implementor group in the City and I applaud any effort they and other private sector folks do, even the lighting of the bridge or Michelle's idea of the adopt a light bulb campaign or anything of the sort. But I would hope that we would direct our energies, at least with City public dollars, in lighting up various streets and alleyways which are a public safety hazard.

Mr. Cohen:

As long as it's done by the private sector, I think it's a bright idea.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to shed some other light on the subject.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to just say that this could be the best thing that ever happened in this City. I think we need a lot more promotions to make ourselves a tourist attraction. Instead of people going to other cities, we'd like to have them come here.

But when you start talking about engineers and architects that disagree, I think we ought to bring their names forward so you don't just pull something out of the hat. If somebody don't like it, then I think their names should be brought forward.

Michelle Madoff:

No problem. I think that's a worthy comment.

All I'm suggesting is that somebody might like a piece of art and someone else may not like it. One doesn't adhere to that because of like or dislike. I'm just giving you another way of lighting the bridges and indeed having a tourist attraction.

However, I think that $5 million for wiring out of the City budget or the County is a bit much in these times and $50,000 per bridge. I have some concerns about that. Maybe we can accomplish the same thing and get everybody involved and do it cheaper.

Mr. Regan:

From what I understood, that's what was going to be done. The money was going to be gotten from the private sector, which I think should happen. But I think that we're slipping and sliding when it comes to promoting this City. We have the greatest City in the world and I think we should just continue to promote it. We're Number One and we want to stay Number One.

Mr. Coyne:

On another issue, Mr. President. Two brief points for clarification. This morning in the Post Gazette I read an article talking about the City trying to collect more money for past parking tickets. Mr. Hayllar, in that article, made a statement that the contract had been awarded, or that they had made an agreement with, a collection firm in Greentree.

Now, the City Charter gives Council the authority to approve all contracts so I was just hoping that Council could send a letter to Mr. Hayllar trying to find out exactly how they went about carrying out this deal. If a contract or an agreement has been made with a collection agency in Greentree without going through Council first, I'd like that to be clarified.

Also, on the old issue of Streets Run Road, the wall is further deteriorating over there. The recent rains we've had have made the condition worse, and what I would like is a legal opinion from the Law Department as to whose responsibility it is. We've been getting different stories as to whose responsibility it is. If I could have an actual legal opinion to share with the residents of the area and with Council as to exactly whose responsibility the wall is and the stream is, I'd appreciate it.

Mr. Ferlo:

Very briefly, two announcements. One is that Members are invited next Tuesday at 11:45 in the Conference Room following the regular order of business, to meet with a group of residents from Highland Park and Morning-side and other East End neighborhoods. They have formed the Friends of the King Estate.

They're concerned generally about the potential sale of the resource that we have, the King Estate, to a possible private individual family and they're concerned generally about maintaining it as a public resource.

This will be an issue that will come up before Council possible in August or September by the Administration. They would like an opportunity to speak to Council collectively and, with the help of Mr. Wagner, we've set up a briefing session which the media is certainly welcome to attend next Tuesday at 11:45 in the Conference Room.

I hope Councilmembers will take just a few minutes. It will be a very brief briefing just to give you an overview of what the issue is and what some of their concerns are.

Secondly, Mr. Chairman, I'll be out at 5:00 cleaning up a lot at Snively and North St. Clair in the 11th Ward with the Block Watch Committee there. If there are any residents listening in that block who would like to join me in cleaning up the lot, we'll be there at 5:00 today. Bring your rakes and shovels.

Michelle Madoff:

On another matter. This Council will be confronted very shortly, we're already into June, July, and August we're out part of the time, I don't do August, and then we get into September, October, budget time. The preliminary budget is being drafted, I'm sure, by the Finance Chairman.

What we need to start thinking about before we allocate all our resources or the bulk of our resources, to hunger. Certainly, that's something we have to do, to think about incorporating literacy into the hunger dollars. You know the old saw about if you give a man a fish he eats for a day but if you give him a rod he can learn to feed himself.

One of the problems, and this is really the same issue, if people are hungry but they can't read and they can't fill out an application for a job, they can't get a job, because they can't read they can't advance in their job and they can't afford to support their families.

We don't really help people other than the immediate feeding of them if we don't help them to get off this and away from the issue of not being able to feed themselves. I think we ought to think about combining the literacy problem and hunger into one joint effort.

I'm going to be speaking to some of the leaders of the hunger movement to try to incorporate this concept of literacy and hunger being one and the same. Now, we do know where there are instances where people are quite literate and have to eat, and certainly we're not going to turn our backs and shirk our obligations. But I really think that we have an obligation to combine the two and help people to help themselves. People don't want a handout; they want a hand-up.

Mr. Regan:

I'd just like to say that I think you ought to fill their bellies up first to give them a little energy to read. You have to eat first.

This is a request from Dr. Jake Milliones and myself that there is only one Flag Day Parade in Allegheny County and that's in Jake and my district over in the North Side this coming Thursday. We'd be honored if the public and our colleagues would take time out to come over and visit us on Flag Day. Thank you.

Mr. Coyne moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, June 5, 1990.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Milliones

Council adjourned.

The occasion consists of that this lady will serve Western Pennsylvania and in the Churches of God in Christ which will comprise of over some 4,000 or 5,000 women. She is quite a lady and I'm so honored that we're honoring her today.

Mother Groce:

Thank you, Reverend Darkins. I give thanks to God and to all of you that are in the house today.

I'd just like to introduce my husband, Ralph Groce. Gladys Williams, one of our District Missionaries of the Western Jurisdiction.

Mr. Darkins:

Just as a state of humor, I want to bring to Council's attention today, as Michelle would be our First Lady of Council, this is the First Lady of Western Pennsylvania Churches of God in Christ.

The Chair:

Thank you all.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

I am proud to say that I attended Westinghouse High School with Bill Strayhorn and was in the orchestra there with him. And today to receive for the family is his nephew, Darryl Strayhorn.

Mr. Strayhorn:

On behalf of the Strayhorn family, I'd like to say thank you very much.

Mr. Darkins:

We also have Ellen Srodes from Mellon Bank that is in conjunction in helping put the Jazz Festival on for us here in the City of Pittsburgh.

Ms. Srodes:

Thank you. I just want to say that we don't do this by ourselves. We get an awful lot of help from many hundreds of people in the City.

We thank the City for your support.

Citiparks has been a partner with us for years in this Festival. They have a great staff and we couldn't do it without them. Thank you.

Mr. Darkins:

We have John Fedele who is here today representing St. Peters where the money that will be raised from the Fox Chapel Yacht Club to help children, he's here representing St. Peters.

Mr. Fedele:

I'd just like to thank City Council among all the legions of people who do help put this together, Mellon Bank especially for being the impetus and really the driving force.

I hope to see everybody a week from Sunday at the Yacht Club.

Mr. Darkins:

Last but not least, from our own City of Pittsburgh Parks and Recreation, we have Carl Mancuso who is the one that helps put the entire program together with Director Brown. I was so glad that Councilman Ricciardi joined me with this because it's his Department that he is the Chairman of. It was a beautiful thing that we could do in conjunction with each other.

Mr. Mancuso:

Thank you, Reverend Darkins and Councilman Ricciardi.

Citiparks has been involved with the Jazz Festival since its inception. Working with Mellon has been a pleasure over time and we, of course, cooperate with them in the ways that help to bring the Jazz Festival to the communities.

I do not want to take the credit for really having done this. It is certainly my staff that has worked so hard and the cooperation that we get from all of the City fathers that allow us to do this.

Thank you very much.

Mr. Darkins:

Should you go down to the Jazz Festival and you want to be in tune and in touch with what's going on, Mellon Bank has also, for each Councilperson, a tee shirt saying, "Mellon Bank's Jazz Festival".

Thank you, Mr. President.

The Chair:

Mr. Cohen, can we receive these?

Mr. Cohen:

I believe so. Yes. I've been to the Jazz Festival and it's great. It really is.

The Chair:

Thank you all very much for coming.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like the representatives from the Crime Stoppers Magazine to come forward. We have Kevin Gaughan, Mark Bedillion and Leslie Grey.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 969 WHEREAS, safe streets and crime-free neighborhoods are indispensable attributes of a healthy urban environment in which people and businesses can thrive; and

WHEREAS, "GREATER PITTSBURGH CRIME STOPPERS MAGAZINE" is a private sector initiative dedicated to increasing citizens participation in the prevention of crime by coordinating the programs of the City of Pittsburgh Public Safety Department, the Pennsylvania State Police, the FBI, the Fugitive Task Force and experts in the fields of drug and alcohol rehabilitation; and

WHEREAS, City residents, merchants and neighborhood groups can use "GREATER PITTSBURGH CRIMESTOPPERS MAGAZINE" to educate themselves about crime prevention organizing, and to safely assist in the location of missing children and the apprehension of criminal offenders.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh recognizes and applauds the efforts of the "GREATER PITTSBURGH CRIMESTOPPERS MAGAZINE"; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council declares the week of July 1 through July 7, 1990 as "CRIME PREVENTION AWARENESS WEEK" in the City of Pittsburgh and encourages all citizens to take advantage of the vital services offered by the "GREATER PITTSBURGH CRIME STOPPERS MAGAZINE" as we all strive together to make Pittsburgh a model for the rest of the Commonwealth and the Nation.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, I know you've been active with this group and have been in touch with them in the past. This is an initial copy of the Crime Stoppers Magazine that was put out and being distributed all around Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania.

I'd like to introduce several of the key people here today. Two in particular would like to make brief comments. Kevin Gaughan and Mark Bedillion who represent the forces behind putting this important initiative together.

Mr. Gaughan:

Good morning, Mr. President and Members of Council.

My name is Kevin Gaughan and I reside in the Knoxville area of the City. I am the owner of Cornerstone Printing and Publishing and I'm also involved in several community organizations such as the Pittsburgh Hilltop Lions Club, the Zone 3 Police Citizens Council, and the 30th Ward Knoxville Block Watch Program.

Several months ago while involved with the Block Watch Program, I conceived the idea of publishing photographs and profiles of criminals wanted by the Pittsburgh Police, the Fugitive Task Force and the FBI, and any other police agencies willing to participate. Also, I would publish missing children and reward information in a magazine form.

This is how Crime Stoppers Magazine originated. As a tangible medium, I believe it to be one of the most effective. This approach would allow people to visually commit to memory anyone being sought by the authorities.

In our first publication we will publish photographs of Carolyn Bradley, mother of four, who was murdered senselessly in Beaver County in a convenience store. And Peggy Voegel of Cranberry who was also senselessly murdered. And David Robbins, an 18 year old from Washington County who was murdered.

All of the above cases have something in common. Their murderers continue to walk our streets.

We will be publishing the photos of these victims and asking anyone with information to call the appropriate numbers listed on the designated police agency pages. Criminal activity cannot be eliminated by law enforcement agencies acting alone. It requires the efforts of every citizen, business, institution and corporation as well.

It is my sincere hope that this publication will create an awareness within the general public that crime exists and is a serious problem within our communities. It requires the attention from every segment of society.

Pittsburgh remains a relatively safe city, and we certainly want to help keep it that way. With the circulation of 50,000 or more, this magazine will be free to the public and will be distributed through all Pittsburgh Foodlands and other various locations.

Additionally, in order for this publication to take place and become marketable and an educational tool, I thought I needed to involve a few key people. Sergeant Mike Brown of the Pittsburgh Police Department was very helpful in direction and information. A small businessman by the name of Rick Self was also very helpful in the marketing plans. Also helpful was our attorney, Leslie Grey, as our legal representative. And Mark Bedillion who subsequently added another dimension to the publication which focused on the underlying issues of today's criminal activities which are drug and alcohol related.

I would like to introduce everybody to Mark Bedillion.

Mr. Bedillion:

I would like to thank all Members of City Council for allowing us time to present this vital project. It's quite an honor to be here.

It is encouraging to find government officials who are willing to get involved in a project of this magnitude. However, this is exactly what makes Pittsburgh so special.

Crime Stoppers Magazine was created by Kevin Gaughan to protect communities from criminals and to find our mission persons. I got involved with the magazine because Kevin and I have similar beliefs.

I currently hold an MSED in Counselor Education from Duquesne University. I have counseled many people with addictions using an eclectic approach. I have enough knowledge to report the incredible damage being done by drug and alcohol abuse.

There are many people in jail as a direct result of drug and alcohol abuse, whether for murder, rape, violent behavior, drunk driving, or a number of other drug and alcohol related offenses.

A number of people are also dying from suicide, drug overdoses and automobile accidents.

Furthermore, drug addiction and alcoholism are multi-generational. There can be six generations of family members alive at one time who are chemically affected.

If we don't do something soon, this problem is going to continue to be perpetuated.

Consequently, our magazine serves several vital functions. One, a forum to educate the public concerning all forms of addiction, chemical and otherwise, co-dependency, anorexia, bulimia, and any other life-threatening situation.

Two, it's a format to teach families how to repair the existing damage.

And three, it's a place where people may become knowledgeable concerning prevention, intervention, addiction, recovery, relapse, after-care, and underlying psychological issues which may prompt criminal behavior resulting from addiction.

We hope to bring all factions of society together to combat these problems - government, education, medical, corporations, spiritual leaders, business and every citizen in Pittsburgh. Furthermore, we hope to promote this endeavor nationally with Pittsburgh leading the way as a role model.

In conclusion, I would again like to thank City Council, the City Controller Tom Flaherty, the Pittsburgh Police, the FBI, the Fugitive Task Force, all the great people of Pittsburgh, and especially Sergeant Mike Brown of the Pittsburgh Police who made this publication possible. Thank you very much.

Ms. Grey:

I want to thank you for your passage of the proclamation today.

Also, my husband, Rick Self, is the third principle in this group. He and Kevin worked very hard developing this idea. They are private businessmen. They are very committed to this concept.

We're not seeking City funds. We're simply seeking to help the City police force do their job a little better and allow us City residents to live a little more safely and comfortably. Thank you again.

The Chair:

Thank you all very much.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I would like to ask Monsignor Michael Poloway from St. John the Baptist Church in the South Side, the Very Reverend Vladimir Jaworsky of the St. Vladimir Ukrainian Orthodox Church of the South Side, and Dr. George Kyshakevych to please step forward. Dr. Kyshakevych is the Chairman of the Ukrainian National Room Committee for the past 17 years.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

No. 970 WHEREAS, the Ukrainian heritage will be honored June 17, 1990 with the dedication of the Ukrainian Nationality Room at the University of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, the Ukraine was an independent country at certain times throughout history; however, since 1923 it has been a member of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics; and

WHEREAS, the University of Pittsburgh Nationality Room changed requirements and now allow rooms that represent a body of people associated with a particular territory; and

WHEREAS, the Ukrainian Nationality Room will represent the reception area of the residence of an 18th Century Ukrainian Nobleman; and

WHEREAS, the Ukrainian Committee raised the money for the room themselves by holding concerts, soliciting individual contributions and through fund-raising events; and

WHEREAS, according to the Nationality Room Committee's history, the first Ukrainians settled in Pittsburgh in 1859; and

WHEREAS, most of the early Ukrainian immigrants settled in the South Side of Pittsburgh, where they were employed in the steel mills; and

WHEREAS, there are some 15,000 Ukrainians in Pittsburgh who are connected through the 32 churches in Western Pennsylvania.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh salutes the Ukrainian Committee for their hard work in raising the funds that enabled this dream for a Ukrainian Room to be possible and hereby declares June 17, 1990 to be Ukrainian National Heritage Day in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you, Members of Council. Before we introduce our guests this morning, I'd just like to say that it was an honor and privilege of mine to take part in the ceremonies this past Sunday beginning with 10:00 a.m. Mass at Monsignor's Church, followed by the dedication of the Room at the University of Pittsburgh, and the banquet at St. George's in the North Side of Pittsburgh.

I'd like to ask our guests to say a few words today, beginning with Monsignor.

Monsignor Poloway:

I just want to thank the Councilmembers for the resolution that was passed. We are grateful to all of you for recognizing us as an ethnic people who, for so long, have been persecuted in Europe, in our own homeland. And here in America we got very little recognition because we were all considered Russian and not Ukrainian, which is our proper ethnic origin.

Because of this Nationality Room that was dedicated, it comes to show to the public eye that there is a nation called the Ukraine and there are people that have come from the Ukraine to the United States to settle and to propagate their own customs and traditions in the way they were raised and born. And we of the American origin who were born here in America, are very proud of our own heritage and we continue to take pride in it and we'll continue to expand it as much as we can.

Thank you very much.

Reverend Jaworsky:

President, Honorable Council of our beautiful City of Pittsburgh, and our Councilwoman, Ms. Madoff. Congratulations. I watch you very often in debates. Fight for our rights. God bless you.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you.

Reverend Jaworsky:

Ladies and gentlemen, President, it took 55 years for our little Ukrainian community to finally be recognized that we exist. We are 1,000 years nation of Christianity. Before that, about 3,000 years or 4,000 years of our history, it was very hard and painful not to be recognized and always to be told that you are Russian or a Pole or Austrian or somebody else.

We thank you. We thank Dr. Kyshakevych who really was dedicated and spent a lot of time, a lot of his own money, finally to arrive at that point that last Sunday we had the occasion to open that beautiful Ukrainian Room at Pitt.

Now, my friends, Monsignor Poloway was thanking you as born here in the United States physically. I thank you as born here in the United States, again born, the second time when I arrived in this country I was born here. Free, without being told where to go, when to go and what to do. As I saw today, this Pledge of Allegiance, it really is something to listen to.

I remember when I was a young man, I never saw the United States, but I carried, as being a member of the Ukrainian Underground, the Flag of the United States of America. It was sewn into my shirt. There were many more like us today to listen to what's going on in this beautiful country. It's really painful that they don't respect their own Flag.

Thank you. I don't want to tell you your own history. God bless you all. Thank you.

Mr. Ricciardi:

They were very touching words by the Very Reverend Jaworsky.

Before we introduce our last guest, if I may say to the public, for the older adults of Ukrainian heritage that were unable to make the dedication yesterday, we will be receiving the tape from the University of Pittsburgh. Co-sponsored with our clergy from the South Side, I will be showing the tape in our area for the adults that were not able to attend.

Our next speaker has shown dedication and hard work because Dr. George Kyshakevych has been Chairman of the Nationality Room Committee for the past 17 years. And in order to raise $250,000 and to get the University of Pittsburgh to change the policy, you can image the hard work and dedication it took.

Dr. Kyshakevych:

Thank you very much. I thank you first of all, City Council, for passing this dedication. I must say that last Sunday, on the opening of this room, I felt that this was one of the happiest days in my life. Thank you very much.

The Chair:

Thank you all for coming today. It's been an honor.

The Chair presents

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The Chair presents

No. 961 Communication from Sohpie Masloff, Mayor, City of Pittsburgh, returning with her veto Council Bill No. 784, entitled, "Resolution granting the University of Pittsburgh a license to construct telephone and electrical conduits on the City's right-of-way."

Which was read.

(MAYOR'S VETO LETTER)

June 15, 1990

President and Members
City Council
City of Pittsburgh

Dear President and Members:

I am vetoing Bill No. 784, which is a resolution granting the University of Pittsburgh a license to construct telephone and electrical conduits on the City's right-of-way.

This legislation was submitted in error by the Department of Public Works. The attached letter from Director Gaetano explains the situation in more detail.

Very truly yours,

Sohpie Masloff
Mayor

June 13, 1990

Honorable Sophie Masloff, Mayor
City of Pittsburgh

Dear Mayor Masloff:

Recently City Council approved Resolution No. 784 granting the University of Pittsburgh the privilege and license to construct, maintain and use telephone and electrical conduits in a portion of the right-of-way of South Dithridge Street and Henry Street in the 4th Ward, 8th District of the City of Pittsburgh.

Since this legislation combines the request for approval for both electrical and telephone conduit installation in one Resolution, it conflicts with the procedure mandated by Chapter 427 of the Pittsburgh Code.

Therefore, we recommend that this legislation be vetoed for the following reasons:

First, Chapter 427 of the Pittsburgh Code mandates the procedure for obtaining a license for the installation of telephone conduits in City right-of-way for private communications systems. The University of Pittsburgh is currently working with the Bureau of Cable Communications to obtain the required license.

Second, appropriate legislation will be submitted to City Council for its consideration and approval granting the University of Pittsburgh the right to install and maintain electrical conduits in City right-of-way, where necessary.

Very truly yours,

Louis R. Gaetano, Director
Department of Public Works

(END OF VETO LETTER)

Mr. Ferlo moved to override the veto.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Obviously, everyone received the written notice that this legislation was submitted in error. The proper thing to do is to vote no on the override of the veto.

Is there any discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

I think that there is no better choice for the Human Relations Commission, that Randy has that package of qualities of being bright, dedicated and principled, and I know that you will work for justice for all minorities. I wish you the best of luck.

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill No. 840, the $17,000 payment for agent fees in connection with various City of Pittsburgh General Obligation Bonds, that $17,000 should have been incorporated in the cost of doing bond business. It should not be levied against those people who are taxpayers and who have not bought these bonds. Those people who buy and receive interest should absorb that cost and I believe that is fact. And I believe in the future it will be corrected in that there will be some provisal made when we issue bonds to see that if there's a time we go out for rebidding who will manage our bonds that those kinds of dollars will be absorbed. But I just cannot, in good conscience, vote for it.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, on that same bill. I'm voting for it but I do think that in the future it should be incorporated into the formula used in determining which banks to invest the City's money in based on what banks invest in low and moderate income neighborhoods. We did have a discussion about that with the Finance Director on Wednesday and I think that is going to happen in the future. But I take this opportunity to encourage Director Hayllar to do that.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 788

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with the Westside Community Development Corporation for professional services and administrative costs relative to the development of a Commercial Service Center in Broadhead Manor Public Housing, at a cost not to exceed $15,000.00, chargeable to and payable from Code Account 1103 (100305), Miscellaneous Services, Department of City Planning." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

Unfortunately, this will be probably the last opportunity to address this piece of legislation. This is the $15,000 that is being allocated to the Westside Community Development.

Again, I'm tenacious, I don't give up. I'm hoping that people will change their vote.

Here is a community that was promised $29,000 in operating costs and we're cutting it back to $15,000 which is coming out of the Mayor's allocation of dollars and I thank her for that.

We have an obligation to come up with the additional $14,000 because I know that members of this Council are looking to take money from the same code account, 46, that I'm trying to take the $19,000 for. If you're going to vote for those bills coming out of 46, then I think you have an obligation to vote for this bill. You can't say that one need is greater than another.

I'd like to amend my bill to include an additional $14,000 to come out of Code Account 46 so that the Westside Community Center, which has been hard hit and is trying to pull itself up by its bootstraps and needs these operating dollars, will be made available.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

The Chair:

The motion is illegal due to the fact that it is not in writing. This is final vote on the legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to challenge the Chair on the issue of not having it in writing. I think it has been discussed ad infinitum. I think everybody knows about it, adhering to the rule, and we have waived that rule at other times.

My motion is just to challenge the Chair to allow this to come up today without a written presentation. If you vote, you're voting just to let me present it.

The Chair:

So your motion is to override the rule.

Is there a second?

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

On the bill as it stands, somewhere, somehow, we have to correct this grievous wrong that has been done to this community. And I would hope that next year at budget time we will make up for the error. It was strictly an accounting error. It was a misunderstanding where the dollars would come from, and I would hope that Council would search its hearts and minds and that, when we come to budget time, we will correct this grievous wrong.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair presents

No. 972 Resolution reappointing Moira Harrington, 519 Zulema Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15213, as a City Magistrate for a term to expire January, 1993.

Which was read.

The Chair:

If I may, Moira Harrington filled an unexpired term as a City Magistrate and the majority of Council did not have the opportunity to interview her. Only four of the nine Councilmembers did.

If it is the will of anyone to question her, I would recommend that we bring her in front of Council.

Michelle Madoff:

It might be more appropriate to find out what kind of job she's been doing since I was one of the people that voted against her. I didn't vote against her because I felt she wasn't qualified, it's just that she was so new, had never served in any capacity that the job called for, and there were so many other women with years and years of experience who wanted the jobs or recommended other people.

I think it might be important for us to find out from someone what kind of a record she has and how she has done. I think that would really be more important at this time.

Mr. Regan:

I think she has done an outstanding job down there, Mr. Wagner.

Mr. Ferlo:

I move to have the candidate come before Council.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

We'll have her come in front of Council as soon as possible.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I had the misfortune of attending the Billy Joel concert at Star Lake Amphitheatre on Sunday night. I happen to like his music but, unfortunately, it was a concert-goers nightmare.

We waited in traffic for two hours on the way in to the Amphitheatre and for over two hours to get out. Even though we arrived an hour and a half before the concert began, we missed half of the concert, and over 1,000 people who went to see the concert didn't see it at all.

There were numerous problems over there, and I won't go into all of them, but there was a very poor traffic design. There is a single access road to the entire complex, one small entrance and exit for over 10,000 vehicles. The parking attendants were not well-trained and, frankly, the Washington County Police were not particularly helpful. In all, it was a very frustrating experience.

Apparently, it was better last night, but I think that for the owners of the Amphitheatre to ask people to come to their concert four hours in advance is not a way to solve the problem.

I know that many big acts are going to Star Lake Amphitheatre rather than coming to the Civic Arena or to Three Rivers Stadium because Pittsburgh's amusement tax is as high as it is. I'm the first to say that the amusement tax needs to be lowered and I know many other Councilpeople agree. Probably all of them do. But, frankly, I would gladly pay a little extra to go to the Civic Arena or to Three Rivers Stadium knowing that they are efficient, well-run operations than to go to Star Lake and be stuck in traffic for two hours.

So, my message is, bring those acts back to Pittsburgh.

Mr. Ferlo:

On the same subject, Mr. Chairman. We keep beating the amusement tax to death. The reason why so many acts are being diverted to this theater in Washington County has very little to do with the amusement tax and everything to do with it being a non-union facility. In fact, the same promoters who operate the Arena have systematically, in a very calculated way, targeted acts for this non-union facility. That's really what the issue is all about, not the amusement tax.

If anybody is meeting this morning, it's probably all the politicians in Washington County trying to figure out how they're going to pay for all the additional services they provided with public safety forces and other back up. There is no road design to this place so, if they're going to build any infrastructural road or pay for any public safety services, they better start thinking about an amusement tax themselves. They have to start feeding some people down in Washington County who provided some services to people.

Mr. Cohen:

I just wanted to respond that I am not familiar with that problem but I would be happy to discuss it with the appropriate people.

My problem was that it was an extremely frustrating experience going out there. I know thousands of other people had that kind of experience and, if you went to the Civic Arena or to Three Rivers Stadium, you would not have that kind of frustrating experience.

The Chair:

I agree. And the ticket would be no more in cost and access would be from four directions rather than one. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on a separate issue, very briefly. I'd like to ask Council, and I'll call on the Clerk, to conduct a post agenda on the recycling issue. It's been over a month since I believe we asked for an update report, unless the President has received information. I haven't.

I think most of us are completely in the dark on what has transpired over the last few months. We were led to believe that the consultant would issue a preliminary report, I believe by April of this year. If that did happen, we never saw it, or I never saw it.

I think it's time to have a formal post agenda following the regular order of business, not tomorrow but next week, giving Mary Beth Salley Rissuto and the other principles involved with the City's response to Act 101 to be invited. I would like to respectfully request that.

The Chair:

Mr. Perry, would you please set that post agenda up? Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

On two items. The first one was an editorial in the Pittsburgh Press addressing the Schenley Plaza Project. I believe I was the only descending vote abstaining. I would not vote for removing much of the green space just to have 72 parking spaces.

In reviewing the issue, and now we're running into problems, if you read the editorial and the story, in dollar overruns and not having the project done in time.

Perhaps we need to look a little closer when these things come before us in the future.

On another matter. I was not joshing about lighting the bridges with bulbs. It's being done in other cities now. It's done, I believe, in St. Louis, Philadelphia.

I have some information that just came across my FAX machine, I haven't had a chance to get it yet, from a company that has just contacted me to tell us that they have available a bulb that burns for 15 years. If we only burn it at night, it will burn for 30 years. It's an incandescent light and it cost $8 for the bulb.

Now, I know that we have costs of wiring to install the bulbs, and the fixtures, but my understanding is that the cost for the one Smithfield Bridge on the one side is not all that expensive. There are 52 bulbs.

I don't believe, and I could be wrong, but I don't believe that we're going to run into a $5 million wiring cost as proposed by Mary Kay Poppenberg to light the bridges with flood lights.

I made some statements that were questioned by my colleagues last time about the appearance and the dissention with reference to the lighting of the bridges with flood lights, that, indeed, it was too bright, and washed out the shore, probably too expensive. And I'm delighted to find out that Mary Kay Poppenberg agrees and the committee looking into it agrees that that, indeed, is the case. They are thinking of half the lighting, or less, if they go ahead with that procedure.

I've rethought my initial presentation of saying different lights for every bridge, and I'm thinking perhaps that would not be appropriate because it might be too carnival-like. Maybe we should just use the same kind of bulb that we have on the Smithfield Bridge and just light up our bridges so they become very visible and make the City even more attractive at night.

Well, the story went out on the wire on got picked up in several cities. I've had calls and letters from Philadelphia, from Alexandria. We've heard from a gentleman who represents Westinghouse retirees across the country and there seems to be a tremendous amount of support for lighting our bridges, even from out of town people who'd like to adopt a bulb.

I went out the other day, having received from the Russians, the Leningrad Mint, the coins, and I thought I ought to present those coins to the City Treasurer. I also thought that I should present the $87 that I collected in 20 minutes on the street to light a bulb and was informed that we can't open a code account to light the bulbs because we don't own those bridges. So, I just want everybody to know that I'm not keeping the money. I have turned it over to the appropriate agencies and I have, presently, given it to Ben Hayllar for his good keeping.

I think it's an idea worth pursuing since we're talking about making the City more attractive to tourists and certainly lighting our bridges would be one of those. I think it would not be all that costly and, again, I urge people to think about writing letters of support and I'll see that the appropriate people get them.

One of the concerns I have is that Mary Kay Poppenberg told me that what they're looking to do right now is to spend $200,000 for a consultant, a lighting consultant, to tell them how to light the bridges from the perspective of the flood lights. I think that $200,000 would go a long way to just putting bulbs up on our bridges. Let's not waste those dollars.

I just want to share that information with Councilmembers.

Mr. Ferlo:

On the first issue Michelle raised regarding the parking lot. I read with interest newspaper articles about that delay of the Schenley Plaza Parking Lot. In the other newspaper there was also an article about a gentleman who has operated a lot behind the URA's building on Ross Street for the last 15 years who apparently is losing the property. The URA is transferring the property to the Parking Authority and the Parking Authority supposedly is letting out a bid for the operation of that parking lot.

What interests me, though, was that the parking lot, Schenley Plaza Parking Lot, was awarded to someone with a no-bid contract. Meanwhile, the Parking Authority Director said to the gentleman who wants to continue operating the parking lot that he has operated for the last 15 years, "Sorry, we have to bid it out."

Now, somewhere there's either a contradiction or somebody is being favored for something.

I'd like to ask, Mr. Chairman, respectfully, that we communicate to Mr. Young of the Parking Authority and ask him exactly what are the particulars regarding the bidding procedures for handing over these public properties for the operation of the parking lot. And specifically, why is one being bid out when you have a gentleman who has operated for 15 years and would like to continue it, and the Schenley Plaza Parking Lot was given out a no-bid award. I'd like answers to those questions.

Mr. Cohen moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, June 12, 1990.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Milliones

Council adjourned.

Mr. Wagner, we just had a bill submitted by myself on the $179,000, I believe, for activated carbon during the last spill and I think it would be appropriate to require that somebody from the Water and Sewer Authority, not just somebody from the Water Department, be here to address reimbursement.

We're talking about that just for the material. We're not even talking about the labor. We're talking probably about a half million dollars here and I think it would be incumbent on somebody to be here to address that from the Water Department.

Would you make that in the form of a request, Mr. Perry?

Mr. Perry will make sure that happens.

Bill No. 892

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution establishing a special trust fund to be designated as the Emergency Flood Relief and Water Damage Trust Fund (EFRWD), for the deposit of cash, contributions, and grants from Private Citizens, Businesses, Governmental Agencies, and other source, and authorizing the use of the funds deposited therein to provide financial assistance to City residents for the repair or replacement of furnaces, heating systems, electrical units, plumbing, sewage and other fundamental systems which sustain flood damage." ---(SPONSORED BY MR. FERLO)

Which was read.

Mr. Milliones:

On Bill 892 regarding the water damage and emergency flood relief program, it seems to me that it might be appropriate to move that this bill be held for a week or two given Mr. Hayllar's memo, and I presume every Councilperson has the memo from Mr. Hayllar stating that there are such trust funds or similar trust funds set up with URA and that that seemed his recommendation, that that's the place that we ought to explore that.

I mention that because of the absence of Mr. Ferlo, the sponsor of the bill. So, I move to recommit until we can have the sponsor of the bill here.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Milliones, have you spoken to Mr. Ferlo about this?

Mr. Milliones:

No, I haven't.

Mr. Coyne:

Well then I feel that since this is Mr. Ferlo's bill, that we would be acting inappropriately to hold it without him being present.

I understand the concern that Councilman Milliones has; however, if Mr. Ferlo hasn't agreed to this and it is his introduction, I feel Council would be acting inappropriately by holding it up without him being here.

Mr. Milliones:

I would certainly defer to Mr. Ferlo. I simply felt that simply because we had more information from Mr. Hayllar, from whom we requested to have more information, that information is here and it seems that in his absence we ought to wait until we see how he feels about it.

Mr. Coyne:

I understand you point; I just don't think it's a proper procedure.

The Chair:

There's a motion on the floor and a second. I believe Mr. Milliones is making the motion for the sake of Mr. Ferlo.

Michelle Madoff:

On the motion. No one is suggesting that we bury the issue. I don't think that's Mr. Milliones' intention. He's merely saying out of courtesy to a colleague who isn't here, since new information just arrived and it implies that this situation belongs within the URA, and I would have some concerns about that considering what happened to my Westgate money that was switched over to URA, that I'd just want to wait until Mr. Ferlo comes back, reviews the memo that we received from Mr. Hayllar, and then proceed accordingly.

I understand that this is strictly a vehicle to establish a line item. It doesn't appropriate the dollars. I do understand that. But I think it would not make one iota of difference to wait one week. We're not holding up money because there's no money in the issue.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, for the Councilwoman's edification, the issue isn't whether this creates money or puts money aside for a certain project. The issue is that Mr. Milliones has a suggestion, and I'm not saying whether it's a good suggestion or a bad suggestion. But his suggestion of holding this bill -- He has not talked to Mr. Ferlo about it.

So, what you are doing is, you're saying that if you introduce a bill and you aren't present at this Tuesday meeting, that any Councilman is able to hold back your bill without consulting you.

So, just be aware that if you introduce a bill and you aren't here at the beginning of a meeting or aren't here for a certain portion of a meeting, that another Councilman can act in your Committee and hold it back. I don't think that's proper.

I think that if Mr. Ferlo had any indication that he wanted this bill held, he would have submitted it to one of us to speak in his place, and I don't think he has done so.

Mr. Milliones:

Let me make it clear that that's not the intent.

Mr. Coyne:

I know that. Not now, it's not. But in the future it could set a precedent.

Mr. Milliones:

I want to make that clear. And I can't talk to Mr. Ferlo because Mr. Ferlo is not here.

Mr. Coyne:

I understand, but in the future it could set a precedent.

Mr. Regan:

I think the little fire, Mr. Ferlo, had a medical problem last Friday and I agree with Mr. Milliones. He's only doing what he thinks is in the best interest of one of his colleagues, especially a man that had a medical problem.

The Chair:

I agree.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to respond, if I may, to Mr. Coyne. If I were not present for a piece of legislation, I would call one of my colleagues and say, "I am unable to attend. Would you please ask to hold the bill." Or I would call and say, "Would you please present the bill for me?" And since he didn't do either, I think out of courtesy we ought to hold it a week.

This is not an anti-Mr. Ferlo or anti-position on the bill. It is merely a courtesy to hold.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

They ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Mr. Darkins	Mr. Regan

Bill No. 958

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution transferring the amount of $45,000.00 from Code Account 1005-3 (100537), Printing Pittsburgh Code, City Clerk, to Code Account 1001-1 (100115), Miscellaneous Services, City Council."
---(SPONSORED BY MR. WAGNER)

Which was read.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, on Bill No. 958 transferring $45,000, I believe first it is important for us to know the history of this amount of money. From asking questions and doing some research, I was able to establish that this $45,000 was placed, was allocated in the budget by the previous Council for district offices. Obviously, the previous Council believed under this type of representation by district in order to more effectively represent our constituents, we might be in need of district offices or maybe some concept of district offices.

I, along with other colleagues, believed that district offices would not be a good thing for the City of Pittsburgh because of escalating prices, the cost of district offices, both in terms of lease arrangements, rents, staffing, and possibly even supplies.

But I believe the concept of the $45,000, the allocation of the money, was in blocks of nine. And that is the way I believe the previous City Council looked at this. Nine blocks of $5,000 in order to more effectively represent our district under the new representation.

There's a general feeling, or some feeling among a few of our colleagues, that this money should be put back, given back to the Administration for the general fund. However, that does not mean that the money will not be spent. That means that we will lose control of $45,000 and give that control to the Administration.

Also, the veteran colleagues, such as Michelle Madoff who could probably explain this a little better, that the $45,000 was saved by City Council by not filling a position on Council.

It is my feeling that we should be accountable to our constituents and how this money is to be used. Tomorrow I'll hopefully explain how I would like to use my block of $5,000, something that I put in last week establishing a property tax reduction trust fund, and also allocating money into that.

There's been much talk now about lowering the amusement tax, a tax which is paid by 85 percent of suburbanites. The Pennsylvania Economy Leagues shows that by lowering the amusement tax the benefit the City could receive. But I also believe that we had a study that showed lowering the property tax, what that would be able to show.

Again, I would just like to say, because Councilman Ferlo is not here, as Councilman Ferlo said last week discussing this bill to several of our colleagues, not to grandstand on the issue. It's very easy to grandstand on this issue and say that we have to be very careful not to spend and how we spend the money. Well, I've been here six months and I don't see too many people questioning on how the Administration has been spending huge amounts of money in the millions of dollars. As a matter of fact, I compliment Michelle Madoff, one of the few of our colleagues who has addressed that issue through the "not to exceed" issue.

So, again, I believe this transfer is right. I believe the general feeling of the last Council, the previous Council was that this money would be used in order to have us more effectively represent our districts, and I will be voting in the affirmative.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I made my comments on this bill last Wednesday and I don't think they need repetition today. I'd like those comments brought forward.

(BEGINNING - MR. COHEN'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 958 - WEDNESDAY, 6/20/90)

Mr. Cohen:

Discussion. Mr. Chairman, as I have told many of you, I don't think that this is a proper way to spend taxpayers' money. I don't question the validity of many of the projects that my colleagues will spend this money on, but my concern is that each allotment of money will be used at the discretion of a single Councilperson to his or her favorite groups with essentially no supervision or accountability. My view is that we already fought this battle on virtually the same bill and that the people of Pittsburgh really did express their views on this issue. So, personally, I'm voting no and if it does pass, I'm going to return my allotment to the City's General Fund.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Prepared by: Mary Anne Hruska, Stenotype Reporter)

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you for the compliments, Mr. Ricciardi, but don't claim that you're giving us history because I'm the historian. And the history is that this Council has always, always, since almost the day I was here, and Mr. Perry will tell you that every year there are monies allocated to Council like there is to the Administration, that at the end of the year I moved around.

And the monies that were allocated this year, the dollars that were put aside through savings, and if you'll help me, Mr. Wagner, that money was by deleting several jobs. Three jobs were deleted. We are working with three jobs less than we normally had at a savings of how much?

The Chair:

Approximately $100,000.

Michelle Madoff:

A savings of $100,000. Somehow or other, that doesn't hit the media. The $100,000 that Council cut out of the expenditures is now being offset by the $45,000 allocation to members of Council that has happened every single year.

We've had the money that was allocated to Sophie Masloff should she decide not to run for Mayor divided up two years in a row. There's money from consulting fees that have been divided up.

Every year every Councilmember counted on somewhere between, if memory serves me well, $7,000 and $11,000 that went back to Council to help them run their offices, to be of better service to the community by virtue of having more staff.

But we get taken over the coals and made to look like these heinous people because of something that has happened but it's so easy to relate to a small amount, not to relate to the hundreds of millions of dollars that have been wasted because, as Mr. Ricciardi has graciously pointed out, a system that said, "We have all this money to give away, not to exceed $3 million." So, all the contracts came in at $2,999,000. It was bizarre. We forget about millions but its so easy to zero in on $5,000.

I never supported district offices for very selfish, very chauvinistic reasons. I have at least 15 individual areas within my district. I have a very unique district. Where would I set up an office in District 2? It wasn't viable.

But I felt, and Mr. Wagner will substantiate and he was Treasurer at the time, that it was unfair to discriminate against any Member of Council because they weren't going to open a district office, and I had suggested at that time that the money be divided equally.

Frankly, I was prepared to forego the money. I felt that we were going to lose that money through the Administration's actions. As it turned out, the Administration --

Mr. Coyne:

Councilwoman, we've already heard your rhetoric. Speak to the cameras, please.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm not speaking to the cameras. I'm trying to get the attention of Mr. --

The Chair:

Mr. Coyne, Councilwoman Madoff has the floor.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, in the future, when other Councilmembers are speaking, I would appreciate it if you would enforce the same rule for Councilwoman Madoff. She constantly speaks when other Councilmembers have the floor. Councilman Darkins and I are having a private conversation, not interrupting anyone, so if you're going to enforce that rule now, I would suggest you enforce it to Councilwoman Madoff in the future.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Coyne, I was trying to get Mr. Darkins' attention because I wanted to make a point to him. I'm sorry if I interrupted your private conversation.

The Chair:

Mr. Coyne, you are not chairing this meeting and I would ask you not to speak while another Councilmember is speaking.

Mr. Coyne:

Thank you, sir.

Michelle Madoff:

I think I have a pretty good relationship with my colleagues, all of you, including you, Mr. Coyne, and I was trying to get Mr. Darkins' attention.

Mr. Regan:

I second your motion, Mr. Coyne.

The Chair:

Mr. Regan, you're out of order too.

Mr. Regan:

I understand that.

The Chair:

Councilwoman Madoff, you have the floor. If you want to speak, speak, or you will relinquish the floor.

Michelle Madoff:

The point I'm making is that of the $5,000 that I thought we were going to lose, I thought the Administration was going to make a point, and if that was the case I was going to live with it.

It turns out that the Administration did not veto the dollars but did, indeed, veto the idea of having district offices because the Administration felt, it's not my position, the Administration felt that the offices would expand by leaps and bounds by needing more. You couldn't get a place for $5,000. You couldn't get telephones. You couldn't pay the rent, and it would become another expenditure. That was the Administration's position and I figured I had lost my $5,000 for my office.

And frankly, from a purely pragmatic point of view, and I think we see a lot of pragmatism here, everybody jumping on everybody. I endorse Mr. Coyne. We'll take on Michelle today. I wish that we would have ended that with the last Administration.

Mr. Regan:

I love you, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

Then act it. Don't tell me you love me and don't be pandering to feminism and then not vote for the female issue. Don't love me, just vote the right way.

Now, the issue here on the bill is that I have an opportunity to correct a grievous wrong. I consider this a windfall, that Michelle Madoff is going to have a windfall of $5,000 because a promise is a promise is a promise. A commitment is a commitment is a commitment. Our word is our word is our word. And we didn't live up to it. We didn't give the full monies to Westgate. And I'm going to use my $5,000 to help out Westgate. I'm glad I have this windfall. Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

I'll give you $1,000 of mine, Michelle.

Michelle Madoff:

And I'll take it.

Mr. Regan:

You got it.

The Chair:

I'd like to make a comment on Bill 958, for the $45,000. Because I introduced the bill, I'm probably going to get beat up on it publicly in the media. If so, so be it.

I feel it's the right thing to do for this Council mainly because the majority of Councilmembers have requested from the start that this money be allocated originally for district offices. It was Mr. Cohen that came and personally asked me to introduce a bill for district offices, for the $45,000, which I did.

The bill was beat and defeated and I accepted that and so did every Member of Council. There will not be any district offices.

There have been several projects that Councilmembers have brought to the attention of myself and Councilman Millions as Finance Chairman where monies are needed. Councilwoman Madoff has come up with two already this year; the Commission on Women and also Westgate. Two worthy projects for funding.

Councilman Ricciardi for the property tax reduction program, to initiate the program, to show the people in state government that the City of Pittsburgh will take a lead position on the issue by putting some monies into a fund for a very worthwhile purpose for senior citizens. And I commend Councilman Ricciardi for initiating that with a small amount of money, $5,000.

Other Councilmembers, Councilman Ferlo, on Emergency Relief Fund. A small amount of money and asking other levels of government to contribute to emergency relief fund. He wants to take a small amount of money and put it in to it.

All of you have probably seen that today I introduced a bill for $2,500 to fund the Veterans' Day Parade, something that Council missed in the budget in 1990.

I would also like to see another portion of the funds go to the marketing effort of the Airport and tying the City of Pittsburgh in to that.

Now, if the public is going to say that that is money misspent, so be it. All of those causes are very good and very appropriate to benefit the public and to benefit the City of Pittsburgh.

So, if anyone wants to say that this is a blank check, it is not a blank check. Each and every allocation has to come in the form of a bill in front of Council and must be voted on and must have five votes, just as the Veterans' Day Parade and Mr. Ricciardi on the property tax reduction. It is not a blank check. It is not like state government where they have WHAM money which is hundreds of thousands of dollars that they don't even vote on and does not come in to a public forum. This money all comes in the form of a piece of legislation.

There will probably be 10 or 12 pieces of legislation in regard to this $45,000. There will be more public scrutiny on this $45,000 than any piece of money in the $320 million budget of the City of Pittsburgh. And I can tell you publicly that it will be well spent to good organizations and good causes.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, it's because of that public scrutiny that I am voting the way I am. Since you referenced my name, I do feel a need to respond.

It is true that I initially supported district offices. I thought it would be a good service for the people. But when the people responded as loudly and clearly as they did in the form of thousands of letters and phone calls, I felt that we had a responsibility to respond. I feel that this is the same $45,000 and the public has expressed their view on the $45,000 and that we really don't have to spend this money, especially when the budget is so tight.

That's why I'm against it, precisely because the public has expressed their view on this and precisely because of that type of public scrutiny.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Chairman, I would like to be in support of you in regards to the news media beating up on you. I think we put you here and I've been beat up a lot since I've been here. So, the wounds will heal and we're still here to support you, Mr. President.

The Chair:

Thank you.

I just want everyone to know that this is not a blank check. As has been stated numerous times, this is formal legislation and all following allocations of monies will be formal legislation.

(BEGINNING - MR. WAGNER'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 864 - WEDNESDAY, 6/20/90)

Mr. Wagner:

May I add something, Mr. Chairman? I would just like to put on public record that Council continually gets requests for extensions of permit parking in various neighborhoods. This is no consideration given to the enforcement of this permit parking, in that the personnel are not available for enforcement, even though we continue to expand. And some mechanism has to be brought forth to Council to address that issue, because, quite frankly, what is happening is various people, the numbers in enforcement are not increasing, and we are simply going through a procedure here of expansion of permit parking programs without additional personnel, and it all ties into the whole public safety effort in the metered areas, also. I certainly don't want to hold up any legislation of this type, but sooner or later Council has to have an extensive discussion on this issue.

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with a Consultant or Consultants for preschematic and site planning architectural services in connection with the new Public Safety Building and the possible site; and providing for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, on these two bills involving the architectural consultant for the Jail and Public Safety Building, I think Director Sciulli and I and some of the others who were there last Wednesday had a good discussion on this bill.

I made the point that the architects should have been selected, in my view, through a more public process rather than a private process, along the lines, really, of a design field competition like, for example, they had for the Harold Washington Library in Chicago. The architect, I believe, should have been selected by a panel of experts, a panel of architects, rather than, in this case, a lawyer, an engineer and a budget officer.

Since that meeting, I expressed this concern to the Administration through Joe Mistick and expressed the view that in all future projects, major projects like this, the architect should be selected through a design field competition like that.

Having made that point to the Administration as to future projects, I think it's now time that we move on with this project so I will be voting yes on this bill.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to reinforce the comments that were made by my colleague. I'm glad that we're not going to hold this bill up and we understand that the Administration's prerogative is to hire. And I might point out that the Oxford Building was indeed a competition for that site.

As you know, the Hillman's wanted to build a building and build it somewhere else and it was chosen by the Commissioners.

It would be a good idea to follow through on the concept put forward by Mr. Cohen that indeed we do meet very shortly with the Administration and get an update.

But I'm glad there has been a change of heart by the person, my colleague, who suggested that we hold on that bill and I think that we ought to get on with this as quickly as possible.

Mr. Regan:

I just would like to say that I agree with my very close, personal friend, Michelle Madoff, and that if anybody could see the deplorable conditions on Federal Street in the North Side and the courts over there, it's absolutely deplorable. I think it's long overdue and I think that we do need this and I am going to vote in the affirmative.

The Chair:

You're right, Mr. Regan. We must move forward on this project.

Let me stress, if you're in favor of this bill, you're voting aye, even though it's coming with a negative recommendation, to eliminate any confusion.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair:

I have one short announcement. The public hearing at 2:00 is canceled at the request of the petitioners.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I believe myself and other Members of Council are in receipt of a letter from Pat McNamara who is the President of the F.O.P. concerning the rehabilitation of the No. 5 Police Station.

I would like to have a letter go to the Department of Engineering and Construction to give Council an update, not only on that construction but on the construction on the No. 6 Station up in Squirrel Hill on Northumberland Street. Councilwoman Madoff spoke to me concerning this issue.

The conditions that the police officers have to put up with are deplorable and I think the City needs to get on the ball and get the work accomplished and if there are some holdups, to inform Council why there are holdups at No. 5 and why the work isn't starting at No. 6.

So, that's a motion that a letter go to Director Sciulli for a full report to Council as to what's holding up the work.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

With all due respect, I believe I spoke not only to Mr. Coyne but I also spoke to Mr. Cohen. That police and fire station covers both their districts and I felt out of courtesy that I ought to speak to them.

The day of the episode of the bus that was spewing fumes, I went into the station and thought that because of legislation previously enacted by this Council that they had already put their house in order, that that place was inhabitable for human beings. It is not. It's a pigsty. The situation those people have to work in is a disgrace. They are under the impression, they meaning the police officers who work in that No. 6 Station, that there are some bizarre reasons as to why they're not in it because some other stations that are being rehabbed where they'd have to move out, so in the transfer of -- They'd have to move out in order to work on the Station, but some bizarre things have happened, that the work was done, it was not signed off for, and I want to know why.

Rather than having, with all due respect to my colleagues, just a report from Construction and Engineering, I think it's imperative that the people know, that the police officers know. I'd like to make that in the request of having a post agenda. Would my colleagues agree to that since both of you are more involved than I am?

The Chair:

If I could just add, I would ask that we have a response in a letter in a week and based on the response determine whether or not a post agenda is necessary.

Michelle Madoff:

With all due respect, my motion is to have a post agenda because I have heard what the problems are. I've already been told what they are and I'm sure that my colleagues will get the same information that I have. I don't find it acceptable and therefore I would like to have a post agenda so we get it out in the public, that it's not dialogue between myself or three Members of Council, or that we get a letter back saying, "Oh, we're doing this; we're about to sign off on it." I've been hearing that for a long time.

Jack, you voted for it with me and nothing has happened. I think we owe this to the police officers. We owe them to have this post agenda and I respectfully request it.

The Chair:

Procedurally, we have a motion on the floor for the letter requested by Mr. Coyne and a post agenda can be set up individually. There's no need for a motion.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I just want to say that I think we're in agreement in the sense that we all agree that Zone 6 Police Station is in a deplorable condition. I'll defer to the President as to how best to get a response from Engineering and Construction on why that police station in particular is not moving forward.

The Zone 5 situation I'm not as familiar with, but with respect to Zone 6, I agree. It's really in a terrible condition and we have to move forward.

So, let's just take one action first and find out from Engineering and Construction what the situation is and then move forward on that.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. President, when we speak of No. 6 in returns to No. 5, I kind of cross there with Councilman Cohen because, as you know, the Department of Public Safety is using the old firehouse in my district at the corner of Line and Penn Avenue.

This past week, to make it aware to my colleagues on Council, I have been meeting with the North Point Breeze Coalition and other coalition groups in that particular area.

So, I would be very pleased if whatever is going to be put in that letter, let's talk about No. 5, all stations, especially the firehouse that they're using there on Penn Avenue and Line.

The Chair:

This letter pertains to No. 5 and No. 6.

All those in favor? Opposed?

Michelle Madoff:

Opposed.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to make a request that tomorrow we have a post agenda to address the monies that this Council voted for for all the fire stations and all the police stations, to find out the status and where we're going and how we're going for it because I think Mr. Darkins makes a very valid point. When we address 6, what happens to 5? When we address 5, what happens to 4? Let's find out and let's have it accessible to the media to find out what's really happening.

The Chair:

Fine. The post agenda will be held tomorrow.

Michelle Madoff:

On another item. May I make a request that we televise the cigarette vending machine hearing because there seems to be a tremendous amount of interest in it and I think it should be televised.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

On another matter. I've been a little slow in getting it ready, but Mike Perry and I talked before this whole issue, and I must say I got the concept from looking at what happened with the School Board, the issue of the personal credits, Frequent Flyer Credits. We were going to introduce, and I did have prepared by Mr. Perry, something to address the issue.

Well, as you know, if you've been following what's happening in the media, there seems to be some confusion about what is correct and what is legal and what is permissible and what is not permissible.

I found it interesting that in an article in the Post Gazette, June 16th, it is reported that a fact of the Commission may weigh in airline rules typically the airlines award credit only to the person actually traveling, not to a company or organization, not matter who pays the trip.

And then it goes on in another paragraph to say, "School Board President Barbara Burns suggested that if the Commission ruled that individuals may not use the ticket, perhaps they could continue to earn credits but use them only for future school business trips.

I've spoken to Ben Hayllar or Mr. Turner, I'm not just sure which, the financial people of the City, and they seem to be very supportive of our not letting individuals use their frequent flyer credits. According to the Budget Office, the information we have is that close to $200,000 a year is spent on trips and therefore Frequent Flyer points would be earned.

So, the way we might address it is either, according to Mr. Hayllar, is to create an arrangement with a travel agent where we book all our flights through the one travel agent and they in turn would give us back the credits. Again, of course, we run into the issue of can you give it back to an entity. Perhaps they could keep the credits and then we would book in the future for any other trips. In other words, if a member of the City flies, they book through the one agency, the Frequent Flyer credits are held by that agency, albeit in somebody's name, and the next time somebody flies, we use it.

Because of the restrictions of it perhaps belonging to an individual, I would like to urge the Administration to speak to US Air that basically has a lock on the airport, and whatever other airline there is, and there is an office -- I was looking in this article, it isn't listed, but there is an article that lists the Frequent Flyer Administration, I'm not sure what city they're out of, to speak to them about allowing us to keep these points intact to let City members use the same points without having to pay for more trips and not to use them on a personal basis.

So, I guess what we need to do, Mr. Perry, is to write a letter to the Administration requesting that, and I would like it to be a letter of Council and not just from Michelle Madoff, saying let's keep those points for future flights and asking US Air and the other airlines, through this one agency that represents all Frequent Flyer trips, to please allow us to do that. I make that a motion.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

I just want to say that I think that all Councilpeople should take a tour of the police stations and see the deplorable conditions that they're in. I think that we should get a van and we should go around to every police station.

If you saw the plaster hanging down and the lousy no-paint jobs and the stinky conditions of our police stations, I don't even know who in the hell would want to work in there. Police are supposed to be tough because they take on tough situations and come in upon the worst incidents and people, and I'll tell you, I don't know how they work in there.

I think the morale of the Police Department is down and I think that one way we could really up the morale is to at least give them a fresh paint job. At least make them feel like regular citizens in there working.

The Chair:

An excellent idea, Mr. Regan.

Mr. Perry, would you schedule a tour of the six police stations within the next two weeks? Thank you.

Michelle Madoff moved to excuse Mr. Ferlo for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Coyne moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, June 19, 1990.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Michelle Madoff

Council adjourned.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Coyne presents

No. 1047 WHEREAS, the Three Rivers Center for Independent Living was established in 1980 as a grant-funded program under the Harmarville Rehabilitation Center; and

WHEREAS, in 1983, with less than a handful of staff and an operating budget of less than $75,000, the Three Rivers Center for Independent Living was incorporated as a non-profit corporation and began providing services to persons with disabilities throughout the area; and

WHEREAS, the mission of the Three Rivers Center for Independent Living is to promote independent living in Southwestern Pennsylvania for and by individuals with disabilities, to enable them to take control of their lives, to make decisions about themselves and their future, to ensure that the necessary support services are available to enable them to work in and be accepted by their communities, and to prevent unnecessary institutionalization; and

WHEREAS, last year the Three Rivers Center for Independent Living provided services to more than 1,600 individuals with disabilities to enable them to live independent lives in the community.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby acknowledge the tenth anniversary of the operations of the Three Rivers Center for Independent Living and proclaims July 6, 1990 as Three Rivers Center for Independent Living Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Coyne moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Coyne:

With me today is Bill Christner from the Three Rivers Center and he would like to say a few words.

Mr. Christner:

On behalf of the Three Rivers Center for Independent Living and all the people with disabilities who we serve, I would like to thank City Council for passing this resolution.

In the last ten years, Three Rivers Center for Independent Living has come a long way and so have people with disabilities.

I have to commend City Council. About six months ago, you passed a resolution supporting the Americans with Disabilities Act and, unfortunately, it's still not through final passage in the House of Representatives and the United States Senate, but the President has agreed to sign it as soon as it is.

You also had us come and take a look at City Council and the City County Building to see what could be done to make things more accessible. I'm glad to say that you have made some improvements and added an extra parking spot out front. But when people drove up to use it this morning, there was a City Department Water truck out there and a police car. We have the police car license plate number but I don't think it matters anymore because someone told me that another police officer was writing a ticket for the first police car.

I do have a couple of things to ask City Council's help on in the future. As I said, there is still a long way to go. One thing I'd like to ask your help on is, by now I'm sure you know that the Port Authority Transit System is buying 120 new lift-equipped buses, and I'd like to have City Council work with the Port Authority or oversee the Public Works Department to make sure that intersection curb cuts are installed along the routes where these buses will be put into service.

Secondly, I'd like City Council's help in implementing a policy of respectful language usage concerning people who have disabilities. The old adage that "sticks and stone may break my bones, but words will never hurt me" is not a truism. Language usage is very important in shaping attitudes and subsequently behaviors. The Americans with Disabilities Act can help to control discriminatory behavior but we need City Council's help in using appropriate respectful language. We don't use terms like, "the weaker sex" or other derogatory terms for other minority groups. It's not going to take much to recall the "hunky" steelworker incident of just a few weeks ago. We, as people with disabilities, would expect similar respect when using written or verbal communications and I'd like City Council's help.

I brought some pamphlets to help you understand what we mean but respectful language. Michael, if I can give these to you to give to Members of City Council. If you could work with the Mayor's Office in implementing policies of respectful language, it will help a great deal to help integrate people with disabilities into the community.

Language, demeaning and devaluing language, helps to promote the stereotypes of dependency, passivity, helplessness and pity. And respectful language helps to bring to the forefront the fact that people with disabilities are responsible, productive, contributing members of their community. We're asking for your help in doing that. We're asking for you not to use stereotypic terms like the blind or the handicapped or the disabled, or using descriptors or conditions as adjectives like "blind people" or "deaf people". We would like you to use "people first" language, "people with disabilities" or "people who have hearing impairments" and so forth.

So, it would be very helpful and very easy, I think, to use or adopt a policy of respectful language.

The third thing that I'd like to have some help with is helping to oversee that all of the City's services and resources are available to people with disabilities, as the ADA passes. We'd like your help in making sure that housing opportunities and employment opportunities in the public and private sector are open to people with disabilities, which has not always been the case in the past. And even today, discriminatory practices and behaviors occur all the time. With City Council's help and oversight, I'm sure that we could do away with that.

We're really most appreciative. I just want to say thank you very much for that certificate and recognizing how far people with disabilities have come, how far Three Rivers Center for Independent Living has come, but to remember that there's still a long way to go. Thank you very much.

Mr. Darkins, Mr. Ricciardi and Mr. Cohen present

No. 1048 WHEREAS, the Pittsburgh Center for the Arts, originally known as the Arts and Crafts Center of Pittsburgh, was founded in 1945; and

WHEREAS, on June 24, 1990, a dedication ceremony was held to officially mark the completion of renovations to the Center and to thank friends and supporters; and

WHEREAS, the Pittsburgh Center for the Arts is the largest of its kind in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, the Center has enriched the lives of more than 150,000 women, men and children from ages three to eighty; and

WHEREAS, the Center accommodates nearly 4,000 students in their pursuit of the visual, performing and creative arts; and

WHEREAS, the Center serves as a gallery where regional and national artists can showcase their works; and

WHEREAS, 1990 marks the forty-sixth year that the Pittsburgh Center for the Arts has provided opportunities for artists, students and art lovers to learn and develop an appreciation for and of the arts.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby salutes the Pittsburgh Center for the Arts for its steadfast dedication to carry out its mission to foster an appreciation of and to encourage a participation in the arts among all citizens of the tri-state area.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

This is an unusual day today to my colleagues on Council, Mr. President, because we had asked that Mr. Ricciardi and also Dan Cohen would join us in this resolution.

We have here today to receive this resolution JoAnne Wilson. She's the President of the Board of Trustees. She'll be accepting this at this time.

Ms. Wilson:

I'd just like to say on behalf of the Board of Trustees of the Pittsburgh Center for the Arts and the staff, our sincere thanks to the Council for the initial $800,000 that you gave to us which we really appreciate.

This really started our campaign program which we worked on for a year and raised $4,700,000 to restore the three buildings which you so kindly have let us use for 45 years.

I think that those who have not seen them would be very proud and very thrilled. They are really a beautiful addition keeping up with the Downtown of Pittsburgh.

We sincerely thank you for all your help. You've helped indirectly 1,500 artists and many thousands of students that use our school. So, on behalf of the Board and the staff and everyone else, we sincerely thank the City of Pittsburgh. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

I just want to thank the representative from the Board and say, not only congratulations but I hope that you appreciate, as I do, that you have blazed the way, so to speak, for a very unique arrangement. We have a similar kind of issue that Council will deal with in the future regarding the King Estate. I think what you've done is enable us to find new and creative ways to deal with some of the concerns that we have and maintain some of the beautiful facilities. So, I just want to say thank you and thank you for blazing the trail.

Ms. Willson:

Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like Reverend Upsher and some of the representatives to come forward.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1049 WHEREAS, the Pittsburgh Charity, Greater Love Outreach, has faithfully dedicated its resources to aiding the hungry, the helpless and the homeless in our City, and to assisting the distressed with food and counseling and support; and

WHEREAS, Greater Love Outreach Ministry and Charity have dedicated their total resources to helping young pregnant mothers in distress, and to persons humbled by the throes of drugs and alcohol abuse; and

WHEREAS, Greater Love Outreach has sought to remain a 24 hour crisis intervention hotline for our City's needy and uprooted; and

WHEREAS, this evening, the following individuals will receive an appreciation award for their charitable donations of both time and funding for Greater Love Outreach: Julie Dillenburger, Nancy Henne, Jack Henne, Rose Longo, Eugene Morgan, Paul Patterson, Pastor Jay Passavant, Connie Long, Roy Twyman, Linda Smith, Father Don Nally, Paul McMurdy, Reverend John Golden, Jacqueline Terry, Beverly Porter, Mr. and Mrs. James Freeman, Katherine Scott, Bill Donahue, Jim Fitzgerald, Judith Marlow, Doris Davis, Russ Bixler and Cornerstone T.V., Richard Demus, Catherine Scott, Doris Davis, James Henry and Grace King.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby proclaims the day of July 3, 1990 as "Greater Love Outreach Day" in this great City of Pittsburgh and hereby extends continued success in this and all other charitable undertakings.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you very much. I'm very honored that some of the representatives and honorees are here this morning. Some of them were not able to make it. I'd like to introduce Reverend Upshur to say some words. Thank you.

Reverend Upshur:

Thank you, Mr. Fero and City Councilmembers. We appreciate the resolution that you made on behalf of Greater Love Outreach. We receive it on behalf of all of our supporters and our donors.

And we would say that we want to encourage Members of City Council to continue to pursue excellence in helping to obtain that No. 1 status again for the City of Pittsburgh. They already have housing, employment, medicine and, of course, bringing homelessness to a minimum, hunger to a minimum as well. Thank you so much again. God bless each one of you.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Chairman, I'd just like it noted in the Records of Council that the Reverend and Mrs. Upshur have been in this type of program for the past 35 years and I've known them. It's nothing new what they've been doing. They've been doing it for 35 years. They've been feeding the hungry, clothing the naked, and supporting the poor. We're so glad that Mr. Ferlo took out the time to have this resolution drawn up for their organization.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to ask some of the representatives from the Black Workers for Justice Organization to come forward, as well as the Coalition of Black Trade Unionists and I think some other local union representatives from the Hospital Workers for the following resolution.

We have with us also a representative from the city workforce in Durham, North Carolina, a representative from Local 1194.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1050 WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh has such a deep-rooted history of trade unionism that it has often been referred to as "the cradle of the American labor movement"; and

WHEREAS, the well-being of working people is vital for the well-being of our City, and the well-being of working people is advanced by strong, democratic unions; and

WHEREAS, organizing such unions in the South has long been a declared goal of the labor movement, civil rights organizations and the African American community; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. explained in 1965 that "the widespread, deeply rooted Negro poverty in the South weakens the wage scale for White as well as the Negro" and that "a low wage structure in the South becomes a heavy pressure on higher wages in the North"; and

WHEREAS, Black Workers for Justice, a North Carolina-based organization dedicated to the realization of Dr. King's vision, is working to advance the cause of organized labor in the South; and

WHEREAS, a tour of working men and working women from that organization is visiting Pittsburgh from July 1st to July 7th to learn from the labor movement here while at the same time educating working people, trade unionists, religious and community activists and concerned citizens of the Pittsburgh area about the conditions of unorganized labor in the South.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that we warmly welcome these guests to our City, wish them well in their efforts, and encourage our citizens to give serious consideration to their message; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that July 1st to July 7th be declared "A Week of Solidarity with Southern Labor Organizing" and that July 3rd be declared "Black Workers for Justice Day".

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you very much. I'd like one of the representatives to come forward and she is from the city workforce down in Durham. She's Vice President of the American Federation of State County Municipal Employees Local 1194, Nathanette Mayo. I'd like to have her say some words.

Ms. Mayo:

We'd like to thank the City Council for this proclamation. We're very excited about getting it, that's why we came up early and had to go back and sit down. But this is very exciting to us.

As he said, a lot of the workers in North Carolina, roughly 6 percent of the workers in North Carolina, are unionized and, although I am a member of the Durham City Workers' Union, the American Federal of State County Municipal Employees Local 1194, because of the laws in North Carolina, we are an employment at will state. No collective bargaining for public employees. We have no contract. We do not have a Memorandum of Understanding either so it's very difficult to do organizing in the state.

So, the Black Workers for Justice is very instrumental and very helpful with trying to organize workers in workplaces around the state, particularly in the eastern and central part of the state, around concerns that they have on the jobs and getting people familiarized with what unions are all about and just laying the groundwork for unionization in the future.

We're here on the solidarity tour to let workers in the North and the Mid-west know about what's going on in the South. Some of the conditions that workers face there, people cannot believe that things are going on like that. People working in plants for 10 and 12 or 15 years and still making $4 an hour. No health and safety regulations on the books. Some of the conditions are just unbelievable and workers are here trying to get that message of solidarity across.

And we're also letting people in the North realize too that all of the companies that are leaving here are running to North Carolina or running to the South because of the low wages there, because governments, municipalities, give them free land, no taxes, free water, free whatever they want just to come there, with the promise that there are no unions there so you can treat the workers as you will. So, this is why we're here today, to build up the connection between workers here.

U.S. Steel recently opened up plants in North Carolina. A lot of the auto plants are breaking up and coming to North Carolina and producing mirrors here, brakes here, just pieces of cars and then finally it comes back and gets put together. But a lot of the plants that are moving from the North are coming there and the service industry is also growing big. The Research Triangle Park now is the largest research and development facility in the nation. It's taken the place of Silicon Valley and that's in the central part of North Carolina.

So, these are just some of the issues that workers are faced with, communities are faced with, and we're very glad to receive this from you and we ask that you continue to support the workers in the South and encourage trade unions here to come South and help to organize workers there. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, may I ask a question, please? Isn't Research Triangle Square where EPA is centered for their environmental thing for the nation?

Ms. Mayo:

They have a huge facility.

Michelle Madoff:

I know. I've been there. Maybe they ought to set an example by not being in a state that encourages the kind of activity that you're talking about. It's a disgrace. We ought to be talking to the federal government about that kind of thing.

Ms. Mayo:

The community that I refer to is right outside the Research Triangle Park. We were contaminated by a company that was located near. They contaminated all the well water supply in the community and we've had a real struggle.

Michelle Madoff:

Call me. I'll help you on that one.

Mr. Milllones:

May I also say that we would not want you to leave Pittsburgh with the conception that this is a good labor town with respect to how Blacks and minorities are treated. We have a very difficult problem here in Pittsburgh, particularly with Blacks and women in the construction trades. We have a real problem. So, I would not want you to leave thinking that this really is the cradle of equity because it is not.

Ms. Mayo:

We feel that we can learn from each other.

Michelle Madoff:

There's strength in numbers.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

No. 1051 WHEREAS, on June 30, 1990, Michael Kutarna will retire from his position as Steward of the John Kollar Slovak Literary Society; and

WHEREAS, Michael Kutarna has served as Steward of the John Kollar Slovak Literary Society for over three decades - a total of 31 years; and

WHEREAS, Michael Kutarna's devotion and loyalty have contributed to the growth and vitality of the Society; and

WHEREAS, the skills and knowledge gained by Michael during his tenure as Steward will be difficult to replace.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby recognize and congratulate Michael Kutarna on his retirement as Steward of the John Kollar Slovak Literary Society, and extends a wish for good health and success in all his future endeavors.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

The next resolution will be presented to the Karen Tobias Dance Company. I'd like everyone to please step forward, all the members and representatives. I'm very proud to present this resolution.

The Chair presents

No. 1052 WHEREAS, the Karen Tobias Dance Company has been chosen to represent the United States in the 1990 Australian Festival of the Performing Arts; and

WHEREAS, the Selection Committee for the competition from Grandville, Michigan chose the Tobias Dance Company as the United States representative after seeking out only those performing groups which clearly demonstrated a level of talent and ability consistent with generally accepted standards for excellence in their field; and

WHEREAS, the group will participate in this cultural exchange program from July 8th through July 22nd and will have major performances in the cities of Brisbane, Cairns, Port Douglas and Sydney; and

WHEREAS, the performers that make up the Karen Tobias Dance Company are: Julie Rucinski, Jodie Bender, Genalle Passanante, Jill Randolph, Lauren Machajewski, Michael Tobias, Angie Kurtz, Nicole Lankes, Beth Randolph, Randy Tobias, Tata McNulty, Toni Contestable, Jennifer Speranza, Jennifer Gruber, Lori Baumgarten, Chris Tobias, Melissa George, Mindy Dolinski, Heather Kessler, Kirsten See Miller and Shannon Gilg.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby congratulates the Karen Tobias Dance Company on being selected to represent the United States in the 1990 Australian Festival of the Performing Arts and wishes them well in their trip to "The Land Down Under"; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council commends Karen and John Tobias, the parents, friends and relatives of the performers and the performers for their dedication, efforts and hard work that went into making this once in a lifetime trip a reality.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

We are very proud from the City of Pittsburgh that all of you are representing this country going to Australia. As was indicated, it is the only group from America and for all of you it's a once in a lifetime opportunity. It's a couple weeks and I'm sure you're going to have a fantastic time.

In the process, they are trying to raise some monies. I understand they have to raise over $50,000 for the trip and in addition to complimenting them and congratulating them with this resolution, obviously it's broadcast on the cable channel and anyone who would have the opportunity to contribute to the group for the trip, they could do that. They have to raise the money themselves for the trip.

I ask Patty Kurtz, the parent representative, to please step forward and say a few words. Patty, maybe you could give a little further information in regard to that. Patty is going to say a few words and also Mindy Dolinski, one of the performers is also.

Ms. Kurtz:

Thank you. First of all, on behalf of the Karen Tobias Dance Company, the parents and the dancers, we're very proud and we thank you for this resolution.

As representatives of this City and of this Country, we will take warm feelings and acknowledgment to the cities and we just would like to thank you very much.

They're very excited about going. This is a wonderful opportunity. We're going to be presenting plaques to the various mayors in the Australian cities. So, it's just a very exciting opportunity. Thank you.

Ms. Dolinski:

On behalf of all the dancers, we'd like to thank Mr. Wagner and City Council for this resolution.

We've been together for five years and last summer we went to Boston and we thought that was the greatest thing. But going to Australia, we're really excited to go and we hope we make everyone in Pittsburgh very proud of us. Thank you.

The Chair:

I'm sure they'll represent the U.S. well.

The next resolution I'd like to present to the Canevin High School girls' softball team and I'd like all of those members and coaches to please step forward to receive it.

Prior to the Council meeting we took a photo outside and myself and Mr. Jacoby, the coach, were standing in the rear and obviously we were lost in the photo.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to know what kind of vitamins they're taking.

The Chair presents

No. 1053 WHEREAS, on June 15, 1990, the Canevin High School Girls' Softball Team competed in the State Girls' AA Championship game against Bristol High School; and

WHEREAS, because of their outstanding record of 26 wins and only 1 loss along with their acquisition of the PIAA District VII Title, the Canevin Crusaders are deserving recipients of this award; and

WHEREAS, the members of the Canevin Crusaders Softball Team that have achieved this goal are: Jessica Jones, Karen Seitz, Emily Farkas, Diana Zappa, Melynnie Tumnskie, Tracy Perfetti, Colleen Behr, Carrie Jacoby, Nikki Morabito, Stacey Geyer, Michele Cercone, Alissa Noel, Jeni Lynch, Jen Lucot, Beth Nagy and Angela Petrone; and

WHEREAS, the Crusaders, through their hard work and outstanding team play, have brought honor not only to themselves and their school but also to the City of Pittsburgh.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of Pittsburgh City Council hereby congratulate the Canevin "Crusaders" Softball Team, Head Coach and Athletic Director Bob Jacoby and the Assistant Coaches Tim Fazio and Jeff Barrick on their brilliant regular and post season play; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Council also wishes to commend Principal John Maurer and the entire administration and faculty for their crucial support in making these girls true champions.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

As everyone is aware, Canevin is one of the major Catholic High Schools in the City of Pittsburgh. Many of these young ladies, I grew up with their parents, actually, and there are many familiar names in here for me and I'm very proud to present this resolution. And we want all of you to know that the City of Pittsburgh is also very proud of your athletic accomplishments and also your accomplishments in school and education. Hopefully, we want you to go on and achieve greater things, not only in athletics but also in education.

I'd also like to thank Lefty Behr, who many people here may know is an employee and supervisor in Public Works, that recommended that I present this resolution.

I would now like to ask Mr. Bob Jacoby, the head coach, to please come up and say a few words.

Mr. Regan:

Northsider.

Mr. Jacoby:

Thank you. I'll remember my roots.

On behalf of Canevin Catholic High School, the administration, the faculty and the students, and most of all the girls' softball team, we'd like to thank City Council for honoring us today.

The success we had this past season just didn't start this year. Most of these girls played in the recreation leagues around the City of Pittsburgh for the past 10 or 12 years and they gained a great deal of knowledge of the game, the skills and the sportsmanship.

We would like to thank the City of Pittsburgh for providing the facilities through Parks and Recreation and through Public Works so that the girls could continue to play into high school.

We have 7 seniors this year. All 7 seniors are going on to college and we're very proud of that. We're very proud of the accomplishments that they had this past year.

Again, thank you for having us here.

I'd like Nikki Morabito representing the team to say a few words.

Ms. Morabito:

On behalf of Mr. Jacoby and the coaches and the softball team, we'd like to thank City Council for taking time out to recognize the great achievements we've accomplished this year.

Mr. Ricciardi:

On Bill 951, I'd like my comments to be brought forward from last week.

I just want to thank Michelle for the legislation and I would like my comments brought forward also.

Mr. Cohen:

I, too, would like my remarks on Bill 951 to be brought forward for the Record and I'd like to congratulate Councilwoman Madoff on this bill. I think it's a good bill and I think that morality should be a factor in investment decisions by public bodies and I think that's what this does.

Michelle Madoff:

Bring my comments forward also, please.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MESSRS. RICCIARDI, FERLO AND COHEN AND MICHELLE MADOFF'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 951, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27, 1990)

Michelle Madoff:

Discussion. My efficient staff obtained from Massachusetts the Tobacco Divestment Project and I'm not going to spend all this time reading all of it to you but I want to tell you but I want to take a couple of excerpts that I think should be of interest and everybody got a copy.

You may not have had the time to read it all but I think some of the issues are very important and here are some of the quotes.

"The Tobacco Divestment Project champions a single, simple proposition. We should not profit from tobacco addiction.

No individuals or private organization should profit from tobacco addiction. It is totally unconscionable for non-profit and public groups to invest in the leading, preventable cause of death in America.

Life and health insurers should no longer compromise a commitment to the well being of their policyholders by investing in products which shorten life and destroy health.

States and municipalities which bear the brunt of tobacco's true cost in runaway health care and insurance costs should set the moral example that business as usual, profits before health cannot continue."

What reasons lay behind the call for divestment? This is one of many organizations and universities and so on that have gone into divestiture.

Tobacco use is a leading preventable cause of death and disease in this country claiming over 390,000 American lives last year. Tobacco use over taxes our health care system and drives the cost of health insurance to such staggering heights that it places a higher cost and reduce productivity upon industry. All this is true and horrific but the most shocking and tragic aspect of this crisis is that it continues unabated. Everyday 3,000 teenagers start smoking. Our health education curriculum are not able to overcome the curiosity of the young, especially when their elders smoke and when cigarettes are promoted in the magazines they read and displayed on billboards, especially when cigarette companies sponsor rock concerts and place their symbols on beach blankets, T-shirts and posters. Still, the number of smokers is declining and if you saw in this morning's paper, I'm asking that we divest from Phillip Morris is now going to diversify out of the tobacco business and they should because they're losing millions of customers.

If we own the stocks and bonds of tobacco companies, we are endorsing the aggressive, predatory marketing practices of tobacco executives who seek to replenish their dwindling customer base by enticing new smokers. Children, minorities and young women in particular with a 3.28 billion domestic marketing budget.

I could go on and on and give you more stats but I think I've made my point and I think they make it quite eloquently. This is Massachusetts that has diversified.

And to tell you that I am being very responsible, before I brought it to this Council, I went down and spoke to Ben Hayllar and I went to Mr. Turner in the Budget Office and I looked at the numbers and then I went to Mr. Hayllar and said, "Look, I'm going to introduce this" and they said they had no problem with it and the dollars we're talking about are minimal. We are talking about $55,000.00 out of multi-millions of dollars invested in -- as Mr. Hayllar told you -- it is not city tax dollars, it's the pension money that's invested. But if we don't take a stand, the cost to the community -- we have children born prematurely, children who are dying of AIDS. How do we know that the parents who are smoking, the young kids that are smoking is not the cause of this so we put money into something to treat the disease and we could prevent it so I plead with you, if you care about the country, the kids are our biggest assets. Let's not have these 390,000 kids a year replace the adults who are dying off. I ask you please to vote as a symbol that we take the lead. Let's not be followers, let's be leaders and let's take the lead and say let's divest, let's respectfully ask the Pension Fund to please divest themselves of this paltry $55,000.00 and tobacco stock.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think this bill should be supported. I think it's a progressive and a creative approach to a problem that we have in our society. I don't believe that we can dictate the activities of young people but I do think we can make a strong statement with the resources and the monies and the finances that we have in city government. We've done that on other issues, albeit to some and including myself possibly more reaching. We did it in the situation of our monies being utilized in investments in South Africa and at that time I'll remind Council that legislation specifically prohibited city monies being invested and included in that bill, depositories which I don't know if this bill exactly covers. This bill may not explicitly direct the Super Pension Board regarding their pension investment policies but I think it's important that we make a statement and hopefully the Administration will be supportive in signing this and hopefully since together Council and the Administration represent a majority viewpoint on the Pension Board , we would then in effect direct the change of investment policies at the investment level, so I wholeheartedly support this legislation. I think it's a step forward.

Mr. Ricciardi:

First, I would like to state for the record that I am not a smoker and as a matter of fact I ask my friends not to smoke in my office, car or house. But I oppose this bill because I think this is just nothing but a smokescreen in order to gut the tobacco industry and also to stop people from smoking in society and I don't think that's the way it should be done. It should be done through education and this bill, all it tries to do is dictate that people do not smoke something but tobacco is legal in our society and that is not the way to stop people from smoking so I oppose this bill.

Mr. Cohen:

I support this bill because I think that moral concerns should be a factor in our public investment strategy and that is certainly true in the case of South Africa and I think that it could be true here.

I'm glad to see that we amended the bill to recommend as opposed to try to force the Pension Board because obviously we don't have the authority to tell the Pension Board what to do but simply to recommend to them.

Also, I'm glad to hear from Director Hayllar that this will not damage the Pension Board's investment portfolio.

I think that this bill does not restrict people's right to smoke. Everybody has a right to smoke and those people who want to do it should go ahead and do it. What this bill does say is that the City shouldn't support an industry that produces a product that is hazardous to people's health so I want that to be clear. This bill does not restrict anybody's right. I think all of us here believe that people should have the freedom to smoke if they want to as long as they have enough information about what the hazards of smoking are. What this bill does say is that the City should not support an industry that produces a product that's dangerous to people's health and that's why I support it.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 951, if the vote holds today, final vote, we will be the first City Council in the United States to set an example of asking for divestiture of funds to be spent on coffin nails, on cancer sticks, so that we will set an example of what is morally and ethically correct.

And I urge my colleagues, those who haven't, to vote in favor of this bill, to rethink it. I think it is the correct thing. It is a cost effective bill because it saves us a lot of money in tax dollars that have to be spent to help those who are afflicted by smoking. So, I would ask you please to reconsider your votes gentlemen.

Mr. Ferlo:

I do have concerns. Again, I will reiterate my concerns on Bill 956 and 957. I'd like my comments brought forward. This is on the notion, well-intentioned, to create a property tax reduction trust fund. I just want to state very clearly that this legislation, as far as I'm concerned, is not only a scam but is actually a cruel hoax on elderly property owners and I think it's irresponsible for us to pass this. If we want to seriously reduce property taxes, then we have to do that. And that's through the budget debate and that's by reordering whatever the expenditures are and whatever the tax policies are of the City, and that should happen in November or December.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGE)

(BEGINNING - MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 956, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 27, 1990)

Mr. Ferlo:

However well intentioned this bill is, it would represent a placebo and not a tax policy. The appropriate time to deal with the difficult issue of the property tax is during the November/December budget review and consideration. This Council this past year with the Administration took a somewhat radical step forward changing the mix of taxes with the strategic goal of lowering the wage tax. That was a policy that I supported but that's something that has to be debated during the budget policies.

If we want to have a meaningful impact on the issue of property taxes, that's something that individual Councilmembers with the Administration have to vote on before we approve the final budget for 1991. It's a difficult decision and that is part of our job here in city government is making difficult decisions.

One of the outcomes of that decision in December was a commitment by the Administration to work in two areas. One, on the issue of the gentrification bill and implementing the policy which they did proceed in doing with the County Commissioners so that those older property owners on fixed incomes in certain areas would be able to avail themselves of certain considerations due to the so-called gentrification bill that passed a couple years ago.

Secondly, I believe I heard a commitment from the Mayor and the Director and others at the advice of Michelle and others that there would be a lobbying effort in Harrisburg on some tax reform considerations that would allow us to single out older property owners for some fair consideration of the burden that our increased property tax represents to them. So what we need is a systemic reform in our tax policies and this bill, however well intentioned does not address that. If you can't take the heat, get out of the kitchen. These are the decisions that we have to make and nobody likes to talk about taxes. We took a stand and we have to follow through on it this year and I encourage the bill to be tabled until such time that we have the budget hearings at the end of the year and that we come out with a tax policy. If a majority of Council wants to raise revenues by increasing wages of some other sources and decreasing property, that's something that can be debated and voted on at the end of the year.

Mr. President, may I clarify something? At one point I requested an ethics opinion on exactly this item, what we were supposed to vote on and what we're not supposed to vote on. I believe we have it somewhere in our files and I'll pull it for you, but as long as what we vote on here does not impact on the corporation in any way, you're allowed to vote as an individual. Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, I'd ask your pleasure as to this bill. I have not read this legal memo from the Solicitor and I'm wondering if this bill could be recommitted or are we voting on it today.

The Chair:

It's my intent to vote on the bill. We have had a request for a public hearing on the legislation which came in yesterday.

Mr. Ferlo:

I wasn't really addressing the public hearing, but there is substance to some of the concerns raised by the Solicitor. I support the intent of the bill but if we have to vote on it today I respectfully indicate that I will have to abstain on the bill.

The Chair:

I haven't seen it either. I spoke with the Solicitor yesterday but I have not seen it.

Michelle Madoff:

What are the concerns?

Mr. Ferlo:

I don't think it's appropriate for me to address the concerns. I think it's appropriate for the Solicitor to indicate to Council in writing, as we requested, so we can all benefit from the information.

Michelle Madoff:

You can always amend the bill.

The Chair:

It's my intent, if there's any part of this legislation that should not fall under the purview of City government --

Mr. Ferlo:

The substance of the Solicitor's concern, which was questions that we raised initially, was the pre-emption issue. Originally, as Mr. Chairman, you raised yourself, the issue of the enforcement on the alcoholic consumption issue and you raised the issue of the state superseding our pre-empting local interference with that, there are other pre-emption issues that have been raised by the Solicitor and she still hasn't addressed the liability issue, which I requested, which she is preparing a memo on.

I'm in favor of it but I'll abstain if it gets voted on today.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, even though we received a letter requesting a public hearing, you're still intending to go forward with this?

The Chair:

Yes, but I intend to have a public hearing on the legislation and would amend the legislation at a later time if the appropriate people come up with appropriate amendments. I have deferred regularly to our head of River Safety Operations in the City of Pittsburgh for opinions in regards to suggestions.

Mr. Coyne:

And we have requested from the Law Department clarification, correct?

Mr. Perry:

Yes, we did.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it's a superb bill. It only enhances the safety and public welfare of the people. I think we ought to proceed with it. If there is the concept of pre-emption, it occurs to me that we run into this all the time. When the Federal laws say that we should have clean air and it isn't strong enough for the States, the States make them tougher, and then the County says it isn't tough enough and then the County makes it tougher. I resent this constant stopping us from being progressive by saying, "Well, it's pre-emption of the State." There's no reason why we cannot protect our citizens because we care enough to protect them. I think it's a super bill, Jack, and we ought to support your bill.

The Chair:

If I may just briefly summarize. There is a question of pre-emption and superseding the City. In the area with alcohol consumption in boats, there is a law on the books at the State level. The other areas that have been addressed in the legislation, there is not a law on the books covering those areas.

I would prefer that a State law be passed including the items that are in this legislation and therefore there would be no need for City government to have such a bill. This issue has been in Harrisburg for years and nothing has happened.

If there is a question on whether or not the State supersedes us, that is a valid question. However, I would hope that all of you would support me on it because we are legally liable for going out there and rescuing people on the rivers. Therefore, I think we should have some regulations by which we protect people. It's a life safety issue and if the State does not want to bite the bullet and deal with it, the City of Pittsburgh should.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, respectfully, I support the intent of the legislation. I applaud the fact that you've worked on this. And one way or the other, I think we need to move not only this year but into the future in amending the Municipal Code to deal with the new realities of our rivers in terms of enforcement and safety.

We can transfer the word pre-emption with enforcement. If, indeed, the Solicitor's opinion is that there is a substantial pre-emption issue, then in fact, other than what we're doing here today as an advocacy statement, in fact we will not be able to enforce because of the pre-emption issue, the very law that we're hoping to achieve.

I'd still like clarification on that and for that reason I will abstain.

Secondly, I raise the issue of liability precisely because I'm concerned about the impact of this legislation. If we now say that we are indeed enforcing and taking control of the rivers, with that comes certain liabilities and it's that very liability issue that I would like the Administration to address, and secondly, to clarify the concern that you raised earlier, the incident we pointed to at the committee. The reason why we're responsible is because we took control of the situation involving police and river rescue.

This is a whole new ball game here and I think, for those reasons, even though I support the intent of the bill and I think we have to get a bill, I think we need some clarification from the Solicitor. So, respectfully, I will be abstaining.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. Wagner, I think that, as I said on Wednesday, this is a strong bill, one that fills a potentially dangerous gap in the law, and I want to congratulate you, Councilman Wagner, for it.

I don't, frankly, see the pre-emption issue because, if there is no law on the State books on the same issues that are addressed in this law, then there isn't pre-emption.

I think the one area that did involve pre-emption may have been the alcohol and substance abuse, and that has been taken out, to my knowledge. So, I don't see a pre-emption problem here.

I would look forward to seeing an opinion from the City Solicitor. Apparently some members of Council have and others haven't, but I think all of us should see what the City Solicitor's view is on this bill.

But, subject to that, I think it's a very strong bill and one that will increase safety on the rivers and I think we should vote for it.

Mr. Regan:

I think it's getting late into the summer and I think that we should put this bill into being. I think that any flaws in the bill we can amend, but I think that it's about time that we do have legislation covering the people on the rivers, especially our young people who are not knowledgeable of boats and how dangerous they can be. Thank you.

The Chair:

Just briefly, again, it is the Corps of Engineers' responsibility to oversee the operation of the waterways in this country. In certain areas they have relinquished that responsibility in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Fish Commission. In certain areas they have not, such as the Flood Control Dam Projects, where they have instituted similar regulations within their jurisdiction. They have relinquished responsibility to the Fish Commission, but the Fish Commission will not relinquish any responsibility to local municipalities. At the same time, the Fish Commission will not implement regulations equal to that of the Corps of Engineers or what the municipalities would like to see.

They have really pushed us in a corner, with the City of Pittsburgh spending in excess of a half million dollars a year on river safety rescue and a new boat dock facility. At the same time, they want to share that facility with us at minimal cost.

The taxpayers with the City of Pittsburgh have been charged with the liability and responsibility of saving people in our waterways, and I don't know how we can relinquish, this legislative body, the responsibility of appropriate laws to give our personnel the authority to do that.

That's what this is suggesting. And, if for some reason, someone challenges it at a later time, and I doubt if the State will because it deals with basic safety issues then the appropriate charge they should have is to take this issue to Harrisburg and get Legislators to adopt it. There is the possibility that it could be challenged by an individual in a boat who was fined for not adhering to basic safety regulations. If that is the case, so be it. But I really think, as Mr. Regan indicated, that we will see tomorrow thousands of boats out on that river with no safety regulations and the potential of loss of life and serious accidents. And we, as a legislative body, have to do something about it.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Cohen presented

Bill No. 1046

Report of the Committee on Engineering and Construction for June 27, 1990 transmitting one resolution to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 885

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution further amending Resolution No. 353, effective 4/30/86, as amended by Resolution No. 203, effective 4/3/89, entitled, 'Providing for an Agreement or Agreements, or Supplement Agreement or Agreements, with a Consultant or Consultants for Design Services in connection with the Reconstruction of Arlington Avenue from East Carson Street to East Warrington Avenue; and providing for the payment of the costs thereof,' by amending the title to include Construction Inspection Services."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

I am casting a no vote on this legislation. I'm all for the project but I think it's going to turn out to be the same fiasco as Grant Street. The Romans built the Appian Way quicker than Grant Street is being built.

We should build Arlington and Warrington in one state. We should borrow the bond money if we have to. I think it's more cost effective. We should have a report on this. This project has consultantitis. This is an example of it and I just want to clarify why I'm voting no.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to agree with my colleague, Mr. Ferlo. This bill is an abomination. Unfortunately, or fortunately, it was the previous director and I would like to be sure that we're sending a message to the present director, Mr. Sciulli, who I think will do better, that he'd better clean up the act.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

(MR. FERLO AND MICHELLE MADOFF VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

On a couple of little items that I would like to bring to the attention of my colleagues. Number one, I want to report that I spoke to Mayor Masloff, not to be confused with Madoff, about the lighting of the bridges, about the adopt a bulb. The Mayor is adamant about not spending any City tax dollars, and I couldn't agree with her more.

I want to clarify the perception -- I'm getting all kinds of mail, all kinds of calls, all letters to the editor, about lighting the bridges. It was not this Council nor the Administration's intent to light any of the bridges. That was an activity sponsored by others in the County, on the County level. As you know, many of us went out to look at the flooding of the bridges by light, and I thought it was not the proper thing to do, and certainly not to spend half a million dollars just on the lighting and then half a million a year on the electrical costs.

I did not know the day we went out that they were going to light them with flood lights. I have subsequently learned that there was some pilfering and damage to the equipment, so I don't think it's a good idea for lots of reasons which I don't want to go into again.

What I had thought at the time was that they were going to light them, as they did the Smithfield Bridge, with the bulbs. There are bulbs now that will last 15 to 30 years. I've gotten correspondence from the manufacturers. The Smithfield Bridge is lit with 52 light bulbs. That's all. And at the time, I thought we ought to "as individuals" adopt a light bulb. The outpouring of interest if phenomenal, from groups, from people out of the State, people in California, people in Canada. People want to adopt a light bulb. People think it's a great idea to bring us together in pride and support of our community.

Again, I agree with the Administration. Not one red penny of tax dollars should be spent on lighting the bridges, but I would like to see them lit by people adopting a light bulb. And, as you know, I have $87 which I gave to Ben Haylar from people on the street who want to adopt a light bulb. We don't know what to do with the money and the Russians gave us the coin which I'm sure has some intrinsic value. It might be auctioned off to someone who would like to adopt a light bulb.

So, I do want to go on record. Please, it is not my intention to spend taxpayers' dollars, not penny one.

Next item. I would like to respectfully request from the Law Department a clarification on pre-emption. It is my understanding that you can pre-empt on so many issues to protect the public. That's what we were elected to do, and I'd like to have the clarification. Why we can, on the Clean Air Act, make our laws more restrictive and why we can't because it suits someone's convenience. What's the differentials? Why and when can we make laws more rigid, more stringent, and why can't we, under certain conditions.

I believe there are no conditions. If we had rampant accidents on the river and we wanted to do something to protect the safety of the people being pulled off banksides or on boats, we would have the right to protect our citizens. Maybe we need to do something on drugs as a separate and apart legislation in our communities that we wish to enact for whatever reasons.

I think it's imperative that we define when we're pre-empted and when we're not and when we can amend and ratify legislation or create legislation.

I'd like to have that in-depth, not in a hurry, but done and well thought out and brought back to all Members of Council.

One last item. My excellent staff, as a matter of fact, Sarah Meeks, happened to notice that we received, as all Councilmembers do from the City of Pittsburgh, notifications of bids for openings for competitive examinations on employment. She brought to my attention that the starting salary for a paramedic, and a paramedic as you know must take two years of training at their own expense, the starting salary is $8.42. A sweeper operator starts at $11.79.

I think before we get into budget hearings it might be again appropriate for us to meet with Melanie Smith and Michelle Cunko and find out how we can equalize and make things more equitable for jobs in keeping with the skills training and opportunities.

So, I would like to ask that we schedule a post agenda, sometime close to budget. I think we have too much happening now and we break in August. Maybe in September when we come back might be a good time.

The Chair:

It's a negotiated issue.

Michelle Madoff:

I think we need to be updated. And even though it's negotiated, maybe we ought to start from a higher base. The Administration needs to educate us as to why. There may be perfectly good reasons.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, since she did raise the paramedics, I did offer an amendment during the budget debates, and I will offer that again this year.

On the issue of recycling, there will be a post agenda with the appropriate City Administration officials, Ms. Rizutto and others, next Wednesday following the regular order of Council business.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Prior to adjournment, I would like to welcome Michelle Madoff's mom to Council, Ada Radzinsky.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President, I want you to know that I showed Michelle Madoff's mother where I told Michelle that I loved her in here. Just so she understands how affectionate we are towards her daughter.

Michelle Madoff:

Now if he only votes for my bills, I'll be happier.

Mr. Regan moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, June 26, 1990.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Michelle Madoff:

Point of Information. Is it appropriate at the time that the President of Council asks for Unfinished Business, to point out so that the department heads who have been requested to supply information and haven't done so, to say, "That's unfinished. We haven't received it yet." Might this not be a good time to send that message because, as you know, in the years you've been here, this has been a constant problem. I want to be sure that if we're going to reconsider the bill tomorrow on the "not to exceed" and "in excess of" legislation on over $10,000 or under $10,000, that the material we requested will be available to us before we reconsider that bill again.

The Chair:

Yes, it's appropriate.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you. Then I don't have to repeat what I've just said. But if the department heads are listening -- Maybe it would be appropriate, then, for the City Clerk to remind the person that the bill comes up tomorrow and, if they want it considered, we need that information.

The Chair:

Thank you.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Mr. Milliones presented

Bill No. 1063

Report of the Committee on Finance for July 3, 1990 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 953

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for agreements with Patrick Media Group, Inc., POA Company, Bloomfield-Garfield Corporation, the Bellefield Area Citizens Association and the Polish Hill Civic Association relative to settlement of certain litigation relating to billboards and construction of the Bloomfield Bridge, and providing for conveyances by the City of Pittsburgh of certain properties, and providing further for certain payments not to exceed $24,549.50."

Which was read.

Mr. Ricciardi:

On Bill No. 953 concerning the exchange agreement and the settlement agreement between the City of Pittsburgh, Patrick Media and the Pittsburgh Outdoor Advertising Company. I could truthfully say that after reviewing the exchange agreement, that there is something rotten in Denmark, that this exchange agreement stinks.

Number one, my initial concern was for the community in the Becks Run area in order to protect that community from the further expansion or construction of billboards. After listening to James Brown, our Chief Zoning Officer, he had said that no other billboards could be constructed on the Becks Run area. However, with further conversation with Mr. Brown during the day, he did admit to me that if a few of the smaller billboards were taken down, that would change the space requirement, then, in effect, allowing larger billboards, two-faced billboards, to be constructed.

My concern further was, I had more concern later after I spoke to a colleague of mine on City Council, and he mentioned that he had asked Patrick Media for a letter asking that until a zoning change occurs in that area, that they will no way change any structures on the land to be conveyed to them. That letter is not forthcoming. That should send a red flag up to this City Council.

Also, I met with the residents down at the Becks Run area and I was very surprised that they were more reasonable than I would be. Out of the land being given down to the Becks Run area, we're talking about three miles in the valley with a 50 foot width. All the residents down there asked for was 100 feet of that footage in order to save their community garden, their flag pole, and to allow two large billboards to be taken down. You can stand on people's porches and touch these billboards.

I asked our City Solicitor if she would contact Patrick Media to see if that could be put into the agreement. I, myself, contacted their legal counsel and that was turned down.

If I may say to my colleagues, that was my initial concern, the Becks Run community. But after reviewing this agreement, it has escalated. I think the whole agreement stinks. There's three agreements here we should be discussing.

If I could back up, this whole thing had started pitting neighborhoods against neighborhoods in this agreement when we had the reconstruction of the Bloomfield Bridge, when several buildings and billboards were taken down. Several of the billboards were taken by the City of Pittsburgh by eminent domain, and the billboard industry where just compensation was given. There was a contract for six other billboards between the City of Pittsburgh and Patrick Media to be reconstructed after the reconstruction of the Bloomfield Bridge.

July 2, 1987, Joseph Sabino Mistick, former Chairperson of the Zoning Board of Adjustment, ruled that contract zoning is illegal. That's when the City of Pittsburgh should have stopped. However, it just escalated from there.

The second agreement was between three neighborhood groups; the Garfield Corporation, the Polish Hill Citizens Council, and the Bellefield Area Citizens Association, allowing two billboards, which I believe are illegal, to stand near the Bloomfield Bridge on the Hill District.

The third agreement, which I considered a most complicated agreement, is the agreement before us. 17 points allowing the construction of 5 new billboards giving in excess of $24,000 to Patrick Media and POA, which is Pittsburgh Outdoor Advertising Company, transferring several large and small parcels of City-owned property, the issuance of building and occupancy permits and the granting of zoning variances governed by the Zoning Code.

There's so much more that we should discuss in this exchange agreement. Last week, and I will take some fault because I was so interested in the zoning changes for that district, 40 residents that should be protected by some of the deals and the blue suits that made up this agreement in Downtown Pittsburgh, that we never really questioned the agreement. We've had more discussion on spillage of paint in leased vans for $1,000 than we have had on this agreement. We've had more discussion on a parcel of land to be given to a shopping center in the South Side in order to let it expand than we have on this agreement.

I think we have to talk about a lot of things. For example, the Becks Run area. There hasn't been one dollar paid to the City of Pittsburgh in the form of any type of lease arrangement or rent. Why is that?

This agreement will also allow billboards to stand in "S" districts and "R2" districts, which is illegal by the Zoning Code. Why is that?

Have we given Patrick Media and POA just compensation? Maybe we have, but we have until August 19 to decide that factor. Judge Penkower has given the City of Pittsburgh, Patrick Media and the POA until August 19 to either sign or come back into court.

I believe we should resubmit this bill to Committee and use that time to have appropriate discussion on this bill.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'm not sure that I agree entirely with my colleague, Mr. Ricciardi, but I would like to make a motion to recommit the bill for further discussion.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

It seems to me, if memory serves me well, that in the past when we've had this kind of litigation on various matters, I think the one that comes to mind is the Pirates, and there may have been one on the Steelers, I don't recall, that Judge Cappy literally came to this court, to Council, and explained both sides of the issue and why he was negotiating the contract in the manner he was.

I think we need some input that really sort of cuts through all the information we've had and gets right down to the bottom line and says, "This is what it's about."

My understanding, Mr. Ricciardi, is that I don't like billboards. But, as I said before, it's a little difficult to be a hypocrite when you've used them on occasion. I don't want to put an industry out of business, and perhaps they ought to be regulated because I think your quote is brilliant. Taking a ride, it's like walking through the Yellow Pages. We ought not to have that many billboards.

The Chair:

This is on the motion to hold.

Michelle Madoff:

But the point I'm making is, I don't know that we can, and I need some guidance on this.

There was a contract entered into and it's my understanding from Mary Conturo, good, bad or indifferent, that the City made a legally binding contract and that was what was presented to us. And that's why those of us who voted voted for this piece of legislation. We didn't vote because we want more billboards. We didn't vote because we want to impact a community. We voted because it's a fait accompli. It was something we had to live with. And if I'm wrong on that, perhaps one of my colleagues will correct me.

Mr. Ricciardi:

If I may, this contract, this agreement, is not settled at all and not signed by the City of Pittsburgh. They have until August 19 to sign this contract. Council must approve this contract first.

So, what I'm asking for is further discussion on this because last week's discussion was all about the zoning and I think we should take a step further, Michelle.

Mr. Regan:

I would like to add that I would like to hear further discussion because I think one of our jobs as elected officials is to always protect and represent the people that are unprotected and unrepresented.

I agree with my colleague here. Here is 20 houses and 40 people that have no representation but the honorable Councilman here and I'd like to hear more discussion on this because I'm not opposed to billboards either, but I think they're only asking for 50 by 100 feet and there's 3 miles of billboards in that area. I don't think that's asking for too much. And, again, I say we're representing people here that have no representation but his honor here, the Councilman from the South Side.

Mr. Ferio:

Mr. Chairman, on the motion to recom-

mit. If I have to vote today, I'm going to vote in favor of this agreement because I think it's the best deal we can come up with. I do support the motion to recommit because I think it's legitimate and fair for Council to discuss further some of the issues that Mr. Ricciardi raised, and I don't see it as a problem in terms of the timetable involved of us having to approve some arrangement by the August 19 period. We have everything to gain and nothing to lose by some further discussion and review of some of the issues.

Also, I think we should have a sight visit collectively so we understand first-hand some of the issues raised.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, this is one of the most complicated bills that has come before Council, in this session at least. It involves, as Councilman Ricciardi said, really three different agreements, several different neighborhood groups, and years of negotiations.

I have read those agreements, attended the public hearing, and talked to parties on all sides and, if I had to vote today, I would vote for it too.

I think the fewer billboards the better for the City of Pittsburgh, but I think that these agreements, although they're not perfect, are good for the City of Pittsburgh because they do result in fewer billboards and also it preserves a few important views for the City of Pittsburgh like that beautiful view of Bloomfield from the Bloomfield Bridge.

Also, I think that by approving these agreements, it would not open us up to potential liability for the City of Pittsburgh.

But, they are incredibly complicated and

I don't have a problem with considering them further because I think that more consideration can only be better and only have the other Councilpeople, if necessary, or the public be more informed about these agreements.

So, I will vote yes for the motion to recommit.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

NOES none

And there being two-thirds of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

Also, with a NEGATIVE recommendation,

Bill No. 1005

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements with a Consultant or Consultants for professional services in connection with arbitrage rebate calculation for the City of Pittsburgh's General Obligation Bond Issues at an annual cost not to exceed $5,000.00, subject to annual budget appropriations, chargeable to and payable from Code Account 1063, Index Code (106302) Miscellaneous Services, Department of Finance."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

I just want to clarify something I learned since the initial discussion. I support the notion that on this type of an expenditure, there should be something included in the letting out of the General Obligation Bond requirements. However, in this specific instance, I believe that professional consultant services are being requested by the Administration, specifically because of the changes in the federal IRS code as it relates to calculation and arbitrage. So, in this instance, I think, at least personally, I believe we have to pull this legislation, although in principle, I agree with the point earlier raised at the Committee level.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on Bill 987, involving the expenditure of $24,000 to General Services account operating dollars to the City to pay for radio systems for the Zoo, I'm voting no on this because I believe that the $24,000 should be paid for out of the Zoo Trust Fund and should reflect an expenditure and obligation on the operation of the Zoo. It's a hidden cost being taken out of operating dollars and therefore I vote no strongly on the legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

In the same vein, I consistently try to vote no on all Zoo bills, monies that do not come out of the trust fund.

Again, may I remind anyone listening to this program, and that's what it is, that three-quarters of the people that use the Zoo, the Aviary and the Conservatory are non-City residents and every year, while we pay the same admission fee as City residents as the suburbanites do and every year when we go to park, we pay the same fee. I believe now there's slight increase for suburban residents, the Users' Fee, which I pushed for.

The bottom line is that every year at budget time, we, City taxpayers, go into our pockets and pull out the debt service. And the last time I looked, a few years ago, there was a $4 million deficit out of operating costs for the Zoo, Aviary and Conservatory. I think it was the Zoo alone. $4 million.

We just can't afford to subsidize the suburbanites to that sum and we're not saying, and I'm not saying it's us against them or them against us. If they want to have a wading pool and charge us a tax when we go out to use it in the North Park, fine. But we no longer can afford these wonderful amenities without some kind of help on paying for these.

I think it is appropriate at this point to please request an update on the dollars that have been expended out of operating costs for the Zoo and then the Capital Improvements portion that has come not out of donations from foundations, etc., but what the City has put out in matching funds for the Zoo and the expansion, and it is in the millions of dollars.

Again I say, give the Zoo as a gift to the County Commissioners. We'll make them a present. And if they don't want it, then we just don't operate it. That's not cruelty to animals; we start shipping them out. We send them out to somebody. If you send two animals from the Zoo to some other zoo, you'll see how fast the Commissioners will say, "No, no, no. We've got to keep that Zoo; it's wonderful." It's a wonderful thing but the City of Pittsburgh people cannot afford to keep that burden on their backs.

The Chair:

Let me remind Council that this issue is not an issue of who pays for the Zoo, County versus City. This is a simple allocation of operating dollars.

Mr. Regan:

I just would like to say this about the suburbanites. You know, if you scrub them down a little bit and hose them down, they're pretty damn nice people. They're Americans too. We talk about suburbanites like they're from another country. I love them. Bring me more suburbanites in.

Mr. Cohen:

Many of them are nice even before we hose them down. I agree with Councilman Regan.

I think the answer to this problem, which really isn't the problem before us on this bill, is to have a cultural district, a cultural district that includes the Zoo, the Aviary, the Conservatory, and even Carnegie Library. The Pennsylvania Economy League is looking into this now and has numerous meetings and is coming up with the project for a cultural district in which the various municipalities and boroughs in the County would share in the expense of the Zoo, the Aviary, the Conservatory and the Library.

So, I support that and would like to see it move forward. Hopefully it will come before Council sometime soon. In the meantime, I don't think we should hold up operations of the Zoo in order to talk about that larger issue. So, until that happens, I think the Zoo needs to go forward.

Mr. Milliones:

May I ask, was the $25,000 specifically appropriated for this at budget time last year?

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, in response to my initial concern, I didn't want to start World War III on the Zoo, and I already have a stated position on the issue of a State Cultural District and all that. That's not the issue. The issue right here is simply that the $24,000 should be paid for out of the Zoo Trust Fund dollars and appear as an obligation and expense as a result of having to operate the Zoo, and I don't believe that it should be funded and paid for out of operating dollar code account. This was not a specific item that would have been reviewed during the budget period. So, it's appearing now as an expenditure. My disagreement is that it should come out of the Zoo funds and not come out of general operating dollars.

Michelle Madoff:

I wanted to set the record straight, if I may. I am not taking on the suburbanites or saying that they are bad or good. I'm merely making the point, and I'm on this bill, that this $25,000 is another payment by the City taxpayers to subsidize the non-City residents who use this wonderful facility. I want that on the Record and I was pointing out the numbers. We can't afford it.

The Chair:

We're going to vote on the bill but if it wasn't for those non-residents, we wouldn't have people at the Zoo and Phipps and the Aviary also. I think that needs to be put on the Record also.

Michelle Madoff:

True. Let the Commissioners subsidize it.

Mr. Regan:

I think one of the big problems here, I think we as Council have to put up some money to do a little bit more promoting to bring some more suburbanites in here. That's what I think we ought to do. I think we should put forth more monies to promote the City of Pittsburgh and I think we might get a ton of suburbanites in here which would really help us.

Mr. Cohen:

Maybe we should adopt a suburbanite.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on Bill 977 and its companion bill, 978, this involves the expenditure of $25,000 for bridge inspection to a consultant for the Schenley Park Bridge. Several years ago when we approved several hundred thousand dollars for the expenditure of a bridge inspection truck, we were led to believe by the Administration that that would greatly reduce the amount of monies that we would have to spend each year on bridge inspection. I think this is another good example of a bridge that should be routinely inspected by the bridge inspection team that we have in-house in E & C, moreso because when we do the inspection, we can incur a reimbursement from the State for those dollars. I see no reason for us to act as a pass through for state dollars just because they're available. We have an in-house budget, an in-house bridge inspection truck, an in-house bridge inspection team, and we can be reimbursed for state dollars. I think that's what should happen and I'm voting no on these two bills.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair presents

No. 1071 Communication from Sophie Masloff, Mayor, informing Council of the appointment of John J. Sciallo, 336 Gross Street, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15224, to the Urban Redevelopment Authority Board for a term to expire December of 1992.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also,

No. 1072 Resolution appointing Willard C. Shiner, 153 Hartwood Drive, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15208, to the City Planning Commission for a term effective immediately and to expire January 1996.

Which was read.

Mr. Regan moved to approve the appointment of Mr. Shiner.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

I know Willard very well. He's going to be a tremendous asset.

Mr. Regan:

I'll withdraw my motion and let the Councilwoman make the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

It doesn't matter.

The Chair:

If it's the will of any member of Council to bring Mr. Shiner in front of Council, is there any discussion? If there's not, I will accept a motion to approve.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to make the motion to approve.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, along with this appointment which I wholeheartedly support and I applaud the Mayor for making the appointment, I would ask also that we communicate to the Administration and inquire as to what the other terms of office are of the Planning Commission members.

With all due respect to some of the members, some of them have been on the Commission for up to 20 years. Some of their terms are due. There are other members of the Commission that personally I don't support being on the Commission and I'd like to know when and if some of these other terms are up.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President and Members of Council, on the issue of historic district designation, I want to take a moment to first commend the Planning Department for hiring a firm to study the whole issue of historic designation and the current legislation on the books.

I think the legislation is seriously flawed so I want to first commend them for doing that but, at the same time, I'm very disturbed by the length of time that the study is going to take. The Director of the Planning Department was quoted as saying that the study would take 8 to 12 months. I think that's just far too long. Everyone knows that a Planning Department projection of 8 to 12 months means probably 2 years before the thing is completed. I think that we need a much quicker process than that.

First of all, it's not that difficult a study, in my view. The answer, I think, is fairly obvious in that we need conservation districts. It has been done in other cities like Providence, Rhode Island, like Norfolk, Virginia, and I think it would be helpful to have an amendment for conservation districts here in the City of Pittsburgh. A conservation district is more neighborhood-based, it's less restrictive property rights in certain instances, and I think it would have more neighborhood support.

There have been three major historic district controversies in the last year. One is Shady-side West, another is Fourth Avenue, and the third one we're about to address in the next couple of days, and that's Allegheny West. We have a public hearing on Thursday. If we wait 1 to 2 years to complete this study, then it will be far too late and most of the key historic areas in the district will already have been addressed by this Historic Review Commission, the Planning Commission and City Council.

So, I think we need to move quicker and I'd like a letter to be sent to the Director of City Planning asking that this study be completed in a more reasonable time period and, in my view, that would be 3 to 4 months as opposed to 8 to 12 months. I make that as a motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

I second that for purposes of discussion.

I sympathize with many of the concerns raised by my colleague, Mr. Cohen, and in fact we've had discussions mutually in the past about the experiences in other cities for a conservation district or a so-called preservation district which I'm still inclined to support.

I think he has raised a good point because we have before us several important decisions to make over the next few months regarding historical designation.

One of the realities, though, of a long-range study I think needs to happen is the participatory process that needs to take place, the involvement of small business community, of individual residents, of issue groups, of advocacy groups. It's a really convoluted and difficult process and, while I agree with him, there needs to be an expedited review of this and a draft of some type of revisions to the existing ordinance. If not, as Mr. Cohen has talked about and I support, the notion of some type of a conservation or preservation district. However, I would not in any way want to abort that kind of work that needs to go on by the consultant and it's a very laborious effort to go out and have those kinds of meetings and what not.

So, if there's a way that we can balance and expedite a review and work by the consultant and at the same time not curtailing that kind of elaborate process of citizen participation, it's quite a juggling act but I would hope that that would be reflected in the memo to Planning.

Mr. Cohen:

I would take my colleague's comments into account and maybe we shouldn't specify a specific time period. I definitely want it to be a public process but it doesn't have to be a year to two years long, that's for sure.

So, I would like City Council to send a letter to the Director of City Planning saying that this should be an expeditious process.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Mr. Ferlo:

On two unrelated issues, very briefly, Mr. Chairman. It has to do, I thought initially, with the ordinance that we passed on the issue of the no wake zone but I think it's an unrelated issue and maybe I'm the only one who has been getting calls into my office. But it has to do with either actions by the Police Department or River Rescue or Public Safety regarding the mooring of boats at the Point which are no longer being allowed to dock there.

I don't really understand the issue fully but I would like to ask that a letter go to the Director, or whoever it is who took these actions regarding the boating problem down at the Point, and get a response on what exactly did take place regarding the limiting of the prerogatives of boaters to dock at the Point and the surrounding area.

I know I've gotten a lot of calls and I'm probably not alone on this and maybe you could shed some light on it. But I don't think it has anything directly to do with the ordinance that was passed a week ago and maybe we could get an explanation.

On the second matter, Mr. Chairman, I'm not in favor of anyone in my Council district to be unemployed, but in Director Cannon's case, I'd have to make an exception.

It's no secret that I am certainly an opponent of the merger of the Public Safety Department and I've tangled many times with the Director in the past and probably many times in the future. But I don't know how we can sit silently and I don't know how the Administration can be silent, if they are, on the actions of Director Cannon regarding the last few days.

All of us went through an elaborate effort to reform the Trial Board which I think overwhelmingly we supported except for changes that were originally a part of the bill involving the Personnel and Civil Service Commission. We got through that process and I think the Administration acted, and the Mayor specifically, not only showed leadership but acted in good faith with the Legislature, with this Council, with the Police Union in particular, and with the rank and file in particular, by saying that we need to engage in a process to reform the Trial Board.

I was led to believe that that was going full steam ahead, and I think it has been, and I think there are clearly now admonitions by the Administration that they have failed to report back certain documents to the FOP to being that process.

I was very excited at the appointment of Mayer DeRoy as the new Police Chief and I thought I'd recognize the willingness on the part of the Mayor and the Administration to say, "Hey, we've had some problems but we're now going to straighten things out", and I fully have put my support behind the Police Chief. And if the Police Chief came here tomorrow and said, "We have a problem; I want to get rid of 100 officers", I'll be the first one to back him up in whatever his judgment is. I trust his judgment.

He has come to me in the past on budget problems in the last two years. He modified or changed my position after I understood the issue better. He's a credible man. He has leadership. I think he knows what the problems are, and I think he should be given an opportunity.

I think it's a slap in the face to the new Police Chief to have the kinds of interactions and pronouncements by Director Cannon, which are completely off the wall and inappropriate. I stand behind the Police Chief. I think we should allow him to lead that department and make the changes he needs to make, be they disciplinary, be they public pronouncements about the FOP, whatever the issue is. But I think we have a responsibility and I would hope that they Mayor would see that her responsibility is to back up her newly appointed Police Chief.

And as far as I'm concerned, Director Cannon should go look for another job.

The Chair:

I would like to respond to your first issue on the boating.

I've also received numerous complaints from people complaining about boats not being permitted to be docked at the Wharf. That has nothing to do with the legislation. I think boats should be able to stop as they traditionally have been there, certainly not to dock for any length of time. That is a State Park and it's not a permanent docking facility for boats. But we also need to have an explanation from Public Safety as to what has changed in terms of enforcement of existing laws there just recently in comparison to the past.

So, I would ask the City Clerk to please send an information gathering letter to Public Safety in that regard.

Michelle Madoff:

On that issue. I found it very enlightening to hear about the boat that was overturned right outside my window at the Point and thought, thank God for your legislation. And this nonsense about we're interfering -- You can never have too much legislation to protect the public's safety and I hope that Council, if they haven't seen that article and didn't know what happened, would review it.

I understand you're going to grant the public hearing after the fact, but I hope we won't back off or weaken in any way on that legislation.

On another item. Last night, I went to a meeting on Mount Washington, people who live in a new building, the Tri Mont, asked me to come over because there is pending legislation on zoning. It is a very bizarre kind of zoning. They went through Planning where the area is sort of drawn up very peculiarly and there was no notification given to the community.

The reason I mention Mount Washington is if it happens in Mount Washington, it could happen in the North Side, it could happen in Bloomfield-Garfield, it could happen anywhere, South Side, a lot of development going on.

It seems that Mr. Jim Brown who is really a favorite of mine in the Administration called and told the people, "Oh, I forgot about it and I just remembered this morning" the day of the hearing on Planning. That is totally unacceptable. There has to be significant notice to affected communities, affected residents in the community that there is going to be a zoning change. You can't say, "Oh, I forgot to do it."

Now, I want an explanation which I will seek from Mr. Brown personally and I will pursue the issue. But the reason I'm telling you about it is that if it happened here, it's going to happen, or has happened, everywhere. We need to address this kind of perhaps spot zoning that is taking place. We all need to attend that hearing which I believe takes place on the 26th of July. I'm going to try to delay that hearing because there was not significant appropriate notice given to the residents. No one got any notice before it went to the Planning Commission and I just want everybody to be aware that those kinds of things happen.

On another matter. We go to budget hearings very shortly, in the next couple of months. The Administration will be giving us their budget prior to our going to budget hearings. Once again, in almost my 13th year, there is no communication in advance between the Administration and the Legislative body of this Council.

I would like to plead, again, with the President of Council, the Finance Chairman, Mr. Millions, to please try to set up a series of meetings, casual, informal meetings, with the Administration so that we can work together because I believe that we're facing some financial fiscal problems. We're heard rumors from Mr. Turner that we may have a $50 million shortfall in taxes.

I don't want surprises at the end of the year. I think we all need to be aware of what might be happening and how we want to address it and there are items such as the piece of legislation that came before us the other day that was bizarre. There were two pieces of legislation lumped together, one under $10,000 and the other in excess of $10,000 for expenditures on materials and equipment. Sort of a charge account to General Services. Those bills would not have to come before Council.

I think we need to discuss this kind of thing. I think we need to discuss the $40,000 that I tried to give, and this Council approved, to C-TAC. They didn't want to take the money and what kind of job have they been doing to help individual communities plug into the system.

There's so much to be discussed. There should be an agenda drawn up; there should be a number of informal meetings. I think this is probably the most responsive Administration in being receptive to ideas of Council in the years that I've been here.

I'd like to take it one step further. Let's meet before budget hearings and let's talk about what could possibly be happening so that the public is aware and certainly Council is aware before whatever happens happens.

I make that in the form of a motion that the President will speak to the Administration and set up a series of meetings.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

The Chair:

I would just like to add that we are in the process right now of setting up a general budgetary session with Mr. Turner and all of Council. It's an informative type of session just so everyone is on the same plane in terms of the budgetary process.

Michelle Madoff:

Then maybe, since I didn't know that, my crystal ball is a little clouded and I didn't see that we were going to do it and nobody told me, but that's exactly what I think we need to see and I don't know how that meeting originated, was it with you, Mr. President, or with Mr. Turner. It's a very positive move but I think one meeting isn't going to do it. I think we're going to need to have two or three and it doesn't need to be a request any more; we can just request it when we meet. When is that meeting to take place?

The Chair:

Soon. Within July.

Michelle Madoff:

Because we're out of session pretty much in August. I take vacation in August.

The Chair:

Before the end of July.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President and Members of Council, I'd like to personally thank the Dead Heads for making a fast exit out of the City of Pittsburgh.

I'd like to thank the Grateful Dead for putting on a great performance. I only felt bad that I can't dance that well or I would have been right in there with them. It looked like they busted a time capsule and took us back 20 years.

But I'd just like to thank them. They put on a great show and I'd like to commend the Police and Mayer DeRoy and the Fire and the Paramedics for the terrific job that they did.

I'd also like to make a statement about the statement that was made about the 10 to 15 percent of bad police in the City of Pittsburgh. I totally disagree with making any kind of numbers or percentages for any section of our community.

I'd also like to talk about the Pittsburgh Marathon and one Larry Kuzmanko who is getting bombarded at this particular time.

The economic impact, he started with a zero promotion, a young guy full of energy, a super flat-footed hustler who has done a tremendous job for the City of Pittsburgh. The impact on our economy has been estimated between $8 million and $10 million. The spectators that showed up at some of these events were in the neighborhood of 250,000. Along with this, we had neighborhood festivals in almost every community in the City of Pittsburgh along the Marathon route.

He put on the Pittsburgh Children's Marathon which is free to children 6 and under which has as many as 3,000 participants which included over and above that 6,000 parents and approximately 4,500 grandparents. I think this is of great educational value to the kids in the City of Pittsburgh.

He put on sports medicine clinics to promote fitness, health and awareness, and it also encouraged neighborhood participation.

Also, he assisted in Special Olympics of Allegheny County and raised over $50,000 for 1987 through 1989.

He assisted the Pittsburgh Police Department in their Handcuff Run which raised revenues for a memorial to officers who have given their lives in service to the community.

He also raised $20,000 for medical research for the deadly disease that killed our great Mayor, Richard S. Caliguiri.

He also assists the City of Pittsburgh in National Night Out, a safety awareness campaign in which we finished in the top 4 twice.

The annual St. Patrick's Day Run up the USX Tower steps which brings another 400 additional people into the City of Pittsburgh.

He assisted and put together a three day health and fitness expo in Downtown Pittsburgh.

He assisted in Pittsburgh's Great Race with athletes and expertise.

He helped neighborhood groups promote health and fitness in Bloomfield for three days in which 1,500 blood pressure tests were taken, 1,200 diabetes test.

He assisted Presbyterian University Hospital and Case Western University with medical research projects.

From 1985, it went from dead zero to six successful marathons. Pittsburgh, in their budget for travel and entertainment, is nine percent which, out of that money, it brings people from all over the world, namely Russia, Portugal, Ireland, Canada, Finland, Poland, Germany, New Zealand, Czechoslovakia, Mexico, and even suburbanites, into the City of Pittsburgh. In fact, they even brought one Mike Buzby from Yuma City, California when they were ranked last by Rand McNally.

The New York Marathon, according to Alan Steinfeld, Technical Director, spends 19 percent of budget for travel and entertainment compared to our 9 percent. Los Angeles, according to Dr. Bill Burke, spends approximately 18 percent of budget for travel and entertainment, twice the amount of money that we spend.

We played host and it was fantastic for the Women's Olympic Trials here in Pittsburgh. We have the number one race in the world for prize money for women and I'm sure my colleague, Michelle Madoff, would appreciate that.

They're audited once a year by Ernst and Young and they're also audited by an independent auditor and the records are public.

I would like today to make a motion that we keep Larry Kuzmanko as President of this great event which has done a lot for the City of Pittsburgh until such time that we can have a post agenda meeting, which I would like the President to call for next week, and bring all parties to the table so that we can straighten out and iron out any problems that we have with this Marathon.

Thank you very much.

The Chair:

Okay, we have two items on the floor. We have a motion to show our support for Mr. Kuzmanko, and Mr. Regan is requesting that I set up a post agenda. Let's deal with the first motion first. Is there a second to Mr. Regan's motion?

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferio:

The original motion Mr. Regan made, which I'm not sure we can, is that we retain him. It's not our prerogative. I think what we want is a letter of support, a show of concern for Mr. Kuzmanko. On the issue, I'll second the motion.

I really don't understand what is going on. I read the newspaper articles and it seems as though the Administration is engaging in petty and peculiar politics as it relates to Mr. Kuzmanko. I know Larry over the years, he's a friend of mine. I know of the event over the years. I've worked at the neighborhood level, interacting with the Marathon, and it seems as though it's been a great event and a great event for our City, let alone the important work that Mr. Kuzmanko has done.

All of a sudden out of the blue, we have all this petty nonsense going on and if there is any substantive issue that the Administration needs to engage in, they have the power to interact with this Board and with Mr. Kuzmanko directly.

I don't understand how this has blown up into such a petty and peculiar political activity and, personally, no one has a worse sense of humor than Terry Woodcock in the Administration. If that's what this whole issue is about, I can't even believe that this has pre-occupied the KDKA 6:00 news and the Pittsburgh Press and I'm sure there will be editorials and everything of the sort.

The Administration has responsible members on the Board. I think it's important that we recognize the tremendous resources, private sector resources that Mr. Kuzmanko and this event have generated for our City. It's a world-class international event and I can only see everything good about it. I'm completely perplexed and puzzled as to what I've seen and read and viewed on television and the newspaper in the last few days.

So, if we're asking to show support for Larry Kuzmanko and/or the organization, I'd be the first to say yes, absolutely.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I would like to agree with Councilman Regan's comments. I have known Mr. Kuzmanko for a couple of years and I've had the opportunity to run in two Pittsburgh Marathons and also to be involved with him on the governmental level and on the level as a spectator watching this event.

I think he has done an exceptional job. To me, it seems as if people are nitpicking for him right now for some reason that isn't clear. As he states today in the paper, it's easy for the Administration or for people to make general comments and put him on the defensive; however, it's hard for him to try to answer his criticisms that he doesn't really know where the grounds are coming from.

So, I would like to support Councilman Regan's position and to give my full confidence in Mr. Kuzmanko.

The Chair:

I'd like to make a comment. I will vote in support of the motion. I agree with mostly everything that has been said. The Marathon, from what I understand, was Mr. Kuzmanko's idea, and it truly has brought international recognition to the City of Pittsburgh literally for pennies, and we're talking about a marketing effort of promoting the City.

He has been, to my knowledge, receptive to changes that can and should occur with the Marathon going back to three years ago when this Council actually put a motion on the floor to change the date of the Marathon from late May to early May due to weather conditions. The marathon did that.

He has been out of the controversy recently that involved other special events, and the Marathon has indicated that they would cooperate with City government in regard to it.

He has been receptive to changes and his peers appear to respect him very much from other cities.

What concerns me about the whole issue is that there is a public discussion going on that should not even be going on, and I don't think it reflects well on the Marathon in general or the City of Pittsburgh. I would like to see it over and done with as of today and that Mr. Kuzmanko remain as the Executive Director.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to urge Larry to get a haircut and be here next week for a post agenda.

Mr. Ferlo:

First of all, I don't care if he grows his hair down to his behind. That's not the issue.

But the other thing I think is important, as you pointed out, Mr. Wagner, I can't think of any other event that is public in nature but has generated more private dollar participation and support and has done more to promote the City. I think we have a valuable treasure here not only in the event, in the Board, Mr. Kuzmanko, whatever, and I think we have to safeguard that.

It's very disappointing that all this stuff is out in the media and it's much to do about nothing. I think we're discouraging and sending wrong messages to those in the private sector who contribute to such a worthwhile event.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it's inappropriate for us to even being putting fuel on the flames to have this discussion. This is the kind of thing that I was alluding to before about interaction between Council and the Administration.

Like Jim Ferlo, I don't know what it's all about and I'd like someone to tell me. I don't think we should be having a vote here to support somebody when I don't know what the issue is.

I don't think we should have a post agenda. I think we should have a meeting with the Administration and be briefed. We're briefed on a lot of things that we don't know about and we're briefed on things we already know about. This is one I know nothing about and I don't think I should be voting in a vacuum.

Mr. Regan:

I say we're voting on the success of this event and ask that we show our support for the guy that made it happen.

The Chair:

We're voting purely on the will of Council, as Mr. Regan's motion indicated.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I agree with Councilwoman Madoff's statement that we really don't understand the issue. However, I do feel it's important that this body take a stand saying that as individuals and, I think, collectively, we've all had dealings with Mr. Kuzmanko and we're real pleased with the job he's been doing.

And if it's going to come out in the media that the City government, through the Administration's appointees to the Board, are having questions about Mr. Kuzmanko, I think it's just as important for us as a body to say that we have confidence in him and, as Mr. Ferlo said, let it go out to the private sector that this body has no questions, or at least I have no questions, with the way he has managed the Marathon. And I have full confidence that he can continue doing a successful job in the future.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me. There were two motions. The second one is to have a post agenda and that's the one I'm opposed to.

The Chair:

We'll deal with that after.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion the motion to support Mr. Kuzmanko running the Pittsburgh Marathon?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen
Mr. Coyne
Mr. Ferlo

Mr. Regan
Mr. Ricciardi
Mr. Wagner
(Pres't)

AYES 6

NOES none

(MICHELLE MADOFF ABSTAINING)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion was approved.

The Chair:

On the second point for Mr. Regan to have a post agenda next week and requesting me to run it, I am not going to do that because I think I am adding fuel to the flame of a public discussion in regard to this controversy. I agree with Councilwoman Madoff in that regard. It is still the will of anyone to do that with a post agenda, but I personally will not do it and I will not partake in it.

Mr. Regan:

I think when they're making allegations such as they're making about this gentleman, I think it should be brought out in the open. This guy has the right to a fair and impartial hearing which can only be held in public and can only be held by him having the chance to defend himself. That's the American way. To dodge the issue doesn't help.

The Chair:

I think Council has just sent a strong message of support on behalf of Mr. Larry Kuzmanko, with your motion, Mr. Regan.

Mr. Regan:

Yes, sir, Mr. President.

Michelle Madoff:

It seems to me that I don't think the message we're trying to give Mr. Regan here is that we don't want to give somebody the right to be heard and defend themselves. I just think there's a procedure. The first thing is that we ought to be on what the issue is because I don't know. And then, if it is appropriate, that we have a public hearing and I would support him.

Mr. Regan:

We damn near had a public hearing in the newspaper and on TV. We might as well bring it in here. Give the guy a chance to defend himself.

Mr. Cohen:

Point of Order, Mr. President. Will we be voting on the question of a post agenda or not?

The Chair:

No. There is no need for a vote on the post agenda.

Mr. Regan:

You're refusing, Mr. President? Is that what you're saying?

The Chair:

The procedure for a post agenda is that any Councilmember can call a post agenda. I am personally not going to be involved.

Mr. Regan:

Okay, I'm calling for one.

The Chair:

Fine.

I'd like to mention and remind Council that we have a 2:00 public hearing in regards to cigarette vending machines.

And finally, I'd like to state because it was stated by Mr. Ferlo, I support Director Cannon as Public Safety Director. I think he has shown leadership over the years and all of us make minor errors in public statements, including myself and yourself, and everyone else in government. I don't think what was said over the weekend or yesterday is enough to say that he should not be Public Safety Director. I think he has shown leadership over the years and, quite frankly, I support him.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to add something to that. It takes a big person to say, "I misspoke myself; I didn't mean what was said." and he has recanted what he said. I think that's much to his credit.

Michelle Madoff moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, July 3, 1990.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Cohen

Council adjourned.

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like to ask Mardi Isler and Margaret Tyndall to come up, please.

Mr. Cohen presents

No. 1106 WHEREAS, in the United States of America more than half of all mothers with children under six are in the work force and approximately 70% of these mothers work full time; and

WHEREAS, working mothers make a significant contribution to family income and are indispensable to the economy of our nation; and

WHEREAS, the current lack of affordable, high quality child care threatens the health and development of our children and causes undue strain of working parents; and

WHEREAS, the Act for Better Child Care Services ("ABC Bill"), now pending before the United States Congress, would dramatically expand parental choice by increasing the supply and variety of local child care services; building a diverse system of child care providers with high standards of health and safety; paying the full cost of care for many of the lowest income families; and helping families of moderate income on a sliding fee scale basis; and

WHEREAS, the ABC bill would commit 2.5 billion dollars to developing a national child care system sensitive to local needs and available to children of both low and moderate income families; and

WHEREAS, by making the federal government a full partner with the states, the ABC bill would be particularly beneficial to Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania, both of which are in the process of devising and funding child care programs; and

WHEREAS, the ABC bill is a wise investment of our nation, for parents in the work force, and for our children's social and intellectual development as future productive American citizens.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby urges the President and the Congress of the United States to enact the Act for Better Child Care Services; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Clerk of the City of Pittsburgh is authorized and directed to transmit a duly certified copy of this resolution to the President and to the Pennsylvania delegation in the Congress of the United States.

Mr. Cohen moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Cohen:

I have with me today Mardi Isler of the Employers and Child Care Program which is a program working in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce, and Margaret of the YWCA Child Care Program.

I just wanted to take a moment to say that this really is a critical issue for the future of Pittsburgh and for the future of the country. Now that we have more and more working mothers in the work force, we have to really address the needs of quality child care.

As many of you out there know, it is practically impossible to juggle the demands of work and family and I think this bill would help working parents to juggle those demands, especially for moderate and low income families.

I also want to take this opportunity. It's gratuitous because yesterday the Mayor proposed a child care program, and I want to commend the Mayor for doing that. I think it will be a good opportunity for all of us to address the child care issue and to see where the City of Pittsburgh should go from here.

With that, let me turn the microphone over to Margaret Tyndall.

Ms. Tyndall:

Thank you. My name is Margaret Tyndall and I am Executive Director of the YWCA of Greater Pittsburgh. On behalf of the YWCA, I would like to thank City Council for passing this important child care resolution as introduced by Councilman Dan Cohen.

As the local management agency for Title 20 day care funds, the YWCA is keenly aware of the child care crisis that confronts us in this country today. Some may be surprised to know that the United States would be the only industrialized nation in the world without a national child care policy if it were not joined by South Africa in having that distinction. This fact is very disturbing in and of itself, but when we look at it in the light of the findings of a recent research commission report, it is even more shocking.

The research project requested by the Federal Health and Human Services Department, the Ford Foundation, and the Foundation for Child Development, was chaired by John L. Palmer, a Dean at Syracuse University. Among the findings were the following: Every working day the majority of American parents entrust the care of their children to others. By the year 2000, approximately 90 percent of the nation's school aged children and 70 percent of preschool children will have mothers who are working or seeking work outside the home.

Currently, the majority of U.S. children receive care that is below generally recognized standards of quality.

By the end of the 1980s, 30 percent of federal child care dollars went to low income children compared to 80 percent in 1972.

The Comprehensive Child Care Bill, now crawling its way through the Senate House Conference Committee, would begin to address these concerns. We support this legislation as a start in the right direction.

President Bush threatens to veto this bill and gives as one of his reasons his belief that the legislation is fiscally irresponsible. The $1.75 billion called for in the legislation will cost every American $7 in 1991. In that same year, Americans will pay $11 for MX Missiles, $22 for Stealth Bombers and $84 to bail out the Savings and Loan industry.

This is a kinder, gentler nation. Thank you for being a kinder, gentler City Council. We trust that your commitment to child care will be further manifested by your support of the Mayor's proposal to require space for day care in buildings in the City of Pittsburgh and that you will move quickly to approve it. Thank you.

Ms. Isler:

My name is Mardi Isler and I'm the manager of the Employers and Child Care Program on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce obviously is interested in child care because it is one of the support systems that draws top notch employees and business to a community. It is a system very much like a school system that has to be in place in order to attract the best and the most qualified of our work force. It is seen as a competitive issue. It is seen as an issue for the next century for bringing Pittsburgh into this century with a quality work force. It's not only that the children in care are now at risk if the quality of care is not sufficient to meet their needs and to allow them to grow and develop, but it's also developing those children and their skill levels so that they will be the work force of tomorrow.

It's for these two reasons that the Chamber of Commerce has been working with City Council, with the Mayor's Office, and will continue to work to increase the supply and improve the quality of child care in the Pittsburgh area.

I certainly thank Councilman Cohen for bringing this issue. It's wonderful to have Pittsburgh on the record as supporting it. Thank you again.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to ask Mr. Schneider and his parents and Jim Westlager to come forward from the Paramedics Union to move a resolution which was less controversial when I initially agreed to introduce it a couple of weeks ago.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1107 WHEREAS, the Pennsylvania Emergency Health Services Council annually honors an individual paramedic who has contributed to the development and growth of paramedicine in Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, Mark S. Schneider received "The Paramedic of the Year Award" from the Pennsylvania Emergency Health Services Council at Pennsylvania's thirteenth annual Emergency Medical Services Conference, which was held on June 22-24, 1990, in Harrisburg; and

WHEREAS, Mark S. Schneider has been a paramedic with the City of Pittsburgh for over ten years, and is a member and past President of the Fraternal Association of Professional Paramedics (Pittsburgh Chapter); and

WHEREAS, Richard D. Flinn, Jr., Executive Director of Pennsylvania Health Services Council stated "Mark S. Schneider has been a leader in the advancement and professionalism of paramedics in the Commonwealth, and we are very pleased to recognize him as PEHSC's Paramedic of the Year."

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh commends Mark S. Schneider for his achievements in paramedics, and congratulates him for his receipt of "The Paramedic of the Year Award" for 1990.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you. I'd like to have Mark say a few words but before I introduce Mark for his recognition from Council, I'd also like to have recognition of the parents who I think are an important part of this. Mr. and Mrs. Schneider are here also today. And maybe Mr. Westlager, a paramedic here in the City and President of the Fraternal Association of Professional Paramedics, would like to say a few words. At this time, I'd like to call on Jimmy Westlager.

Mr. Westlager:

Good morning, Mr. President and Members of Council. Mark Schneider has been instrumental in the development of important legislation here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that affects all of us, not only the residents of the City of Pittsburgh but all across the Commonwealth. Mark is involved in many, many different aspects of legislation as well as different important concepts and ideas that are being implemented today.

We are happy to have Mark being recognized as Paramedic of the Year. He is the first paramedic in the City of Pittsburgh that has had that honor and we are very pleased.

I'm glad that Council has seen fit to have the resolution passed and I thank the President and Members of Council.

Mr. Schneider:

Thank you for awarding me this resolution. Thank you, Mr. President and Council. It's a great honor to be recognized by the State and the City of Pittsburgh.

I hope that the good things that can come out of this will only be the things that are remembered. It's a shame that so often good things are often forgotten. I was the unknown paramedic until this snafu and I really appreciate the great honor.

I want to make mention of the fact that I only accept this in the name of the men and women who are the EMTs that are the constant providers, the Paramedics of the City of Pittsburgh. The people who care about Pittsburgh now are being cared about by Pittsburgh. Thank you.

The Chair:

Thank you all for coming.

Michelle Madoff:

Would Rosemary Palmer please come forward? It is a privilege and an honor to present this resolution to Rose Palmer. We do this every year and maybe the day will come when we won't need the service of Rose Palmer. We're working to eliminate the need.

Michelle Madoff presents

No. 1108 WHEREAS, there are over 52,075 children under age 18 in Allegheny County living in a fragmented family; and

WHEREAS, these children are being deprived both financially and emotionally by their parents by denying them either financial support or access to the non-custodial parent; and

WHEREAS, these children experience a different emotional trauma than the adults because the children lose something that is fundamental to their development - the family structure; and

WHEREAS, the children of the fragmented family learn their world is one place in which trust in reliability of relations has been shaken, especially those that are more fundamental and intimate.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved, that the Members of Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby recognize July 22-28, 1990 as "Child Support Awareness Week" in the City of Pittsburgh in an effort to bring to the general public the awareness of the needs of the children of a fragmented family and hereby commend SUPPORT, Pittsburgh's nationally recognized organization, which is dedicated to assist these families and their children so that the children receive both the financial and emotional support they deserve from both parents.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it is interesting to note that this is the week that we are really being concerned about our children's well being and that Sophie Masloff, our Mayor, did indeed introduce the concept of having day care centers mandated or part of the zoning ordinances of new structures. And I think that the move to put it into the Safety Building to show that we are in the forefront is a very positive indication that we really are finally recognized that women go to work. You know, we always say, "Working women need wives." You men don't realize how wonderful we are.

Ms. Palmer:

I'd like to thank you again for recognizing this week as Child Support Awareness Week. Child support means both the financial and emotional support of the children of divorce. Studies as recently as the Wallerstein and Blakeslee studies of the children of divorce has shown 15 years after a divorce, these young adults are unable to commit themselves to a significant other person or even to hold down a stable position.

There are 50 percent of first marriages ending in divorce and 72 percent of second marriages ending in divorce. This is creating many, many victims, mainly the children.

Allegheny County has been recognized as the leading county in the nation in collecting child support. Allegheny County collects more child support the most states. But still, we have too many non-compliance orders and there's too many children not seeing their other parent. We divorce one another; we don't divorce our children.

I handed out some letters that we recently received on some of the work we've been doing, as well as our last newsletter, and we've been working on the inner-state problem as far as inner-state child support and how it's impossible to fight child support when the parent lives out of state or even out of the county.

We have a lot of problems that we have to deal with. SUPPORT, since our inception, we've grown quite a bit since we've got our funding, and our funding came mainly from City Council at the very beginning, and I thank you a great deal.

We've added the visitation program where the children can see their other parent in an environment that is safe to them. We have the child support program. We've created a law student program where certified law students can represent the clients in court. We have a mediation program. We also have agency referral and attorney referral for those clients who can afford private legal counsel. Most of our clients are indigent. They're on welfare, minimum income or low income families.

Again, it's only through you, City Council, that you've made this all possible and I thank you ever so much.

Michelle Madoff:

I might add that on numerous occasions I've had occasion to send to Rose and support Rose Palmer and people who really have been abused and who are having problems resolving their marital support for their children. She has been wonderful and the group has been wonderful.

Mr. Robison:

I want to tell one little story to underline the various facts and figures we got from Rose.

As I was coming over here this morning I saw in the street one of Rose's staff people, Robin. She was walking to court with one of the SUPPORT members. I commented to Robin that I was on my way here for City Council observing Child Support Week and the woman walking with Robin said, "Oh, you mean this is the week? Maybe after a year and a half I'll finally get something."

That's the situation despite the national leadership that has been offered by the courts in Allegheny County, by SUPPORT and by this City Council. We still have the situation where, "You mean this is the week?" Let's make it every week. Thank you.

Bridge, and providing for conveyances by the City of Pittsburgh of certain properties, and providing further for certain payments not to exceed $24,549.50."

Which was read.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, on Bill No. 953 which is the agreement between the City of Pittsburgh, Patrick Media Group and the Pittsburgh Outdoor Advertising Company. I first became involved with this bill because I believe that we needed a zoning change, a rezoning in the Becks Run area, in order to fully protect the 40 residents of that neighborhood. I believed then and I believe now that the rezoning of the neighborhood should occur before we approve this agreement. As a matter of fact, the City of Pittsburgh Planning Commission has addressed that concern in their April meeting of this year. Unfortunately, it was to be continued and for some reason that I find very peculiar, the discussion has not come up yet. I believe there is a reason for that, that if the zoning goes through, it fully protects the residents of the Becks Run neighborhood, but does not fully protect the interest of Patrick Media Association.

I also made gestures towards the Patrick Media Group concerning 100 feet on Becks Run, 100 feet that would not be part of the agreement not be given to the Patrick Media Group. That 100 feet would keep the community's garden, keep the community's flagpole, and remove two billboards that are adjacent to two homes. I made this offer through our City Solicitor's Office and directly by me. Unfortunately, it was denied. In one case, it was denied because the group believed that they had the votes on Council so they would like to run with the bill.

The more I began to study the exchange agreement, Mr. President, as I've said in the past,

I believe the agreement is a rip-off for the taxpayers. I believe it's a giveaway of City-owned property and a giveaway of nearly $25,000 in cash.

I also believe it's a bailout, a bailout for the past leadership of the Law Department and Planning Department. I believe that the agreement of November, 1986, which was drafted by the Law Department, was an illegal zoning contract, as ruled by the Zoning Board of Adjustment. And I believe the past leadership of the Planning Department did not effectively negotiate for the taxpayers but instead gave out a sweetheart deal.

Just to remind my colleagues, July 2, 1987, the Zoning Board of Adjustment, under the Chairmanship of Joseph Mistick, ruled that the November 30, 1986 agreement is an illegal zoning contract. That concept has also been upheld by the Pennsylvania Supreme Court in the case Carlino versus Whitpain which says that local governments cannot contract away the police power of zoning. If we stop now, billboards cannot go up on Bigelow Boulevard. That is illegal contract zoning. As a matter of fact, if we approve this agreement, we will have more billboards in the City of Pittsburgh. The illegal billboards on Becks Run and Greentree Road will be able to stay.

I think we should begin to negotiate through strength instead of weakness. I do agree that we owe just compensation for the Pittsburgh Media Group and POA for the six parcels of land on Bigelow Boulevard. But, as Mr. Specter said in the Law Department, we don't know what that value is because we have not done the appropriate appraisals.

How can we give away City-owned property, make commitments for certain variances scattered throughout the site, make illegal billboards on Becks Run and Greentree Road legal, without knowing what we owe. We're giving away a lot, and we have no idea what we really owe.

I'm asking my colleagues not to establish a 2-tier system of fairness in the City of Pittsburgh. We demand our constituents to pay their fair share of taxes. We demand our constituents to pay their fair share of rent on all lease arrangements. And we demand our constituents to apply for the proper permits either to build or to expand.

So, I'm saying, that same system of fairness should apply to a large business interest. They should pay their fair share of taxes. They should pay their fair share of rent on all lease arrangements. And they should also be required to obtain the proper permits for all billboards scattered throughout the City of Pittsburgh.

It's our responsibility to do our very best to protect the 40 residents of Becks Run neighborhood, the blue collar working residents, because if this agreement can shaft that neighborhood, it could also do the same for other small neighborhoods without much influence. It could also do the same for neighborhoods such as Overbrook, such as Esplan, such as Fairywood, such as Troy Hill. And I'm also asking the representatives, my colleagues south of the river, that this is pitting neighborhoods against neighborhoods. If you study the exchange agreement closely, you'll see that we're getting the billboards and you will also see that those illegal billboards will stay south of the rivers. And they should be removed.

Al Capone paid taxes and Al Capone paid rent on lease, but the thing is, he didn't pay his fair share. Patrick Media Group should pay their fair share the same way we demand our constituents to do the same.

So, I'm asking my colleagues to either recommit this bill or to vote it down. Thank you.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I respectfully disagree with my distinguished colleague from the South Side on this bill. We probably had as much discussion about this bill as any that has come before City Council. And after reading all the agreements and the Zoning Board decision again last night for the tenth time, I'm convinced that this is the right thing to do for the people of Pittsburgh.

This is a settlement agreement and, like any settlement agreement, it is not going to be perfect for either side. Nobody is going to get exactly what they want.

What I'd like to do first is take out the non-issues, the issues that aren't before us today, and those are the zoning of Becks Run Road, first of all. I support the rezoning of Becks Run Road in order to compliment more the residential neighborhood rather than have it industrial. I sat through the entire public hearing and heard from the residents of Becks Run Road and I completely agree with them. We have to rezone that area. And everybody agrees with that. That's not an issue before us.

Secondly, taxes. I wholeheartedly agree that Patrick Media and Pittsburgh Outdoor Advertising ought to pay their fair share of taxes, more taxes than they are now. No question about it. That also is not before us today.

Let's talk about what is before us today. This whole mess began with the construction of the new Bloomfield Bridge. At that time, the City removed many signs at the juncture of the Bloomfield Bridge and along Bigelow Boulevard.

What the City did at that time, let's go back in time for a moment, what the City did was allow Patrick Media to rebuild those signs, to rebuild them so as to block that beautiful view of Bloomfield, to build them along Bigelow Boulevard, and that was a terrible decision by the City. In fact, at that time, two billboards were actually rebuilt at that point to block the view. Thank goodness for the neighborhood groups that spoke up. And because they did and opposed that agreement, the case went before the Zoning Board of Adjustment and, under the helm of Joseph Mistick, the Zoning Board held that it was contract zoning and held that it was illegal.

So what did the City have to do at that time? What was their choice? Well, they really had three possible options. One was to allow Patrick to build those billboards. That's what they decided initially. They didn't do that. Thank goodness; it would have been a terrible decision.

The second possible option was to condemn that land under the powers of eminent domain, and to pay Patrick what it cost for that property. Now, my colleagues have said that we don't know what that dollar amount is, and I agree with them. We don't. But we sure as heck know that it's a lot of money. It's probably in excess of $500,000, and if you're talking about a ripoff of the taxpayers, it would be a true ripoff of the taxpayers to pay a half million dollars to Patrick Media, and that would result here.

The third option is to sit down and to try to reach a settlement agreement, and that's what happened here.

This settlement agreement is far from perfect. As I said, neither side is getting exactly what they want. But it is better than those other two choices for these reasons: It results in a net reduction of billboards for the City of Pittsburgh, there's no question about it. I don't like billboards. They obscure the beautiful views in the City of Pittsburgh and what this does is result in a net reduction of billboards.

Moreover, it could save the City taxpayers $500,000 or more, what it would be required to pay Patrick Media for the property that they own. My colleague thinks that a transfer of $20,000, which is what this agreement involves, is a ripoff to the taxpayers. $500,000 is a heck of a lot more.

And as far as the four billboards that the City says it won't oppose, and that's where the real problem lies here, we have to remember something. Patrick Media still has to go through the necessary process to get zoning variances and I and any other person who would like to should go and oppose those four billboards being put up.

So, that's the result, in my view, if we do approve these bills. Now, what is going to happen if we don't approve them? If we don't approve this agreement, we're going to go back to court, not once, but definitely twice and perhaps three times. First, to litigate the appeal of the Zoning Board decision, remember, the Zoning Board held the first agreement to be contract zoning. It's now on appeal before Judge Penkower. If we don't approve these agreements, we go back to court.

Secondly, we're definitely going to go to court over the question of how much to pay Patrick Media if we don't approve these agreements. The City would condemn that land under eminent domain, and then we get in a big fight over how much that land is worth. The City Solicitor's Office has said that it's worth in excess, more than, $500,000.

So, when we look at history, there's no question, in my mind, that it's better to go along with this and to approve this agreement. This whole mess began in 1984 with the first settlement agreement involving this property. We have spent thousands upon thousands of dollars litigating this issue, money that could be better spent for other purposes to help the people of Pittsburgh.

Do we really want to go back to court and litigate this issue? Do we want to spend more taxpayer dollars on it? No. I think after 6 long years, it's time that we put this issue behind us and move on to City business.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, Mr. Capone from Chicago made his money off of illegal drug sales and alcohol and prostitution and numbers. And whether I have a personal opinion about the aesthetics of billboards, I think it's completely unfair to convey to the public any sense that Mr. Capone's operation being illegal and notorious is in any way representative of the billboard industry today.

Patrick Media, and I concur with Mr. Cohen, let's separate out some of the issues, Patrick Media in fact does pay about $200,000 a year in various taxes. They do that and if there's any indication that they're not doing that or not paying the appropriate sums of money, then we have systems in place in City government for auditing and that kind of information should be conveyed to the appropriate City directors in Finance.

Patrick Media pays over $50,000 a year in annual license fees to the Building Inspection for sign inspection, and we know for a fact in this Council that Building Inspection does not go out and inspect every sign. Building Inspection acts on a complaint system. If there's a complaint, they go out and do it. So, in fact, that's actually a hidden tax to the billboard industry that we are actually receiving money for.

Mr. Cohen made the point that the only ripoff ultimately, which I concur with, to the taxpayers, will be in the sum of a half million dollars which I think in reality we will end up paying out of our pockets if this is an issue that goes to the court of law.

If a highway goes through, and no better example than the East Street Valley Expressway, if we take property, at some point we are going to pay the piper. The State took homes in the early part of the East Street Valley and got them real cheap. Smarter residents in that area held out and they made close to $300,000, $400,000, $500,000 for property that wasn't actually even worth that much.

So, in the end, the ripoff will be the amount of money that this Council, if we are derelict in our duty by not approving this agreement, will end up paying to Patrick Media ordered by a court of law. I don't think that's a reasonable thing for us to carry that burden, especially when we have basically what amounts to be a compromising, a give and take, a meshing of interest on the part of the neighborhood groups, those three specifically who challenged initially, the neighborhood groups City-wide.

The billboard industry is an industry just as much as any of us would be upset if Nabisco closed or Clark Candy closed or a company in the South Side closed. There are a lot of blue collar workers who work in the billboard industry, have legitimate jobs, union-paying jobs, and some of them even live in the South Side. I think they have a right to work in a local industry.

I think the issue is, how do we, over a period of time, put some rational planning and zoning and the actions of the Board of Adjustment and the actions of City government, to regulate the industry and do what we need to do over a period of time. We can't have an onslaught on the affairs of the billboard industry because they're aesthetically displeasing. If we want to talk about pollution, we should attack the newspaper industry. They contribute over 30 percent of the landfill costs, ending up being garbage and pollution in the City system.

So, let's be fair about what we talk about in terms of these lofty comments about local industries.

The issue is, is the compromise agreement reasonable and fair. Overall, I'd say it is. Overall, it does result in a net loss of a number of billboards. Overall, it represents a compromise on the part of local industry in giving up a number of boards that they will be allowed to have, and I think that's something that's fair and reasonable and I think we have an obligation to approve this agreement.

I think we can take some actions in the future regarding a zoning consideration, be it in Becks Run area or anywhere else in the City. But I would think that it's important to note, Mr. Chairman, at this time, that through natural attrition in this industry, each year this industry loses billboards. Some of us would agree that maybe that's a fortunate thing and that should happen. But, in fact, because of loss of consideration, loss of property, highways, construction, properties being sold and new properties coming online for development where they don't want a billboard. So, there's actually been a natural attrition each year in losing the number of billboards in this City and I think that progress should proceed.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to try not to repeat what has been said because I think it's been done very eloquently. I share many of the concerns of my esteemed colleague, Mr. Ricciardi, but I also think that Mr. Cohen who is an attorney and who I trust, and Mr. Ferlo, outlined many of the pros and cons and the realities of what we're confronted with. But I disagree in part with all of you, even though I respect what you have to say.

This is a contract where we're choosing between bad and worse. We're locked into a Catch-22. No matter what happens, this Council will look bad and we're going to look bad because we're going to be perceived as saying, "Wowee, billboards." Well, the fact is, I have a 20 year history of being an environmentalist and I don't think, "Wowee, billboards." although I used them in my last campaign and so I don't want to be a hypocrite. But I would like to see billboards not so close together and it is a fact no one can refute that when you have communities, particularly low-income communities, impacted with billboards, you destroy the ability of that community to bring itself up by the bootstraps. So, when we find out that roads or development happen and billboards go, I don't cry about it, even if I won't have a place. I'll put my ads in the newspapers instead of on billboards.

What are we confronted with? The situation is really very clear. A contract is a contract is a contract and we're caught between paying more and having more billboards and really defeating what the public wants which is eliminating many of the billboards or dragging this out to the courts for a very long time.

So, I don't think we have very much choice but I think somethings need to be made clear. I just spoke to the representative of the billboard people and, indeed, you'll be happy to know, Mr. Ricciardi and the people listening, that they will give the 100 feet to the citizens. They will move the billboard back 100 feet. Is that correct? Nod your head. Thank you. So, we now have it on the Record that a head was nodded by the representative of the billboard people and the 100 feet will be made available.

The issue of Becks Run Road and the rezoning. I believe that this is a new day, the beginning of this year and a new Council, and I can say that because I've lived through hell with other Councils. And so far, it isn't exactly Heaven, but it ain't bad. We agree in principle on many things and there is a commitment, and I think it is a unanimous commitment, to rezone the Becks Run Road project. And while I agree with Mr. Ricciardi, it would be nice if that was already in place. It isn't, but we need to know that that will be in place immediately, as soon as possible.

So, I would like to request, if I may, with the permission of the President, that that be scheduled immediately, that at the first possible moment that we will be addressing that issue. And you have my pledge, you've already heard other people on Record saying that they support it, so I think that is a fait accompli.

Now, the next thing. Let's get to the real issue here. Everybody's posturing, and I guess in a sense I am too. I'm caught between a rock and a hard place. We're saying that we don't want billboards but we want this contract, those of us who are supporting it. And so let's get on with the issue. Let's not dwell in the past. What is, is, and what has happened, happened. What are we going to do now? That's really what the public is looking to us for. Leadership. We've got to be leaders.

I've sat through more hearings on billboards than you can shake a stick at. Let us schedule another one and let's deal with specifics. Let's deal with the spacing of billboards, the impacting of billboards in low and moderate income areas which keep them from bringing themselves out of the mire, and let's deal with the most important thing that's new for me.

I want, and I've already asked Mr.

Specter for it, not how much do two people pay $360 a month for billboards. I want every dollar for the last ten years of what was paid to the City for billboard rental, by whom, and if it wasn't paid to the City, who was it paid to because there's a question of who owned the property, whether it was the City or whether it was private. Maybe it shouldn't be 10 years; it should into Statute of Limitations I guess. That would be more intelligent. Maybe we're going to find that this money that we're giving to Outdoor Advertising may be negated by what they owe us. That's what we need to know.

I think all this dialogue has been led in part, I guess, by Mr. Ricciardi has been very beneficial because we're now going to bring out a very serious issue and get right to the heart of the issue, not what was, whether we should honor the contract, but what are we going to do to correct the problems that have been created by billboards.

With your leadership, Mr. President, I hope that we will immediately address did they give the money to the City, why wasn't it collected, how can we get it, how much did the Outdoor Advertising people owe, who owes whom, and when can we get this money and how much is it and how will it offset this contractual agreement. I think if we do those things and start to address some of the issues of billboards in another sense, I think we'll be further ahead.

The last word, my colleague, Mr. Ferlo, you know, there are a lot of things that make money. The drug industry makes money. Pushing money for those kids who can't make money any other way. We don't always say let's have something because it provides jobs. I mean, we have to look at the overall good of the community. The overall good of the community is not to have billboards on every corner.

Mr. Regan:

I like when my lofty colleagues throw those big numbers around like $500,000 or $600,000. You know, there's an old saying on the North Side, "Forget about the $200,000, just give me the buck and a half you owe me."

This is a poor neighborhood and they've never gotten their buck and a half. They'll never see $200,000; they'll never see $500,000. But we owe them their buck and a half.

There are certain neighborhoods that are dumping grounds and have been dumping grounds since time. You know, you talk about blue collar and working people over there, there's a lot of unemployed and retired people living in that neighborhood. You have 40 defenseless people over there that have nobody to fight for them but Mr. Ricciardi and I admire my colleague for going to war for them. I think he's doing the right thing.

There's a lot of neighborhoods that they think they can just ride through and throw trash out the window, they can just say what they want, wind down the window and say what they want to the women walking down the street, because it's not a fancy neighborhood. They're working people or maybe they're poor women or women that don't have the money to dress like the fancy ladies do. I admire my colleague and I'm saying that the problem here is 50 by 100 feet and if you can't give this neighborhood 50 by 100 feet, then we have a problem in American, not only in Pittsburgh.

I will vote yes if an agreement is signed to give them 150. If not, I will vote with my distinguished colleague, Mr. Ricciardi.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Very briefly, Mr. President. I'm sure you want to wrap up the comments and get the vote out.

I would just like to say respectfully to my colleagues that I see the lobbying efforts of the Patrick Media Group were very successful and that we accepted the rhetoric of the Law Department. I'll just take a moment.

This agreement will not be a new reduction of billboards in the City of Pittsburgh because after it's approved, the 20 billboards on Becks Run and Greentree Road can stay. If this agreement is not approved, the 20 boards come down. That is a net reduction.

Also, we keep throwing around $500,000, $600,000. Seventeen billboards did cost us $500,000. Five parcels of land, we don't know what that number is. We're voting on an agreement when we have no idea what we might owe Patrick Media Group and POA. Those appraisals have not been done. And the threats of the billboard industry, and I see the rhetoric came up here and it was also tossed to me the amount of taxes that they pay. I'm talking about fair share taxes, not the amount of taxes. And the threats that they have employees that live in the South Side is just a threat and it doesn't mean anything to me because we have to do the right thing. How can we vote in a vacuum when we don't know what those five parcels of land are worth? We have no idea. If we had that number, then we're in the ballgame. As Mr. Regan said, we don't know if it's a buck and a half or $200,000, so what can we offer our other neighborhoods?

So, I thank my colleagues for their time, and I also thank them for letting me recommit the bill last time 8-1. I thank them for their negative recommendation and, no matter how the vote goes now, I just want to thank my colleagues for giving me the time to express my views for the people of Becks Run.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. President, I would like for it to be a part of the Record. I heard my very distinguished first lady here in Council say about billboards, especially Patrick Media or any of the rest of them. I'm not opposed to billboards.

My consumption of this whole thing was because of Councilman Gene Ricciardi and I feel that as a body here in Council we have individual differences in things that we're endeavoring to do. On my first vote, I did so because I think Councilman Ricciardi does an excellent job on the South Side of Pittsburgh and so many people from that area come to my church where I'm the Pastor of that congregation. They're so pleased with him and when this matter came before me, I was concerned because of Councilman Ricciardi, his Council district, as well as I would like the colleagues here should I have something that would come before Council. That was my concern.

I'm not opposed to Patrick Media. I'm not opposed to any of these billboards, wherever they might be because if we do away with billboards, then I can't even advertise my church. So, I'm not opposed to it.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I know we want to vote on this and I'm going to move that along very quickly. I also respect, very much, Councilman Ricciardi's position and his work for that neighborhood and I think we should do everything we can for that neighborhood in terms of zoning changes and anything else that we can do to move that along.

I disagree on the question of whether or not we know how much that land costs. What we do know is how courts decide how much land like this costs and what we do know is how much was paid for this land. So, we can figure out fairly closely from those two things that this land is going to cost hundreds of thousands of dollars. And that's what it comes down to.

We are asked to make tough choices and I wholeheartedly agree with Councilwoman Madoff; this is a choice between bad and worse. I agree. We have to make the tough decisions and I think our responsibility is for the entire City of Pittsburgh and that's the reason that I support these. I am no friend of the billboard interest; that's for sure. And I think we should look to restrictions down the line of billboards and how we can make sure that there are as few as possible in the City of Pittsburgh. But when we're confronted with the question between bad and worse, we're going to have to go with bad. That's why I support this.

The Chair:

I think there has been some good, healthy debate on this issue within Council, in a respectful way which I think reflects very well on Council. And I also think that out of the issue has grown the issue of rezoning. The other bill that Mr. Ricciardi has introduced today, a comprehensive review of all billboards, which will be on the agenda tomorrow for discussion as quickly as possible, and the commitment for the 100 foot area in the neighborhood. Without the debate and the recommittal, I'm not so sure that all that would have occurred. So, I compliment Mr. Ricciardi and others for the healthy debate that has existed.

Michelle Madoff:

The thing that disturbs me, and I hope I don't get my colleagues' backs up, is that everybody is saying that everybody is doing a wonderful job representing their community. May I remind my colleagues that we don't represent just a community. We represent everybody.

And I would hope that that message would get out because whatever we vote on any district, as Mr. Ricciardi has stated, affects everyone. But I hope we don't come off as being so parochial that we forget that if the general fund doesn't survive, no community will survive.

Mr. Regan:

I would like to say that I represent the people of Pittsburgh first and my neighborhood second. But, there are certain neighborhoods that have been dumped on for years and other neighborhoods that have gotten the best of it for years. Don't ever lose sight of that fact either.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Discussion on Bill 1023. Just very briefly, I'd prefer that we not vote on this because I think it's wrong for us to approve this agreement for sewage for the Borough of Greentree until we actually know what the fee is going to be. We've had a history in this City of problems associated with negotiated fees in relation to sewage over the years and I think the Director has the power to go out and begin the negotiations, but the final bill that comes to Council should have the fee listed so we can discuss it. That's why I'm voting no on the bill.

Michelle Madoff:

I have the utmost faith in this particular director. There is a standard policy on what we charge, there's a formula that has been established and I don't think it will change for this item.

My concern was, didn't we have the capacity to absorb the sewage and yes we do and I will vote yes.

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, 985 and 986 I believe are companion bills and they relate to the dialogue that we had here the other day on General Services requesting annual approval again, the right to handle contracts and purchase of materials under $10,000 and in excess of $10,000 for a total somewhere of $20 million.

I had asked the City Clerk to please distribute to my colleagues the 1986 dialogue that took place with reference to this legislation. I don't know if everybody read it, but I think if you did you might find it enlightening. Let me just take a few quotes out of it if I may.

"Michelle Madoff:

What are the total dollars we use in purchase for the City in a year?

Mr. Jacoby:

We purchase approximately $20 million.

Michelle Madoff:

Ah, isn't it wonderful? It's marvelous, folks. From $20 million, the minorities and women get under $1 million. Isn't that marvelous?"

Michelle Madoff:

The point I'm making is that here we are, 1990, and once more we have turned over a charge account to General Services to issue contracts, enter into negotiations, albeit competitively when it's over $10,000, and still, although the purpose was to provide entry into the system for minorities and women, which was pledged at 15 percent, we're still under 1 percent.

I cannot in good conscience vote for this legislation and may I remind my colleagues that we were elected predominantly as a legislative body to review expenses. If there were 300 expenses a year, particularly on the over $10,000 is excess of, and you divide it up over the 50 times we're in session, what are we talking about? A few bills? A few moments each week? And we're allowing a department to have sole discretion over it? I can't believe this Council. I can understand the other Councils doing it, but I can't believe that this Council would do it.

I did vote for it in previous years because it was going to help minorities and women. Well, it hasn't and until I see that, I'm not voting for it.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I would just like to remind Council that Director DiNardo spoke extensively on this bill last week. He did two things when speaking on the bill; first of all, he assured Council that he is new and that he will be looking at ways to change this bill for next year when it comes around. He has only been there a month and I think we need to give him a fair opportunity to bring about changes in that department.

Secondly, something that seems to be getting constantly confused is that this bill has nothing to do with minority participation. Carol Veal of the General Services Department and I had lunch yesterday and had a very good discussion on the City's minority and women owned business programs. She assured me that this bill has nothing to do with minority participation. This bill is just giving permission for General Services to go out and order or go out on contract for commodities that the City uses in large quantities that are repeatedly being ordered.

So, I'd just remind Council that this bill has nothing to do with minority participation but it does have to do with the smoother and, I guess, the better for lack of other words, functioning of local government.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, one of the reasons why I strenuously objected to the appointment of Ms. Botsford as the Director of the Water Department, if you reflect on my comments at that time, it was because she in fact did an abysmal job in relation to the concern that Councilwoman Michelle Madoff has raised.

There has not been significant progress and the City needs to address both legally, administratively and legislatively, the issue of minority and female participation and procurement of goods and services for the City. That's why I took that position. That would have been the appropriate time to speak out on this issue. This issue, in fact, allows the City to go ahead on its annual purchase contracts for goods and commodities and professional service contracts.

I think the issue needs to be addressed. I think we need to meet with the Administration and come up with whatever administrative actions can be taken and whatever legal actions this Council has the power to enact to begin to deal with the issue.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Chairman, I really think, Mr. President, when we think in terms of Mr. DiNardo who we had before Council, examined his credentials, we voted on him to be the Chairman of this particular department and his expertise in the past in the Department of Public Safety. I really think that he should have this leverage to act. I really do. I don't know what we're holding up for here. What has happened in the past, Mr. DiNardo has guaranteed us when we were scrutinizing him and investigating him, taking him through the whole ordeal, that he was going to make sure that these things wouldn't happen in the future. So, I think we should be ready to vote on this.

Michelle Madoff:

In rebuttal to my esteemed colleague, Mr. Coyne. This bill has everything to do with minority and women contracts. Everything. If you go back and read the transcript that I gave you, the Department, the Administration said that's what it was about. That's what they want it for. I can read. In '86 that's what they said; "We want to raise an increase the money so we can help minorities and women." And that's the only reason I went along with it because, in principle, this Council should be voting on the expenditures of dollars not a department having sole discretion, and the only reason I did it. So, you can't say this is not about minorities and women; that's what it's about.

The Chair:

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd like my comments to be brought forward on Bill 884.

(MR. FERLO'S REMARKS ON BILL NO. 884 - WEDNESDAY, JULY 11, 1990)

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, the reason why I voted no on this last year and why I'm going to vote no on it this year, is it is just not necessary; that is the issue. We shouldn't embark on things only because there are available federal funds. If there are available federal funds, they should be used for other important infrastructure projects around this City.

I am sure the good Senator who owns this property is going to make two to four hundred thousand dollars off this deal, and if he is not, then he should go to court because he is not getting a fair buck for his building.

The issue is, it is not necessary. Taking this piece of property as small as it is, is not going to straighten out that angle some maniacal architect down in E & C views on some map as important in order to straighten out that corner. It is just not going to happen. It is still basically a right angle once we acquire this property. It is a waste of money and we should spend our money on better things.

Other than that, God bless Senator Early.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

Mr. Ferlo:

This is a bill to theoretically remove a piece of taxable property and help to straighten out an intersection at 10th and Liberty and it's the most ridiculous thing I've seen committed by City government in ten years. In fact, we're going to spend about $750,000 to take taxable property off the tax rolls for no logical reason whatsoever.

After the property is taken and the street is redesigned, it is still basically a right angle as you're coming off 10th Street, across Liberty, approaching 6th. It makes no sense whatsoever. It might make sense to some theoretical engineer and architect down below on the 3rd floor, but from the point of view of public policy and public safety and the expense, I don't understand the logic of this bill and I strenuously object to it.

Mr. Cohen:

On that issue, Mr. President. What this bill is supposed to do is to improve traffic flow in the Liberty Avenue area and I do think this is one where we should look to the design architecture and construction experts on this because to improve traffic flow is really necessary in that area and that's why I'm going to be voting for it, because I'd like to see that improvement.

This is really a complicated project with the URA and Engineering and Construction and unless I see some faults or flaws in the way they go about it, I think we should go along with them and defer to their judgment on how to increase traffic flow in that area.

So, I disagree with Councilman Ferlo and think we should approve this.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't know if my colleagues remember, but I'm sure, Mr. Wagner, you remember and the public remembers, that this is a piece of property that I probably blew my gasket over. This is the white elephant, known as the White Tower, that went to a legislator who is now under investigation, Mr. Ed Early.

This is McDermott's biggest boondoggle and I went at his jugular in this room because of the way that this dispensing of this property was handled. The City did not move expeditiously to buy that property and now we're going to have to buy it from a third party. It was one of the worst handlings of development in our community, a disregard for the taxpayers' pocketbook.

It's really another example of McArdle. They do it piecemeal instead of doing it at once and so you have the fence done one year and the wall done another year and electrical work done another year and the street is shut off for seven years either one way or both ways and it still isn't done.

You have to look ahead. You have to have some foresight. This is an example of very poor planning and while it may be in the long run the right thing to do on the corner, I just want to put in a protest vote of how that department in the past operated. I'm going to vote no.

The Chair:

If I may just add a comment. This issue has been in front of Council before and I personally am going to vote for it and one of the primary reasons is that the third phase of Liberty Avenue that needs to be completed, which really is in dilapidated shape, ties into this project. If we don't get moving on that phase of Liberty Avenue, we are never going to make the connection with the Convention Center and everything that is happening in the Strip with the other end of town at the Point. It really is a deterrent, I think, to attracting people and conventions to the City.

I guess the argument can be made that this corner has nothing to do with that. I think it does because it has something to do with traffic flow and reconstruction of that intersection. So, consequently, I would like to see us get the issue behind us.

Mr. Cohen:

I have little to add to what you said. I agree with you.

I do think, though, at Wednesday's meeting we put the URA and the Department of Engineering on notice that as they negotiate the agreement for this property, which they have not reached an agreement yet, that they are on notice from this Council that they do so in a fiscally responsible way and in a way that the ultimate agreement corresponds to the value of the property.

So, I think that's one of the concerns that Councilwoman Madoff had. I'm not sure she was here for that discussion, but we did put them on notice on Wednesday.

I agree with you and think that we should turn the corner on this project and move ahead.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President, I would like to make a comment here about my good friend, Ed Early, who I grew up with. He's one of the most outstanding people that I've ever met in my life. I think he was a tremendous legislator. He was a people's person and I don't think we should vote on Ed Early. We should vote on whether it's the right or wrong thing to do and I personally take my hat off to Ed Early. I think he's a great guy.

Michelle Madoff:

I disagree, respectfully. But back to the issue. I'm voting no as a protest vote. While I agree with you, Mr. Wagner, that you're right; we've got to get on and everything you've said is true. I think we need to go on Record, some of us who have been here long enough and have been through the dialogue on what happened to that corner should have some kind of continuity.

It's a protest vote against bad management and the previous Administration of Construction and Engineering. We've got a $1 million overrun on Phase II, $1 million on Phase IV, and I would guesstimate and probably be right on the button that we're going to have another $1 million overrun right here because we didn't know what was at the curb.

You know, it was said really quite eloquently, "A billion here, a billion there; pretty soon it adds up to real money." This Council every week talks about money that we need for the City and we're talking about $4 million minimum overrun on Grant Street and the fact that it took so long. Granted we get matching funds, but the debt to the City taxpayers is astronomical. So, I will vote no as a protest.

The Chair:

Protest or non-protest, we need five votes to pass the bill. I hope we have five votes sitting here.

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen	Mr. Regan
Mr. Coyne	Mr. Wagner
Mr. Darkins	(Pres't)

AYES 5 NOES 2

(MR. FERLO AND MICHELLE MADOFF VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

Also,

Bill No. 886

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution further amending Resolution No. 1061, effective January 1, 1990, as amended, entitled 'Resolution adopting and approving the 1990 Capital Budget and the 1990 Community Development Block Program; and approving the 1990 through 1995 Capital Improvement Program,' by amending the title of a line item, (Perry North Senior Center).

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen	Michelle Madoff
Mr. Coyne	Mr. Regan
Mr. Darkins	Mr. Wagner
Mr. Ferlo	(Pres't)

AYES 7 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Ferlo:

Two things, briefly, Mr. Chairman. First of all, I'd like to make a motion that there be a formal public hearing on the recycling issue, specifically on the ordinance which Council received yesterday which would codify into law the actual manner in which the recycling issue will be conducted, fines, its implementation. And, as part of that, we are still owed, Mr. Chairman, a formal written report from the Administration, the document from the so-called consultant of which we spent over $200,000 this past year for a consultant study and agreement at that time.

And if I can refresh our memories so we're clear, the Administration was to provide that report and there was to be a cost benefit analysis on the various types of recycling plans that could be implemented. That report I don't even think exists. It is not forthcoming. I'd like a formal public hearing. I think the public has been out there for the last year, silent, wanting to know what is happening with recycling. It's time for them to come forward and offer their opinion.

But in conjunction with the ordinance that we have to vote on, I think it's perfectly appropriate and reasonable for us to have a public hearing and I'd like to make that in the form of a motion.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the motion for a hearing on the bill submitted today and other issues related to recycling?

Mr. Ferlo:

I think the hearing should be on the ordinance but the ordinance basically is the recycling issue.

Mr. Cohen:

I absolutely agree that we should get the public involved and have them speak on the ordinance and have a public hearing, so I agree with that. I would like us to have it as quickly as possible so that we don't contribute to slowing this process so that we can have recycling as soon as possible. So, let's try to schedule it as soon as we can.

Michelle Madoff:

I have only one concern. We asked for the report and Mary Conturo said she was giving it to us any moment. July something. I would like to have that report before we have the hearing because I've been to about ten recycling hearings and post agendas. I don't know what more I'm going to learn that I don't know already. So, if the reporter next year marks me as not attending all posts and hearings, it's because, you know, how often can you attend the same hearing over and over again.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think the hearing should be televised and that's part of my motion also.

The Chair:

The motion on the floor is to have a hearing in regard to the bill and other related issues. We will schedule the hearing in early August, sometime. I would ask the City Clerk to notify the Mayor's Office and the appropriate individuals that the information requested by Council should be provided as soon as possible, certainly before the hearing.

All in favor of the motion to have a hearing and have it televised? Opposed?

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Mr. Ferlo:

On the second issue, Mr. President, I'll try to be very succinct.

For some time I've been doing some research and basically I went on a treasure hunt. I've been on a Sixth Floor treasure hunt. I don't know if Council is aware of this; probably much of the public is not aware of this. We, the City of Pittsburgh, actually own the Sixth Floor of the City County Building.

The reason why I initially started on this issue, Mr. Wagner and others on Council, myself, Mr. Regan, have been upset about the condition of the outside of the building on Ross Street and in front of the City County Building, and that's sort of what sparked my interest. As I started doing research, I actually started developing what I can best describe as a treasure hunt.

Having now indicated to you and to the public, Mr. Chairman, that we, in fact, own the Sixth Floor, I think you should know that as of 1989 the receipts from the County amount to about $25,000 which is $75,000 less than a ten year contractual agreement that we've had with Allegheny County.

In other words, from 1978 by Council resolution until 1988, Council approved a lease arrangement with the County to occupy the Sixth Floor in the amount of $101,500 per year. Last year, per the receipts 1989, of the $101,500 that was supposedly to be paid, the Controller's Office has actually only been in receipt at the final tally for 1989 was $25,746. That means we have been out $75,000 in the year 1989. I don't have the figures for the previous years of the ten year agreement but I would gather that there is a significant amount of money that's out.

I'm raising two issues here. One, where is the rest of our money; and secondly, that contractual agreement with the County ended in 1989, actually 1988, December. That means from 1989 now going into 1990 and 1991, we, in fact, do not have a continuation of that contractual relationship. And I'll be darned if I'm going to vote for an additional contract that sets the fee at $4 per square foot when we just approved a lease this year in the Porter Building for the Water Department for I think $12 or $13 per square foot.

Something stinks here and I think we have to take control of the situation and request from the Administration an explanation as to why, for one, we don't have all of our $101,500; and secondly, what is the status of any negotiations and are there any negotiations regarding the continuation of this leasing arrangement.

The third issue is, and I don't think Council is aware of this, the County receives all the money from the pay phones, even the pay phone outside the Mayor's Office. I think all that money should be taken back and given to the City so we can spend it on cleaning up the front of the building.

This contractual agreement, the original ordinance creating the relationship with the County and the City on who owns this building dates back to 1915. And in that ordinance, it provides for the Court of Common Pleas to appoint a referee when there is disputes about who should take care of what or maintenance or any kind of a problem like that.

So, if the argument is true by the Administration that they indeed would like to do something about cleaning the front of the buildings, if the County won't pay its share, the legal agreement back in 1915 provides a process by which the local court can appoint a referee.

So, there's three fundamental issues here. One, where is our money that we got screwed out of in the amount of about $75,000 in 1989 alone; secondly, what is the status of the current negotiations and is this lease in the future going to reflect fair market value for the proper on the Sixth Floor; and thirdly, if we want to move ahead and clean these buildings and we're concerned that the County is not paying their share, let's kick into motion the provisions of the Act of 1915, the original lease agreement, which allows the Court of Common Pleas to appoint a referee.

I think this is a very interesting issue, obviously. I'm mainly concerned not only about the cleanliness of the building, but we're out a lot of money and I want to know why they County isn't paying its share.

So, I'd like the appropriate information to be sent to the Administration for a response, and I'll provide a copy of this ledger.

Michelle Madoff:

I'd like to comment on my colleague's information that he brought to Council. May I address him?

Mr. Ferlo, did you go to the Administration in any way and ask what happened to that money?

Mr. Ferlo:

Yes. They're researching the agreements to try to find them to give to me. I already have them from other places.

Michelle Madoff:

We know where you got them from.

Mr. Ferlo:

I got them from the Clerk's Office, doing the research.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, I'm going to get to that in a moment.

If, indeed, what you've discovered is factual, you have a very good issue and one that is in the best interest of the public that we indeed do something about it. The reason I asked is that sometimes there's a quid pro quo. They won't pay us for something because we pay for something else. That's what I was concerned about and you're saying no, that wasn't the issue.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just on that point, to clarify. The ten year contractual agreement that was signed by Council in 1978 specifically states that the fee shall be $101,500. There's a specific clause in there also that says that any maintenance or repairs to the Sixth Floor, the obligation is to the County to pay for it. So, in other words, any excuse that the County says that they paid for maintenance or anything of the sort, that doesn't fly with me.

And even if there is some issue here, there should be an auditing. When the County sends that $25,000 check, they should also send formal receipts and have some approval process if their contention is that they indeed did some work on the Sixth Floor.

But the other main issue is that that property up there is not fair market value $4 per square foot. So, let's straighten this problem out.

Michelle Madoff:

It seems to me that somewhere or other there is a breakdown in operations. If the Controller is supposed to audit and collect our bills, did he get a copy of the contract? Is the Controller aware of the contract? And if he is aware of the and has a copy, is there a list of all contracts with the City, which I think a Controller would have, and why hasn't he collected the money?

That's basically why I asked the question, "Is there a quid pro quo?" and therefore it wasn't collected, or indeed is this a contract and that's the guardian of the collection of our bills, the Controller's Office. I just thought I'd comment on that.

On another issue. This is not an intention to impinge on my colleague, Mr. Coyne's, area which I believe is the Greenfield area. For the last some 15 or 20 years, because of my activities with GASP, the community years and years ago approached me about solving the problem of the Greenfield Auto Service. It was in the Pittsburgh Post Gazette on July 16th.

This is a typical problem that exists in every one of our communities. A landlord allows his property to deteriorate, and in my district and the Sheraden district, across the road, excuse me, right next door to somebody who doesn't maintain his property, the next property deteriorates. The property across the road deteriorates. And pretty soon people don't want to live in this community.

Here is a community fighting the Greenfield Auto Service, to my knowledge for about 20 years. And what happens is that they go to court and they get six months to clean it up and they don't do it and a week before the six months is up or a month after they're hauled back into court and they say, "Oh, now I've got a plan." And six months later -- This goes on for 20 years.

Something has to happen to change the way we do business in the City. If there's a State law that pre-empts us, we need to change State law.

I conferred very briefly with Deborah Miskovich of Housing Court and I've talked to Mary Conturo about giving some input to this Council as to what kind of legislation we need so that we continuously don't have to deal with these absentee landlords or landlords that are holding onto property.

In Oakland I've just dealt with one there because this landlord is hoping the University will eventually take it. Meanwhile, it's full of graffiti, it's a hazard to the community, and the community wants to do something. They want to build some little parklets. They want some adequate housing. But no, because of the profiteering, we, as City residents, are having our City slowing deteriorated by those who are in it for personal gain.

I think that we need to do something and I respectfully ask my colleagues to think about ideas and ways that we should seek to right this terrible situation, if you have some ideas on litigation.

Mr. Coyne:

I thank Councilwoman Madoff for bringing this matter before Council.

I'm sure everyone saw the article in the newspaper the other day concerning the Greenfield Auto Station which is on the corner of Beechwood Boulevard and Hazelwood Avenue. This same station was picked in "In Pittsburgh Magazine" at the end of 1989 as one of the 10 Ugliest Sites in the City of Pittsburgh.

It's really unfortunate that the Greenfield community, through organizations such as the Greenfield Organization and the businesses in Greenfield, are working so hard to maintain a neighborhood and make it a place where people would want to live in the City of Pittsburgh, and there is a building or structure like the Greenfield Auto Body right when you're going into the neighborhood. It can give people the impression that the whole neighborhood is like that and it doesn't accurately reflect what the neighborhood of Greenfield is really about.

Now, to give some support, I guess, to Mr. Feldman who does own the property, he has made attempts over the year to sell it and there have been some fights with the neighborhood groups as to the different types of business he wants to put in there. It seems that for one reason or another, either the neighbors couldn't get together or Mr. Feldman couldn't get together and the CoGos or the other markets who were thinking about locating there, have changed their plans because of time factors or whatever. Building inspectors have been out there many times. City Planning has looked at it.

But I think it's just time now, as the Councilwoman has stated, this has been going on for 10 to 20 years, that the City needs to take a stand and start with this location. City Planning needs to come up with a more definite idea of how they want to deal with properties like this and I think this would be a perfect opportunity for them to come forward and to try to negotiate and mediate an agreement between the property owner and the local residents that is going to be to everyone's satisfaction.

So, if Council could send a letter to the Department of City Planning urging some prompt action on this location and some clear cut decisions so that not only the property owner but the neighborhood groups in question would also have an idea of what direction to go into.

The businesses in Greenfield, with the aid of Dave Hairhoger who owns the Community Drug, is offering to paint the building. They're offering to go in and try to beautify the location as much as possible and I think that's very commendable. But I think that again would only be a band-aid solution and I think what the City needs to pursue at this point is a more permanent solution to problems, as Michelle has stated, not just located up there but in different areas of the City.

So, I think we should bring this to City Planning's attention and try to bring about some action.

Mr. Ferlo:

I would just ask that the same letter go to the Urban Redevelopment Authority, the Business Assistance Center, so that they can also work with Planning, as Mr. Coyne has outlined. I think the development group here needs to develop an agency of the City and needs to be involved in terms of potential businesses that might possibly locate. It may be a suitable site for a small retail or a small office center kind of a facility. I think they should be shared the information also.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm recalling now how I got involved with this issue. This gentleman has total disregard for public welfare. He used to park his cars on the street, his wrecked autos. He didn't care if it was a parking lot, a garbage dump, a lot for abandoned cars. It's very much like Mr. Ricciardi's concern about an area on the South Side. They've spray painted in that area with fumes. I got involved because of my environmental issues at the time. Really, 20 years ago.

This man probably bought his property very inexpensively and he's trying to make a killing on it on the backs of the people around it. We ought to go in and take that property by eminent domain. It can't be very valuable because he can't even sell it. If it's going to be valuable, they ought to come to, as we did today, some kind of compromise so that we can do something about that corner.

But, as Mr. Coyne said, it is not an isolated case. It happens in every one of our communities, moreso in communities such as mine, the South Side, and some other areas.

I really believe it's the time to move and I would like to call for a post agenda. I'd like to have, if it meets with Council's approval, Mary Conturo, Deborah Miskovich. I don't want to have to meet privately with these people and work something out when I think there is very good input from the brains on this Council. We could make this a better project. I want somebody, a representative from the Mayor's Office, other than Mary Conturo. It also might be beneficial if we have somebody from the Law Department to tell us what State laws and what we can do, whether we can be initiators and not be worrying about pre-emption.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Chairman, wouldn't the rightful way to do this would be that this particular property, or whatever it is, that it should be cited and go through Deborah Miskovich's courtroom instead of coming to Council? We have so many things to deal with.

The Chair:

Evidently, that has been attempted in the past and has not been successful.

Mr. Darkins:

Can't we do it again, Mr. President?

The Chair:

Certainly another request can be made to do that.

You may want to include Building Inspection in the post agenda and the URA, as Mr. Ferlo suggested.

Michelle Madoff:

For my colleague, may I once more reiterate. It is not this property that we're talking about. We're talking about properties in every community where landlords get six months, go back into court and get six months, go back into court and get six months. Promises, promises, promises, promises, and nothing happens 20 years later. It's time we dealt with it.

The Chair:

Rather than get into an extensive debate on this, why don't we have the post agenda and do that.

Everyone is aware that there is a 2:00 public hearing on a marina on the North Shore at the request of the petitioners.

Mr. Ferlo:

I just want to note the passage of the Medicare Overcharge Measure Bill that was signed into law last week by the Governor. This Council is the first municipal body, two years ago, to pass a resolution to lobby. Two years ago and this year, with the support of Council. Bishop Darkins was very active helping to organize buses and I think we've played a very important role and I applaud the State Legislature for passage of the bill.

Michelle Madoff moved to excuse Mr. Miliones for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Darkins

Council adjourned.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1141 WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh is delighted to have Mrs. Gladys Masire, First Lady of Botswana, Southern African and Chairperson of the First Lady's Charity Fund, as a guest in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, through First Lady Masire's vision and leadership, the First Lady's Charity Fund was created to begin addressing the dilemmas facing the youth of Botswana and surrounding rural areas; and

WHEREAS, because of dedication and commitment, in 1984 approval was granted to begin the development of the Botswana Youth Center on a site provided by the Gaborone Town Council; and

WHEREAS, the Center's objectives are to serve youth between the ages of 8 and 25 by providing educational, cultural, social and counseling programs as well as facilities for the development of sporting talent and creative hobbies; and

WHEREAS, since development of the Youth Center, young people have an opportunity to redirect their energies in constructive endeavors benefiting both youth and society.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh commends First Lady Masire and the Charity Fund for their determination to expand and develop the minds of young people by providing them with positive options.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

We have with us today, and she is going to give some remarks, and she has already been with the Mayor this morning and the Mayor was quite excited because when I introduced her to the Mayor I said to the Mayor, "Mayor Masloff, she is the First Lady of the City of Pittsburgh, but we have a First Lady from Southern Africa here today."

Mrs. Masire:

Thank you, ladies and gentlemen. We have a slogan that means that women are the pillars of the nation. So, I was very pleased this morning, very pleased indeed, to meet a Lady Mayor. I have to congratulate you, the community of Pittsburgh, for choosing a lady to become your Mayor. I hope that everything is going to run smoothly because a woman is the pillar of the nation.

Coming to our country, the socio-economic changes that have occurred in the past 23 years have dramatically changed the situation and the role of women in our country. It is therefore necessary to carry out research on tradition with a view of changing certain tradition attitudes and beliefs and practices to facilitate not only the full participation in development, but also to enable Botswana to present the rich character of our heritage for the benefit of the future generation.

While coming to fund-raising, as I have been told the objective of my youth center, I'm still struggling around for response to complete the building. I have already started with our first phase and so we are now going to continue with the first phase. But I hope with the help from the most interesting people at home and overseas, I'll manage to complete my center as it is one of my main babies.

We are going to provide education, leadership, character, social, counseling programs, to develop youth whereby society and youth benefit. And we are going to provide facilities to sponsor sports.

And we are also going to have accommodations for short-term visitors. We are thinking of the overseas visitors, probably a young couple who just got married and want to spend their honeymoon in Southern Africa. If we have facilities like that, they can occupy them for a short time. This is one of the things which we are hoping for.

I hope the Pittsburgh community is more interested in Botswana and I am glad to invite you to go and invest in our country. We would like you to go and invest in our country so you'll be safe if you are in Botswana. We are proud to say that you will be safe financially. Botswana is very nice. If one is there, one doesn't want to move from there.

Thank you for having staged this very warm welcome to this City of Pittsburgh. I'm very, very grateful to you all. And I hope my sisters who are with me here, although I didn't know that they are here. And the African-American women who are here, I am very, very pleased for the good arrangement they made for us. Thank you.

Mr. Darkins:

You met the Mayor of this City this morning who is the First Lady of the City, but I want you to see the First Lady here in Council. That's Michelle; she's a women.

Michelle Madoff:

Last time I looked.

Mr. Cohen:

The pillar of our Council.

Michelle Madoff:

That's right.

Mr. Darkins:

I'm so glad I'm first today because if I had to follow Baldy, it would be a hard act to follow.

As strange as it might be, I did not know today that this was going to be the type of day that it is, but I'm very proud of it because I have before me thirteen Afro-Americans and they're from thirteen countries in Africa. Every last one of them are union representatives. So, this is quite a day. And it's such a great day because as I look at all of my union brothers and then see all of my union sisters that have come over, this is harmonious. Believe me.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1142 WHEREAS, the Council of the City of Pittsburgh is honored that eighteen African women are guests in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, these women are union representatives from the African American Labor Center AFL-CIO Study Tour representing the countries of: Botswana, Egypt, Ghyana, Kenya, Malawi, Namibia, Nigeria, Siera Leone, South Africa, Tanzania, Uganda and Zambia; and

WHEREAS, the Community of Reconciliation Church and the Pittsburgh Welcoming Committee will host an array of events and activities introducing the delegates to the City of Pittsburgh and its residents; and

WHEREAS, the African American Labor Center was created in 1964 and has fervently carried out the AFL-CIO's mission to encourage the development of freedom and democracy within African Trade Unions by designing and developing programs that assist and strengthen the needsof the African Labor Movement; and

WHEREAS, through the AALC and its programs, the AFL-CIO seeks to encourage strong national labor organizations that will contribute to the economic and social development of their country and secure worker rights and promote democracy on the African continent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the African American Labor Center selected Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania as a study site and extends to them hospitality and success in their pursuit to acquire knowledge and information that will benefit the African American Labor Center.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

We also have to accept, she's from

Washington, D.C., from the National AFL-CIO, Barbara Lomax.

Ms. Lomax:

Let me say that I've traveled to Pittsburgh many times meeting with the United Steel Workers and other organizations. This has been the warmest welcome that I've ever received. And on behalf of the women from the 13 countries of the African Continent, I wish to thank you from the bottom of all of our hearts and we look forward to coming back again.

Ms. Springer-Kemp:

I'm Mada Springer-Kemp, a retired trade unionist who was given the great privilege of organizing the tour of my colleagues of Africa for the five days here. With the support of all of these wonderful people in Pittsburgh. And so, the 14 countries that are represented here straight across the continent, women doing unusual things, a secretary at the petroleum workers, the railway workers, the transportation workers, all of the non-traditionals.

So, I am most grateful that Pittsburgh has so warmly welcomed these women from 14 countries in Africa.

I would be remiss if I did not point out that Barbara Lomax's assistant. And I would also be remiss if I didn't point out Carolyn Knight and the wonderful young man who is the interpreter for the Egyptian group, Mohammad.

So, I do thank you again on our behalf. Thank you.

The Chair:

Thank you all for coming.

I'd like to ask the President of the Pittsburgh Three Rivers Regatta, Mr. Gene Connelly, to please step forward to accept this resolution.

It's a great honor to present this resolution because in my opinion this is the finest event annually in the City of Pittsburgh.

The Chair presents

No. 1143 WHEREAS, our three magnificent rivers -- the Allegheny, the Monongahela and the Ohio -- providentially have served our community as well as mankind in great expanse; and

WHEREAS, Pittsburgh is the number one Inland Port in the world with it's rivers providing the water needs for economic progress as well as recreation of our citizens; and

WHEREAS, the Pittsburgh Three Rivers Regatta is designed to contribute to the goal of focusing attention on the area's lifelines, and will offer a fun-filled weekend of free entertainment from August 2-5; and

WHEREAS, the 1990 Three Rivers Regatta, presented by Pepsi, WPXI-TV, A.C. Delco and the Greater Pittsburgh Pontiac Dealers, is pleased to celebrate another anniversary of its Pittsburgh history; and

WHEREAS, the 1990 Regatta will feature an expanded schedule of more than 70 events including U.S. Formula One Grand Prix Championship Boat Racing, the Great Mid-America Sternwheel Race, the popular "Anything That Floats" event, and the Hot Air Balloon Classic from August 3-5, which we proudly proclaim "Regatta Weekend".

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby commend the President and General Chairman of the Three Rivers Regatta, Eugene F. Connelly, and his dedicated and capable staff, as well as all those who work diligently toward success again this year; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that we congratulate Mayor Sophie Masloff, the 1990 "Riverperson of the Year" as we urge our citizens and visitors to enjoy and participate in this free open-air spectacular exhibition that truly reflects the great pride we all share in our bountiful rivers.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I should mention that the Regatta Week-end begins on Thursday evening, a week from this Thursday, with a great parade at 7:30 p.m., an evening parade, one of the few in the City of Pittsburgh.

As I indicated, it's a great honor to present this resolution to Gene Connelly. Gene and his brother, John, were instrumental, obviously, in starting the Regatta and I don't think there's anything in the City of Pittsburgh that has brought more attention to the value of our rivers in the last two decades and Pittsburgh Three Rivers Regatta.

There's a whole lot of volunteer work that goes into this Regatta each and every year. As a matter of fact, when it's over the first week of August, the planning for the next year begins within two weeks after that.

If you haven't attended it, you should attend. It is by far, as I indicated, the finest event in my opinion in the City of Pittsburgh. And the great part about it is, it's free. It has over a half million participants and we anticipate even more people this year.

I'd like to present the President, Mr. Gene Connelly.

Mr. Connelly:

Thank you President, Jack, and I certainly want to be very grateful and thankful to all of City Council for the tremendous input and all of the individual help that each and every one of you have offered to the Three Rivers Regatta.

This is an international day here today at City Council, but it's an international day for us whenever we're extended the invitation to take our Pittsburgh Three Rivers Regatta to the country of the Netherlands, to the City of Rotterdam, for their 650th anniversary. That's a first in the international festival association so Pittsburgh is certainly honored to have that distinction.

Jack Wagner is the Chairman of the parade, so that was the little plug for the parade on Thursday night. It is one of the finest parades that we have and it is a real special event.

Thank you so much.

Mr. Regan:

You know, they saved me for last because they haven't seen this many union people in this building for 100 years and we're proud to have you here. And it took my lifelong friend, Joe Laquatra, to bring them down here.

I'd like to thank Bishop Darkins. This is the first time I've seen my colleague in white. He looks pretty good in white, doesn't he? You know, it was funny; he had trouble pronouncing those African names. You should have seen when he and I went to Saskatoon, Saskatchewan at a convention and Mr. Schmitz was looking for us. Neither one of us wanted to take the fellow phone because we couldn't get it together. Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. But we finally did it.

It's a great honor that I have all these union leaders and friends of Joe Laquatra here. If ever a guy was deserving of an honor, it's Joe Laquatra because he has helped a lot of young people pay their way through college and he has also helped a lot of young people pay their mortgages off.

Her Honor the Mayor is here. Mayor, as good as you look, would you come up and replace Councilman Wagner here, please? He's only the President of Council. The Head Lady showed up and we all bow when she comes in. Thanks for coming, Mayor.

I'd like to ask Joe Laquatra's family to come up here, please. This is the First Lady of the North Side, Mrs. Laquatra. A couple Irish kids snuck in there. It shows you that things are really rough when they have to sneak into an Italian family. That shows you how strong the Laquatras are.

I'd like to introduce Joe's family, Laurie, Joe, Mike and Fannie, and his famous wife, Chris, his mother, Mrs. Laquatra. We're missing two big pillars here today; his father, Mike Hogan Laquatra, and his brother, Jack. We're sorry they couldn't be here today because they would have certainly been glad to see us name this Joe Laquatra Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Rosemary, Nancy Jean, his sisters, are here. His nieces, Annie and Kathy, and Dr. John Cancellere, his first cousin.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1144 WHEREAS, labor unions have played a vital role in the present Renaissance for the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, labor unions have worked with management in developing a favorable outlook for prospective employers to relocate with the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, construction labor unions have helped rebuild and reshape the City of Pittsburgh through the building of skyscrapers, highways, tunnels, subways and the employment of thousands of City residents; and

WHEREAS, specific construction labor representatives have played vital roles in this part; and

WHEREAS, Joseph Laquatra, President-Business Manager of the Laborers' District Council of Western Pennsylvania has been at the forefront of this effort; and

WHEREAS, Joseph Laquatra has dedicated his life to serving working men and women throughout the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, his efforts have also helped other areas throughout Western Pennsylvania and now specifically construction at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport Mid-Field Terminal project; and

WHEREAS, hundreds of construction laborers and other construction workers are working because of his efforts.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh congratulates and thanks Joseph Laquatra for his efforts for working men and women throughout the City of Pittsburgh, Allegheny County and Western Pennsylvania; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh urges all construction contractors to work towards labor peace by recognizing labor unions so that a favorable labor climate will exist in the City of Pittsburgh and that message will become clear to companies considering relocating to Pittsburgh, investing in this area and building new plants and office complexes. "IT COULD ONLY HAPPEN IN AMERICA"

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Laquatra:

Mayor Masloff, honored guests, friends, it's a real privilege for me to be here today to accept this award.

I've had a lot of help in my 27 years with the labor movement. I've been fortunate to have loyal, hard-working people alongside me. My affiliated locals in the 33 counties of Western Pennsylvania work hard every day and I get all the credit for it. All the craft locals that are out there today have supported me down through the years and I appreciate that very much.

I would not be up here today if it were not for all of you people and I want to share this award with you. You deserve it more than I do.

Labor and management have to work together today and we can do it and we proved it by the Airport project. We will continue to work together and do better and bigger things for the City of Pittsburgh and the State of Pennsylvania.

And to quote my lifelong dear friend, Baldy Regan, this could only happen in America. Thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

I'd just like to run down a list of some distinguished guests that came here today to honor Joe. And I'd like to thank Joe. He was very responsible, along with the other labor leaders, for making sure there was peace and harmony at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport and after two years there hasn't been one strike at the Airport and I think that the union leaders and Joe Laquatra deserve a nice big ovation.

From the Labors Union, Jerry Chaney, Ron Augustine, Doug Augustine, Mark Flaherty, John Chapman, Bill Layer, Tillmon Smith, Bob Kunz, Joe Frydich, Jerry Pecora, Paul Quarantella, Bob Ferrari and Mark Mancki. Ironworkers Paul Lowry, Pat McGurk, John Heinlein. Elevator Contractors - We had one kid here that was afraid to come up in the elevator from Ireland today. So if the elevator operators have any pills that they give to their workers, we'd appreciate a little help here. -- We have Ron Koerble from the Elevator Contractors. Boilermakers Joe Bazy. Operators Engineer Gil Whitmer. Pittsburgh Firefighters Paul Sherman and Joe King. Floor Coverers, Arnold Dickson. Stick around long enough and we can take care of your whole household. Carpenters, Pat Laney, Rich Anthony Millwrights, Joe Savarino. Pittsburgh Builders Rich Stanizzo, Paul Saunders. George Gallis from the Painters Union. Electricians, Denny Miller, John McIntyre and Greg Voight. They make more money than plumbers, those guys, and plumbers make more money than lawyers.

Michelle Madoff:

And everybody makes more money than Councilpeople.

Mr. Regan:

That's because you were afraid to vote for a raise. I make the motion.

Cement finishers, John LaScola, Don Mead and Bill Cichinelli. Painters, George Galis. Teamster Ted Zilch, Mike Yagercik and the famous Nick Sansotta. Sprinkler Fitters, Rege Helch.

I also have some other distinguished guests in here, the former Chief of Ross Township, Bob Butzley. Judge William Cercone, Judge Baer, Senator Ragoli. Glad to have you here today. Judge Paul Luty had to go back to his office. Chief McNamara from the Sheriff's Office. Deputy Coroner Art Gilkes. We're even working on the dead in here this morning. Judge Penkower had to leave early. Jim Didero from the Turnpike Commission.

Another guy I'd like to have stand up, he's been something for the City of Pittsburgh, the former Light Heavyweight Champ of the world. And the night he fought Joe Lewis and got knocked out in the 13th round, he was a 40 pound weight disadvantage. That night they said that Billy Conn was the greatest fighter in the world, pound for pound.

I'd like my former classmate and Prosecutor, Bob Colville, to stand up. He prosecutes everybody. I'm surprised there's crowd around him.

Judge Bob Gallo. B.J. McGarvey. Val Migloretti from Kane Hospital.

Also, we have one Republican in the house, Commissioner Dunn.

I would be remiss in my duties if I didn't ask her Honor, the Mayor, to come up and say a few words. She has been a fantastic lady for the City of Pittsburgh. She has done a tremendous job.

Mayor Masloff:

Baldy, I didn't come to make a speech; you know that. You're a tough act to follow.

I just came over to congratulate Joe. We've been friends for a long, long time. He deserves all of this and I congratulate him again.

Mr. Regan:

Thank you, Mayor.

The Mayor, if you ever go with her, she's tough to follow. She has a writer. I have some little guy about this big on the North Side who is on welfare that does my speech writing.

Joe, we'd like to thank you and want to let you know that the City of Pittsburgh loves you. This day is "Joe Laquatra Day" in the City of Pittsburgh. I wish your father and your brother were here. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Baldy, you didn't introduce your two sons. I think you should introduce them, too.

Mr. Regan:

This is my son, Dan and my son, Shawn.

I have another proclamation here. I'd like the girls' basketball team from Ireland and their coaches and managers to please come up here.

It is with honor and pleasure that I introduce this young ladies' basketball team from Dublin, Ireland who are touring the United States. We were lucky enough to have them visit with us in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1145 WHEREAS, on July 24, 1990, the Dublin, Ireland Tolka Rovers Basketball Club is being honored for their presence in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, the team consists of 14 girls ranging from the age of 15 to 17 who are as follows: Gillian White, Cathy Reid, Patricia Donnelly, Violet Scally, Fiona Daly, Helen Lawlor, Andrea Moran, Tara Kennedy, Joanne Howard, Aleatha Deegan, Emeir Howard, Louise O'Hara, Fiona Walsh and Edee Leonard.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of Pittsburgh City Council hereby recognize the Dublin, Ireland Women's Division I Basketball Club.

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

If you have any relatives living in America or if your children or great-grandchildren come to Pittsburgh, you'll be able to get into the archives and pull out your names and that you were here in the City of Pittsburgh on this day and that you were honored by these Councilmen, my colleagues, and the City of Pittsburgh.

This is their coach, Celine Byrne. Would you like to say a few words on behalf of the team?

Ms. Byrne:

I'd just like to thank you. I believe we're out of order getting in here like this, but if anyone can do it, Mr. Regan can do it for us. We'd like to thank him very much. We did host his team in Ireland and it was a great pleasure to do so.

So, on behalf of the team and the committee members, we'd like to thank you for honoring us this way. Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

This young lady is on the All Ireland team. She's a great basketball player.

Ms. White:

I'd like to say thank you very much on behalf of the team for bringing us into Pittsburgh. Thank you.

The Chair:

Thank you all for coming. Enjoy your stay.

I'd like my comments brought forward also on Bills 1090 and 1091.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MESSRS. FERLO AND WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NOS. 1090 AND 1091, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1990)

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like the Director to come to the table and Mr. Farley.

First of all, I concur with my colleague Mr. Coyne in indicating appreciation to the Administration for dealing with a difficult problem that arose. I don't think anybody was to blame. I think the hearing was very productive and --

The Chair:

-- could I please ask that chatter be reduced in the room during Council discussion so that everyone can hear what's happening here? Mr. Ferlo, you have the floor.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just to follow up, I want to be clear with the changes that we're making in these two bills. The bottom line at the public hearing was the 58 positions that were specifically mentioned and can you just give us an outline as to how these bills actually achieve what I think we came to a consensus at the public hearing last week. Also, in terms of the contractual relationship with the School Board.

Ms. Smith:

After the public hearing the issue was that there were youth with disabilities within the school system that because of a change in our contracting procedure this year would be without service during the summer months and while slots had been made available under the regular summer youth contract, the nature and severity of some of the disabilities would have precluded certain youth from participating in that program.

After the Council hearing and speaking with Dr. Cohen from the School District, his recommendation was that given the late date meet for a school district board authorization that in fact it would be more expeditious for us to look at other contractors to serve these youth, that has been done. We've talked with VRC, Goodwill and ARC, and all three will take some of the youth. We're working out the transportation arrangements and this additional authorization of $60,000.00 for more contracts will provide for the slots for those youth that would not otherwise get it.

Mr. Ferlo:

And this transfer would also allow for the additional transportation costs.

Ms. Smith:

Yes.

Mr. Ferlo:

The other outstanding issue that arose was that just generally doing some advance planning between now and next year to resolve this issue so it doesn't come up in the future and Mr. Coyne had made a suggestion of that committee and I've said that I'd like to see Mr. Coyne be on it and Mr. Wagner took the lead on this.

Is the Administration going to get that committee together in terms of doing the planning?

Ms. Smith:

I'm sure that there will be some group of people put together; we haven't directly worked on that issue yet, we were trying to work first on the immediate issue of the summer participation but I would hope that by this fall which is particularly early for us to start planning for the next summer that we be talking with the school district, getting a much better assessment of the youth in this particular program and what needs they have and then working out the best possible solution to insure that all of those youth can be served one way or another.

Mr. Ferlo:

And you will let us know when and if this committee gets formed.

Ms. Smith:

Yes.

Mr. Ferlo:

The other thing -- one question. Is there a need to clarify the application form? I realize that one does not indicate the extent of one's disability on it and maybe that's not the appropriate thing but somehow the screening has to be in place so you know the number of applicants and the category of applicants in terms of having available job slots. Is there a way to ascertain that through screening by the contracting agencies or by an advocacy group?

Ms. Smith:

Usually we get a better sense toward the end of the summer after people are actually enrolled because it's an optional question they may or may not choose to identify themselves as a person with disability but during the course of program activity that might become more apparent.

We've had three to four programs each year which specifically served persons with disabilities and then there would be additional participants who might not need to be served in one of those programs but would participate in the general program and that's the group we always have trouble identifying.

Mr. Ferlo:

The issue that Mr. Wagner raised at the hearing on the issue, if you have limited dollars, how do you begin to establish a public policy about recognizing those who are most in need versus other categories of young people who possibly could find through find private initiative efforts by the Administration, jobs at McDonalds or Arby's or those kinds of positions. That's something that this committee has to struggle with also.

Ms. Smith:

I think that's right in terms of where the dollars go.

Mr. Ferlo:

I hope we will be hearing back from you.

The Chair:

I also would like to commend you Director and Mr. Farley for acting expeditiously on this issue and even more so than that I would like to commend the public who requested the public hearing and participated in the hearing and brought this issue in front of Council. So we're finding a resolution to the problem this year and hopefully permanently in the future. Thank you.

I'd like my remarks brought forward on Bill No. 1098.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MESSRS. COHEN, FERLO AND WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1098, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1990)

Mr. Cohen:

I want to take the opportunity to commend Councilman Ricciardi on this. I support it and I think we need to move to make sure that the billboard companies pay their rent, pay their taxes and also in my view the most important issue that you raised is whether they are assessed at the proper level and that's what I wanted to ask you a question about. That is in the County's prerogative as to what the assessment is right, so if we determine, let's say that the Gispea students with your supervision of course determine that the assessments are low, what action do you suggest we take to try to increase those assessments and to influence the County?

Dir. Hayllar:

That procedure is in place. We would appeal it to the Board and have a hearing and we would state our case as to how we believe the assessments should be properly done. We do this on an ongoing basis and we would do that in this case.

Billboards are unique in that the land itself has probably no other use and the issue comes down to whether to contain in your appraisal or your assessment the revenue derived from the billboard. Probably unlike any other structure, there's no other use specifically for that land other than the land that it has been used for. It's hard to compare it to two buildings.

In the case of assessing buildings, if you have two identical buildings side by side and one is rented at 100 percent and one is rented at 20 percent, the assessment would be identical because it's the value of the building and the land. Whether the billboard rents space or not becomes irrelevant in that analogy. It's a very complicated issue. There are those -- and one of the state representatives has issued a letter dealing with it. It's easy to simplify the complexity of the issue to make a case, it's a little more difficult than it appears to be at first blush and we want to be able to be certain that if there needs to be a change in the assessment process that we are able to do it and do it with justification.

Mr. Cohen:

Well there is a huge gap right now between the assessed value of property that's used for billboards and the appraisal value.

Dir. Hayllar:

Yes. Six or seven-fold but most of the appraisals are done in condemnation proceedings and in condemnation proceedings the buyer always pays more than top dollar because it is a compelled sale, it's not too willing of a buyer or a seller so the price goes up. So to make a comparison on bridges for example or billboards at the West End Bridge where there has been a condemnation, is not fair because that is in excess of its true value.

Mr. Cohen:

So you're saying they shouldn't be the same.

Dir. Hayllar:

They're not. There is easily a six or seven-fold difference between assessed and appraised value.

Mr. Cohen:

My point is and I know Councilman Ricciardi's point and one of the reasons for his pushing this is that maybe they shouldn't be the same, I don't know but there is such a huge gap that they should at least be close so that the assessed value -- and this is what we discussed at the public hearing on Becks Run Road. The assessed value has got to in some way reflect the revenue that can be generated from that property. A lot of these properties I think are about a patch of property as big as this table or not much bigger than that. One could look at that and say that's not worth much, that's only a little piece of property but in fact it's worth a huge amount because of what the billboard companies, the amount of revenue that they can get from that. So I do think that the gap between appraised value and assessed value of billboards has got to close so I commend Councilman Ricciardi and really would encourage you to move ahead and push the Board of Assessors to make that gap close.

Mr. Ferlo:

I support the intent of the legislation because I think subsequent to the debate on the issue before us this week, we need to know additional information about the billboard industry and secondly, under my review and I'm sure others, there is a lack of available recordkeeping within Building Inspection in relation to location of the specific billboards in question.

Dir. Hayllar:

We will move at the end of the summer because we have our people in the field going out and finding billboards and they can make certain that the records are there.

We know to date that BBI records are the most complete and seem to be quite good. That's not to say either our records or the Board of Assessment records are equally as good.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just two questions and these are more principled questions if we accept this resolution. First of all I'm glad the Administration has come to the table that say that you support this resolution and I hope in the future on other pieces of legislation and resolutions that Council will pass directing the staff to do certain things, so just be clear that you are in fact opening up and setting a precedent here which has not been done before. I'm glad you are doing that and I'm sure others will be thinking of other legislation requiring the Administration to come forward with certain kinds of information and to complete specific tasks so I hope you're clear on the issue here regarding acceptance and support for this resolution and I applaud you for being so progressive on this issue.

Dir. Hayllar:

It's easy to agree to do something you have been doing for several months.

Mr. Ferlo:

Secondly, the issue, and I don't have a strong feeling one way or the other, I want to know if there's any conflict of this resolution with other parts of the ordinance that talk about the privacy of various tax records, not the right for the Finance Department to do auditing which you have the power to do in making certain information public to everybody.

Dir. Hayllar:

Real estate taxes are public information, other taxes are not and in that privilege will be respected. We can deal with it in the aggregate but we won't discuss what the business privilege taxes of certain companies are.

Mr. Ferlo:

I want to be clear on that but I do support confidentiality but at the same time I would like to have the information available to Council and the public. Thank you.

The Chair:

I think it's an excellent piece of legislation. Let's vote on it, all those in favor? Opposed? The ayes have it.

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to make a very slight amendment to the bill. We have, fortunately for us, a research person from Smoke-Free Pennsylvania, Mr. Godshall. They did some research for me last week by going into some of the places that are permitted to have the vending machines, and they're just too close to the front door. Even though minors are not allowed in, they can just sneak in because the cigarette machines are right at the door.

I have suggested in an amendment, which everybody has a copy of, that "no cigarette or tobacco product vending machine can be placed in a doorway or any other area which is easily accessible to minors." That is the amendment.

The Chair:

We have the amendment in writing. Everyone has seen it and read it. It is taking out a certain portion and adding the portion Councilwoman Madoff indicated.

Michelle Madoff:

May I clarify? The reason that little part is taken out, it does not clarify - it's too ambiguous - it doesn't clarify as to age and so on. It just had no meaning so we just took it out. It was not clarified by the actual state code.

The Chair:

You're taking out "Facilities to which persons under the age defined by statute are not permitted access" and you are including "No cigarette or tobacco product vending machine can be placed in a doorway or any other area which is easily accessible to minors."

Michelle Madoff:

That is correct.

The Chair:

Is there a second to that motion?

Mr. Ferlo:

Point of Order, Mr. Chairman. Can we vote on each one separately? Two separate amendments.

Michelle Madoff:

There's only one amendment.

The Chair:

It's Councilwoman Madoff's amendment and it's her will to vote on both of them.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm only eliminating something because there's a conflict between people who can drink at one age and can buy cigarettes at another age.

It just doesn't clarify it, so I just eliminated it. It doesn't affect the bill one way or the other.

The only amendment is just to move the machines from being easily accessible at the doorways.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen	Michelle Madoff
Mr. Coyne	Mr. Regan
Mr. Darkins	Mr. Ricciardi
Mr. Ferlo	Mr. Wagner
	(Pres't)

AYES 8 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion passed finally.

Mr. Ferlo:

One further amendment, Mr. Chairman. I think Councilmembers received a proposed amendment of Section B. The specific amendment will read as follows: "B. Except as provided for in Subsection C, no person, firm or corporation shall distribute or sell cigarettes and other tobacco products by the use of a vending machine or install or maintain a vending machine with the intent to make such distributions or sales" and the specific amendment, "unless the vending machine is equipped with a disabling or locking mechanism which would require that the vending machine be activated before accepting payment." I'd like to make that motion.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just very briefly and then I'll turn it over to Michelle to rebutt the concern here. Basically, I think the concern that Mr. Ricciardi raised a week ago, and also a concern I believe that came up in the public hearing, had to do with maintaining the goal and both the symbolism as well as the goal of reducing the likelihood that the vending machines will be taken advantage of by young people.

This particular technology would enable, to use Mr. Ricciardi's phrase, the mom and pop shop who wants to maintain the vending machine either because of theft or inventory control, whatever the concern is. This would enable them to have to activate, either by remote or by other methods make accessible, the machine to anybody who wants to take advantage of putting the coins in and getting the cigarettes.

So, the action here is pro-active and would require an action by a store clerk or whoever is in the store to activate the machine before anybody, whether they be an adult or an under-age person. I think it's keeping in the spirit of reducing the likelihood that young people will avail themselves of vending machines. And also, I think it's being fair and reasonable in terms of what I think is both a symbolic act of this legislation as well as the real intent, and I strongly urge Council to be supportive of the amendment.

Michelle Madoff:

I would urge Council not to support the amendment because, unfortunately, I believe that my colleague, and I'm giving him the benefit of the doubt, is acting in good faith, but I have some concerns.

We just learned in the last few days about his amendment and, as you know, you have before you some data and documentation that I have distributed that addresses just the item that Mr. Ferlo has suggested as an amendment.

Utah passed legislation last year to prohibit the sale of cigarettes through vending machines which at this point has been extremely successful. It was our experience in Utah prior to our new law that tobacco vending machine owners or lessors did not comply with the old law which required the use of remote control devices. In rare instances where remote control devices were installed, of 22 in one survey were they rarely engaged therefore providing easy accessibility for cigarettes to kids.

In short, vending machine laws that allow for the use of remote control devices provide too many other exclusions, make compliance confusing and enforcement nearly impossible.

On another note, one argument against the machines is that no actual face to face contact with a potential customer is required. When the buzzer sounds, a clerk may simply hit the release lever, unlike the over the counter interaction which requires the buyer to stand directly in front of the clerk, exchange money, receipts, etc.

It has been suggested that most busy clerks, bartenders, etc., will soon begin to respond automatically - you know, like Pavlov's dog; you hear the buzzer and you buzz back - rather than interrupting their other duties to check on identification. I have a whole litany of this kind of stuff.

Tobacco control advocates have generally opposed the locking device alternative because it is untested except in Utah where the state law requiring such devices were found to be ineffective and was repealed in a small community such as Woodridge, Illinois with very small numbers of machines.

What I'm asking, Mr. Ferlo, is to reconsider and withdraw the motion because what we're doing is cluttering the legislation to the point of confusion and what will happen is that it will not even be a legislation anymore. This happened with my garage bill that took three years to finally get through this Council.

If we really care about even that 16 percent of our children, youth, who have easy access to cigarettes -- Granted, they pay more for them out of a vending machine; it's much cheaper over the counter. They have to have the exact change. It is not something we want to encourage. Let's show our good faith by being progressive.

There are other communities such as 25 communities in Minnesota, several in Illinois, and the State of Florida has already instituted legislation that mandates the licensing of people who sell tobacco, the same as you license facilities that sell alcohol.

I think we should be going in that direction. Of course, that's a State kind of legislation; it's not local. I certainly would support it. But we ought to at least have the courage to take one little step and say, "Yes, we care."

As I said before, there are three people in my office who smoke; granted, not in my office. But they support this legislation because they don't want their children and other children to get hooked on tobacco.

I plead with you, if you care -- You know, I know many physicians who are cardiovascular, having been married to one, and they'll tell you that in almost every case when they operate on cancer of the lung, that person has been a long-time tobacco smoker.

Let's not clutter this piece of legislation with a gizmo that has been repealed in other states. And as my good friend, Mr. Ricciardi, has said, since Mr. Ferlo deferred to his statement about mom and pop shops, they're not going to have the $150 to spend on this gizmo. So, let's not circumvent this good piece of legislation. Let's get on with it.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just in response. First of all, I think the requirement of the $100 to $150 or whatever it is regarding the purchasing of this technology, that owner's responsibility would most likely and should fall on the vending machine industry and operators and that's just part of the cost of doing business.

I think this amendment is instructive and is in keeping with the good spirit of this legislation and that is the goal to reasonably enforce and reduce the likelihood of young people taking advantage of cigarettes through the vending machine process.

I also supported Michelle's other two amendments, especially the one on the doorway issue because I think again this strengthens my amendment which would more likely create a scenario where the machine is more readily in view of the store clerk or the counter help. And that's the reason why I supported the amendment that Michelle has offered.

I would like support for this amendment.

I think it's reasonable. I think it's fair, and I think it's in keeping with the intent of the legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it's unreasonable and unfair and I believe that I didn't, nor did you, Mr. Ferlo, or any Member of this Council, go out and look at buzzers being used to release a lock on the vending machine. But there have been studies done. I don't think you think I'm lying to you, do you? I'm showing you the studies and I'm telling you that they don't work. And if they don't work, why are you just using "I think it's a good idea" when here is proof positive that it doesn't work. So, I'm suggesting that we do not vote for it.

Mr. Regan:

Maybe the clerks could put a pack on their back and put the cigarettes up there so they have plenty of time to think about it. I think it's ridiculous.

I've had problems with this bill all along. The only reason I voted in favor of Michelle was because of the kids. I think it's terrible that kids aren't disciplined by their family. And anybody owning a business would not only have to take care of the books, they have to take care of the stock, they have to take care of everything. Now, they have to take care of people's kids. The only reason I voted for Michelle, I know she's a lovely lady, but I voted for it because of the kids. Now she wants to make it so tough that you can't put them in the doorway. You know, what are the parents expected to do with their kids? Nothing?

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, are we on the amendment or on the bill?

The Chair:

We are on the amendment.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

On the amendment, may I suggest that there are many women who have to go out and earn a living who cannot be the kind of mothers they would like to be supervising their children.

I also suggest that if indeed my colleague really means that he cares about children, and I think he does, and would like to do something, he understands the shortcomings of families today and the cost of living and supervising their children.

You know, we can say we shouldn't have laws on anything. We shouldn't have traffic policemen giving tickets and we shouldn't arrest people for violating tax laws and we shouldn't have police officers say, "You hit somebody on the head." We have to be a law abiding citizen; we have to have some rules. And here is a rule that I'm suggesting will only help in a very small percentage of the community and a very small portion of our children, but it means that we really care that we want to stop our kids from getting that slow death of cancer through cigarettes, coffin nails. I think it's time that we took that step.

The Chair:

I'd like to add a comment on the amendment. I think the amendment is effectively gutting the bill and I say that because a disabling or locking mechanism will probably permit the machine to be operated and continue to be open and permit the machine to be operated. Not just one time, but on a continuous basis.

At the public hearing there was no indication of not even one fine by anyone in this City, by our City police or anyone from the Commonwealth, for anyone selling cigarettes to minors. There was not one fine that anyone can verify.

I am sure there would not be one fine also for a violation of disabling or locking mechanisms which, in essence, would permit the same situation to exist with cigarette vending machines anywhere. They would sit precisely where they are today with no changes except for a disabling or locking device which would not always be in use.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, with all due respect to that position. I agree that there might potentially be abuses. But the fact of the matter is, and let's not b.s. the public or anybody else, this entire bill, even though I'm going to vote for it, is unenforceable. The fact of the matter is that Building Inspection will be the administrative arm of government required to enforce this ordinance, whether this amendment is accepted or not.

And the fact of the matter is, we don't even collect any income from this responsibility that we're now going to have. This bill is 90 percent public education and symbolism, and probably less than 10 percent having an actual impact on whether or not young people are actually going to ever get cigarettes in the City of Pittsburgh.

So, one of the problems with this bill, even though I support it, is the fact that we're putting an onus of responsibility on Building Inspection who is going to have to go out and scurry around and respond to complaints that might come up most notably from non-smoking advocates. And we're not even collecting a fee for this which is probably part of the major problem associated with this bill and that is the lack of enforcement.

So, I think my amendment is being reasonable in keeping with the intent of the legislation and I don't think it detracts from it.

The Chair:

If I may respond, because you're responding to me. It's a heck of a lot easier to enforce the location of a machine than the operation of a machine. You need someone to supervise or overlook the operation continuously. The placement is a one-time visit to an establishment and if the placement is wrong, they're in violation of the law. With this locking mechanism or unlocking mechanism, they can still be placed anywhere.

Mr. Cohen:

Just to add to that, Mr. President. I think this is enforceable if we have citizens out there, and I know we do, who would be able to see the vending machines that are being used for under-aged youth. The enforcement in this situation would be in conjunction with the citizens of Pittsburgh. So, if the people out there who can identify vending machines will call the Bureau of Building Inspection, in cases like that I think it would be enforced.

So, I agree that it's not completely enforceable, but there are many laws that we pass that aren't completely enforceable and this would have a positive affect and at least be partially enforceable enough so that it would protect our children.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Discussion on the bill itself. Mr. President, some people might believe that this bill concerns children, smoking, and their access to the cigarettes. I disagree. I don't think the bill really directs the attention to young people deterring their ability to either gain cigarettes or stop smoking.

This bill is about placing an additional burden on the small business owner. The majority, if not all, of the small neighborhood grocery stores scattered throughout the City of Pittsburgh are either family owned and operated by parents, their sons and daughters, by brothers and sisters, or by one older adult who is trying to supplement their very small social security check.

I believe by banning vending machines across the board that we're placing an extra burden on these people. When that older adult in that store who is working upwards from 12 hours a day to make a few extra dollars turns his or her back to get that can of corn, some youngster, it has happened in the past, is going to reach across that counter, grab five packs of cigarettes and run. And that older adult is going to be out five or six dollars.

I believe banning vending machines across the board is placing another additional burden on that taxpayer, on that small business owner. We're trying to do our best in the City of Pittsburgh to lure non-City residents to the City, people with disposable incomes. But let's not forget especially the older adults that helped build the City of Pittsburgh that are now here, that are trying to hang on, that are trying to make that extra dollar or two. Why should we punish everyone because some vending machines were used by youngsters?

If the true intent of this bill is to stop young people from smoking, I believe we have to do that through parental guidance, through public education, and through example. We, as elected officials, can give the example. Our School Board can give the public education. But it's not our responsibility, and we can't give that parental guidance. And if this Council tries to take the place of the mother and father, we're in trouble. As Mr. Regan from the North Side has stated, that's a lot of responsibility for us. It should really lie with the parents.

As H.L. Mencken, an author, said at the turn of the century, "For every difficult problem in society, there is always a simple and direct solution, and it's usually wrong." And I think also in this case.

If I may add, though, at the end, I am a non-smoker and I believe it is a very deadly product. But if the intent is to stop young people from smoking, let's not hurt that small neighborhood grocery store which is family owned or owned by a single older adult. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

My esteemed colleague from the South Side, we are both reiterating what has been said previously but I think we need to put this once more into perspective. Cigarettes are more expensive being bought through vending machines. Do we care only for the person who is making the sale or for all these people who have an addiction who have to pay more to compound their addiction. You have to have special coins; most machines will not accept dollar bills. Furthermore, we all know that addictive cigarette smokers do not buy cigarettes by the pack, they buy them by the carton because it saves a lot of money.

So, let's get to the issue that my colleague raised. The youth that comes in not only smokes and is getting cancer slowly, but is a thief. He's going to reach behind the counter and grab cigarettes when that salesperson is getting a can of corn. The shopkeeper may lose five or six dollars because of a theft. Well, I suggest that when you can't go in and out to buy cigarettes out of a machine and you have to wait for the clerk and there are one or two people ahead of you, you may buy the can of corn in addition to the cigarettes and you may buy some peas and you may buy some carrots and you may buy some soup. I'm suggesting that if you don't have the vending machine, I think the storekeeper in the small shop is missing a good bet. He's missing some good marketing techniques. Get rid of the vending machine and you'll sell more merchandise. And that's just common sense logic.

Mr. Regan:

I would just like to say, the young man who was alleged to have taken those cigarettes has a right to a fair and impartial hearing.

I would also like to state that you don't have to have a mechanism like the Breathalyzer Test to figure out if your kid is smoking. All you have to do is have a nose and that doesn't cost anything.

Michelle Madoff:

One last comment. My research staff just informed me that the profits, and they're smokers and they're supporting this bill, the profits on cigarettes out of a machine is about ten cents a pack and so they're not going to be able to go to Vegas or have a vacation on the vending machine profits.

Mr. Ricciardi:

For a senior citizen, ten cents is a lot of money.

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like my comments brought forward for the Record, please.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 789, WEDNESDAY, JULY 18, 1990)

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like to speak to the amendment first.

I think it's a good amendment because what it does it makes the remedy more closely fit the harm. My concern here is that in the first clause, the not open to the general public is in the second clause and I question whether that phrase would apply to the first clause which says "private business establishment licensed by the Liquor Control Board and/or a full-service restaurant or a privately owned and operated club or association." What it really applies to is that full-service restaurant, so I could see how somebody interpreting this could say, "Well, full-service restaurants would be allowed to have vending machines even though they're open to the general public". That's the only thing I see that could be questionable here.

Mr. Ferlo:

Yes. First of all I should clarify, I really don't support this legislation. I'm trying to find something that I think is more reasonable and you're right on the issue of the full-service restaurant.

Mr. Cohen:

What is a full-service restaurant?

Mr. Ferlo:

It's a restaurant that may or may not necessarily have a liquor license but basically is frequented by adults.

Mr. Cohen:

I support the legislation and support the amendment except for that term there because it really does contradict or is inconsistent with the general spirit of the amendment about not applying to places that are open to the general public. So I would like you to entertain a thought of taking that phrase out.

Mr. Ferlo:

Absolutely.

Mr. Cohen:

Full-service restaurant. Does everybody see the problem as I see it? A full-service restaurant really is open to the general public. That phrase, "not open to the general public" doesn't really apply to that first clause there so we have an inconsistency.

Mr. Ferlo:

It's not a contradiction.

The Chair:

Back to the amendment. Mr. Ferlo then you are eliminating the phrase "or a full service restaurant" from your proposed amendment.

Mr. Ferlo:

Absolutely.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Cohen presents

No. 1216 WHEREAS, every year the Bloomfield Business Association holds the Annual Marathon Morra competition; and

WHEREAS, Morra is a centuries old competition played throughout Italian communities worldwide requiring special hand coordination and mental concentration skills; and

WHEREAS, Morra champions must defeat a tough field of competitors in Bloomfield to gain their distinguished title; and

WHEREAS, Girolamo "Diamond Jim" Sciallo was crowned the Bloomfield Morra champion in 1988; and

WHEREAS, Ozzie Cercone was crowned the Bloomfield Morra champion in 1989; and

WHEREAS, Richard Mascio was most recently crowned the new Bloomfield Morra champion on May 5, 1990.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh commends past and present champions, Girolamo Sciallo, Ozzie Cercone, and Dick Mascio for their expertise in Italian Morra and their numerous contributions to the Bloomfield community.

Mr. Cohen moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you members of Council. In the interest of everyone I have to tell you that I played this contest and I did play an Italian, but I was at a slight disadvantage because they can think in Italian and it made me a lot slower then they were. I unfortunately lost in the first round but I did lose to the person who became the champion this year and that's Dick Mascio.

So, I want to commend both of you for not just this contest but also for your really life long contribution to Bloomfield, and I would like to ask you to say a few words.

Mr. Mascio:

I really appreciate the fact that Mr. Cohen invited us down. I've played Morra since I was a child and like he said its a mind thing. It's just a matter of guess their fingers and don't let them guess yours. So, thank you very much.

Mr. Cercone:

Mr. Cohen and Members of Council, thank you very much for this honor and we appreciate it. I want to tell you that Morra was a game that we played from the time that we were little guys, and I'll tell you what if more communities would get into more things like that I think that drugs and alcohol would disappear. So, thank you for your encouragement today and I appreciate it.

Mr. Cohen:

I forgot to say very quickly that Mr. Sciuлло couldn't make it this morning because he's ill. Jimmy, if you're watching out there I hope you get better real quick and I'm sorry you couldn't be with us this morning, thank you.

Mr. Coyne presents

No. 1217 WHEREAS, Tuesday, July 31, 1990 represents the official retirement date of Mrs. Gene Kincaid as an employee of Allegheny County; and

WHEREAS, since 1968, Gene Kincaid has served in various departments in County government including the Office of Register of Wills, the Department of Public Works, the Office of the Treasurer and the Office of the Controller; and

WHEREAS, since 1976, Gene Kincaid has served as the Supervisor in the Tax Lien Department of the County Controller's Office; and

WHEREAS, Gene Kincaid's commitment to public service can also be seen through her involvement in her community and the Democratic Party; and

WHEREAS, Gene Kincaid was elected to the Allegheny County Democratic Committee in 1962, has served as the Vice Chairwoman of the 15th Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, Treasurer of the Pittsburgh City Committee, and for 16 years has served as Chairwoman of the 15th Ward; and

WHEREAS, Gene Kincaid has worked in various capacities to improve her community, including directing the 15th Ward Heart Fund, and sitting on the boards of several community organizations; and

WHEREAS, Gene Kincaid's commitment was recognized by the Greenfield Organization in 1988 when she was selected Greenfielder of the Year and by the Hazelwood, Glenwood, Glen-Hazel Council when she was honored with the Achievement Award.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, does hereby recognize Mrs. Gene Kincaid for her long standing commitment to public service and proclaims Tuesday, July 31, 1990 as Gene Kincaid Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Coyne moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Coyne:

With Gene today is the Honorable James Hanley the District Magistrate for the Greenfield, Hazelwood, Squirrel Hill area.

Thank you Members of Council. You all realize that I'm sure that being a Chairperson of a Ward in the City for 16 years is quite an accomplishment on itself, and it shows the durability not only of Mrs. Kincaid within the political field but also her ability to work with the different factions of the Ward to produce a strong democratic party, and Mr. Wagner I'm sure you'll be impressed to know that Mrs. Kincaid is a veteran of the Marine Corps. One of our few women veterans from the United States Marine Corps and it makes me also very proud.

First of all I'd like to see if Judge Hanley would say a few words concerning Mrs. Kincaid's career.

Judge Hanley:

Honorable Council, distinguished guests, I'd like to say a few words on behalf of Gene today. I've known Gene for over 30 years, she's been a tireless worker in the community. She is loyal to people, a very, very fine person. You couldn't ask for a nicer person to be kind with people and very considerate. A very honorable person in all her dealings with people. It's been a pleasure to work with her in my years in politics and I find that she's a very, very fine person and she deserves this recognition today. Thank you very much.

Mrs. Kincaid:

City Council, my family and friends, thank you so much for making this day. I'll always remember it.

Mr. Coyne:

For the next proclamation if I could have Reverend Darkins come forward please, Brother Emenecker and Mr. Larry Staab.

First of all I would like to thank Reverend Darkins for allowing me to be part of this resolution. My office has been working with Brother Richard and the Cable Bureau since spring time on a special project which I think will be very beneficial to the residents of the City, especially those who are handicapped.

Through my involvement on the Board of the Association of Retarded Citizens and also through my involvement with the Three Rivers Center for of Independent Living, I've become very aware of some of the special needs which those of us who aren't handicapped may not face during our day to day activities, but it is the things that prevent others from taking full advantage of the different programs that the City may have to offer. Through Brother Richard's efforts and through some research we've done with some outside folks the City will start in September of 1990, Closed Captioning City Programming on the Cable Bureau.

It was brought to our attention that many of the programs the City has, the Building Inspection Programs, the Animal Control, the Public Safety Programs, the Law Department Programs, things like that, that if you're someone who is deaf or not even just particularly someone who is deaf but a senior citizen who is having problems hearing you can't take advantage of these type of programs, because you really can't hear it. So, Brother Richard has gone through the trouble and along with my office is working now to start the program for closed captioning in September of 1990.

I would also like to mention that Congress right now is undergoing work to pass legislation to make closed captioning a part of every television set so that there would only be a button that you would have to push on your T.V. set to make the closed captioning appear, because the boxes that are available right now are rather expensive and certain people can't afford it.

Also, the Pittsburgh CityLife magazine has won an award so this is sort of dual proclamation.

Mr. Coyne presents

No. 1218 WHEREAS, since 1982 the City's Bureau of Cable Communications has provided quality informational programming on City-Channel 17 about the activities and services of City government to nearly 100,000 cable subscribers; and

WHEREAS, since 1984 the Cable Bureau has received 23 programming awards from the National Association of Telecommunications Officers and Advisors, the National Academy of Cable Programming, and National Federation of Local Cable Programmers; and

WHEREAS, "CityLife", a monthly magazine style program, has received six awards including the National Federation of Local Cable Programmers' 1990 first place award in the Magazine Format category; and

WHEREAS, beginning with September 1990 the fourth anniversary of "CityLife", the Cable Bureau will close-caption this series for the hearing impaired; and

WHEREAS, further, the Cable Bureau will close-caption additional programming, and the Cable Company TCI of PA, Inc. will assist in promoting this new service for the hearing impaired, enabling all cable subscribers to benefit from City-Channel 17.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, hereby commends the entire staff of the Bureau of Cable Communications in the Department of Public Works for their consistent outstanding achievements and dedication to quality government programming and for their efforts in responding to the needs of the hearing impaired cable subscribers of the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Coyne moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

We're so glad that this day has been set aside that we would honor Brother Richard and the Cable Bureau because I feel no question in my mind that they're doing a great job and we're looking for even greater things in the future.

Brother Richard:

On behalf of the entire Cable Bureau staff I'd like to thank City Council for this recognition. It's always nice to receive honors for work by national organizations. It's even a sweeter joy to come back home and to see that recognition acknowledged by City Council.

As you are well aware the task of programming a television channel on behalf of the government is not an easy task. It involves a lot of people. We have a very dedicated staff that put in many long hours. Especially, with City Council meetings at times, but we are very proud and very happy to receive this recognition, and we look forward to that next challenge. The next challenge is making the programming available to all cable subscribers. That is the hearing impaired subscribers as well. That's not going to be an easy task. However, with Councilman Coyne's leadership and some of the doors that he has opened for us we believe we are going to be able to respond to that challenge, and ultimately next year we hope to have City Council meetings also closed captioned for the hearing impaired. So, again on behalf of the entire Cable Bureau staff, thank you very much.

Mr. Staab:

I'm usually behind the camera, but I do want to thank all of you for your support in our efforts providing this service, and I especially want to thank Collin, Henry, and the folks upstairs for their good work. Thank you.

The Chair:

I'd also like to add that I really think we have the finest Bureau of Cable Communication in the country. Thank you.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1219 WHEREAS, under the leadership of Program Director Karen Payne-Powell, in May of 1989 of Homewood-Brushton YWCA implemented the Job Plus Program; and

WHEREAS, Job Plus is a ten week pre-employment readiness training and job placement program for low income single mothers ages 18-24 who are unemployed or underemployed; and

WHEREAS, to date 48 students have completed the Job Plus Program; and

WHEREAS, students are trained to be proficient data entry operators, along with receiving personal development and career counseling including assistance with transportation and child care needs; and

WHEREAS, upon completion of Job Plus, graduates are employed with major corporations such as Health America, Mellon and Pittsburgh National Banks.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, commends the Homewood-Brushton YWCA Job Plus Program for its dedication to fostering and supporting the development of young women in their pursuit to achieve and reach self actualization.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

We have Karen Powell who is the Director of the Homewood-Brushton YWCA and she is accepting this, and we'd like her to have something to say.

Ms. Powell:

Thank you. On behalf of the YWCA of Greater Pittsburgh, the Homewood-Brushton YWCA, and the Job Plus Training Program, I would like to thank Councilman Darkins and the rest of the Council for this honor and this privilege, and also for the recognition of the Job Plus Training Program. Thank you.

Mr. Darkins:

This is going to be an unusual resolution, because Mr. President this gentleman is one of my constituents in my Council district, the unusual part about it is his house of worship and dedication is in Councilman Ferlo's district.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1220 WHEREAS, Elder Oscar Timothy Tillman will achieve the age of 100 on August 22, 1990, and will be officially honored in a formal black tie celebration on August 4, 1990 at 6:30 p.m. at the Palace Inn Hotel, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, Elder Oscar Timothy Tillman accepted the Lord Jesus Christ as his Savior in the year 1921 and thereafter received the Holy Ghost into his life in the year 1922; and

WHEREAS, Elder Oscar Timothy Tillman accepted his calling from the Lord to preach the gospel in the year 1923 and thereafter pastored five churches throughout the State of Pennsylvania and was the first Pastor from the International Churches of God in Christ to build a church from the ground up in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, Elder Oscar Timothy Tillman traveled to Canada in the year 1950 to receive his Theology Degree from American Bible School and since then has acted as mentor, teacher and counselor to hundreds of men and women throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, Elder Oscar Timothy Tillman has excelled as a skilled professional with abilities in the areas of financial management, business administration, English composition business marketing and crisis counseling; and

WHEREAS, Elder Oscar Timothy Tillman has reached a plateau in life at the age of 100 that less than 98 percent of Americans realize and at this moment he still has control of his mind, bodily functions and a strong command of the Word of God.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby proclaim August 22, 1990 as Elder Oscar Timothy Tillman Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Tillman:

Thank you to the elders, ministers, and missionaries, and also to a great Councilman Brother Darkins and all of his associates. I'm just happy to be here. First time I've been to a place like this but I'm no stranger.

I want to tell you what God do for one he'll do for the other. My life has been set apart to serve the Lord, and I credit that part to the good Lord. When you give your life to the Lord you have to clean up the temple that the Lord dwell in, and when he come in your temple then its up to him how long he lets you carry him in your temple, and I've carried him almost a hundred, and I don't know how many more, but I'm thankful to be here at a place I've never been before.

But, I want to say to you I've come to Pittsburgh in 1923, July 2. Hired to the Western House one of the greatest machine operators that was in Western House that's what my Daddy was. But, my skill is to work for the Lord. I'm Pastor in one of the Councilman's district. My home is in Darkins' district and I've never been arrested and put in jail since I've been in Pennsylvania, and I think that's credit to a man that's 100 years old.

I quit smoking cigarettes along time ago, and I quit drinking wine and beer, and so all this adds to your life, and if you want to live long treasurer those things. It ain't just for one man it's for all of us, and I'm thankful to see one of our great men of our City working in here with you great men and women, Councilman Darkins, and I'm glad he helped get on this program. I'm not scared and I'm not out of place. I just can't talk like I want to, because time won't allow. I want all of you to pray for us and come to see us. We're right on 40th Street just before you cross the bridge. Come down, especially the Councilman. The church is in his district. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you. Mr. Chairman, we have a couple of guests here Mr. Jim George and Mr. Paul Soscia. Mr. Soscia is the Executive Vice President of Blockbuster Video. I'd like to call on him to say a few words about the program.

I just want to say I've worked a lot in the community over the years and I've found this company to be very sensitive and very supportive of neighborhood organizations and efforts in the community, and I'm sure as other Council members work with neighborhood groups in their districts, please feel free to call on this company. It's a very responsible company. They were very helpful to me a couple of months ago on a neighborhood-wide clean up effort that we had throughout my neighborhoods in Council District 7.

Recently, I participated in a very creative program with of all people Mr. Robo Cop himself, and this was supporting the Boys and Girls Club in Lawrenceville. This was an effort on another version of "Kidprint" and that was with a camera taking the picture and giving the child an I.D. This effort is a little more creative utilizing the video equipment, and at this time I'd like to thank the company on behalf of my office, and on behalf of the City here, and also I'd like to call on Mr. Paul Soscia the Executive Vice President of Blockbuster Video to say a few words.

Mr. Soscia:

I'd like to thank all the Council members for supporting us in this effort that we are making. "Kidprint" as Mr. Ferlo said is starting August 5th in all Blockbuster Stores, three of which are within the City limits. One on Baum Boulevard, one on Poplur Street, and one at the Waterworks Shopping Center.

We hope to "Kidprint" 15,000 children in the month of August, and we have also secured the support of the Pittsburgh Pirates who are co-sponsoring this with us, and August 26th, the Sunday afternoon baseball game we will do "Kidprint" at Three Rivers Stadium. So, I would ask for any help you can give us in getting children to show up at the stores or at Three Rivers Stadium would be greatly appreciated. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think he got a little nervous while he was up here because I wanted him to plug his three stores here in the City of Pittsburgh, and also to thank the Blockbuster Video. I know when the neighbors in the Friendship, Bloomfield area have concerns and problems with their construction of the building on Baum Boulevard, they took extra measures to resolve any concerns and they did it really sensitively the construction of that new building, and I want to thank them for that. I know that place because I just joined a few weeks ago, and they have some great old movies, if you like old movies. So, you should rent from Blockbuster Video.

Mr. Cohen also goes there. But, I think they have two other stores here in the City, and I think we should at least give them a plug of those two stores. One's on McKnight Road and one is in the South Hills. So, we have at least one in the City and a couple in the area, and I ask you to support them, and if you're interested, if you have neighborhood groups City-wide be in touch with Blockbuster Video, and maybe help plug and promote the "Kidprint" initiative this month. Thank you very much members of Council.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd like to ask the following people to please step forward. They are board members of the South Side Community Council. President, Chris Comfort; Virginia Carik; Mary Dujanovich, Tom Waschak, and Attorney Randy Rayl.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

munity Council placed 2nd in the Nation in the National Neighborhood of the Year Award for 1990, which is sponsored by Neighborhoods, USA; and

WHEREAS, the South Side Community Council began this program a year ago and has expanded it further this year; and

WHEREAS, the South Side Community Council conducts an evening program each year that brings children and adults together to learn about drugs and the consequence of drug use from the City Narcotics Officers;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, hereby salutes the South Side Community Council for its work with the "Don't Get Hooked On Drugs" Campaign.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you, colleagues. As all of us know how important it is today to educate not just our youth but all adults in the community concerning the dire consequences of drug use, and this is something one community group, the South Side Community Council has take up. I'd like to ask our President, Chris Comfort to if you'd please say a few words.

Ms. Comfort:

Thank you, Councilman Ricciardi. On behalf of the entire South Side Community Council, I'd like to thank City Council for this resolution.

For well over a quarter of a century the South Side Community Community Council has been actively involved in all aspects of our community. We've worked very hard to ensure that our community is a neighborhood to be proud of, and that it is a safe place to raise our children.

A little over a year ago in June, 1989 the Public Safety Committee on the Council under the Chairmanship of Tom Waschak brought to the boards attention the need for a Drug Education and Awareness Program. We all knew that education is one of the best ways to prevent our children from using drugs and from drugs taking over our community. To that end we looked for a program that would address not only the adults but also the children of the community. Finding nothing that met our needs we started our own "Don't Get Hooked Program".

In September of 1989 we held our first "Don't Get Hooked" night. It brought together well over 200 children, parents, and educators with the purpose of having an evening of fun and drug education. This evening alone required well over 900 volunteer hours in the efforts of over 30 volunteers.

We all knew that it was the concern commitment, dedication, and caring of our volunteers which would ensure our program success. Since then our program has proved to be an excellent vehicle for opening communications between both the children and their parents as to the dangers of drugs. Not only their use but drugs in the community.

We all know that an involved community is a strong community. We also know that our involvement and the involvement of our residents and children will ensure that our community will stay safe and drug free, and our children can learn to say no. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ricciardi:

As you can tell from her presentation, Chris Comfort has been doing a superb job as President of the South Side Community Council.

Next, I'd like to introduce you to the man Tom Waschak who brought this program to the second in the nation and showing others what can be done with such a worthwhile program. Thank you, Tom.

Mr. Waschak:

Mr. Chairman, members of Council, thank you, Mr. Ricciardi. I did not bring the program myself. I have 14 members on my Public Safety Committee who love the South Side and who are concerned for the future of our children. It is because of that that we brought "Don't Get Hooked" to the community, and we are very pleased with the residents of the South Side, their involvement and enthusiasm.

This past March we had a fund raiser in order to keep "Don't Get Hooked" going. At the Market House on the South Side we had the Pittsburgh Steelers play the South Side Community Council All Stars. That night we had over 550 people attend. We raised over $1,000 for our "Don't Get Hooked".

Our next program will probably be in October and I will be inviting Mr. Ricciardi and the rest of Council to attend that night, and I hope to see you there. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ricciardi:

And, I have to add the South Side All Stars

did win that game; am I correct Tom? And, it wasn't a close game with people like Craig Prosser out there who had a lot of experience and was able to do it well.

Just on a brief note. We'd like to thank Attorney Randy Rayl not for just his volunteer time he adds to the South Side Community Council, but for his free legal advice, and I would just like to say something on a short motion. Just that a lot of times in the South Side area I've been credited with some of the successes we've had, and let me tell you how easy it was. I didn't create anything. They just handed the ball to me and those are the two special ladies Virginia and Mary who have given many years. Each of them over 20 years of volunteer service to the South Side, and Mary Dujanovich and Virginia Carik those are the people who really get the ball done in the South Side community. They just hand it to me once in a while and I try to back-end a few people. So, thank you very much. Thank you, colleagues.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Ricciardi, I would also like to comment on Mr. Waschak. Tom, I think is a perfect example of what a Pittsburgher is supposed to be. Tom had the opportunity a few years ago, went to Washington, D.C., and worked for the United States Secret Service, decided to return back to Pittsburgh and is currently a Lieutenant on the Port Authority Police Force, and serves not only the needs of the Port Authority, but comes to the aid of a lot of police officers throughout the City of Pittsburgh.

I think Tom is a fine example of someone who loves the City of Pittsburgh, who had the opportunity to see what it was like somewhere else, and decided to come back and raise his family here. I'd just like to commend him.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you, Mr. Coyne. Thank you, colleagues.

Supplies, Department of the Mayor, City Information Systems. The reason for this request is the necessity of acquiring additional computer equipment and workstations to meet increased user demands.

Also,

No. 1195 Resolution transferring $6,000.00 from Code Account No. 1023, (102300), Misc. Services to Code Account No. 1022-1, (102210), Premium Pay, Pittsburgh Magistrates Court, Office of the Mayor.

MICHELLE MADOFF'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1059-Wednesday, 7/25/90

Michelle Madoff:

I think I asked the same question that I don't believe I have gotten an answer to; maybe someone else received it. This is a situation where supposedly it is a city tree.

Ms. Conturo:

That's right.

Michelle Madoff:

Supposedly it wasn't the first accident in that location. My question was, how did we let it go that long so we now have this almost $100,000.00 liability? Did anyone get an answer to that?

Ms. Conturo:

With this particular tree there was a question -- there is a legal issue about whether or not we had actual notice as to any prior accidents with respect to it. Keeping that legal issue aside and the fact that that would be something that we would contend, there is -- there were markings on the tree, and we did not have actual records of any phone reports to us with respect to this tree.

Michelle Madoff:

This gets back to what we have been talking about, Mr. Wagner, for years, that a call comes in, perhaps at the Mayor's Service Center or to a Councilmember, there is nobody who is sort of an umbrella over the problem so we don't get sued because of this. This could have been avoided, because without question, there are other marks on the tree, the story around is we have had numerous calls, but nobody has the record, nobody will say, "I got a call and didn't follow-up on it. I am not going to be responsible for $100,000.00 claim." The issue is so much bigger than this one claim. The only time we have a chance to address it is when something happens.

The point is we must have the Administration set up a mechanism where if a notice comes in, a person gets a carbon copy back on a complaint, so when somebody says, "I didn't get it," they have a copy back or the person knows they are going to get a copy back, and they call and say, "I didn't get my copy back. Is this being addressed?" We do that in our office; I've done it since they day I've been here. They get a complaint, we send back a Xerox of the complaint to the person, and a memo goes out that has gone on to the department so there is a follow through. We keep a copy to see that we get an answer.

There is no system to see that there is follow through.

That is how this $100,000.00 claim occurred, perhaps hundreds of thousands, millions, that we don't even know about over the years. I strongly suggest that a mechanism be set up in the Administration to address this kind of issue.

I don't think there is anything we can do. I looked at the bills, and perhaps my learned colleague, the lawyer next to me will address that in more detail.

But the issue, it seems to me, there were a lot of medical bills and I don't know whether pain and suffering is the balance from 40,000 to 90,000. But on the other hand, the issue is not just this particular claim, it is others we just let go by and haven't taken care of.

Would you care to address what you know about the tree and why wasn't it removed?

Mr. Mancuso:

In 1986 we were called to this particular site to roof prune this tree in conjunction with some sidewalk damage that was done by the tree. At that time the tree was inspected, it was also pruned. The situation was that we were not put on notice again, according to our official records, which are fairly comprehensive, until after the accident occurred, and we responded to this, and at that point the tree was dead.

Michelle Madoff:

I am trying to figure out how somebody hit a tree on a sidewalk.

Mr. Mancuso:

I guess there are some legal questions about that. The tree was approximately six inches beyond the curb line, six inches. The point of impact was behind the curb line.

Michelle Madoff:

Was the person at fault driving?

Mr. Mancuso:

Again, I am just giving the facts.

Ms. Conturo:

These are all issues --

Michelle Madoff:

Is this one of the things we would rather settle than have them go to court? Because if they were driving on the sidewalk, I am not terribly interested. I would go to court on that in a flash.

Ms. Conturo:

Unfortunately, there are eyewitnesses that say the driver was driving down the center of the road, so that is part of the evidence that we would have to refute in this case.

Michelle Madoff:

No witnesses?

Ms. Conturo:

There is a witness, there were witnesses on the sidewalk.

Michelle Madoff:

They were driving down the middle of the road, but they hit on the sidewalk? Very interesting. It must have ricocheted off six inches. Is that possible?

Mr. Mancuso:

Either that or we have trees that dance.

Michelle Madoff:

Why don't we just go to court on it? I think we are setting a terrible precedent here. The logic indicates it couldn't possibly have happened the way it is being portrayed. If that is the case, I think we have a solid enough case. It isn't the money involved that we are going to have to pay, it is the precedent you are setting.

Ms. Conturo:

Can I speak to that, please? The money that we would possibly have to pay if we went to court could be significantly higher than this, as it would be in the hands of a jury, and as the law in Pennsylvania is, any person, any defendant in the action that is found at all liable, 1 percent liable, could be responsible for paying 100 percent of the damages if the other parties don't have the wherewithal to make the payment. So that being the case and the city having a $500,000.00 cap, our liability could be significantly greater than the 90,000 we are talking about.

Michelle Madoff:

How much could it be; $500,000.00 cap?

Ms. Conturo:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

The point is, we could end up with millions, and probably have, because we are saying, "Oh, my God. We could have a $500,000.00 cap, it could be more than this 90,000 and we are going to go ahead and pay it." At some point we have to say "No." We are going to go to court and send a message out there that we are not going to be a bank account for people who drive irresponsibly, if, indeed, that is the case.

Ms. Conturo:

The message, though, is something that might be nice, although the state of the law is other than that.

Michelle Madoff:

Maybe we need to change the state of the law.

(DELETED TEXT.)

Michelle Madoff:

Very briefly, I don't think, if I may Councilman Regan, this is pounding away at two good people. What we are saying is there is a problem. I don't want to send out the wrong message to the public. I think it will be far more costly to us by sending this message out, than going to court. That is just my personal belief, and I really believe that is the wrong thing to do. That doesn't mean you have to vote the way I do, I just feel very strongly that way. I don't believe it has anything to do with these two good people doing good jobs.

MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1059-Wednesday, 7/25/90

Mr. Cohen:

I asked that this bill be held for a week in order to really discuss with the Parks and Recreation people the broader issue of trees that could get caught up in accidents like this, and I would like to address that. But before that, there is one point, Councilwoman, that has not been made here, and that is that the driver of the truck, who is one of the defendants, is contributing significantly, it is my understanding, to this settlement, and that the insurer of the driver is contributing up to the full amount of the insurance. So the city isn't paying the whole load here. That is not to say that the city is or is not liable, that is really the judgment of the Solicitor, and I will leave that judgment to you.

What concerns me is that the payment here is $100,000.00, 97,000, and the budget for Forestry, for maintaining trees in the 1990 city budget, was $337,000.00. We are paying the equivalent of one-third of the entire budget for this, for maintaining trees on this case. That is what bothers me and why I wanted to have somebody from Parks and Recreation here to discuss this briefly.

Carl Mancuso is here, and I appreciate you coming. We have discussed this before. But I would like to know what we can do to prevent this kind of major lawsuit in the future, and whether or not a survey can be done of trees in the city, whether or not they are leaning into the street and potentially contributing to an accident like this. Can we do a survey like that, Mr. Mancuso?

Mr. Mancuso:

Certainly we can look into doing that kind of survey. There are 180,000, approximately, street trees within the City of Pittsburgh. Of that number, you are going to find some that tend to lean in a direction that is not favorable for the cartway.

Michelle Madoff:

Chop them down.

Mr. Mancuso:

If it was a big, old, mature tree in front your house in the neighborhood, I think it would be an interesting problem to go out and do this on a preventative basis just because the trunk leans a little. I guess I don't know the answer to that particular type of situation.

Mr. Cohen:

Why don't you answer my question.

Mr. Mancuso:

What I would suggest is what we have already done and what Council has done by increasing our appropriation in this particular line item of our budget for trees, pruning and removal, by I think it was -- I don't know whether it was 50,000. Now, we have reduced the backlog that was at one point in time 10 years' worth of complaints just two years ago to where we are down only two and a half years of complaints. By 1992, if the appropriation remains the same, we will be doing preventive maintenance on trees in the city, which means that instead of our inspectors going out and reviewing claims or complaints, for example, they will actually be inspecting on a preventative basis the trees for work that needs to be done, identifying potential problems and moving us out of the kind of situation I think we have, where there is a question as to whether or not we really looked at the trees and analyze whether we have a problem or not. It is going to it take awhile to get there, and we have moved very consistently both through the 100,000 that is in the budget on an annual basis now, plus the 50,000 that if you remember we got from a foundation, a state foundation, that went towards the pruning of trees, and that has really helped us quite a bit. Once we get to the point where we are doing it on a preventative basis and just dealing with the complaints as they come in, a complaint takes ten days average to be inspected, and decided and determined whether it is a priority complaint or a routine complaint. If it is routine, it goes into this backlog you heard about. If it is priority, it is done, the work is done ten days after that on average.

Mr. Cohen:

But what is happening now is we get a complaint, then within that period of time we do the best that we can to try to see that the complaint is resolved. My point, and I am sure my colleagues would agree, is we should be proactive, not reactive. 1992 is too long to wait, in my view, that if we have two or three more of these $100,000.00 cases, the budget is shot. So we are going to actually save money by inspecting to see what potential problems, what trees, are leaning out, what trees are even hurting sidewalks so that a person doesn't trip and fall and get the kind of injuries that you see, injuries even in a case like this. I know you can't do that without the money, so what I would like you to do is put together a package of what it would cost and how many people would it take to survey all the trees that are on streets in the City of Pittsburgh. I know there are a lot of them, but at the same time, we have to find out the ones that are particularly bad so that we can resolve the problem before a truck runs into it, the top is sheared off, the sheared off top falls onto another car and a person is seriously injured, which is what happened in this case. So if you could, now that we are starting to head into budget hearings or it is at least not too far away, that would be important and then we can discuss it I think during budget hearings whether or not we can provide Parks and Recreation with the necessary funding for this.

I know with Councilman Ricciardi, who is head of that committee, we can work together to try to give Parks and Recreation what is necessary to do a survey and proactive maintenance rather than reacting and ending up having to pay $100,000.00 in settlement costs.

(DELETED TEXT.)

Mr. Cohen:

I am not suggesting to anyone that we not pay this bill; absolutely we should pay the bill. Let's do everything we can to prevent it in the future. I think both you and your department are doing a great job, given the money that you have. Let's see if we can try to get them some more money.

MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1059-Wednesday 7/25/90

Mr. Ferlo:

We have one survey of sorts, and that is the survey that somebody should be reviewing each month, the Mayor's Complaint Center and the 911 situation. We do have situations where residents will call in both trees that are an immediate problem, as well as more recently we had to settle a lawsuit here at I think $75,000.00 for a "Stop" sign that was down that was called in. I think one thing I would ask the Administration to do is go back and make sure there is a system in place, a troubleshooter, whoever you want to designate, to review those kinds of complaints that come in on a regular basis to the Mayor's Complaint Center as well as through the 911 system. It is a generic issue that affects not only Parks and trees, but also "Stop" signs that are down in Public Safety. We need to utilize the public information capabilities that we have city-wide to make residents know that if there is a "Stop" sign down, they need to call 911 immediately.

Recently, the same incident happened following that settlement of that lawsuit, and it was phoned in to 911 and it was over a month before the "Stop" sign was taken care of. That shouldn't be. There should be an immediate troubleshooting of that specific complaint.

The same holds true for the tree kinds of problems that arise. I believe Director Turner should be doing that, he should be getting more of a hand on the Mayor's Complaint Center. Personally, I wonder why we even fund the Mayor's Complaint Center, and I am not sure I am going to vote again for that funding of that program. I would rather have the complaints come to City Council, because we are ultimately the ones who seem to get things done and deal with the problem. I would rather fund them under our purview.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm voting no on Bill No. 1095.

On 1095 since the one item was not removed from the sale of properties and that was Item H, I believe on Whipple Street in the Swissvale area, Swisshelm Park. I pointed out that I had bought a lot there ten years ago. I paid $10,000 for that lot. I built an upside down house. That's what I was building and an upside down house. I sold the lot before the solar house was completed. That house subsequently sold at ten years ago for $125,000, and it seems to me that $1,750 is outrageous, and I want people listening to know that there's a lot at 128 Whipple Street, you can still go to the courts, you can bid on the property. If you think you can build an upside down house and get a variance -- it's a very level lot, very good, location will need a variance to build. But, variances are obtained all the time, and to buy a $10,000 lot for $1,700 is a steal. So, people just get your name listed. All you have to do is put up $170 to be on the list. You get your money back if your bid is not the accepted bid.

Which was read.

The Chair:

Is it the will of Council to have these appointments in front of Council tomorrow if possible?

Mr. Ricciardi:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

I believe it has been decided or there's been some movement by this Council and by the Administration to require that all appointees sign a statement saying that they would be removed from their positions should the Administration choose to do so.

Now, on most appointments that are a year and a half I don't think that is necessary. But I do believe when you get to the 1996 appointment which is five years hence, and even the 1992 appointment, I think it would be prudent so that we won't run into the same kind of problems we have.

We're representatives of this Council or people serving from the outside would not be willing to hand in their resignation should the Administration wish to have that happen, and I think that cannot just be a statement that I make, but would you follow through on that Mr. President to make sure how the Administration wants to handle that.

The Chair:

We would need a legal opinion I believe on that.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay.

The Chair:

I believe one was rendered Mr. Perry. Maybe if not we could get one prior to final vote on these appointments.

Michelle Madoff:

May I make a suggestion?

The Chair:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

That a memo is walked over to the Administration today, and dealt with before we vote, asking whether that is their intention and what help they want from us.

I think it is very non productive to have a disgruntled person sitting on a board when the Administration, whoever that Administration is, may not want to have them there. How does the Administration wish to deal with that? Its there problem.

Mr. Ferlo:

I just want to say I'm particularly concerned about the appointment of Mr. DeSantis to the Historical Review Commission, and the two appointees Ms. Detwiler and I believe Dr. Machin to the Planning Commission, so I hope that they'll be able to be here tomorrow.

The Chair:

Mr. Perry, if you would please attempt to get them here tomorrow. If not tomorrow the following Wednesday.

Mr. Regan:

I just like to say that I think Mr. DeSantis is a fine appointment.

Michelle Madoff:

So do I.

The Chair:

We're not voting on the appointments yet.

Mr. Regan:

I'd be proud and honored to have him be here tomorrow, and I'd also like to say that somebody appointed by the Administration, I think shouldn't be able to be removed at their whim. You know what I mean. Then you're owned and operated by the Administration.

Michelle Madoff:

But you have to work with the Administration.

The Chair:

Well, we'll get a legal opinion on the length of these appointments.

Michelle Madoff:

I brought Council a copy of a paper that was introduced yesterday during the Personnel Appeals Board hearing, and this is not an issue that addresses personalities at all. But, I want to bring before Council at the request of Tom Kerr who is one of the hearing examiners with Marty Krauss and three other people of the Personnel Appeals Board.

It appears that everyone being subpoenaed who represents the Flaherty contingency is being paid for their time before the Appeals Board. The people who are being subpoenaed by the other side in the litigation are not being paid.

There was an opinion that was rendered by Mr. Joseph Quinn, Assistant Solicitor from the Law Department, and I just spoke with him and he said this is not a legal opinion. But, what he had supplied Mr. Kerr with for the Controller's Office was with a policy decision that had been ongoing. I just spoke to Joe Mistick and Joe says that he's going to take a look at it, because it doesn't sound just Kosher to him either.

Mr. Kerr's position was and he was very vociferous, he felt that this was impeding justice. It was outrageous. It was intimidation and that the opinion addresses -- I think if somebody is called to be subpoenaed in any lawsuit and that person works for Joe's Butcher Shop or the City of Pittsburgh or the County of course the people who they work for are not responsible for paying for their time when they're subpoenaed.

However, these are people that are being called because of their line of work by in essence a City agency or someone suing the City, and I think that its no different then Michelle Madoff or any member of this Council being called to a hearing or a lawsuit because of our jobs, and I really believe that this has to be addressed, because it isn't just the Controller's Office. It could be anyone, and I believe that we should not in any way nurture or support obstructing justice.

The people who are being subpoenaed to testify in this case who were called by Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Retenaur are being -- if they have not got vacation time or personal time they're being docked in their salaries, and of course they will not attend. They're not there in an ongoing basis to hear what's happening, whereas the Controller's people are all sitting there in mass, slipping notes up and helping in their defense. Which is perfectly fine, but we do not treat one body separately than another, and the same way the law holds it in a divorce case. The husband must provide adequate funding to pay for the wife to have equal representation.

Mr. Regan:

You ain't kidding there.

Michelle Madoff:

And, some of us know that, don't we. It seems to me that we ought to support what is just and correct. So, I would like to make a motion that a letter be sent to the Mayor and to the Administration, particularly Joe Mistick who I already spoken to and that we get a statement back as to how we can correct this. I believe this is absolutely wrong the way that we're doing business in the City.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I really don't think we should get involved in matters before the Personnel Appeals Board or a court of law or anybody else unless we're dragged into it.

If we're asking for a clarification as to what the policy is I have no problem with that. I'm still a little bit misunderstanding of what the purpose or what the intent is here of what we're trying to clarify. If I understand it, some employees are subpoenaed and paid and some employees are subpoenaed and not paid. If that's the gist of it.

Michelle Madoff:

That is exactly what I said.

Mr. Ferlo:

Well, I think what we should do is ask for a clarification on what the standing policy is by the Administration regarding the issue. If that's the intent of the motion that's fine, but I'm not interested in supporting a motion that gets us involved in matters before the Board.

Michelle Madoff:

There is an opinion that I circulated to everybody that came from Mr. Quinn, which says in essence, yes we will not pay. We have not traditionally paid people who are subpoenaed for whatever reason. Some get paid and some don't.

I think that's wrong and it has nothing to do with -- this only happened yesterday at the Personnel Appeals Board that I learned about it. But, it wouldn't matter whether it was Public Works or whether it was a court of law or whatever. I believe that if Mr. Ferlo was subpoenaed because he's a Council member to testify in a case, because he's a Council member he should be paid for his time and he should not have his vacation time or his personal time docked.

And, I'm saying this is not aimed at this particular hearing, but should be a policy that applies fairly and justly so that nobody is penalized and discouraged from coming before the courts. Whatever the court may be, whatever the official body may be, because what we do then is that we obstruct justice, and I don't think justice should be obstructed.

The Chair:

May I clarify your motion?

Michelle Madoff:

Certainly.

The Chair:

Are you suggesting that the policy indicated by Mr. Quinn in writing to Mr. Pokora be applied uniformly throughout the City government?

Michelle Madoff:

No. I'm saying the policy be changed and it should apply uniformly.

The Chair:

I see.

Michelle Madoff:

It's not a policy. We want a legal opinion. He said this was not a legal opinion. It was a policy of how it's been. Now, how it's been may not be legally correct, morally correct or ethically correct.

The Chair:

So, your motion is --

Michelle Madoff:

To get a clarification yes, but indeed to say that everybody's treated equally so we don't discriminate and we don't discourage people from coming and obstruct justice.

Attorney Kerr, who was the hearing examiner yesterday is not planning to drop this. He asked me to bring it to Council or I wouldn't be bringing it today. I actually preferred that someone else would do it. I spoke to my colleague.

The Chair:

So, therefore, the motion is we would like a formal legal opinion as to the proper ethical procedure --

Michelle Madoff:

-- And how to protect everybody.

The Chair:

-- For employees in general if they are subpoenaed.

Michelle Madoff:

Right. And, that we should not be obstructing justice by not paying people if they are City employees and it pertains to City business.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Okay, well that's your opinion.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I object to this motion. For one thing all this information is not before us. This is somewhat of a complicated issue. If we're asking for a clarification from the Administration as to what the policy is, I have no problem with that, but I'm not prepared to make a value judgement yet, because I don't understand what the issue is entirely, and I'd like to understand what the pros or cons are by the Administration of whether or not they should be or shouldn't be reimbursing employees who are subpoenaed or participate in court proceedings either before a Personnel and Civil Service Board, a court of law, or anybody else.

I think we have to have more information and discuss this issue. So, I couldn't support the motion the way you're suggesting it.

Michelle Madoff:

Then why don't we simplify it.

The Chair:

Let me interrupt. The motion is on the floor, and if there's a second we're going to vote on it.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I seconded it.

The Chair:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

May I simplify it so there's no --

The Chair:

And please concisely redefine the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Why don't we simplify it by saying that all people called because of their employment with the City before any court of law or quasi court of law must be paid so we don't obstruct justice, and ask the Law Department if that can indeed be rendered as a question not a demand. How can we achieve this? And then let them come back and answer us.

The Chair:

Okay, but that's not a legal opinion.

Mr. Cohen:

No.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, they're going to have to give us a legal opinion.

The Chair:

You are making a recommendation.

Michelle Madoff:

Yes.

The Chair:

Your motion is now a recommendation and not a legal opinion.

Michelle Madoff:

That is correct. Because, all we wanted is a recommendation not a legal opinion.

The Chair:

All right. The motion is, how can all people who are subpoenaed be paid rather than --

Michelle Madoff:

-- just some people.

The Chair:

Is there a second on that motion?

Mr. Ricciardi:

I second that motion.

The Chair:

Any discussion?

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you, Mr. President. Councilwoman Madoff, I support what you're saying but I would urge you to restate the motion so that it becomes a request for a legal opinion rather than a policy recommendation on Council. I am prepared to vote for a legal opinion but not for a policy recommendation.

You gave me this memo during this meeting from Joseph Quinn.

Michelle Madoff:

I just got it.

Mr. Cohen:

I understand that. But, I haven't had the opportunity to read it or study it. I don't know what the facts are. I don't think we have any evidence before us as to what exactly the facts are. I certainly support the principle of compensating people who are subpoenaed to court. I support that very much.

Michelle Madoff:

That's all I'm asking.

Mr. Cohen:

But, I'm not in a position to make a policy recommendation without any facts before me. I will support a request for a legal opinion by the City Solicitor.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, would it be in order to suggest that exactly the words that were used by my colleague, Mr. Cohen, that he supports that people subpoenaed before any legal body requires that legal body be paid so that some are not paid and others are paid and everybody is paid, be the position of this Council. So that we don't discourage people from showing up and we don't act as obstructionist to the law. That's really what it's all about. If we want to start by getting an opinion I don't have any problem with that, and I can make the second motion next week. But, the important thing is I guess basically most of us are saying that we shouldn't discriminate. We shouldn't pay some people and not pay the others.

I believe Mr. Kerr on his own is going to embarrass this Council by taking this matter to higher authorities than we are and pointing this out, and I think this Council has a responsibility to say, we don't support any department whether it's the Controller's Office, Tom Flaherty, or anybody else that says we're going to pay certain who side with us, but we're not going to pay the people who don't side with us. That is terrible.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. Chairman, if I may respond?

Mr. Ricciardi:

Point of order. Could we restate the motion for further discussion?

The Chair:

Well there's several ideas of a motion here and I would just like to -- I interject, I believe Mr. Cohen is on the right track here.

Michelle Madoff:

I have no problem with first of all getting a legal opinion. But, the legal opinion --

The Chair:

Yes, because we don't know the facts of the situation. In other words when people are subpoenaed under what judicial bodies are they paid and what they are not paid. There has been no formal written correspondence between the Law Department and this Council. There has been between Mr. Quinn and Mr. Pokora but that's it, and I think we need more facts prior to voting on this, as Mr. Cohen said. Mr. Cohen is a lawyer and I think we should respect his opinion.

Michelle Madoff:

I will acquiesce to getting the first move to be a legal opinion. But, I mean facts are facts and we do know the facts. It is a fact that some people are being paid in the Controller's Office to testify and some people are not, and that is a fact.

The Chair:

Well, let's find out who they are.

Michelle Madoff:

And, they're being docked if they don't have their vacation time. If they don't have personal time, they're being docked from their salaries, but the other people who are testifying on behalf of the Controller are not being docked. People are coming late. They're not showing up. They're trying not to come because they don't want to be docked from their salaries, and that is indeed obstruction of justice, and goes against everything that we believe in, and the flag, and everything we fight for. That is wrong.

And, I'm making the point that this Council doesn't have to do anything more than just say yes. We do not want to obstruct justice when a City employee is called before any board, any court, that they should be paid for their time. It's very cut and dry.

The Chair:

Okay, we're going to have two more comments, Mr. Cohen and Mr. Ferlo. Then we're going to vote on that motion.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you, Mr. President. What I suggest Michelle is that we first ask for a legal opinion, give this Council the opportunity to find out what the evidence is, and then if we want to follow it up we can follow it up.

It's not that I question your view of reality at all. It's just that we need to have some evidence before us and we don't have any right now.

So, I would support as Council President said a motion for a legal opinion. What the policy is, give us the opportunity to see what the facts are.

Michelle Madoff:

That would be fine.

The Chair:

So, you are altering your motion to request a legal opinion in regards to.

Michelle Madoff:

First step.

The Chair:

Okay as a first step. A legal opinion on people that are subpoenaed, under what conditions they are paid, and what conditions they are not paid, and what is the history of that happening recently within the City of Pittsburgh in other departments.

Michelle Madoff:

And, why are we perpetuating obstruction of justice?

The Chair:

That is the motion. Is there a second?

Mr. Ferlo:

Discussion on the motion. First of all, obviously I support the motion because I think its framed the right way. But secondly, I would also add that in addition to this memo that we have a representative on the Personnel and Appeals Board, and I think we should receive some type of report from the Chairman of this board regarding not necessarily this issue per say but the policy issue in general; and in addition to this legal request of the Administration, you know we have an appointee on the board and we should receive a report from the board.

If the board is saying that there's some inequity in the policy, and if some employees are subpoenaed and reimbursed with their time and some aren't, I mean the board itself has an obligation to communicate to Council regarding this issue. So, I would respectfully request also in addition to supporting this motion that we ask for a report from the board. Our appointee is Mr. Krauss and I believe Mr. Kerr is the Chairman of the Board, and I believe the Administration has one appointee, and I apologize for not remembering her name, but I think we are also owed a report from them regarding the issue that Michelle raised.

The Chair:

If I may, concisely then we're going to vote.

Michelle Madoff:

I just want to say one thing. This only came to light before Mr. Krauss, Mr. Kerr and the other people on the board last night. They didn't know about it and they were appalled.

Mr. Ferlo:

I understand. They should communicate with us.

The Chair:

The motion is we are requesting an opinion from the Law Department in regard to people that are subpoenaed before a court of law or between various City originated quasi agencies, the Human Relations Commission, the Civil Service Commission, the Personnel Appeals Board, as good examples.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

The Chair:

Any other issue to be brought before Council?

Mr. Ferlo:

Very briefly Mr. Chairman, I want to remind the public that you have scheduled a public hearing on the recycling ordinance that the Administration has submitted and I believe it's this Thursday, August 2nd at 10:00 a.m., and if you're interested in speaking on the Mayor's proposal for the so called one bag recycling plan and the ordinance that the Administration has submitted, which basically spells out the enforcement mechanism and the process by which the recycling plan will be implemented. You can call the City Clerk's Office to receive the information or to testify at 255-2138.

I do want to state for the record though I'm extremely upset that we are moving expeditiously to have this hearing without all the information being made available. Not only to Council but to the public. We have not to this date received any written information other than the draft ordinance. We have not received the so called feasibility study, a cost benefit analysis study, which we requested which would help to evaluate different proposals on the methods for recycling including the curb side source separation. In addition to the so called one bag plan.

The one thing that I am extremely upset about in the draft ordinance that's before Council is the fact that we will be in violation of state law. As far as I'm concerned this proposal as presented by the Administration, we are directly in violation of the state law come September 24th, because we have not implemented a City-wide system for source separation.

I think this will be a matter of potential legal action by parties against the City. I'm extremely upset about the proposal because I don't think it's the cheapest and the best method, and I hope that if citizens are opinionated either for or against, or have other ideas or concerns about the recycling plan I hope that they'll participate in the public hearing August 2nd and contact the City Clerk.

As a matter of old business we still to this date have not been educated, not have received the information. I know Mr. Chairman you're asking for an expeditious review and vote on this whole issue next week before Council breaks, and we're going to be voting in a vacuum and voting in the dark.

The Chair:

Mr. Perry have we received a copy of that report yet?

Mr. Perry:

Not yet.

The Chair:

Mr. Ferlo is chairing the subcommittee on recycling, and he's making a valid point. We have requested that report numerous times. Mr. Ferlo, I can promise to you if we don't have it by days end the hearing will be cancelled and rescheduled.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you, Sir.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, point of information. Has there been a motion to televise that public hearing?

The Chair:

Yes.

Mr. Cohen:

Okay.

The Chair:

So, please let the Administration know that we need that report in our hand by days end.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just one last plug, Mr. Chairman. We traditionally have a resolution each year making note of "National Night Out", which is next Tuesday, August 7th and I know that neighborhood groups City-wide will be participating in that event, and I want to compliment the Community Relations folks who have been working hard on this issue.

Also, I'm sponsoring a block party with the Lawrenceville Block Watch Network on 54th Street at Duncan Field, and we invite all the residents out in that community for a good old fashion block party from 7:00 until 11:00 p.m. on 54th Street at Duncan Field come on out and we'll have something to eat and something to drink.

Mr. Cohen moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, July 24, 1990.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Ricciardi

Council adjourned.

Mr. Regan:

We're taking a group of young kids to Russia tomorrow to compete against the Russians, but this morning I want to honor a real hero. This young lady went over and made America proud. I wish we could take you to Russia because I know you'd beat the pants off those Russians.

She's a beautiful girl and she makes the North Side look good when she shows up and I want you to know that we are very proud of you. I'm proud of you being a North Sider and Council is proud of you and the City of Pittsburgh is proud of you.

She goes to Allegheny Community College and she has a 3.0 QPA. We got a call from a nun this morning to make sure that all of you folks know that she went to St. Peter's Grade School in the North Side. I attended there myself. I wish Ferlo would have gone there; we would agree on a lot more stuff.

It's a great day for the City of Pittsburgh and it's a great day for you.

Ma. Stephanie:

I would just like to personally thank Councilman Regan, Dick and Lorraine Bowman and all the friends for their support.

Mr. Regan:

This is her father who is a great guy but the mother really made it happen. She's the one that had to do all the heavy work here in the early years.

Mrs. Sloan:

We'd like to thank everyone for their kind and generous support and without the help of Citiparks Therapeutic Recreation, without their program, it would be impossible for the sports kids in the community to participate in the regional, national or world games.

Mr. Regan:

Thank you very much and we're looking forward to the next Olympics where you'll really clean up. I know you're just giving them a light workout this time. You'll break all the world records next time. Thank you very much.

Now I'd like everybody to come up for the National Night Out. We want to send a little message out to the burglars and the thieves and the crooks around town that the big guys are coming. The National Light Up Night, the National Night Out.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1264 WHEREAS, August 7, 1990 marks the seventh annual "National Night Out" sponsored by the National Town Watch Association; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh placed 2nd nationally in 1989 and has placed in the top four in the last seven years, including 1st in 1986. No other major City in the United States has ever accomplished this record; and

WHEREAS, neighborhood and community cooperation are the heartbeat of the National Night Out project and all citizens can participate and become involved by spending the night of August 7, 1990 outside on their porches, front steps, sidewalks and lawns, and to turn their outside lights on or placing luminars on their sidewalks at 9:00 p.m.; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby proclaims August 7, 1990 as "National Night Out" in the City of Pittsburgh; and

City to participate in all Block Watch activities in support of fighting crime.

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

I would like to thank Council and I'm really making this resolution on behalf of all of Council.

Sergeant Byrnes:

I'd just like to say that this is the day when the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh involved in Crime Watch show how their efforts have been. And they're also magnifying those efforts and spreading the word of Block Watch.

I'd like to thank the leaders who are here. I'd like to thank Loretta Miller, Carol Anthony, Darlene Harris, and one of our sponsors, Jerry Kinder from Phillips Lighting, and you see the National Night Out T-shirt.

I want you to know that I want to thank the Chairman of the National Night Out Committee, my strong right arm here, Sergeant Jerry McFadden who made all these things coordinate with the community.

We want to thank you in Council for everything you've done in the past and we hope to see you involved with our activities in the future. Remember, our activities mean community. Thank you for the recognition.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to also thank the Mayor's Secretary for being here. I'm sure she's just here on her lunch break or coffee break. She'll have to head back to work, I'm sure. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd like to ask the representatives of the Polish Falcons of America to please come forward. We have with us today the President of the Polish Falcons of America, Nest 118, Bernice Radzanowski; also, Mary Kajut, Nancy Capozoli, and Amy Hovanec.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd just like to say, a few weeks ago I gave an interview to one of the local papers and they asked me, "What makes South Side such a nice place to live and what makes South Side such a nice place to provide financial assistance in order for developers to develop our area?"

I said to them, "It's the people." And we're very lucky to have good solid people living in the South Side and one of the largest blocks of people are from Polish descent. That's what makes South Side such a nice place to live.

So, I'd like to ask Bernice, the President of Nest 118 to please say a few words.

Ms. Radzanowski:

On behalf of Nest 118 of the Polish Falcons of America, I would like to thank our Councilman, Gene Ricciardi, and all of Council, for bestowing this honor upon us.

As you heard, we are celebrating our 80th anniversary this year. The formal celebration will be on August 12. Today we have Polish Day and we'll be working at Polish Day at Ken-nywood.

Now I think Mary Kajut is going to say a few words in Polish.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I just want to say that I have been so impressed with Councilman Regan since I've been on Council because no matter who I have here, the Ukrainians, he speaks Ukrainian, the Polish people, he spoke Polish before. I think he has also spoken in Hebrew. But, Mr. Regan, we're going to show you what it's really like to be fluent in one language and Mary Kajut is going to show us how to do it.

AT THIS TIME MARY KAJUT ACCEPTED THE RESOLUTION AND GAVE A SPEECH IN POLISH.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think she said, "Let's all go to Ken-nywood."

Mr. Ricciardi presents

No. 1266 WHEREAS, on Sunday, August 5, 1990, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo N. DiFiore are celebrating their 50th Wedding Anniversary with a Mass at St. Paul of the Cross Monastery and a reception at Bradley House; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Angelo DiFiore gave many years of service to the community through his work with the Pittsburgh Railways and the Port Authority; and

WHEREAS, Mrs. DiFiore has dedicated her time to the community through her work with the American Cancer Society; and

WHEREAS, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo DiFiore have one son, Brother Leo DiFiore.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh congratulates Mr. and Mrs. Angelo DiFiore on their 50th Wedding Anniversary and extends a wish for health and happiness in the future.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I'd like to ask Mr. Anthony Mowad to please step forward. He is the President of the Pittsburgh Jazz Society. I'd also like to ask Mr. Roger Ryan, a jazz musician who is with him here today, to please step forward.

The Chair presents

No. 1267 WHEREAS, on Sunday, August 19, 1990, the Pittsburgh Jazz Society, a non-profit organization with over 3,000 members which supports, promotes and provides exposure for both local, as well as guest jazz artists, will hold its 3rd annual "Jazz Day in the Park" at Boyce Park Ski Lodge; and

WHEREAS, the event will provide entertainment from noon to ten o'clock, p.m. to promote and develop a broader appreciation of jazz in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pittsburgh boasts being #2 in the United States as home to many jazz greats such as George Benson, Ahmad Jamal, Tommy Turk, Errol Garner, and countless others who have gone on to earn national fame.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby declares Sunday, August 19, 1990 as "Jazz Day" in the City of Pittsburgh and encourages all Pittsburghers to attend this outdoor celebration.

Mr. Millones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

As I indicated earlier, we have with us Mr. Anthony "Tony" Mowad, President of the Pittsburgh Jazz Society, a jazz historian and Program Director of WDUQ at Duquesne University, a jazz station that I'm sure many of you have heard and listen to. His program is called The Night Side. May of you may recognize it by that.

I'd like to introduce Mr. Mowad to say a few words about Jazz Day in the City of Pittsburgh and I believe he's going to introduce Mr. Ryan.

Mr. Mowad:

Thank you, Mr. President and Council, for recognizing Jazz Day. Recognizing the musicians in the Pittsburgh area is gratifying to all of the musicians as well as the entire jazz community.

It gives me great pleasure to see many people, not only here in Council, recognizing the fact that jazz is a respected music. There's a very thin line between jazz and classical music and it seems it gets its due respect. Every day it gets better and better, so much so that many Pittsburghers who left the City to further achieve what their goals were have come back. Quite a few have. And the gentleman who is with me is one of those.

He was the music director for Bobby Rydell. He has performed all over the world, and is one of the finest drummers in the Pittsburgh area and recognized as such. He is a co-leader of a group known as Trio Grande and their record is known nationally right now and it gives me great pleasure to present Roger Ryan.

Mr. Ryan:

I'd like to thank the Council this afternoon for bestowing this honor upon a great jazz community, and you, too, Mr. Tony Mowad, for giving this our form of voice.

Indeed, this is a great city. It has provided and nurtured some profound jazz talent that is known all over this world. We certainly thank you on the part of the past, the present and the future artists. We thank you sincerely for this honor. Thank you.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The Chair presents

No. 1255 Communication from Sophie Masloff, Mayor, returning with her veto Council Bill 789 entitled, "An Ordinance supplementing and amending the Pittsburgh Code, Title Six, Conduct, Article One, Regulated Rights and Actions, Chapter 601, Public Order, by prohibiting the distribution or sale of cigarettes and other tobacco products through vending machines with certain exceptions and by providing penalties for the violation thereof."

Which was read.

(MAYOR'S VETO LETTER)

August 3, 1990

The Honorable President and Members
City Council
City of Pittsburgh
510 City County Building

Pittsburgh, PA 15219

Dear Mr. President and Members:

RE: Council Bill No. 789

I am returning, as vetoed, Council Bill No. 789. Without fairly balancing the needs of owners of publicly used commercial establishments with the need to protect the health of our children, this bill could only be implemented after serious delays.

We must get cigarettes out of the hands of our children, and we must do it as soon as possible. Therefore, I am submitting for your consideration a proposed ordinance that has a greater likelihood of being sustained and will more swiftly protect our children.

Under this bill, cigarette vending machines can remain in publicly frequented shops, as long as they are machines that can be operated only by tokens and not by U.S. currency. This will allow neighborhood shopkeepers to protect their inventory, but will also make them directly responsible for those children who acquire cigarettes from these token-operated machines. During my personal visits and discussions, I have learned of the negative economic impact a total vending ban will have on "Mom and Pop" stores. These stores are vital to our neighborhoods and have been a part of the fabric and history of Pittsburgh. I believe that the bill I am recommending will protect their status in the community and provide the necessary safeguards for our children.

At this time, I am also writing representatives of the vending and tobacco industries and urging them to support this bill. With their help, Pittsburgh can lead the way to a solution without violating the competing rights of our citizens.

We must protect the health of our children. I am asking all Pittsburghers to support token-operated cigarette machines. I urge Council to sustain my veto of Bill No. 789 and to favorably consider the proposed legislation if you deem it desirable.

Sincerely yours,

Sophie Masloff

(END OF LETTER)

Michelle Madoff:

I just came from meeting with the Administration and gave them two options which we debated and came up with an agreement.

Personally, I think that the Administration and Mayor Masloff's recommendation that we convert all vending machines where minors, children, have easy access to become addicts of cigarettes at the age of 11 and 12, etc. by converting them to the use of tokens is a super idea. It's better than my idea; it goes a lot further. I do have some concerns as to whether its possible.

I would be very happy to support the veto, to sustain the veto, with the clear understanding that 6 months from now, that's next year because we can't introduce a bill in the same year, that if the machines are not converted over, that indeed we would go with the present legislation. And I have the Administration's word that they would support the bill as it is presently written if the machines are not converted to being able to use tokens. The Administration will support the bill as it presently is. They're looking for a way of supporting our children across the board.

I think this is a better way of doing it. It changes the whole business of where I have to move to have all the vending machines which are outside of bars and private clubs moved inside so that they can be watched.

Now, as Councilmembers may know and the public knows, I have been a long time opponent of cigarette smoking, but I am not here to be big sister or big brother for adults who are addicted. But I know that adults who are addicted do not want their children addicted and they would support legislation and they do support it. In my office alone, the three smokers, adults, support the legislation to do whatever we can to protect our children from becoming addicts.

Now, my first legislation, as you may recall, was to stop smoking in elevators. The second one is to ban smoking in this room. My colleagues used to smoke. The third one was the divestiture and now we're looking at protecting our children.

But in the real world, we're talking about protecting what, 16 percent of the minors who have access to vending machines? The only way we're going to address the real problem is to get the leadership of this country and the leadership of this state, Secretary of Health in the State of Pennsylvania, and Secretary Sullivan to introduce legislation that will license anyone who sells cigarettes.

My office has already sent pending legislation to the Law Department for review. Mr. Specter is looking at it from the City. It is my opinion, very peripheral, that we do have the right, we are not pre-empted by State Law and that we can indeed license those who sell cigarettes. Why not license people who sell cigarettes? We license people who sell alcohol and it is just as dangerous to have people who sell poisonous cancer sticks, coffin nails, to our children by virtue of cigarettes as it is to have our children exposed to alcohol. And if we really care about our kids, that's what really has to happen.

But getting back to the issue at hand, the veto, I will urge my colleagues to support the Mayor's veto and vote for the veto because I have the Administration's word that if the vending operators do not convert to tokens, they will support our legislation and I think even tougher legislation.

The Chair:

For procedural reasons, I would ask for a motion to override the veto.

Mr. Coyne:

So moved.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

And that would be a no vote if we want to keep it as it is.

The Chair:

Yes.

Michelle Madoff:

Are you going to change it when we vote to vote yes if we want to keep it as it is and no --

The Chair:

You would vote yes if you want it to become law; no if you do not want it to become law.

Mr. Regan:

I didn't meet with anybody this morning, but I take my hat off to the Mayor. I think she made a good move and I think she did a terrific job on this. With all due respect to my famous colleague, I admire the Mayor and I think she made a smart move.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, obviously I'm supporting the Mayor's veto of this bill. I think Michelle Madoff is to be commended, though, for her original bill and trying her very best in order to protect our young people from this deadly product. But as I had said in the past, and my comments show, and if you read the press release of Mayor Masloff's, I was very happy I was able to convince one person, though, of the ill effects that bill would have had on small businesses in our neighborhood.

So, I will support her veto and I will support her pending legislation and again I think Michelle Madoff is to be commended for her original piece of legislation.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Chairman, I have to concur with the Mayor's wishes on this bill for many reasons, mainly because I serve on several boards, the Cancer Society and also I serve as the Chairman of Clean Lung and I think that the Mayor's ideology in regards to the machines and there's so much concern about our young people I think it was a great solution to the problem and I would have to say today that I would support her.

The Chair:

I'd like to make a comment. I still think the original bill was better than the one proposed. I am going to vote to override the veto, my reasoning being that I still think it's easier to regulate placement of the machine rather than operation of the machine. But if the veto is not overridden, I will still vote in favor of the Mayor's proposal.

Michelle Madoff:

I might remind my colleague that I agree with you that I think ultimately we will not see conversion to tokens. However, keep in mind that it is much easier, as a matter of fact, you cannot sue a vending machine. You can take legal action against someone who sells cigarettes to our children. And if we could get a law in place that says you must have a license in order to sell cigarettes and if the penalty is that you would have after a couple of fines and notices, you would lose the right to sell cigarettes, it affects your whole business.

And of course, when we get to small mom and pop shops, we can always waive the fee if that was necessary because the most important thing is to have the legislation in place that says it is illegal to sell cigarettes to children.

I think your point is well taken but I think that we gain more by working together on something as important as this than we work at cross purposes. And when I have the Mayor's word that we can re-introduce this legislation, I don't see a new Council next year and we're going to be here, God willing, the same Council and that we have enough votes to re-enact the legislation, I am willing to give the Mayor a chance to act in good faith and to see if she can bring about this change to tokens.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion to override?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

For the Record, Mr. President, I would hope that this support for the concept will remain and that after the first of the year, if the vending machines and the tobacco industry has done everything in it's power to see that they're not converted to tokens, we go back to this bill and even strengthen it.

I thank all of you for your support.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd like to make a motion to table the appointment of Mr. DeSantis.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

Discussion on that motion. Just very briefly, I think we've had a lengthy discussion on this issue and certainly Council has been communicated to by interested parties from the communities throughout the City, especially the North Side.

I feel very strongly that Mr. DeSantis is not only creative and talented and certainly has a strong track record of being a historical preservationist himself, as well as being an advocate for the issue, and I support his placement by the Mayor on the Commission. However, the bone of contention that I have at this time is his appointment or his perceived appointment as Chairperson of the Commission.

I think it would be sheer folly for this Council to approve that knowing that he will chair a Commission that for the last several years has been fraught with controversy and conflict. I think we're moving at a time of developing a consensus City-wide on this Council as a legislative body and the Administration and the community on the need to reform fundamentally the historical preservation ordinance.

We need someone who is talented who could work as a Chairperson to reduce tension and conflict and bring consensus, develop consensus before the Commission.

Again, just to be clear, I support his placement on the Commission; however, I think it would be a mistake to reinforce his role as Chairperson of the Commission. I don't think he represents reasonableness and fair-mindedness and I think people who go before the Commission, either proponents or antagonists to designation either their own district or some edifice around the City should have a reasonable insurance that they have a fair hearing in terms of the process of the Commission's work itself. And I don't think Mr. DeSantis fills that bill.

Currently, Mr. DeSantis himself has several nominations and has had several nominations before the Commission. Mr. DeSantis himself is leading in legal litigation initiatives against the Mayor and the Administration on a previous action by Council on a Conditional Use Application for the Medical Society. Mr. DeSantis himself is single-handedly responsible for blocking two major developments on the North Side which I think had a detrimental impact on clearing land and making it available for development.

The Chair:

I'd just like to interject. We're not talking about the validity of Mr. DeSantis. We're talking about whether or not we're holding this.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'm just explaining why I felt it was important to table and I would hope that if the table motion has majority support, that in a week or so, for the Administration to rethink their position and clearly indicate who exactly would Chair the Commission.

So, for all those reasons and others which I'll probably again speak on before this vote, I strongly urge that we support the table motion.

The Chair:

Is the motion to table or to hold one week?

Mr. Ferlo:

The motion is to table.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I would agree with Councilman Ferlo's sentiments. I received over the past few days many correspondence from residents throughout the City who have a problem with Mr. DeSantis' position on Historic Preservation. Personally, I think it's very important that we have someone on the Board who is a preservationist and who is going to do his or her best to make sure that historic structures are preserved in the City of Pittsburgh.

However, to be a Chairman of that Board, I think we need someone who is going to be more fair-minded and who is going to look at each and every issue that comes before the Board with a very objective point of view. Mr. DeSantis has not impressed me that he can be that type of individual. I think the City would benefit immensely by having him on the Board, by having someone of his knowledge and his determination to fight for historic preservation. However, unless the Administration can guarantee us that he wouldn't be the head of the Board, I don't think it's really going to serve the City's purpose by having him in that body.

As we know with the many discussions that we've had in front of Council, the ordinance itself in the case of Allegheny West and Shadyside does need drastically changed. In the case of Allegheny West, Mr. DeSantis continued, I think this is his third effort, to have that area designated as historical despite the fact that over 50 percent of the residents have opposed that. Now, I think if we're going to have an individual heading a Board, he or she has got to be someone who is going to look at the majority of the residents want and act accordingly. Mr. DeSantis, I don't believe, has shown he can do that.

He stated, when he came before Council last week, that he can and will be fair, that so far his role has been of an adversarial type and that there has been a lot of compromise prior to him coming to Council.

As recently as yesterday, I had some correspondence from some employees at the David Lawrence Convention Center, of which I am a Boardmember, who maintained that in his position as the Director of the Home and Garden Show he has been very confrontational to deal with and he has been one who seeks compromise. I think that just lends weight to the fact that he shouldn't be Chairman and that this Council needs a guarantee from the Administration that, although Mr. DeSantis would be a fine member, that he would not be the one to lead up the Board.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President and Members of Council, I agree with Councilmen Ferlo and Coyne on this. I don't have anything against Mr. DeSantis at all. In fact, the opposite is true. I was very impressed by his comments last Wednesday. I thought that he was extremely bright and articulate and I respect him for his staunch promotion of preservation in Pittsburgh. In fact, I share many of those views and also his views on the current historic legislation which he and I both agree is flawed. And for that reason, I support his appointment to the Committee.

But, I don't support him for Chairman of that Committee. I personally have just been through a fairly devious battle in Shadyside West over historic designation and we're all in the middle of one involving Allegheny West. And my experience with those two issues has taught me that we really need somebody as Chair who is fair-minded, who can be flexible, and who can negotiate with both sides.

I think many people forget that the Historic Review Commission does more than just designate neighborhoods or buildings as historic. They also have to work with individual property owners once that designation occurs and work with them to reach a compromise over what to do with their home or with their building to make it comply with historic preservation but, at the same time, make sure that their pocket-book isn't undermined too.

So, we need somebody who can sit down and be flexible and I have some questions as to whether Mr. DeSantis can do that. So, I will vote to table his appointment; but if the tabling fails, then I will vote for his confirmation.

Mr. Millones:

I think we're making a mountain out of a molehill. I think Mr. DeSantis has 18 months to prove whether or not he can Chair, effectively Chair, the Commission. His term expires December of 1991 and for that reason I would certainly support it. If he can't do the job in the next 18 months, then obviously I would assume that he would be removed from the Commission. But I would certainly support him for that length of time. I really think we need to give the Commission a try. I agree with Jim that we're on the threshold of attempting to shape new policy and to come to some consensus. And if Mr. DeSantis doesn't work out in the next 18 months, I would be the first to argue for his not being reappointed.

Michelle Madoff:

I think that my colleague, Councilman Milliones, was really very astute in the statement he has made. Why condemn somebody without giving them a chance. We're not talking about a great length of time; we're talking about a mere 18 months.

I might add that I have heard the same stories that have been repeated here at the table, the lack of compromise, flexibility, negotiating with both sides, mediator. Well, I believed all those stories too until I was a witness. I was there. I'm not giving you second-hand information. I was there when this Council, for years, tried to do something with the riverside, when this Council tried to get Down by the Riverside off and running so we could get some revenue, some jobs back into this community.

I was there and testified, as was Mr. Ferlo, as was Mr. Wagner, before the Zoning Board when the hearing was supposed to start at 1:00 and it didn't start until 4:00 and we had a chance to interact with the community groups and found out that they were going to take litigation, the groups were going to enter into litigation which would have held this project up for a year and the investors were going to walk away. And the mediator and the arbitrator and the person who was able to negotiate was indeed Mr. DeSantis. I watched him do this.

On that basis, I think he would be an asset and we ought to put aside whatever our personal wishes are. This is not a very politically sound thing for me to do but it's the right thing to do and I think we should vote for him.

Mr. Regan:

I'd just like to say with all those accolades and adjectives they're firing around down at the other end of Council here that he's a pretty damn good guy. They gave him a 21 gun salute down there and they're all going to talk about tabling it or holding it.

I think this is the most knowledgeable guy that we have in that business. I think he'd be terrific and who are we to tell the Mayor who she can appoint once he's down there?

It's nice that we have a lot of bright guys on Council and I appreciate the nice things they said down there about John DeSantis, and I say that we should appoint him.

Mr. Ferlo:

One of the things that made Mr. Regan a great Judge prior to his election to City Council was the recognition by citizens in that judicial district that when they went before him, that they indeed would have an audience before someone who would be fair-minded, who would not pre-judge the decision or case before the parties arrived before the Honorable Mr. Regan's bench.

The same type of instance applies here. We're not arguing about Mr. DeSantis in terms of his role or the need to have a strong advocate for preservation on the Commission. All of us are emphatically stating that that is the case. All of us, however, have had experience with Mr. DeSantis over the last 5 years, at least myself, in particular, to suggest that he should not Chair the important work of the Commission, a Commission that is certainly problematic, as experienced over the last few years with a multitude of problems associated with Historical Designation. We need somebody to help us through the process and the 18 months is a lifetime. It may seem like a short time but in terms of the critical work and what's on the agenda in terms of the fundamental rewrite of the ordinance, as well as other issues before the Commission, he is not the person to Chair and to facilitate. He does not have the attributes of being reasonable.

And, contrary to Michelle's comments, I have participated in that Board of Adjustment hearing and my recollection and history of that meeting is entirely different.

The second thing, the Mayor has made some great appointments in the last year and a half in particular. She has made some wonderful appointments at the Housing Court, at the Magistrate level, Human Relations Commission, Urban Redevelopment Authority, Housing Authority, but it's not unusual to go astray on one appointment. Out of 20 great appointments, this happens to be a bad appointment.

It's not a question of making a mountain out of a molehill. This is an important issue and I think we have a responsibility as a legislative branch to provide some checks and balances and to project some issue of reasonableness and fairness which Mr. DeSantis is certainly not.

Michelle Madoff:

I think the reasonableness and fairness is that we're talking about 18 months and I don't recall that any legislation is carved in granite. If, indeed, which I do not believe, that some error or some legislation spearheaded by Mr. DeSantis that wanted to be changed in 18 months, indeed it could be. I've never seen anything go into effect very quickly anyway. Government is not exactly a hare; it's more like a tortoise.

But, after getting the correspondence and calls in my office, when somebody like Mistick and Sons says, "I don't like him", that says to me that Mistick and sons do not want to have anybody looking over their shoulder. And they need to be having someone look over their shoulder. We know how many bills have come before this Council on various matters that we were not terribly thrilled with some of the attempts by Mistick such as the piping in buildings, that they were allowed to use in their building which we voted to remove from the Code.

I just think that we're making a big mistake by making this such a big issue. I think we're creating bad feeling with the gentleman. Give the man a chance to act in good faith.

The Chair:

If I am correct, the motion here is to table, not defeat. I suspect the reason for the table is to get additional information.

Mr. Ferlo:

It gives time to allow the Administration to rethink their position about the appointment of the Chairmanship. We can untable it next week, Mr. Chairman, and I hope that we're able to do that.

Mr. Regan:

I just wanted to say about the Mistick Brothers, since I know they're probably watching right now, that I think they've done a lot of good in a lot of neighborhoods. They've remodeled a lot of old beat up houses and made them look good. I don't have anything personal against the Misticks and I just would like to say that they have done a lot of good.

And my friend, Mr. Ferlo, if ever there was an antagonistic guy, it's him when he is fighting for what he thinks is right. I don't know of a more fair man or a guy that I respect more than Mr. Ferlo. And if ever there were two guys that are a lot alike, it's him and Mr. DeSantis. I would certainly pick him to Chair anything and I would pick him to head up any Commission or anything the City had because I know he's fair and I feel the same way about this guy, DeSantis.

Mr. Ferlo:

The difference, Mr. Chairman, is that I raised $150,000 and ran six times for public office and won a response from the electorate.

The Chair:

Let's stay on the issue.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, it's just that the name Mistick and Company has been brought up a couple of times and I want to make clear that my vote has nothing to do with that or any corporation. It has to do with the small property owner.

What happens here is that if you're in a designated area, a small property owner who wants to paint his or her house has to go before the Historic Review Commission and ask for permission to get the color of paint. That, of course, is a detail but it's an important one and if somebody comes before the Historic Review Commission and says, "I can't afford a slate roof" or "I don't want to paint my house this particular color", I want somebody as Chair who can be flexible and who can negotiate with that person. That's why I'm voting to table.

Michelle Madoff:

Point of Clarification. It seems to me that the motion to table is to kill the bill. The people tabling it do not want him as Chairman of that Commission. That's what they said; they're not making any secrets about it. They're up front and honest about it. They're saying, "We're not tabling this bill because we don't want him on the Commission; we're tabling it because we don't want him as Chairperson." And that means it goes back to the Administration for that purpose and I don't think that's what we're here to deal with today. I think we're here to either vote for him as Chairman or not vote for him and I'm prepared to vote for him.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, the role of this Council is to advise and consent. When the statement has been made previously that it's not up to Council to tell the Mayor who to appoint, I think I find a considerable problem with that statement. The Mayor does make the appointments and sends them over to Council for Council to express any concerns.

Now, as you have very clearly stated, the motion here isn't to defeat Mr DeSantis right now. The motion is to hold it for a week to buy Council time to negotiate with the Administration and see if the Administration will say, "Fine, Mr. DeSantis will be on the Commission; however, he shall not be the Chairman."

I think the very essence of the question is his question of objectivity. I don't think anyone is questioning his ability or his sincerity or integrity. They're questioning his objectivity and that's what I'm questioning.

So, I think that Council does have an appropriate role in advising and consenting to the Mayor's Office and I think what we're doing is well within our rights.

The Chair:

I'd just like to comment. I don't see anything wrong with tabling a bill. If we were voting today on Mr. DeSantis, which I'm not sure we're going to get to or not, I'm prepared to vote on Mr. DeSantis. But, that's not the motion. The motion is to table and there are specific questions that Council is asking the Administration to answer. I don't see anything wrong with that, really, in fairness.

Michelle Madoff:

I won't be here to cast my vote and it might be the deciding vote next week.

Mr. Regan:

I would just like to say that some of the people in Allegheny West feel that Mr. DeSantis will have the same position that he'll have to resign his position as an officer over there if he goes on a Chairman of the Board. So, I think that that would be in their best interest if that's what they think. Then he would be in charge of the whole City of Pittsburgh.

As far as my colleague down there, he's trying to redesign and reshape some of the things that are tough and make them a little bit more lenient for people to be able to afford those houses. And there are some monies available for people to fix up their places.

The Chair:

If the bill is tabled, I would simply like to add that I would like from the Administration an opinion on the legal action that Mr. DeSantis was involved in which was the eight story high-rise that this Council approved, of which the far majority of this Council was not here for to provide housing for disabled. I voted for that and it has been caught up in litigation for years. That was, I thought, a very significant project for the North Side and it provided needed housing. I'd like a legal opinion on that action.

Michelle Madoff:

I didn't approve it.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON ALL APPOINTMENTS, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1990)

Of Don Machen, Appointment to the Planning Commission:

Mr. Cohen:

We also know each other and I think that it's a great thing that you have been appointed I want to congratulate you.

We know each other through a number of situations but one of which is that you worked at the firm that I worked at for just a few months, we never worked together but from people that I have talked to about you and from the little contact that we have had, I know you to be a man of integrity and very much an independent thinker so I really congratulate you. That doesn't mean I don't have any questions for you so let me ask you a few. First of all, why do you want to be on the Planning Commission?

Mr. Machen:

I believe at this point in my life it's important to give back some of the opportunities, give some of myself for some of the opportunities I have had in the past. I have been fortunate enough to practice orthodontics in Squirrel Hill for fifteen years, practiced law for four years and I feel very fortunate and I think it's time now that with the City being on a course of revitalization, new Council composition of which I think is going to be important for the future, that I'd like to be a part of that.

Mr. Cohen:

Great. One of the most important functions of the Planning Commission member is as I see it really doing a balancing act and I'm wondering if you have thoughts on how you balance the development interests of the City and neighborhood preservation interests; how do you approach that?

Mr. Machen:

It's almost on an individual basis. As far as I'm concerned the merits of each particular project, when the hearings are being conducted and listening carefully to each of the groups and each of the people that are speaking and determining afterwards, after reflexion and discussion and advice from the staff people, then they can be independent decision even though it may be a tough one, so it's difficult to answer specifically but I think it's an individual project basis.

Mr. Cohen:

In that balancing act how much value do you place on neighborhood preservation and integrity of the neighborhoods?

Mr. Machen:

It gets equal attention; it's a very important factor that must be considered because you're impacting a great many lives for a long, long time. These are generally not reversible decisions so their considerations are of utmost importance.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you very much. I think this was a good selection and I think you are going to do a great job and I look forward to seeing your decisions on the Planning Commission.

Mr. Machen:

Thank you, Mr. Cohen.

Of Marilyn Detwiler, Appointment to the Planning Commission:

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Congratulations on your appointment.

I should tell you up front that I don't see that as a conflict, that people who live in the city also live in the county. The City is the major hub of the County. There are potential conflicts of interest down the road. Each of us even at this table have to confront that and when we do we abstain and I assume that you will when you're confronted with that as well.

Ms. Detwiler:

Yes, certainly.

Mr. Cohen:

I would like to ask you a few questions about your appointment and how you would view your membership on the Planning Commission for you to be confirmed.

Similar questions that I asked to Mr. Machen. Why do you want to be on the Planning Commission?

Ms. Detwiler:

I was very honored to be asked. As I say, I have been a long-time resident of the City, I think a good resident of my community. I care very much about the city and I believe that I have a range of knowledge and experience that will enable me to be a part of that body and bring reason and I hope balance to issues that are discussed. I'm very pleased to be asked to serve the City.

Mr. Cohen:

One of the questions and I know it's a difficult one that I asked to Mr. Machen is how one goes about the balancing act that is required of commission members, that balancing act between development, commercial, in order for us to be competitive with other cities and with the suburbs. How do you balance that with neighborhood preservation interests? How do you approach a problem like that?

Ms. Detwiler:

I think not with rigid and pre-set answers certainly. I do believe that one of the great strengths of the City of Pittsburgh is its neighborhoods and its communities. We all live in communities and identify strongly with them and care about their continuing health and vigor.

We all know that the City needs employment, the City needs shopping areas. I think that most of these things can be resolved hopefully through good planning. I think things can be made to fit together and that we can certainly accommodate change within strong existing communities.

Mr. Cohen:

I wanted to follow-up on Councilman Wagner's questions about the riverfront development and ask you whether you -- first of all I thought your description was a good one as to what your vision is of the riverfront and I share that really, a series of parks, marinas, residential areas, restaurants, To really have the rivers come alive and I think we can do that and I think we're on the path towards that.

Speaking of paths, do you favor contiguous public access of the riverfront property no matter what really is there, whether it's residential or some type of small commercial entity like a marina or restaurant. Do you favor contiguous public access?

Ms. Detwiler:

Ideally I think it would be terrific for people to be able to go down to the river and walk along it or run along it or bike along it for any distance that they wanted to. Realistically there are situations in which that's not possible because of existing uses or because of the necessity for security of uses that about the rivers or other reasons and then I think if you can hop off and hop back on, if you can skirt around in some fashion, it really becomes almost a design problem and I think it's a long-range kind of problem that will get worked out over a period of years as new development occurs along the river.

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like you to try as hard as you can to see that that happens. I realize there are time and places where it can't be totally contiguous but I think it can be virtually contiguous and other cities have done that and I'd see that and I'm glad that at least you share the goal and once we have the goal then we can come close to reaching it.

Ms. Detwiler:

One quick story. I remember reading a doctoral dissertation that a woman had done in the mid-'70's which explored the history of the rivers in terms of public access and if I recall her statistics correctly, at one time there were 70 streets in the City of Pittsburgh that went down to and ended at the river and that over the years those streets were vacated by the City in order for large industrial users probably to use that land and to cut off the access to the city so we really will be trying to restore what was there at one time in the past.

Mr. Cohen:

Good. Finally, I also share and I know the other Councilmembers do, Councilwoman Madoff's point about the time it takes to get a decision for somebody who wants to come in with a development and it often takes years. In fact, we had a public hearing just a week ago where somebody who wanted to put a marina in -- and forgetting the merits whether that would be good or bad for the City, has waited eight years, literally eight years for a decision and you've already expressed your interest in accelerating the process but I would like to add my encouragement for you to do that.

People, whether they're small entrepreneurs or whether they're large commercial businesspeople have a right to have an answer so that they know whether or not they can go forward or not and of course when they get a quick answer it will further Pittsburgh competitiveness with respect to the suburbs and with other cities so I encourage you to do that. Thank you.

Of James Cunningham, Appointment to the Art Commission:

Mr. Cohen:

Congratulations on your nomination. I'm not familiar with your background other than what I've read in your resume so I wonder if you could tell me and us what it is in your background that would best serve you on the Art Commission, best serve the City of Pittsburgh?

Mr. Cunningham:

I have really spent all of my adult life working with the arts and this goes -- what we do at the radio station is specifically involved with putting classical music on the air and one of the things that we hope to do is to make classical music more accessible to more people. We have had a problem with the general perception that the arts are something that can only be enjoyed by a very few and the arts are to be enjoyed by everybody and can enrich everybody's life and we work very hard at trying to break down the barriers, the perception that the arts are elitest and for example at our radio station the idea is that this is something that anybody can enjoy and it's simply a matter of the way it's presented, classical music has usually been presented -- I guess people think of the announcers who work for classical stations for example is somebody who wears a tuxedo and sits in an overstuffed chair with a brandy snifter and we're --

Mr. Cohen:

-- you really have had led into my next question which has to do with just that. I think art is sometimes perceived as being for the rich and in fact it isn't and shouldn't be -- I mean it is to the extent that tickets are expensive for some events in this city and I define arts pretty broader as it sounds like you do including the performing arts and music, visual arts and I'd like to know what you think about how we can do better in brings arts to the neighborhoods because that's what we really need to do I think to expand the appreciation of the arts in the city.

Mr. Cunningham:

It's tied in with the question that Michelle raised about the money and the sources of revenue and how we can find more money to fund more art to artists like everything in the world getting more and more expensive and artists have to eat. A sculptor who sculpts a painting is going to charge a fee and if we can find more money to fund more projects we can put more art into the neighborhoods and I think you're absolutely right that we have to do more to get more public art into each individual neighborhoods and not think so much about just the central core of the city.

Mr. Cohen:

I would like you to also look into the legislation that Michelle mentioned about. There is a percentage of at least construction, major construction contracts in the city that is allocated to art for the construction project; usually it is a building and that's something that the Art Commission really could use to its advantage and to the advantage of everybody in the city because I agree with you that arts are undergoing a difficult time but at the same time the arts really are the sole of the city and that legislation was put into place so that we can have art work, important buildings throughout, projects throughout the city and I would like you to see you pursue that if you would.

Mr. Cunningham:

I will.

Of Raymond Schinhofen, Appointment to the Art Commission:

Mr. Cohen:

Congratulations on your appointment. I'd like to ask you the same question.

I have your resume but I'd like you to tell Council and the City what it is in your background that would best serve you on the Arts Commission.

Mr. Schinhofen:

I was born in the City of Pittsburgh and I have been a life-long resident and I have a degree from Carnegie-Mellon in Architecture and I've lived in Squirrel Hill since 1960 where we raised our family.

I have my own practice for about the last 15 years and until seven or eight years ago I was very much involved in the community and in the last period I was pulled back from community activity in order to get our children through college and we're sort of out of the woods now in that respect and I would like to again get involved in community activities.

We have done a lot of work in the City of Pittsburgh and a great deal of residential work, some commercial.

I heard discussions of the riverfront -- interest in riverfronts. Back in the late 1970's we did a study for the Southside riverfront, an urban design study and as a matter of fact portions of that have been executed. The park going to the Brady Street Bridge and the Boat Launching Ramp and my background of course is generally working with the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Cohen:

Certainly your residency is in your favor. Tell me what your goals would be on the Arts Commission?

Mr. Schinhofen:

To have some impact on the image of the City, especially in public areas and some buildings. I think the City could be the best example of art in the neighborhoods. When the City develops a project in the neighborhood, I think they should be very sensitive to the example that they are giving to the residents of the neighborhood.

Mr. Cohen:

I agree with you very much. That was the question that I asked the last appointee. We have a beautiful downtown and hopefully it will continue to adorn our downtown with art works like the Caliguiri statue that will be here at the City-County Building but at the same time we need to bring more into the neighborhoods; that's really what the greatest part of this city is; its richness is its neighborhoods so I'm glad to hear that you would work towards bringing more art into the neighborhoods and I've studied your resume and you have a really very strong background and I wish you the best of luck on the Arts Commission.

Mr. Schinhofen:

Thank you.

Of Howard Graves, Appointment to Historic Review Commission:

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. Graves, congratulations on your appointment. You're being appointed to the Historic Review Commission at a time when historic preservation in the city is controversial. We have had a number of controversial issues that this Council and also the City as a whole has had to address in Shadyside West, in St. Peter's Church, Allegheny West and other places that will follow so I have a few questions for you.

Let me begin with a general question that I have asked other people which is, what in your background would you think would best serve you on the Historic Review Commission?

Mr. Graves:

I think my background, my education is an architect and I think in addition to that would be my years of practice and experience and a lot of the communities directly related to historical preservation. More notably the Manchester community.

Mr. Cohen:

Can you tell me your experience with the Manchester designation?

Mr. Graves:

I was working with City of Pittsburgh, the URA and I was assigned that particular project as an architect. I had a staff of 16 people whose responsibility involved identification of and classification of various historical structures in the neighborhood. Those being more significant than others. I think the end product however was really to find ways in which these various structures could be financed to give people housing who never had that opportunity to have housing.

Mr. Cohen:

You are now a registered architect; is that right?

Mr. Graves:

Right.

Mr. Cohen:

Are you employed as a registered architect?

Mr. Graves:

I'm self employed, I have my own business, Graves and Associates, and our commitment is to the Pittsburgh community at large. We're involved in a number of non-profit community revitalization groups both in the Hill and in the Homewood-Brushton community.

We have been involved in this kind of business for a long time. As an associate when I was with a larger firm and in my own practice, it is one of our areas of interest. I believe that I think what's really important aside from myself being an architect and the reference points that I have with respect to backgrounds of historical restoration, I think is my focus as an individual and if I could paraphrase Isaiah where it says that "He that shall be of Thee shall rebuild the old waste places and will rise up the foundations of many generations and they shall be called the Repair of the Breach, a place for people to dwell in" and I think that is a summation of my philosophy as an individual and my commitment to the City of Pittsburgh as a whole.

Mr. Cohen:

There is a community group in my district that also borders on Councilman Milliones district called breach menders and I think they use that same phrase.

I want to ask you about specific historic designation issues. I don't think the specific place is in the city, I don't think that's appropriate but I do think that the historic legislation on the books now is seriously flawed and I just want to explore a couple of areas of that with you. One of them is that it doesn't take into account people of moderate or low income. People who are hardship cases and that is something that has concerned me about the historic designation from the beginning. I am very much in favor of historic preservation of the great sites and neighborhoods in our city but there are times when individual homeowners who live in historic districts or even an historic site have been required by the Historic Review Commission to do things that they can't really afford to do. Example, if they live in a house with lead windows or with slate roofs. Of course it would be in the best of all worlds to preserve that with those lead windows or slate roofs but sometimes the people who have come into those homes and bought those homes can't afford to do that and I'd like to know whether you will be sympathetic towards those types of people in negotiating compromises with them.

Mr. Graves:

I think that one of the things that is currently being undertaken now is the Ordinance for historical preservation is being rewritten. I think in light of that myself as an individual and a part of that commission would be involved in that process. I think that process has to be one that again is sensitive to a lot of the issues related to individual home ownership.

I think that this is pretty much what happened in Manchester. I think that when we go into an area where it's designated historical registry and it's significant in that sense, I think that along with that there should be a commitment to the residents of that area to make funds available to offset costs associated with the preservation. I think that is done on another level but I think it's been my understanding that this Administration in fact has made that kind of commitment via a lot of programs through the URA. So a lot of concerns that you mentioned here are in effect are things that have been addressed.

Mr. Cohen:

I don't think that that's the case. The URA certainly does a lot of good things for low income people but there aren't any funds established; I've looked into this. There aren't any funds established for this purpose for people who really can't afford the cost of historic designation and I'm certainly not asking you to start such a fund but would ask you if you would be sensitive to those concerns of financial hardship.

Mr. Graves:

I think that there is no progress often times without some level of compromise. I think that I'm one that can look at the issues. I'm a professional problem solver and I enjoy doing that and I enjoy doing that in relationship to the needs of people. I think there are opportunities and ways to identify methods in which to accomplish those things. So I guess I'm a bit optimistic because I have seen it work in other ways.

Mr. Cohen:

One other question for you and that is with respect to the timing that the Historic Review Commission takes -- the time that it takes to render decisions.

There have been times when the decision making process is a lengthy one. In government it seems that you often have that but when a district or a site is designated as you know it puts a freeze on that property until the Historic Review Commission makes a decision and I'd like your commitment to work with all deliberate speed on cases that come before the Historic Review Commission to try to speed up that process.

Mr. Graves:

A lot of people think architects are somewhat procrastinators. I think that is part of solving a lot of the problems. I think that it addresses part of your first question and I think that if there is hardship, that there's a time element involved where issues are not resolved and decisions are not made, I think my approach of things that I take things that are in front of me and I feel comfortable with them to a level because I understand that I can't solve all the issues and I make a decision. Good or bad I made one.

Mr. Cohen:

Judging from your resume and from our discussion I think you'll make good ones. You really do have a strong resume and I see here that you have received many awards and honors and I think that the City of Pittsburgh will be very well served by your service on the commission.

Mr. Graves:

Thank you.

Of John DeSantis, Appointment to Historic Review Commission:

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. DeSantis, congratulations on your appointment. I think you can tell it's somewhat a controversial appointment and for a controversial issue that has faced the City and that is historic preservation.

I'm very interested in your answers and have a few questions for you because I think it's a very important appointment for a very important position.

You said at the beginning that you think we should keep down the divisiveness but to take steps to reduce the pitting of part of neighborhoods against other parts of neighborhoods that has happened so many times. I've seen it happen personally in Shadyside. Councilman Regan and Councilman Milliones certainly have seen it Allegheny West, all of us have seen it. How do you plan to do that?

Mr. DeSantis:

I think that it's something we can't accomplish overnight. I think there are a couple of different ways to do it. One is to make the system logistically as comfortable as possible for as many people as possible and by that several of you in some of the earlier questioning have alluded in the Planning Commission process to the length of time. I think that it is very important that we cut the period of time required for the various reviews as much as possible. Now frankly that has already been done to a large extent within the historic review process but I think that making -- the first step in doing that is making the process itself honestly as palatable as possible and what that does is reduces the objectionable nature of the process as much as possible.

The second is a matter of education in the community and I see that as really two levels of education. One is the entire total community which would be not only everyone who lives in this city but also everyone who has any contact with this city and in that context I think that we have -- and I see this as the role of the Historic Review Commission, to work with other groups in this city who are interested in preservation issues as well as with other branches of government to see that there is an ongoing positive image of preservation throughout the city, not just to people even who are residents of this city but so that people understand when they are seeing preservation what it is because a lot of times unfortunately it gets treated as an abstract effect. In fact, that's the way we're dealing with it today. We're dealing with it as an abstract concept and it's not. It's a real day-to-day living existence kind of a thing that people deal with and it affects people and so as an example, when people are going to Station Square for entertainment or when people are going to the Benedum Center for a cultural event, I think it's important that people recognize that that's what preservation is about. Preservation is not this concept locked away in a glass case. It's something that people interact with every day. That's on the broader scale. On the more narrow scale taking it down to an individual community, I think once again it is a role that the HRC is not legislated to perform put in concert with other preservation entities in the city, and I'm not just talking about the mega-entities like Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation, but every community in the city has organizations or small groups of people who whether they call themselves preservation groups or not are doing it. When you've got a group who is working to be sure that they're church is going to still be standing 100 years from now, that's a preservation group. They may not call themselves that because all they're concerned about is that one building but that's what they're doing and I think that in working with small groups, large groups and everything in between, anybody who has a part in that preservation of this city, whether it's one building or one neighborhood or the whole city, I think we need to find ways to help them use preservation as the tool that it can be.

The Chair:

Excuse me, do you have another question?

Mr. Cohen:

Yes. I think that part of your answer was meeting with preservation groups throughout the city. That's important, no question about it. You need also to meet with the other side, with other groups as well and I don't want a long answer on this but are you also willing to meet with groups that have a different perspective from the one that you have throughout this whole process?

Mr. DeSantis:

It's not a matter of willing, it's a matter of it's the only way that it can happen. And to use my own neighborhood as an example, in a community in which there is a component of people who oppose the designation of that community, I think that it is incumbent upon the Commission because that's the level that is closest to the root of it. It is incumbent upon the Commission to meet with those people to explain to those people to find out from those people what it is that their concerns are, to see what is legitimate concern. Are there real problems that the process does create for those people?

The Chair:

Excuse me, do you have another question?

Mr. Cohen:

I have a few others. Sorry, but I do think this really is an important appointment.

With respect to my $64,000.00 question about you is, you have been described in various forms as being an ardent preservationist. I don't have a problem with that. I consider myself an ardent preservationist or preservationist but you're being appointed to a position where your role is a very different one and your role as a good chairperson of the Historic Review Commission involves a lot of negotiation. Negotiation between different sides so that we don't have neighborhood pitted against neighborhood and people against people and my question is, can you at times at the necessary times suppress your personal views, your personal zealotness as some people have described it in order to promote the greater good of reaching a solution for historic preservation?

Mr. DeSantis:

It gets back to an answer that I gave earlier. It doesn't do any good for the Historic Review Commission to say "Yes, this is important let's designate it" and then send it to you in the form that you folks can't say yes to and by that I mean, if we know at the grassroots level that it is not possible to send this up without civil war, then I think it's important for us to continue to do the homework at that point.

Now you get into this time factor. How long do you keep working? What happens -- and I have a dozen years working in community groups throughout the city, there will always be people who have reached their decision before they've gotten the answers.

I can tell you that I am committed that I know that the process has to be gone through but I can't pretend to you that the controversy is not going to go away.

Mr. Cohen:

My question is, can you compromise?

Mr. DeSantis:

Yes. I think that's where the new legislation is important because right now the current legislation -- it just doesn't offer a compromise. I think if we had a couple of different levels of preservation available that would be a probability.

Mr. Cohen:

Is there a neighborhood preservation district where there isn't the detailed regulation of the color that you paint your house and the type of minutia that the Historic Review Commission often gets into but it gets to whether or not you can demolish or construct a house and if you have neighborhood support then neighborhood conservation districts can accomplish that. Are you inclined in favor of having neighborhood conservation districts?

Mr. DeSantis:

I'm sorry, I wasn't specific about that before. You have described precisely what I believe the legislation lacks and needs and I very strongly support having that.

Mr. Cohen:

It has been tried in other cities and I think very successful.

Mr. DeSantis:

It's in use everywhere in the country.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Bill No. 1256

Report of the Committee on Finance for August 1, 1990 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 893

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution requesting the Mayor to establish the Pittsburgh Food Policy Commission." --- (SPONSORED BY MR. FERLO, MR. COYNE, MR. DARKINS, MR. REGAN, AND MR. RICCIARDI) (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like my remarks brought forward on this bill please.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 893-Wednesday, 8/1/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

By way of proceeding on this vote on this bill, I would like to offer a substitute amendment based on negotiations and discussions with Mayor Masloff and her Administration.

At this time I would like to move to amend by substitution, and you have a copy of the bill before you.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Very briefly, because I want to move expeditiously on this, this legislation has been submitted, it was the subject of an extensive public hearing several weeks ago, and I thought a well-attended and informative public hearing. This is the creation of a food policy commission in the City of Pittsburgh as a result of discussions and negotiations with the Mayor, her administrative staff and Director Downing from City Planning, discussions with the advocacy group, Just Harvest, who helped to spearhead this initiative and the drafting and helping to write this legislation, along with Irene McLaughlin from my office.

The suggestion from the Administration is, one, that they would like to be supportive of the creation of the commission. They had a specific problem with creating, by way of ordinance, a permanent commission, and their suggestion was that they appoint the commission and that it be by resolution requesting this of the Mayor and the Administration, which I am perfectly happy with and thank the Administration for recognizing the need and the justification for such a commission and for cooperating, and really I hope living up to what the mandate of this commission will be.

One of the unfortunate realities of the economic changes and demise of certain industries in this city, specifically since the '60's, is a tremendous loss of employment opportunities, and where new jobs have been created, we still have, unfortunately, a situation where we have many working people who now work for or near minimum wage positions. In this city alone, as we know, we have specific problems with the public housing communities. And the idea of the commission is to establish a research and a planning and a policy body that will look at the issue of access to food, the affordability, the availability of food everywhere, from public housing communities, with the establishment of food co-op buying clubs or the establishment of commercial centers, to neighborhoods that traditionally have been stable residential communities but have suffered from the onslaught of the demise of inner-city supermarkets. So the problem and the need is very clear; not only has it been well-stipulated in the public hearing, but this Council has a good track record in trying to deal with the realities of the problems of lack of food and the affordability of food. We moved in cooperation with the Just Harvest and other food advocates here today to creating a response in city government, and that response for the last several years has been to target monies to food pantries operating throughout the city. That, unfortunately, is somewhat of a bottomless pit and it still doesn't meet the overall need. And what this commission proposes to do is begin to make systemic changes in city government, in the food industry locally, so that we are not only trying to grapple with a few dollars to meet a very large need to the food pantries, but that we can begin to be far more creative and progressive at looking at the problems associated with lack of food or the affordability and availability of food. So the commission would be broadly representative of those not only advocates in the community, but also representatives, entrepreneurs, business people from the food retail industry.

The goals and objectives are spelled out in the legislation. This legislation unusually already has the support of six members of Council, and recognizing that the Administration is cooperating and is supportive of this commission, I didn't see a need to specifically ask Director Downing to be here. But if there are any questions or any supportive comments, I would appreciate that and I would ask for support of this legislation.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Darkins	Mr. Regan
Mr. Ferlo	Mr. Ricciardi
Mr. Millionses	Mr. Wagner
	(Pres't)

AYES 6 NOES none

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the bill was tabled.

Also,

Bill No. 1109

On Bill No. 867. This bill is very important because it would allow the rezoning in the Billboard Square area. This is a rezoning being requested by the two development organizations and assistance group in the affected area to join initiative with the Urban Redevelopment Authority and the Administration to make a major impact of remodeling and renovating the area, both commercial as well as new housing.

So, obviously I'm strongly in support of the rezoning to "R2-T" as represented in Bill 867 and I'd like my remarks brought forward.

I'd like my comments brought forward, Mr. Chairman.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MR. FERLO AND MICHELLE MADOFF'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1056, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1990)

Mr. Ferlo:

Discussion. Very briefly, I'm sure others will want to come to the table to address the issue.

Basically I've submitted this legislation in response to what I had believed up until yesterday having received a copy of the scope of services and activity on the part of the Administration regarding proceeding with a so-called study of the Fire Department. The $195,000.00 was an expenditure and an authorization approved by Council, a previous council last year. I strenuously objected to it at that time basically on the belief that I believed the study was not needed. That the basic intent of the study was to create a document, a public policy document, public relations document, whatever you want to call it, to buttress a belief that's already existing in the Administration and that is to relocate and close possibly a number of fire stations and possibly continue with an administrative intent to reduce the available number of firefighters and the number of engine companies, something that they actually have already started several years ago. I argued at that point that basically it was inappropriate to expend this large sum of money and having not had received any information up until a couple of days ago, I wanted to put this issue back before not only City Council but back before the public.

We have a new City Council. The old Council supported the legislation but I thought it was important and I use this as a vehicle to get this issue back before us today.

My argument strongly is that this is a waste of money, the $195,000.00. That if the Administration through the budget proceedings in a couple of months wants to come forward this year and next year with some new ideas on reconfiguration of the employees or the location or operations of stations, that's something that they should just do and come to us.

Everything I've seen in the last ten years in the Fire Department has been continually improving, not only fire suppression but enforcement and all the other kinds of activities that the Fire Department has gotten involved in the last five years in particular. I think it's more a question of annually earmarking appropriate resources to give them monies for equipment and education and prevention and enforcement and the other kinds of activities that we want to go on in the Fire Department.

As far as the stated purpose of the fire study, I don't support it and I think the expenditure is a waste of money. I think the Administration should come forward with proposals that they deem it necessary. I'm not about to pay for the creation of a document that would suggest that we need to close stations which I think is the reality if we proceed.

The bill today is repealing the authorization; it doesn't repeal the right of the Administration to do what they want regarding Administration of the Fire Bureau. And I would ask support for the legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, may I please ask the Fire Chief and Mr. Cannon to come to the table?

And while they're coming, for the record, I was one of the people who was absolutely disturbed by the fact that the Law Department gave very bad advice to these gentlemen not to show up at the hearing. I think all of us were very disturbed by that and I think it really created an atmosphere of confrontation; it was absolutely unnecessary.

The Chair:

Do you have questions?

Michelle Madoff:

Question. Mr. Cannon one of the questions I wanted to ask the other day but you were not here is originally if memory serves me well, you were opposed to a study and now you are asking for a study; would you please explain the change in your opinion?

Dir. Cannon:

That is incorrect. Your question to me as you wrote it was why did I oppose a study of the Fire Bureau in 1986 and why do I now feel it is necessary?

Michelle Madoff:

I think I just said that but that's okay.

Dir. Cannon:

In 1986 there was no fire study to either support or oppose either from the Administration or from City Council. The first discussion of a fire study on anyone's public agenda occurred in late 1987 in preparation for the 1988 Budget and that came as a result of Councilmember Wagner introducing that the fire study in putting the money into the budget for 1988 at the request of the fire union at that point in time. The City Administration and myself then as the Public Safety Director neither supported nor opposed that and if you look at the agenda and the line item veto that the Mayor would have had taken to show opposition to a line item in the budget, it does not exist. That was placed into the budget by the Council for 1988 and it became part of the budget, there was no opposition. So in 1986 there was not any discussion of any study either on Council's agenda or the Administration's agenda.

Further in support of that, I have a document dated December 18, 1987, the end of 1987 going into 1988 to the Members of Council and it's signed by Joseph King who was then Vice-President of the Firefighters Union. And it says, "On December 14, 1987 a preliminary vote was taken concerning the 1988 Budget for the City of Pittsburgh. An issue was raised by Councilman Wagner concerning the manpower and structure of the Bureau of Fire. We Pittsburgh firefighters Local No. 1 also have concerns about this issue. Councilman Wagner is concerned with the needs of the Bureau, the structure of the Bureau and the number of units necessary. He's in support of an independent study of our Bureau and the Pittsburgh Firefighters support such a study."

Michelle Madoff:

So the issue has become clouded and you just clarified it.

Dir. Cannon:

That's how it was put in and in fact in 1986 there was no study on either agenda and the Administration represented in this issue by the Mayor, myself or the Fire Chief did not oppose the inclusion of that in the 1988 budget and last year came to Council and sought authorization to move ahead and in fact were granted that and we have now moved ahead.

Michelle Madoff:

There have been some characterizations made here by Mr. Ferlo that the purpose of this study is because there is a secret agenda to dismantle the Fire Department in some manner and it would seem to me that that needs some clarification. It should not be left hanging for the public's perception and would you please tell me now and members of Council why you feel the study is important and what do you hope to gain out of it and to what end?

Dir. Cannon:

I would be happy to. Some people's powers for telling what it is in the future are phenomenal and what is in other people's minds but in any case what I'd like to do is read into the record from the request for proposal that has been circulated throughout the United States. It certainly speaks to why we're looking at a review of our fire protection capabilities.

The last comprehensive study of the City's firefighting capabilities was in 1969. Since that time there has been a steady decline in the population of the city. The population in 1970 was 520,000 and approximately in 1990 the number of people residing in the city is expected to drop below 380,000.

In the same time period an equally dramatic shift occurred in the use of property. Many industrial properties became vacant while new modern high-rises were erected in the central business district and elsewhere. These changes coupled with improved building codes have lessened the number of structural fires to which the Bureau responds. In 1970 there were 7,227 fires and by 1989 this figure had declined by over 52 percent to 3447. But conversely the Bureau's other emergency responses have rapidly grown. These activities are attributable to the Bureau's participation in basic emergency medical responses which is our first responder program and responses to private fire alarm systems. Additionally hazardous materials incidents continue to escalate and constitute a growing responsibility for the Fire Bureau and we had one last Sunday and it has been increasing responsibility for both Fire and EMS.

The City therefore, is interested in a current analysis and recommendations for the future. Addressing the fire protection delivery system as it is related to certain goals of the Fire Bureau and we have established in all the bureaus of Public Safety goals and objectives and we review those every year and we submit those to the Administration's part of the budget process.

Those goals within the Bureau of Fire are preventing fires before occurrence through code enforcement and educational activities. Preventing injuries and death through fire education programs. Confining fires to rooms of origin through modern built-in protection systems. Suppression of fires in floors or buildings of origin after occurrence by the timely response of modern apparatus that are adequately staffed with well-trained and supervised personnel.

Continued upgrading of equipment, vehicles and facilities to attain modern safety and operational standards and nationally accepted practices and responding to all emergency calls in five minutes or less 90 percent of the time which will enable basic firefighting functions to be initiated, this includes fire tactics and rescue.

The goal of this project is to provide a review, analysis and a recommendation addressing the current and future fire protection delivery system for the City of Pittsburgh.

The review and analysis of the current delivery system would include the following: apparatus and station deployment configuration, apparatus staffing levels, apparatus and station house physical condition, apparatus suitability, response times from both the time the caller calls in and also from the time the unit is dispatched.

Dispatch and fire ground communications, dispatch and move up procedures, the frequency and type of alarms, the frequency and type of calls for service, analysis of and relative ranking of all major fire risks that we have presently today in our city not from 20 years ago. Magnitude of fire losses both life and property. The water supply, hydrant distribution, maintenance and adequacy of that system. The fire ground management command structure, personnel staffing patterns including but not limited to shift duration sequence, the Bureau's management structure, inter-municipal cooperation, the adequacy and effectiveness of our fire prevention activities, recruit in service and specialized training, a look at the adequacy and the effectiveness of our EMS response in fire and radio communications. And then we asked the consultant to provide a written report looking at two areas particularly. The City's necessary fire suppression capability from 1990 to 1995. And because we understand that population is not the only thing someone should look at, we define the other issues we want the consultant to look at. The housing stock conditions within the City, the business and commercial requirements within our city, the topographical and geographic characteristics within our city, the traffic patterns and congestion, the varied accessibility problems, weather patterns and conditions, population patterns including the daytime working population contrasted with the evening population. Changing staff capabilities and nationally accepted practices and standards including pre-employment and incumbent physical fitness.

And the secondary deals with the fire prevention activities. The report must address and provide recommendations for the economical and efficient expansion of enforcement of the Fire Code, maximizing the effective utilization of built-in fire protection system, increasing the public's awareness concern and capability contributed to fire protection goals."

I know it was lengthy but I think --

Michelle Madoff:

-- you'll give us copies of that?

Dir. Cannon:

-- you have copies, it's been circulated and as you look through this there is nothing in this document that pre-supposes an outcome that says we believe that this is the direction we want you to go and in fact there is a steering committee that has put this together. It is made up of myself, the Fire Chief, Councilmember Wagner, Deputy Fire Chief John Gorley and a representative from the City's Budget Office because there may be financial impact here, Carolyn Marks or Ralph Horgan.

That's the group that contributed to what's on this page. I can point to specific things that Councilmember Wagner wanted to see, some things that the Fire Representative wanted to see and things that the Chief and I would like to see.

So it was an effort of that group. It is now out and it has been sent out around the country. There may be a concern of how the consultant will be selected. We have already discussed among the Committee that in fact of the group that comes back in, we'll narrow that down as a committee to one-half dozen and then we will bring that half dozen in for interviews in front of the committee.

Michelle Madoff:

So that what you've stated is that you're straightforwardly saying to us there is no secret agenda and the question would follow then from what you have just stated would be, any changes that might be recommended by the Committee and the Administration would not be made without coming forward to this Council or could they be made with coming to Council?

Dir. Cannon:

The consultant's report would certainly be made available to City Council.

If we decide to implement the consultant's study, that certainly is the Administration's duty within city government but if it requires things such as capital expenditures. If new fire stations need to be built or new equipment needs to be purchased, that always comes before City Council and you certainly approve every budget both operating and capital each year.

Michelle Madoff:

Let me tell you why I'm asking the question because I'm not taking any side, I'm voting the way I believe is correct.

One of the points that was made at the hearing was that in other studies that have been done the implementation by the Administration of record at the time was to implement what was fiscally in their best interests and not care for the people in a given community such as the Penn & Lang Fire Station was recommended to be left in operation but it was taken out of operation, that's Number One and subsequently it has been stated by the firefighters representatives that extra debts occurred because of that action and I'd like if you would -- would you address that because I looked at the data on the deaths and I noticed there was six in one family in my community. Was this a one-family issue?

Chf. Dickinson:

I'd like to respond to that. That incident in 1989 did have an abnormal amount of multiple fire deaths. We had three separate fires in the calendar year 1989. Three separate families suffered multiple fire deaths.

It is quite true that Engine No. 16 is no longer there would have responded to that fire, however, it was not the first-due company. The first-due company was there within two minutes and I have a radio tape that you can listen to and the fire was already well involved on Tioga Street with multiple fire deaths occurring and people were already on the roof trapped. It would have made no difference what engine company arrived there first, the deaths had already occurred.

I have to tell you that this issue is certainly not an issue of the firefighter's capability in the City of Pittsburgh. We have great firefighters. I implore everyone to listen to me before we embark down this journey. Nobody is going to be happy with some of the outcomes of this study, I can guarantee you that. But what everybody has to understand is that this is not focused at the day-to-day workload that the Pittsburgh Firefighters willing to cooperate and do, nor his intent or his dedication on the fire ground. That is a completely and separate non-issue with the Fire Chief in the City of Pittsburgh's Bureau of Fire. What we're talking about is deployment and a modern fire service that can provide a level of service that we believe we're capable of. It has nothing to do with fire ground operations and that we can do better, we can have better firefighters; that's the last thing in this Fire Chief's mind.

Michelle Madoff:

Is this similar to the fire that took place on Northumberland some years ago right across the road from the fire station and the people were trapped and there was a death?

Chf. Dickinson:

Exactly. I think the parody of fire protection is that it is an emotional issue. What is enough? If we had a fire station on every block and a fire occurs down the street and a fire death occurs, do we have enough fire stations? That's always a very, very difficult issue to answer.

Michelle Madoff:

The question was raised repeatedly that the closing of the Penn-Lang Station was responsible for deaths. Your response is that you have a tape that says that a fire truck was there within two minutes.

Chf. Dickinson:

Engine No. 17 and Truck No. 17 were on the scene.

Michelle Madoff:

I guess when I look at the -- and I repeatedly hear about $4 million overruns on Grant Street, I would not support any action in a vacuum and I think that the most productive thing we can do is that the firefighters should support it and it is to have facts. I would hate the Administration just start making changes without having substantiations so I support doing this study.

VOTING NO:

Mr. Darkins Mr. Ricciardi
Michelle Madoff Mr. Wagner
Mr. Milliones (Pres't)

And a majority of the votes of Council not being in the affirmative, the bill was defeated.

Mr. Cohen presented

Bill No. 1261

Report of the Committee on Engineering and Construction for August 1, 1990 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 1111

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 1061, effective January 1, 1990, as amended, entitled 'Resolution adopting and approving the 1990 Capital Budget and the 1990 Community Development Block Grant Program; and approving the 1990 through 1995 Capital Improvement Program,' by creating a cost range of $25,000.00 to $50,000.00 for EC 90-427, City Tow Pound."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 1112

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 865, September 26, 1985, entitled 'Providing for a Cooperation Agreement or Agreements with Carnegie Library in connection with Improvements for Handicapped Accessibility at the Main, South Side, Squirrel Hill, Lawrenceville, Woods Run, Carrick Allegheny Regional, Knoxville, Homewood and the Blind and Physically Handicapped Branch Libraries; and providing for the payment of the costs thereof,' by increasing the total project allocation by $98,965.00 from $495,000.00 to $593,965.00."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 1114

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for a Cooperation Agreement or Agreements with the Stadium Authority for Various Accessibility Improvements at Three Rivers Stadium; and providing for the payment of the costs thereof."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 1115

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution further amending Resolution No. 189, effective March 30, 1989, as amended by Resolution No. 598, effective July 27, 1989, entitled 'Providing for a Contract or Contracts, or use of existing Contracts, for the Rehabilitation of Various Playareas, including but not limited to Alton, Boundry, Glenwood and Sheridan Courts; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof,' by increasing the total project allocation by $75,000.00."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 1116

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for a Contract or Contracts, or use of existing Contracts, for the purchase of a mobile trailer or construction of a traditional structure, to house the operations of the City Tow Pound; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on Bill 1116 which gives the Administration authorization to expend up to $50,000 on the tow pound problem, I think all of us in Council, especially those of us who sat more recently during the budget hearings, are concerned about the condition of the tow pound, especially what employees have to put up with in that facility.

I just want to point out, and I'd like my comments brought forward, I'm going to support this legislation but I do object to a mobile trailer being purchased. I think they need to build a structure. I don't even know that they need to necessarily go out on bid. Public Works is certainly capable of building a multi-story building, a very fine building, and I think there might be construction resources in house.

But I would urge the Administration not to put a trailer which would not even be allowed zoning wise, would not be allowed by any other party and I don't think we should do something that we wouldn't allow anybody else to do.

I think they should build a small structure. It should have bathroom facilities, it should be ventilated, and it should be something that the public as well as the employees at the tow pound wouldn't mind working.

So, I'm voting in favor but I hope that they look at that long and hard and build an actual structure.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGE)

(BEGINNING - MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1116, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1990)

Mr. Ferlo:

Director, we had lengthy discussions on this whole issue during the budget proceedings and obviously I'm in support of doing something.

My objection which I expressed then and now is a trailer. I think we need a structure and not a trailer.

Dir. Sciulli:

We can go either way.

Mr. Ferlo:

Isn't it safe to assume that at least for the next two or three years nothing is going to happen with the tow pound?

Dir. Cannon:

Actually I can't give you a time frame.

Mr. Ferlo:

I want to go on record objecting to the trailer. We don't allow anybody else to use trailers in the city and we should have a structure that's built.

Which was read.

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bills passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, is it appropriate to reconsider Bill 1118 to get the majority?

Michelle Madoff:

I don't want to change my vote. I didn't vote but I'm not going to change the vote.

The Chair:

Unfortunately, it's going to have to come up next week.

Michelle Madoff:

And I won't be here.

Mr. Ferlo:

Very briefly, Mr. Chairman. I make a motion that we send a letter to the Planning Commission and/or the Planning Director and/or the Parking Authority Director, Mr. Young, regarding the infamous Shadyside Parking Garage.

It has been well over a year. I believe very strongly that we were at the point of reaching consensus in the community among the businesses with City-wide interest groups. We were at that point to finally having this issue resolved and now it's lost in the shuffle somewhere.

I think we need to communicate to the parties and ask what is the status of forwarding the recommendation regarding the construction of a modified Shadyside Parking Garage and what's the status of getting that proposal to Council.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I have one item I'd like to bring in front of Council. We're all aware of the unfortunate and volatile situation in the Middle East and I know we all hope and pray for a peaceful solution to that situation.

One of the most visible effects of this crisis to us in America and Pittsburgh is the amazing speed in which gasoline prices have risen. To quote the New York Times, "The speed of the price increases irritates customers who realize that the gasoline they paid for this morning was produced before the first Iraq tank crossed the Kuwait border."

Several State and Federal officials have already called for investigations into this matter contending that greed and profiteering are responsible for this swift price increases. Lieutenant Governor Mark Single and Senator John Heinz are two of those officials with Senator Heinz asking the Justice Department to investigate this situation.

We saw the same type of actions not too long ago of the oil companies when the Exxon Valdez spilled its shipment in Alaska. Gasoline prices rose at that time. I wonder if any of that oil shipment was intended for the East Coast, let alone the City of Pittsburgh.

With the approval of my colleagues, I would ask that we join Senator Heinz and Lieutenant Governor Single and others that are asking for an investigation into the practices of the oil companies and send a letter to Attorney General Thornburg voicing our disapproval and asking for an immediate investigation into this matter.

I am hoping for the support of all of you.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Absolutely.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think we should start jailing some oil executives.

The Chair:

I'd just like to add that the average person thinks that the villain is the person that owns or operates the gasoline station. That's obviously not true. They're simply passing on the increased cost to us, the consumer. And I think if many cities across the country were to ask Mr. Thornburg to investigate the oil companies, I think we would find that this price increase really should not take effect for months, and it's taking effect immediately.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think it's also important to point out, Mr. President, that most of the stocks have already been purchased. There are already inventory in the tanks that are on order. I don't think they have any direct relationship to any future price increase as a result of the Middle East conflict, which makes it even more outrageous.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Mr. Milliones:

Mr. President, I have a similar motion that relates to the Savings and Loan. I would also urge that this Council adopt a resolution encouraging both our Senators Specter and Heinz as well as our own Congressman Bill Coyne to conduct an investigation or to raise this issue at the appropriate levels of government where it should be raised concerning the biggest welfare recipients we have in this country, the Savings and Loans.

I just think that the average taxpayer is going to carry this load and I don't think we should and I think that folks just need to get upset and to begin to raise questions at the appropriate levels of government about this outrageous scandal. I just think it's going to be swept under the rug. This issue is raised and should be kept on the front burner. They need to be put in jail.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think one thing that needs to be done by Congressman Coyne and others, and there is a bill in Congress, is that they need to be able to expedite and seize property, any and all real property of individuals involved in this scandal instead of those individuals being able to circumvent that through the bankruptcy proceeding. They need a law to amend the bankruptcy act so that the Federal authorities can seize properties.

As Dr. Milliones talked about, you have some of these gentlemen, Neil Bush included, who are living in grandeur and obviously have material wealth that can be exchanged for money and the Federal Government is at a loss to go after it. They need to support the bill that's in the Congress that would allow them to do that.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, on the same motion. I would wonder if my colleague would include that, I believe if you send Night Letters there's a flat rate for letters, Night Letters, to legislators, whether they're Congressmen or Senators. And if we could get the public that's listening to Council to start getting telephone calls, letters, telegrams, so that we flood them with an outcry of this nature, I think it would be very effective. By the time our letter gets there, it's just, you know, another one of the letters.

Mr. Milliones:

I would support that.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, one last thing. In order to expedite a potential vote on the revised smoking ordinance, I would like to make a motion to hold a public hearing.

The reason why I feel strongly that there should be a public hearing is that I would like to personally hear from vendors, specifically who feel that they will be impacted with on the Mayor's proposal for the tokens.

I raised an amendment which did not succeed a couple weeks ago on the original bill submitted by Michelle and that device had to do with the disabling mechanism. The Mayor's device talks about altering the machines to accept tokens.

In any event, I think it's fair and reasonable to hear from the vending community before final action on the bill. And if I'm not mistaken, that bill was introduced today --

Michelle Madoff:

It was not introduced today.

Mr. Ferlo:

The bill was introduced today and there was a motion to waive Rule 8. I would suspect that it would be appropriate to have a public hearing unless you're trying to move expeditiously.

The Chair:

There's no public hearing necessary as part of the legislation

Mr. Ferlo:

I wasn't suggesting that it's necessary. I'm only suggesting that we hold a public hearing to hear concerns or testimony from the vending community as well as others who support the bill or oppose the bill.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, it would seem to me that while the bill was introduced today, and I introduced it for the Administration, there's nothing that can be done on it until we get passed the August break. I'm going to be laid up. I would like to have this bill held until the Fall, until we come back into session.

We all got letters from the Administration on the veto saying that they are presently corresponding with the vending machine people and the tobacco lobby, to see whether they can get concurrence on this because I think at that point the Administration may turn around if they can't get acquiescence and come back to our position or maybe introduce even more stringent legislation.

So, having a hearing upon a hearing upon a hearing I think is non-productive. I'm not here to give a forum to the tobacco industry. I'm not opposed to anybody having a public hearing. I think it's a little early to set it before the Fall.

The Chair:

Is there a second to Mr. Ferlo's motion?

Hearing no second, the motion fails due to the lack of a second. The bill will be in Committee tomorrow.

Michelle Madoff:

I did not waive Rule 8 on it.

The Chair:

All bills were waived Rule 8.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just asking respectfully that that bill be held until I return to Council. I will not be here. I will be in the hospital or I would make every effort to be here.

Mr. Ferlo:

Whose Committee was it introduced under?

The Chair:

Public Safety and we will determine that tomorrow. It's on the agenda for tomorrow.

Michelle Madoff:

I would ask my colleagues respectfully to please hold it until the Fall.

Mr. Millones moved to adjourn this meeting and meet again Monday, August 13, 1990 at 10:00 a.m.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

And on the motion of Mr. Millones

Council adjourned.

	(Pres't)

ABSENT:

MR. DARKINS	MR. REGAN
MICHELLE MADOFF

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

The Chair:

The first resolution today pertains to the Jerry Lewis Telethon weekend which is coming up on Labor Day and, as everyone knows, Council will be recessing for two weeks so we're addressing two resolutions today that deal with the Labor Day Weekend.

I'd like to ask Candice Caruthers from WPXI to come forward, and Matt Yeager who is the Poster Child for the neuro-muscular diseases and the telethon that will be taking place over the Labor Day Weekend.

The Chair presents

No. 1275 WHEREAS, WPXI-TV/Channel 11, by telecasting the Jerry Lewis Telethon for 20 years, has assisted immeasurably in supporting the Muscular Dystrophy Association by heightening public awareness for the need to fight muscular dystrophy and other neuro-muscular diseases; and

WHEREAS, as a result of telecasting the Jerry Lewis Telethon, WPXI-TV/Channel 11 has helped provide the vital funding necessary for the Muscular Dystrophy Association's patient services program and research program; and

and it is fitting and appropriate that City Council join the Muscular Dystrophy Association in acknowledging the outstanding contribution made by WPXI-TV in the fight against muscular dystrophy and related neuro-muscular diseases.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby pay special tribute to WPXI-TV and the Muscular Dystrophy Association, and proclaims September 2nd and 3rd, 1990 as "Jerry Lewis Telethon Weekend" in honor of their unfailing dedication to such a worthwhile humanitarian cause.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

First, I'd like to say that the Jerry Lewis Telethon, from a personal point of view, is the first telethon that I ever saw on TV and the one I recall the most. And it probably has raised more money than any other telethon in the history of telethons on TV. And it couldn't do it for a better cause.

We're honored to have with us today two people that are very much involved in that effort; Candice, representing WPXI and Matt. Matt also has his grandfather and his mother and several other friends with him here today.

I'd like Candice to say a few words, and I think Matt is going to say something also.

Ms. Caruthers:

Thank you very much. On behalf of the Muscular Dystrophy Association as well as Channel 11 and the thousands of children and families that you help when you watch and support the MDA Telethon, I'm very happy to be here.

I'm very, very happy to receive this proclamation and to acknowledge to you that we could not do it without your support, and we've gotten your support for the last 20 years. This is the 20th year that we are doing our Muscular Dystrophy Telethon and we will continue to do so because we have the support from everyone in Greater Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania.

You're really making a difference when you pledge your dollars. You're saving lives. You're getting closer to the cure, and we can guarantee that spending money with the Muscular Dystrophy Association's Telethon, you're going to make a major difference.

I'd like also to turn the microphone over to our Muscular Dystrophy Child of this year, Matt Yeager, and he has a few words.

Matt Yeager:

Thank you for this recognition.

The Chair:

The next resolution pertains to Labor Day and I would like to ask the recipient of the resolution to please step forward, Mr. Paul Stackhouse, who is the President of the Allegheny County Labor Council.

While Paul is stepping forward, I'd like to introduce several people that are here with Paul today; Neil McGowan from System Council IBEW; Jim Klingensmith from the Service Employees Local; Tommy Tighe who is the Business Manager of Local 95 from the Operating Engineers; and Bill Cagney, Assistant Business Manager; Rich Becker from the Employees

Union of Office Workers; and Gail Vallar who is also with us. The Letter Carriers represented by Chester Oleniacz. From Local 85, the Port Authority Operators, we have Larry Klos, John Remark and Norm Price. From Teamsters 636, the Transportation Union, we have Pete Lackey, a good friend, John Finnery, and Jim McGuire. And finally, the Parade Chairman, a gentleman that does a whole heck of a lot of work and works year round to make sure the Labor Day Parade is one of the finest parades in the City of Pittsburgh, Mr. Pat Landy, also a personal friend. All, good morning.

The Chair presents

No. 1276 WHEREAS, the American Labor Movement began over two hundred years ago and has sought to improve the conditions for all working Americans; and

WHEREAS, American labor leaders have, throughout history, dedicated themselves to this movement; and

WHEREAS, the first Labor Day observance took place over a century ago and was established as a legal public holiday in 1894; and

WHEREAS, the United Labor Day Parade Committee intends to reinforce Pittsburgh's commitment to organized labor with a procession in the Golden Triangle under the theme, "America Works Best When We Say...Union Yes!", marking the 103rd Anniversary of Pittsburgh's first Labor Day Parade of 1887.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby commend Paul Stackhouse, President of the Allegheny County Labor Council, the United Labor Day Parade Committee and its Chairman, Patrick Landy, as well as all labor leaders and working American laborers, and urges the citizens of Pittsburgh to observe the United Labor Day Parade on September 3, 1990.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I'd like to also add to that, there is a Labor Day Mass on Labor Day at 8:00 a.m. at St. Benedict the Moor Church in the Hill District. The parade follows at 10:00. It is one of the finest Labor Day parades in the country. It's also one of the finest parades in the City of Pittsburgh.

Now, I'd like to introduce Paul Stackhouse, President of the Allegheny County Labor Council. And prior to Paul saying a few words, I just want to state that Paul has been the President for 29 years of the Allegheny County Labor Council and he really has been the leader of that organization which is the overseeing agency of all labor groups in the county and the area.

Paul really has been the President during some very turbulent times and it's a real tribute to Paul that he has kept lines of communication open between labor and management during probably the most difficult times that this City and this County and this region has gone through since the Great Depression.

I have always known Paul to be a communicator and a mediator and I believe it's a tribute to labor that he represents labor. He represents people in the City of Pittsburgh for the betterment, not only of labor, but also the City of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County.

So, it's an honor to have you here, Paul, and we certainly know that you're not short on words like us politicians, and we'd like you to say a few words.

Mr. Stackhouse:

Thank you very much for the kind introduction. Certainly, appreciation is ours and truthfully stated that the Honorable Mayor and Honorable Members of Council here have been very important in the contributions they make in making our Labor Day Parade a success. It has grown. This is about the seventh year from the reincarnation of the Labor Day Parade and its through the efforts of you and your department heads that help to make it a success. Our people appreciate very much the kind support.

I want to say one thing, though. When the 200 years ago, I was not there. I was not there and I was not a waiter at the Last Supper. A busboy but not a waiter.

But I have to say that our people here appreciate it very much and there aren't enough words that describes the kind of help that you've given us. The parade has grown and we anticipate again the watch is over 50,000. It was 40,000 some last year. The parade will increase to about that and there are a lot of people.

I agree, and I have to say this nicely, we are a people's organization. Many issues that we support don't definitely relate to labor; it relates to people. We're concerned about everybody and want this to happen because tomorrow is there for our youngsters as well as anybody else's.

We want Pittsburgh to grow. We love Pittsburgh. It is growing and it's flourishing and some of the disagreements you have between yourselves, we also have. So, it's not new to us. We have disagreements but its for the benefit of our organization.

Thank you very, very much for the proclamation. Success to all of you and hopefully you will attend our parade. I'm officially inviting you to watch the parade.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1231-Wednesday, 8/8/90)

Mr. Cohen:

I appreciate Michelle's support. I would like to take a moment to explain what is going on here for everybody who is listening.

People who are listening out there, put down your newspapers and come close to the television set, because I am going to explain what is going on here.

You remember probably that famous, now infamous, $45,000.00? It keeps coming back. It was set aside by last year's Council for district offices, and when that failed because of overwhelming public opposition, this Council voted to transfer it and split it up so that each Council person gets $5,000.00 for projects in his or her district. I opposed that, Councilman Coyne opposed that, and for good reasons. With the current budget crunch, we didn't need to spend it, and we don't have to spend it. If there is a pot of money there, it doesn't mean we necessarily have to spend it. We don't have to spend this.

Also, there was no accountability for it. Each Council person, under an arrangement by this Council, could spend it anyway he or she wanted, and in fact, $5,000.00 was spent for a police athletic association.

Okay, we lost, Councilman Coyne and I lost that, but said that our $10,000.00 should be return to the city, to the general fund.

Now, what is happening here is that Councilman Darkins wants to take this wastefulness a step further. $5,000.00 apparently wasn't enough, now he want to take that money that Councilman Coyne and I insisted be return to the city and wants to spend it on another pet project. I don't think he should be allowed to succeed, and I encourage my colleagues to vote against this, because the fact is, this is not his money, this belongs to the people of Pittsburgh. As far as I am concerned, it is an insult to those people to have this bill before us, and it is a funding grab for a pet project, and I encourage my colleagues to vote against it.

The Chair:

Is not Homewood/Brushton part of the city, Mr. Cohen?

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. Chair, I would like to answer that question. This is not a question of Homewood/Brushton versus Squirrel Hill, Shadyside, or any of the neighborhoods in Pittsburgh, it is a question of who this money belongs to. It doesn't belong to the people of Homewood or to the people of Squirrel Hill; it belongs to all the people.

(DELETED TEXT.)

AUGUST 8, 1990)

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like to close this discussion on a cooperative note and a cooperative note that was struck by the Council President.

There's no question that I want to take a moment to respond though to his mention of my name. There's no question and I haven't kept it hidden at all that I originally supported district offices. I voted to uphold the Mayor's veto of district offices because we heard from the public in the loudest possible terms when she asked for people to call in about that, they were overwhelming, it was 1,000 to 1 and I think that we had at that point an obligation to respect the will of the people of Pittsburgh on that. They obviously didn't want that $45,000.00 to be spent and that's why I voted as I did.

No question that some of the money that has been spent or has proposed to be spent are on worthy projects.

Councilman Wagner, your money that's going to be spent on the airport transit corridor, I think that's an extremely worthy project, I really do. I think we both agree that that's one of the most important issues facing the City is how we're going to increase transit between here and the airport given the expansion of the new airport. But I and Councilman Coyne respected the legislative process and we realized that after we voted against that, that we lost that vote and therefore abstained on every single one of these that came up. This crosses the line. It's a new deal, it's a new game. The $5,000.00 piece was fine and we abstained on that; this goes beyond that. This is grasping and it's not right and we should all vote against it so I'd like to call the question.

STENOGRAPHIC REPORTER

(MR. COYNE'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1231-Wednesday, 8/8/90)

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, thank you. I am not going to question who the money belongs to, because I think we would agree that it belongs to every group and all the different neighborhoods of the city. However, my concern is Councilman Cohen and myself both expressed our opposition to the spending of the $45,000.00 a couple months ago. During these past couple months, bills have come to this table of which Councilmembers have chosen to use their $5,000.00 for various projects. Councilman Cohen and myself, rather than cause a fight or debate at every issuance of a new bill, decided to abstain on each bill, therefore not giving our approval to the spending of those funds. I think that has been done with a sense of fair play on our part in saying that we didn't agree with the decision by a majority of Council to spend the 45, however if a Councilmember chooses to spend that $5,000.00 in their district, that is totally their prerogative.

I think what is happening here is that the bounds are being crossed over. I think that Councilman Darkins is taking it upon himself to try to increase his share of what was never written down, but which was understood by other Councilmembers as being excess money. I don't think it is a fair thing to do. I think Councilman Cohen and I lost the vote initially, we have realized that and we have abstained on the other votes. We haven't tried to move this money to put it back in any other funds, we left it there with the understanding that our colleagues would be fair and take their appropriate share. I think what is happening here is regardless of the validity of the cause or not, is that a Councilmember is stepping beyond the bounds and spending more than their allotted share. I don't think it is something this Council should permit.

(DELETED TEXT.)

Mr. Coyne:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I would just like to say I agree with the statements made by Councilman Wagner earlier, that Council does need to work in a cooperative effort, and I agree with what Councilman Regan is saying, but when he talks about silver spoons being in people's mouth, I am not really sure --

Mr. Regan:

I didn't say that.

Mr. Coyne:

Well, it was stated by someone, and if it was referred to me, I would like to invite you anytime to see Hazelwood, the district I grew up in, that could show you just as many hard luck stories as any other community in this city.

The point of this is Council needs to work cooperatively. Councilman Cohen and I have been attempting to do that all year. We lost the initial vote. When the votes have been coming up to spend this money, we have not given any problem with it; we have abstained. I think when you ask for cooperation, you can't ask for anything else, or when every one of these bills came up, we could have discussed it like this, we could have, and each and every one of you know that. We have been cooperating because we feel that in the sense of good government, we need to move smoothly. We lost the initial vote. However, now this is going beyond what was understanding of Council initially agreed to.

Now, each and every one of you know that for cooperation for smooth running government, we don't need verbosity here at Council, we don't need grandstanding; we need people to make a vote and let it go at that. Up to now, we have done with that our abstentions. This is crossing the bounds, and I cannot see this being acceptable.

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1231-Wednesday, 8/8/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

I am up for re-election next year along with my two colleagues, Mr. Regan and Mr. Darkins. I would like nothing better than to walk through the neighborhoods that I represent playing Santa Clause, being able to hand out $1,000.00 here, $1,500.00 here for sports team for this activity, for whatever great neighborhood based activity, of which there are many. The requests are infinite, the justification and need for funds are infinite; there are hundreds of organizations, nonprofit based groups, community based organizations, that have very worthwhile activities, worked very hard, and oftentimes are not able to receive consideration from this Council. That is unfortunate.

This Council each year through the budget process and grants and donations gives out over $500,000.00, over half a million dollars, and we go through a fairly elaborate process, where a group formally applies, we have a budget deliberation and people can respond.

Let's remove the politics and the rhetoric here, in all due respect to my colleague from the North Side, Mr. Regan, because I am sick and tired of Councilmembers coming to this table and saying, "This neighborhood hasn't gotten this and this neighborhood for many years has been taken care of." If we add up the facts and the figures -- and I would be glad to supply an adding machine -- if you look at the history of spending in this city for the last decade of both community development block grant monies, capital dollars, as well as operating dollars, more money has been spent in Homewood/Brushton, East Liberty, the North Side than any other neighborhoods city-wide. So let's remove all that propeganda. If anybody wants those figures, I will gladly take the adding machine and add them up between now and Tuesday.

Secondly, we are opening up a situation here which we cannot respond to. I voted in favor of the $1,500.00 this past week for the Uptown little league, because I also voted consistently in December for that group who came here, and I lost the vote at the Council table during the budget proceeding. Here was an organization that was struggling, they made a very significant point that they did not have enough of a business community to do good fund raising, and they went through the process, and in December I voted to fund them. My vote didn't succeed, and they were not included in this budget. When Dr. Milliones brought this issue up again as part of the $5,000.00, I gladly supported it. This situation is quite to the contrary. And secondly, there are at least 45 sports related organizations in my Council District, 7. I am in no position and I would not prevail upon city government to be able to supply funds for every one of those organizations who is badly in need of additional monies to pay judges, to pay coaches and judges, and buy materials, referees and what not. I don't think that should be an expense of city government.

What is happening in the Parks Department, if we listen to Director Turner and others, given the recent debacle with the Kennard Pool is that we are trying to get a situation where people adopt a park, where neighborhood based groups give more of themselves and raise resources within the community. If there is anywhere where resources can and should be raised, it is for the funding of little league and sports franchises. Would I like to have the situation different than that? Obviously. I would like to be able to fund every one of the sports teams in every one of the neighborhoods that I represent. City-wide, there are probably 300 or 400 little league and sports team organizations city-wide. We are not in a position, city government, to fund each one of those groups, it be $500.00, $1,500.00 or $5,000.00. This is sheer folly. It should be voted down.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1231-Wednesday, 8/8/90)

Mr. Wagner:

I would like to comment. There has been a lot of rhetoric here at the table, and I think a lot of politicking is going on and in-fighting here within Council on this issue. If anyone is going to be blamed for it, let it be me. And unfortunately, I hate to see it, because it brings back some memories of previous Councils, when in-fighting went on.

I will state as I have stated previously, $45,000.00 was put into a piece of legislation because the majority of my colleagues, primarily you, Mr. Cohen, came to me privately and asked me to do that for district offices. I was not in favor of it, I did it because it was the will of this Council at the time, and the issue never survived in a legislative vote. Consequently, it was the will of the majority of this Council to utilize the dollars for something else, and I supported that, trying to act in a cooperative spirit within this body. In doing so, I have felt -- and I have defended it publicly to the media and to others -- that this Council will determine individually and collectively that those $45,000.00 will be well-spent. And I have said all along, and believe me, I know the budget process as well as anyone here, 98 percent of this budget is determined by the Mayor's office traditionally each an every year, and Council may add $1 million or 2 or 3 to the budget at budget time, but Council really cooperates to a great degree with the Administration and then puts in minor projects for their respective areas, districts or city-wide.

Now, in regard to this $45,000.00, I have heard Mr. Cohen and Mr. Coyne talk repeatedly that there is no accountability and it is wastefulness. It is not. It has never been. If a colleague here wants to fund a particular athletic organization, as Mr. Coyne, you have done repeatedly with various bills since you have been on this Council, I can't say that about Mr. Cohen, but you may not have the athletic organizations within your area, but there certainly are needs for traffic studies and parking studies that don't exist in Homewood/Brushton, problems that exist in certain areas of this city that only the Councilmember from that respective district can appropriately analyze. And really, when it comes down to accountability within this Council, what it comes down to is who can put five votes on this table for a particular piece of legislation. That is the real world of government, that is the real world of this legislative body, it is the real world of politics. You may not like it sometimes that you can't get five votes to put the money where you want to put it, but it still comes down to working in a cooperative spirit with your colleagues in the best interest of your constituents. That is really what government is all about. People can talk about what that means and how it is accomplished, but personally it is what I represent, and I think it is good government if I can work with the majority of this body to serve my constituents and your constituents.

So we can gripe as much as we want about the monies in this particular bill or the one I have coming up, which is $2,000.00 for the airport area transit corridor study, and it is coming from the same 45,000 -- if anyone wants to vote against it, go head -- but it is money well-spent. If you want to vote against Mr. Milliones' bill coming up, vote against that, also. It relates to an athletic organization in the Hill District.

Sometimes that money is as well-spent as several hundred thousand dollars for a bridge in a community or whatever, because it shows those communities that we care about them. It may be the only time that they really feel that this government reaches out to them, and I would ask each and every Council member in regard to this issue -- and there is no magical $5,000.00; I have said that right from the start. It is whomever can get five votes for whatever they want to do if this Council, whether it is Westgate, whether it is property tax reduction, whether it is Mr. Ferlo with the Housing Authority or various other bills. It is would can get five votes for their constituents. There is a whole lot of chemistry involved to accomplish that, and it first exists within a cooperative spirit within this government and working with each other in the best interests of our constituents. There is accountability at this table, or all nine of us wouldn't be sitting here. So that accountability relates to legislation, and I would simply ask that we do not get petty when we talk about those individual pieces of legislation; it is really not worth it. We are here to serve our constituents.

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution transferring the amount of $55,000.00 from Code Account 1063 (106302) Miscellaneous Services, Department of Finance, to the Property Tax Reduction Trust Fund (PTRTF)."

Which was read.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, I will be very brief on Bill No. 1248 since we did discuss the bill in depth at the Wednesday Committee Meeting.

This bill before us would transfer $55,000 of surplus funds from the Department of Finance to the Property Tax Reduction Trust Fund. When I first sponsored the trust fund, it was my hope that we could begin to look at ways that we could roll back the recent property tax increase in the City of Pittsburgh and that we could use this trust fund as a way to save money, as a way to discipline ourselves.

Upon some research, I found that there was $225,000 of surplus funds from the Department of Finance in the Banking Services Account, money that was not used for that purpose. $170,000 of that money was transferred to the Department of Public Works leaving a surplus of $55,000.

So, it was my hope and feeling that before the Administration found a way to spend that money, that we could transfer that into a trust fund.

Just to touch upon two of the concerns of Council is, number one, that one colleague mentioned that it would only be a one time tax reduction. Well, I'm sure the taxpayers throughout the City of Pittsburgh, throughout all of our districts, would even welcome a one time roll back.

Also, number two, one of my colleagues was concerned that we had to plan for a surplus. Well, during the planning stages of the budget, a surplus is planned for.

So, in that, I will leave it as it may. I do believe that it is our responsibility to look through the budget to see where there are surplus funds and to start disciplining ourselves and the Administration and the department directors to save monies, not to spend, and hopefully talk about reducing the property tax and not so much talk about reducing the amusement tax. So, I thank my colleagues.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on this issue. I once referred to the creation of the Property Tax Trust Fund as a placebo and not a tax policy. We could put a million dollars or we could put all of the unexpended fund balance of the City budget this year into that trust fund and it has nothing to do with lowering property taxes. There's only one way to lower property taxes and that's to lower property taxes, to change the millage that creates the line items that brings us in the revenue for property lands and buildings taxes. The only way to do that is to vote on it and go through the budget proceedings of November and December.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I want to commend Councilman Ricciardi for the worthy goal that is involved in this bill, but I have to agree that I think that putting this money away like this will tie the Finance Director's hands. I think we all want to reduce property taxes; I want to reduce property taxes, but we need to do it, I think, through the proper process and that means at the budget hearings when we can really take an overview of the whole tax structure and decide then whether we have the ability to lower property taxes. I really hope that we do, but I don't think that this is the way to do it.

The Chair:

I'd just like to add, on several of these bills where there are negative recommendations, it may be in the best interest of Council to table or hold the bills. I personally think Bill No. 1231, sponsored by Mr. Darkins who is not with us, Mr. Regan isn't with us and Councilwoman Madoff is not with us, I would prefer to see tabled as of today rather than us even voting on it.

Mr. Ricciardi, the other bill you may even want to hold. It's just a recommendation, but it's up to the sponsor.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, the only benefit of tabling any of these bills is to re-initiate the hot and heavy debate that we had on Mr. Darkins' expenditure of the $1,100 and also this property tax trust fund. I'm happy to debate and rekindle the spirit of a week ago, but I don't see any benefit or purpose of that.

The Chair:

It always takes five votes to untable.

Mr. Ferlo:

Right, and I'd like my remarks brought forward on this bill.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGE)

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1248-Wednesday, 8/8/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, there are no surplus funds. The budget is a working blueprint for city government and mostly the city Administration and Mayor. There are any number of code accounts and subcode accounts that have various dollar figures listed, and we know for a fact that city budget is not a perfect science, that the Administration from time to time has to rob Peter to pay Paul to make various expenditures, go on to the operation of city government.

The senior citizens trust fund -- and I said this before -- the Property Tax Reduction Trust Funds, we can put all the money in that fund that we want by raiding various code accounts, whether there are real surpluses or not, and it has nothing to do with lowering property taxes. If we want to lower property taxes or change the mix of taxes, there is only one way to do that, and that is during the budget deliberations and changing annual taxes and millage on various lands and buildings and collection of fees, et cetera. That is the only way to do that. Robbing the various code accounts throughout the year is not the way to do that. In the end, we actually have a fund balance if we do not expend dollars from various code accounts, and that represents that healthy cushion each year -- hopefully it will be healthy, this year it will be less healthy -- fund balance that represents a carry over that we need to balance the 1991 budget. We should not be raiding code accounts.

(DELETED TEXT.)

Mr. Ferlo:

This is very misleading not only to the public, but to the process. We could take all of the unexpended fund balances for city government at the end of the year, which are, maybe, 7, 8, 9, 10 million and put it into this property tax reduction trust fund, and it has nothing to do with lowering the property taxes.

We have to make a hard decision. This Council made a difficult decision last year during the budget proceedings and we concurred with Mayor Masloff and the Administration that we felt it was appropriate to change the mix of taxes. That was an action that we took after deliberations, reviewing the testimony, hearing from the Administration. It was part of an overall process and a plan. We can't just create a trust fund, raid various code accounts through the year, or even as Mr. Wagner says, put $1 million dollar into it; it has nothing to do with lowering property tax.

If we want to lower property tax, then we have to vote on that and change the tax millage at the end of the year. That is the only way to do that. To do anything else is very misleading to the public and is a placebo to the public and very unfair.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1087, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1990)

Mr. Ferlo:

Discussion.

We have had lengthy discussions at the public hearing and it's not my intent to rehash the positives nor the negatives of this plan, certainly the Administration is free to discuss any issues they would like to present by way of information to this Council. I don't know if they wanted to make a formal presentation.

I do have some specific amendments which I would like to offer. Needless to say I'm displeased overall with the plan, I'm displeased with the working document that was presented to Council in terms of the so called HDR study because I don't think the right questions were appropriately asked as requested by Council and the correct answers were not drawn from those introductory questions. Having said that, it seems as though we need to move full speed ahead with the proposal that's on the table for the so called implementation of curbside one-bag method of collection of the recyclables and I think the Ordinance is well written and I think it's succinct and I think it addresses all the myriad of concerns including the method by which the Administration wants to move ahead to implement their plan.

Having reviewed the Ordinance which was presented to us only a few short days ago and I believe yesterday, a re-write of the Ordinance was presented, I would like to make the following amendments.

I distributed to Council a re-typed version verbatim of the substitute bill that was presented by Ms. Rizzuto so the working document that I'm referring to and the amendment I would like to make is amending the final substitute bill that was presented and as a point of order, I don't know how you want to deal with this. We just made a motion to approve the bill. The real motion should have been move to amend by substitution because technically we're still discussing the old bill and the Administration re-wrote the bill or made addendums. I assume we're talking now about the substitute bill. I'd like to make a motion that we accept the substitute bill by the Administration.

Michelle Madoff:

Second.

The Chair:-

We're dealing with the Administration substituting the bill.

Mr. Ferlo:

Can we just vote on that and then we can discuss amendments and the substitute bill.

In other words, the bill introduced originally by the Administration is not the bill that they would like to have voted on at the table today. My motion is to accept by substitution the final bill proposed by the Administration.

The Chair:

Those in favor of the motion indicate by saying aye? Opposed? The ayes have it.

Mr. Ferlo:

On the substitute bill, the document that I have distributed to Council in terms of proposed amendments is before you and the document that you have before you that was submitted is a rewrite of the substitute bill, so I'd like to make a formal motion that on 619.10 -- Administration and Enforcement, that we amend the legislation and I'm going to read -- first of all, this is very difficult to do because we had a bill and at the last minute yesterday we had re-write of the bill so my staff re-wrote the bill based on the substitute bill so I'm amending the substitute bill, so the document you have before you is the document from my office which is entitled, "Amendments to Bill No. 1087". So I'm referring to that document for the purposes of making it clear to everyone.

So my motion is, on 619.10, Administration Enforcement, I would like to modify the original substitute section of the bill proposed by the Administration as underlined. Basically, my amendment is to add the words "review and comment". The period for public review and comment should be 45 days and shall commence upon publication of a general summary of the proposed rules and regulations in a newspaper circulating generally within the City. The Director of the Department of Environmental Services shall hold at least one public hearing during the comment. Following the comment, the Department of Environmental Services shall make final rules and regulations available for public inspection accompanied by documented written responses to comments made during the comment.

What's being proposed here is does not alter substantively what the Administration's plan is. The purpose of this is to try to again provide some public comment and review on the actual regulations that will be promulgated by the various directors.

In approving the final bill today, the substitute bill, we are not actually adopting regulations. We're basically empowering the Department of Environmental Services, the Director of Public Works and the Recycling Coordinator to go back and promulgate regulations. At the last minute I believe yesterday they did send over a copy of the proposed regulations. But at any given time the Administration's prerogative is to alter and change those regulations. That's all this does and this is based on other ordinances that have been adopted statewide in Philadelphia, in Reading, in Wilkes Barre and is referenced in the State Act 101 is enabling the public themselves to have some review process for the proposed regulations that will actually be promulgated by the various department directors and that's the intent of this motion. I'd like to so move. I'd like to make a motion to amend 619.10 as I've just read.

Mr. Cohen:

Second.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to know from the Administration if they see a problem -- is there some problem with the amendment regarding some type of review process with the public?

Mr. Turner:

Yes. First of all we received this article this morning at 9 o'clock, an hour before the hearing.

Mr. Ferlo: Let's be clear, Director. If anybody is at fault for not giving any information to this Council it's the Administration --

Mr. Turner:

-- I'm not going to accept that.

Mr. Ferlo:

-- and sends over a substitute bill yesterday and only gives us the regulations late last night. Let's be real here. Don't put any blame on this Council.

Mr. Turner:

I'm not blaming this Council.

Mr. Ferlo:

Fine. But change your attitude. It's every elected official's prerogative to nitpick on this ordinance.

The Chair:

Mr. Turner, would you answer the question? Does the Administration have a problem with this amendment?

Mr. Turner:

Yes, we have a problem. One, we haven't seen it long enough to be able to fairly evaluate it. Two, the current -- the proposed ordinance requires that rules and regulations shall be effective upon publication of a general summary of their content and the newspaper circulating generally within the City, etc., etc.

Three, the concept of requiring a televised public hearing I don't think is going to add to the process, I think it's just going to continue the confusion. I don't believe that the intent here is to improve the system, I think the intent is to slow it down and to substitute a new system. Yes, we have a problem with it.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you, Director. In response, first of all let's be clear. We just received this ordinance, the substitute ordinance. It's perfectly within our prerogative to read this at the last minute and suggest corrections or additions.

I sent over in the time that I was available a copy to Maribeth Salley-Rizzuto this morning a copy of the proposed amendments to at least give you one hour which is basically all that you afforded us to review the substitute amendment and to actually review the regulations. So let's be clear there in terms of your intonation here that somehow I'm curtailing or at the last minute sticking something in here that you haven't had time to review. Nobody has had time to review this so let's be fair there.

In terms of the issue, this does not slow down anything. I mean, the Director is indicating --

Mr. Turner:

-- it does slow it down.

Mr. Ferlo:

-- that you are going to promulgate regulations and that you're going to make them public. As far as a televised public hearing that basically keeping in line with any number of public hearings that go on in these chambers. As far as the review period, this would allow within the time period that we have to finally act on this, it's perfectly justifiable and it's not problemsome or cumbersome in terms of having a public review period and commentary on proposed regulations that would guide the department in the future.

Mr. Turner:

May I respond?

Mr. Ferlo:

It may not have happened in the past but this is a fundamental change and people's habit citywide. We're talking about a whole different kind of atmosphere that the recycling initiative has to take place in the future.

STENOTYPE REPORTER

(MR. FERLO'S CONTINUED COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1087-8/8/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

One brief comment. The Administration, the only public participation in this whole process for the last year and a half has been a very narrow based advisory committee, which was forced on the Administration, which they finally accepted.

Michelle, for your benefit, that advisory committee is very narrow based. The public at large has never had any opportunity, and the only forums that the public has had an opportunity to express themselves have been forums which City Council has created for discussion and review.

In approving the document today, we are giving carte blanche approval by the various directors to promulgate regulations. I think it is very fair and reasonable. It is not delaying at all, in terms of this review process, for the public to be able to review and to respond to the regulations that will actually be written by the various department directors.

Don't confuse public participation with seven people on some advisory board who never meet, who barely meet.

(DELETED TEXT.)

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, just a point. Obviously, I am in support of this, but it does point out the basic fallacy; that the public has no review and no comment available to them on the regulations. Mr. Cohen, to his credit, has extracted one specific issue out of the proposed regulations, none of which can be reviewed by the public, and secondly, can be altered in the future by the Administration at their will without any review process by Council. So I thank Mr. Cohen for at least extracting one of the issues out of the proposed regulations.

(MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1087-Wednesday, 8/8/90)

Mr. Cohen:

Maribeth, is the Solid Waste Advisory Committee, are their meetings advertised?

Ms. Rizzuto:

Yes. There have been notices, I believe, sent through Al Neri's office to the media, I have seen it in the newspaper. City Council also received notices that the Solid Waste Advisory Committee meets on the last Monday of every month.

Mr. Cohen:

Are they advertising in general circulations that the public at large would know about it through your office?

Ms. Rizzuto:

Most of the media has pick it up and carried it.
Mr. Cohen:

I am not asking whether the media has picked it up, I am just asking --

Ms. Rizzuto:

Do we have a formal legal notice put in the paper? No.

Mr. Cohen:

Okay. Thank you.

(DELETED TEXT.)

Mr. Cohen:

I want to commend both of you. I think Jim Turner, Maribeth Rizzuto, everybody associated with this has done an excellent job. I see the one bag plan as being a first step. We have discussed this. And the reason that I would like to see a pilot project, street pilot project, is that I think we have to continue moving in an environmental direction and one that is most environmentally sound. I know that, Mr. Turner, you and I have some differences on what is the most environmentally sound, but I don't see any problem with having a pilot project in an area that is not encompassed by the first step of the single bag program and to look at it, see whether it makes sense, and maybe that can be the second step as Pittsburgh continues along a progressive environmental path.

(DELETED TEXT.)

Mr. Cohen:

I would like to say that I think overall the ordinance and the plan is a good one. I want to state that. I think we should get it up as soon as possible, and I agree with that. So let's move from there.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1087-Wednesday, 8/8/90)

Mr. Wagner:

I want to compliment all of you on all your efforts in recycling. I think what we all forget sometimes, including myself, is that this is simply a starting point to a long road that will never end on recycling. It is the first time ever in the City of Pittsburgh. I think all of you have approached it in a very prudent fashion, which is not only addressing the concerns of the environment, but also the cost of doing it, and at the same time utilizing a test period with various sections of the city to determine how well it works and whether or not it has to be modified prior to doing it all city-wide.

Finally, I would just like to add, and I mentioned it at the public hearing, I really think the flaw, if there is any flaw in the state law that we need to proceed with from a city point of view, is to approach this in a big picture fashion. If there is ever an issue for a piecemeal approach to metropolitan government, it is this issue; to recyclable items from a regional point of view, getting a higher value for them, getting greater participation from all municipalities, and I really would like to see the whole region proceed in that fashion at a later point. I really think as we proceed to meet the mandate of the law, all municipalities are going to find out that by doing it individually, it is more costly, and consequently, hopefully changes will be made in the future with Pittsburgh taking a leadership role to make it a regional effort rather than a municipal effort.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

Mr. Cohen:

I have a brief comment this morning. I'm voting for this bill, the recycling bill. I do have some reservations about it. I would have liked to have seen this Council vote for a source separation pilot project. I can understand that Council is not ready to take that step. I would hope that sometime in the future we would be able to take the step of at least reviewing and seeing whether source separation is worthwhile, whether it is cost-efficient, and whether the City could do it because I think that it would certainly make the citizens more environmentally conscious of the real need to reduce overall waste.

I also would like to see the City commit itself to purchasing recycled materials. Here we are today asking all the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh to recycle, to separate their recyclables from their non-recyclables. I think that what the City has to do at the same time is commit itself to purchasing recycled materials and I was glad to see that at Wednesday's meeting the Administration, Jim Turner and Mary Beth Rizzuto committed to working with me to see that that be done, that we come up with the appropriate legislation for that.

The reason I'm voting for it, though, is that overall I think the bill is strong and most importantly I think we need to move ahead and start recycling.

Because of the number of Councilmembers absent today, two negative votes would hold this project up and I don't intend to do that. I think we absolutely need to move forward and I would like to see the City recycling as soon as possible.

The Chair:

As I said, I think it's an excellent bill. I think it's a good starting point on a long road forever towards recycling.

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

Bill No. 1162

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for a contract or contracts, or use of existing contracts, for the Renovation of Various Public Safety Facilities; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof."

Mr. Ferlo:

On Bill 1162, which proposes to extract various amounts of money out of the City budget, $267,000 roughly, for various repairs to some of the Public Safety facilities, based on the tour, and we had that discussion with Director Sciulli, I would hope that the North Side lock-up area would be a prime consideration for repairs and improvements along with the No 6 Station as well as the station down below my area, the No. 3 Traffic Division.

Secondly, I really think the Administration needs to look at the problem of the North Side lock-up itself. Personally, I think the lock-up should be moved back to the old Public Safety Building, number one. It's going to be several years before we have a finished Public Safety Building, if at all, and in the interim I resent the fact that we provide the County with the facility to house additional prisoners and we haven't been taking care of our own problem, our problem being the fact that the neighborhood and others who are working to improve that part of the neighborhood are working in contra-distinction from our own City who has basically created chaos on that corner with the North Side Safety Police lock-up being there at the North Side Station. I think they should move that facility back to No. 1.

So, I hope they use some of that money to look into that.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bills?

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

One item for the Record, Mr. Chairman. Rumor has it that Councilman Ferlo runs around at night on Grant Street with a pick and a shovel and loosens the bricks himself.

I wish my colleagues a peaceful and quite recess.

Mr. Cohen:

I'll second that.

The Chair:

I'd like to state in closing that we're the only Legislative body, to my knowledge, that meets 50 weeks out of the year and the next two weeks are recess, until after Labor Day.

Michelle Madoff:

For those of you who may or may not know for many years we have been proponents of alternative energy sources, using gas to -- one of my pilots last year was to convert some of City fleet to natural gas, to go to coal, to go to coal gasification, to go to various sundry forms of alternative energy cells, solar cells, and the reason we're aren't there is because it was too costly.

Well, I suggest that the lives of our kids going over to fight this battle is much more costly, and we better get our government allocating the dollars in the right place.

Mr. Fox:

I'd like to thank City Council for adopting this resolution and I accept it on behalf of the Southwestern Pennsylvania Regional Planning Commission.

It seems like every few years we have these energy crisis to remind us how dependent we are on the foreign oil, and a very simple way of combating this dependence is ridesharing. Just double up and you can cut your oil consumption in half. It's very simple and very easy. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I need some guidance. There's two bills before me, one is for a spectrophotometer that needs to be repaired and I have no problem with that.

And, the other one is another $85,000.00 transfer in the Water Department and as yet I have not met with Dawn Botsford, who is to meet with me and tell me about what is happening in the collections. I would like to hold the other one one week or should I submit it and then ask to have it held. I mean it would come this afternoon and I don't want it up until I--

The Chair:

It will come up a week from tomorrow.

Michelle Madoff:

Here's my point. I want to be sure it does not come until Dawn Botsford meets with me and I can report back to this committee, because you know you served on that committee. I want to know if that $18 million has been removed from the books. Whether it should be removed or whatever, and how much we've collected.

Another $85,000.00 transfer of dollars.

The Chair:

Why don't you introduce it and we will not Suspend Rule 8.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you, but could we have a note go out to Dawn Botsford that before the meeting on Wednesday it will not be discussed unless I have a meeting and an update with her. I'll work on it and my aide will make sure.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to share with Council a couple of things that have come to my attention. First of all the supply of vegetables for the Zoo, the supply of fish for the Aviary have been severely curtailed because supposedly at the Zoo they lost their accountant, and because of the way the system works in government, it moves rather slowly, because of the postings and hirings and so on. We found ourselves in a position that people don't want to bid. They want to cut off our supply and of course prices go up, and I checked on it and without a doubt we're paying more than we need to pay.

I've spoken to Louise Brown and I spoke to the Assistant Zoo Director, as you know how I feel I believe those are agencies that should be funded by the county, but if we're going to be paying for them -- I'm going to be overruled by the number of votes, at least let's not pay more than we have to. I would like to see legislation introduced that would allow these entities to go down to the Strip District everyday and buy at the lowest prices.

Louise Brown concurs with that. I'd like Council to consider it, and I've asked that legislation be drawn up in the Law Department for future consideration, but I would like to bring this to your attention. I am tired in the years I've been here of seeing us pay sometimes three times a wholesale, three times retail because we don't buy in blocks. We don't buy at the right time. We don't have enough bidders. People don't get paid on time, and therefore, the next time they bid, they bid at high prices, and this is one we can stop before it gets any worse. So, that is something that we'll be brought to your attention.

On another matter. I want to clarify this once and for all. I am not dying of melanoma. I had a pre-cancerous growth on my leg. It required a graph. The graph was taken from my stomach and I was fine. I was to have a seven day hospital visit. Unfortunately, I threw three emboli, and seems that when your legs are immobilized this can happen, and I had a very bad time of it. It was touch and go. I'm on coumadin for six months. They anticipate I will have a complete recovery, and so thank you everybody for your well wishes. But, I think the reason I threw the embolus is because I got this memorandum from the City of Pittsburgh.

For many years I have been trying to do something about the district I live in particularly in my District #2, which is Mt. Lebanon - excuse me, Mt. Washington/Duquesne Heights Area.

Mr. Regan:

God bless those suburbanites.

Michelle Madoff:

As long as they spend money here.

This is very serious. And, everytime I've gone to a meeting of the Mt. Washington Chamber of Commerce, headed by a City employee who also ran for office, what they would do would be to bring in the City Planner, and that person would get up and say, I have here the six year plan, and if you want to do anything for your community look at this six year plan, which meant nothing to anybody. Nobody ever organized the community and said here are the problems, what are your problems in various districts, and how do you support each other to make things happen. The kind of thing I did in organizing GASP. The kind of thing that every member here has done in organizing their communities to be effective.

And, so a memorandum was sent out to me from Jane Downing, Planning Director, dated August 1, 1990. I didn't get it until I was in the hospital. The memorandum reads as follows:

MEMORANDUM

TO: Michelle Madoff, City Council

FROM: Jane A. Downing, Planning Director

DATE: August 1, 1990

RE: MT. WASHINGTON-DUQUESNE HEIGHTS COMMUNITY GROUPS

Last spring I asked planning staff to analyze the feasibility of convening Mt. Washington-Duquesne Heights community and business organizations to ascertain any common issues or goals between them. After talking with Charlie Peterson of the Community Technical Assistance Center (C.T.A.C.) about responsibility of follow-up assistance from C.T.A.C., we decided that staff should first contract the key actors of the Mt. Washington-Duquesne Heights organizations to determine if:

- a) there was any desire for them to convene together,
- b) there was any desire for assistance on common issues,
- c) the present arrangements for collaboration are working.

Accordingly, planning staff then contacted each key actor from these organizations, in order to solicit their opinion on the need for any collaborative efforts between them.

The following were contacted:

- 1) Gil Lancia, President
Mt. Washington Chamber of Commerce
- 2) David Miller, President
Mt. Washington-Duquesne Heights Community Council
- 3) Donna Dugan, President
Grandview Area Concerned Neighbors
- 4) Beverly Azzaro, President
Mt. Washington Action Coalition

Mr. Lancia said that "at this time, his organization has no desire to convene with the other groups, or to form any kind of coalition." He stated that "as a pre-condition of his acceptance as President, that the Chamber be open to both business and non-business community residents."

Additionally, Mr. Miller stated that "at this time the Community Council has no desire to convene or form a coalition with any other community groups." He said that "zoning issues and major development projects" which may impact the entire community are the primary focus of his organization.

Furthermore, staff contacted both Donna Dugan, President, Grandview Area Concerned Neighbors and Beverly Azzaro, President Mt. Washington Action Coalition. An attempt was made to set up phone interviews with them in order to ascertain their viewpoints as was done with Mr. Lancia and Mr. Miller. On various occasions these telephone inquiries were not returned which has lead the planning staff to conclude these two groups are at best, ad hoc in nature.

However, recently a group of neighborhood residents has surfaced in an attempt to form a "new" community organization. Planning staff has been in contact with the organizers of this new group. Also, staff has contacted Mr. Lancia, Mr. Miller, and Mr. Peterson of C.T.A.C., to solicit their comments and advice on this group. We will be keeping in close contact with the existing community groups regarding their interface with these organizers, as well as providing them with any information as requested. Of course, we will continue to monitor progress in the development of the new organization, and assist them in any manner possible.

Based on the above analysis we have determined that;

- a) there has been no desire expressed by these existing community organizations at the present time to convene together,
- b) there has been no desire expressed by these existing community organizations at the present time for collaborative assistance on any common issues; we must therefore conclude that at the present time,

c) the current status-quo is working.

If you have any questions on this information please contact me.

CFR/fb
(cfr.81)

(END OF MEMORANDUM)

I don't want to bore you with all the details but the people they spoke to are people -- Gil Lancia, President of the Mt. Washington Chamber of Commerce, who doesn't own a business. David Miller, I've known for years from J & L who is involved with the Mt. Washington-Duquesne Heights Community Council which has been fallow for many years.

Another group Granview Area Concerned Neighbors has done nothing for years. I had assigned my staff and believe me Bill Urbanic has done a phenomenal job, and we have before you a list at least 25 people including Father McCormley from St. Mary of the Mount, the Chatham Village, people from the Block Watch, Friends of the Library, Mt. Washington Community Corporations called the other side of Mt. Washington. The Condo Association. I met with the Trimont people. I'm about to meet with the Plaza people, and they believe that we have communal issues that need each others support, and they're rip-roaring and ready to go, and they've had at least five or six meetings, and for this memo to come out saying, there are no problems, we don't need to do anything up there. Is the height of why we need to replace Jane Downing. I swear that I cannot believe the memo I had. I'm sure that if we had not been working on it personally -- the reason I took it on myself is that it's very difficult to organize a community, and to also be on Council.

But to say there are no problems and that this is not a community that needs problems, and to go to the people who not the people involved and not to ask us -- I mean may have another embolus. All I can tell you is that I want to share with you my absolute horror at this, and we have contacted the people who have been meeting and asked them to write letters to the Administration explaining the kind of problems that we have. Which are no different than the problems you have in your district. We have the boom boxes, the radios playing at 12:00 o'clock at night, that you'd think it was Radio City Music Hall. We have the kids hanging out after 11:00 o'clock, we have speeding on the roads, we had the water line that was put in, we had roads that were repaired, we have a zoning problem that there's a disgruntled issue that people are divided on. There's a new hotel going up there. What do you mean we don't have issues up there and there's no need to do anything.

I really felt so strongly about it I wanted to share it with this group, and I thank you for listening, and I will have documentation. I've spoken to the Administration and have documentation showing that is absolutely a piece of garbage that was put together by Planning will be sent to the Administration documenting everything I've said.

The Chair:

Prior to moving on I just want to follow up and state, you referred to the capital budget Councilwoman Madoff, and I for one, and I'm sure all of you are irritated with the fact that this Council has not received a six year capital budget as of this date and this hour.

Mr. Cohen:

Absolutely.

The Chair:

And it was presented several days ago. It was presented to the media prior to Council, and I for one am very irritated that this Council has not received it including our budget staff.

Mr. Regan:

I just would like to welcome the Councilwoman back. I notice she got her leg rapped up. She looks like the race horse that she really is.

Michelle Madoff:

Thoroughbred.

Mr. Regan:

Thoroughbred, right. But, I'd also like to commend Jane Downing the Director. I think she does a tremendous job.

Michelle Madoff:

It shows you that you're not informed, but we love you anyway.

Mr. Ferio:

Mr. Chairman, I had two points. One of which you just expressed and that is the fact that Council as a legislative branch of government has not even received the capital budget yet to date. I don't believe -- Mr. Perry have you received it yet?

Mr. Perry:

No.

Mr. Ferio:

And, I know Mr. Wagner you did call over there yesterday, and hopefully its in the mail like a few other things.

I just wanted to speak very briefly Mr. President, in our absence a very unfortunate thing happened for our City, and that is we lost a lawsuit that was very important to us. In our absence a three member panel of the Commonwealth court reversed a lower court decision which invalidated Resolution No. 78. That was a piece of legislation which I sponsored. In which you supported Mr. Wagner, Michelle supported, and Mr. Coyne during the Calliguri Administration with their support, and that involved the sale of asphalt to other municipalities outside the City, to other school districts, other public entities. The obvious benefit clearly was the revenue to be derived from the sale of asphalt. As well as all of us are aware we have one of the most modern and efficient asphalt facilities in the country, and we wanted to fully utilize the capacity of that plant.

Unfortunately, this court decision in the Commonwealth court is a very important decision. I want to call on the Administration because it's unclear that they will appeal, but I hope that Council will join me in requesting that the Administration review all the legal issues involved and build a legal strategy to appeal that decision.

The legal debate has to do with the issue of what is proprietary function of City government. Whether or not City government doing this is competing with the private sector and performing something that otherwise would just normally be performed by a private business. The results could be devastating in other areas of government. There's no difference fundamentally with us selling asphalt then us marketing water and selling water to municipalities outside the City. There are others for profit water companies.

It may be conceivable in the future we might want to have some joint emergency medical system with other municipalities given our technology and expertise, and there are clearly for profit ambulance services throughout the county.

In the future this Council has committed and the Administration to embark on the construction of a hydroelectric power plant. The sale of electricity to other municipalities. This is proprietary, Duquesne Light Company other major suppliers of electricity. So, it's a very important issue, and I think it could raise a signal to others in the private sector and other legal minds to begin work on other issues involving the City government providing services to its people.

So, I would urge Council to support and talk to the Administration, and let's make a form of a motion that we call on the Administration to review the legal issues, and to appeal the Commonwealth court decision.

Secondly, I think they also need a legislative strategy. In the court's decision they're referring specifically to Section 302-D of the state enabling legislation which gave us home rule powers. That's a clause that deals with City government not being able to in any way involve itself with business or to perform any proprietary function. That legislation needs to be altered, and I think we need to meet with our delegation. I know the Mayor is preparing a legislative agenda for the fall with Mr. Kolling so I would ask that the Administration to pursue both a legal as well as a legislative agenda to address this important issue.

Michelle Madoff:

Is that a motion?

Mr. Ferlo:

That was in the form of a motion.

Michelle Madoff:

I would suggest that the Law Department research what is going on in other communities. There are other cities who are now generating revenue, and I've talked about this for a number of years, by joint venturing in businesses with private entities. They're going to the hotel business, they're going into shopping centers where they own a piece of the action and get revenue from it to offset the taxes.

So, I think that your point is extremely valid that we find out where they're doing other things and then make the point that not only are we helping the communities around here, but if we're giving them asphalt at a price, its helping the community. Indeed we need to either raise taxes -- many of those people competing with us in the asphalt business don't even live in the City.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, just to clarify. What I'm really asking for is the Administration to formally communicate back to Council through you what their actions will be in regarding this lawsuit, and any legislative legal actions that they will pursue.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

The Chair:

And, because it's so important I think it should done in writing.

Mr. Ferlo:

I will help frame the letters.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen	Mr. Milliones
Mr. Ferlo	Mr. Ricciardi
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner (Pres't)

NOES 1

(MR. REGAN VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion passed finally.

Mr. Cohen:

I just wanted to echo Councilman Ferlo's comments. I have not read the Commonwealth court decision, but this City has put a lot of -- Public Works in particular has put a lot of time, effort and money in the development of asphalt production and marketing capabilities. It would be a real shame for us to lose that at a time when we have probably our biggest challenge. Our biggest challenge is how to maintain City services in a decline revenue base. We have to overturn every possible stone to try to find revenue, and I think that's a very appropriate way to find it, so I'm glad that Councilman Ferlo brought it up.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to take this opportunity welcoming a new married man to our fold. Some of us have gone one way and he's gone the other way, and we all know that's Gene Ricciardi, and I think he married a wonderful, lovely gal, and I wish him all the happiness in the world.

Mr. Regan:

I second the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, just in closing I really don't want to reopen the whole issue of Mr. Kuzmanko in the marathon. I only know about this situation from I read in the newspapers. The only think I know about the marathon and what best could be described as a debacle is what I read in the papers, and I think its a terrible situation. Council, who consistently has appropriated funds not only for the marathon but other mega events that make our City great has not been informed properly by the Administration. I would like to urge that all of us individually request from the Administration some written explanation, or some formal explanation to Council regarding what is fact and fiction regarding the marathon. I don't think we should have to learn that from newspaper headlines and talk shows. We should receive a report. This is a very important event, and I'm sure a majority of Council members really want to see this event continue, and on a personal note I know others here on Council are closer and probably have known Larry Kuzmanko a lot longer than I have, but in the short time that I have known him. He's one hell of a guy, and I think he's done an admirable job, and I think we are indebted to him.

The Chair:

Are you asking for a report from the Pittsburgh Marathon --

Mr. Ferlo:

I'm asking for a report from the Administration regarding what their intentions are regarding future marathons, reconstruction of a non-profit group, the funding situation. I think we are also owed some explanation rationally as to what this issue is all about.

The Chair:

I agree.

Mr. Ferlo:

That's my opinion.

Mr. Regan:

I just think the guy is a brilliant promoter, and I think its a shame that this had to end this way. The guy's put on seven successful marathons, and I think its a sad day for the City of Pittsburgh.

The Chair:

Well my opinion, it wasn't broke, therefore, it didn't need fixed.

Mr. Ferlo moved to excuse Mr. Coyne for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Ricclardl seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Cohen moved to approve the minutes from Tuesday, August 7, 1990 and Monday, August 13, 1990.

Mr. Milllones seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

and on the motion of Mr. Regan

Council adjourned.

Mr. Darkins:

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby proclaim September 14, 1990 to be American Textile Company Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to introduce the folks to my left and specifically Mr. Ruttenberg who would like to make a statement. We have Mr. Ruttenberg here from the Company; he's President and Chief Executive Officer. To his left is Mr. Ouellette from the Company and he is the Vice-President. We also have two workers, representatives of the United Textile Workers Union, Jackie Baker who is the President of the Local and Nancy McClaren who is the Financial Secretary.

At this time, I'd like to introduce to Pittsburgh to promote the Company, Mr. Reid Ruttenberg.

Mr. Ruttenberg:

Mr. President, Members of Council, and guests, I'd like to thank Councilman Ferlo for what I consider a great honor.

We have been in the City of Pittsburgh for 65 years nestled in the rollings hills of Lawrenceville, Pennsylvania, and we presently employ about 140 to 150 members. I'm just sorry that my Dad couldn't be here to help enjoy this celebration with us. Thanks very much.

Mr. Ferlo:

I do want to add, the Company is having a celebration ceremony this coming Friday, the 14th, and I think all of Council is invited. Maybe you'll be able to come out and share in the festivities.

But I'd like to thank them all and let's support the Pittsburgh area products that are made by this Lawrenceville company.

At this time, I'd like Tom Hoffman to come forward and any others from the National Health Care Action Day Coalition. Tom is with the Service Employees International Union who is organizing a fairly broad-based coalition here in the City of Pittsburgh and throughout Western Pennsylvania to deal with the crisis of health care. I know there's many people, certainly those in this room today, that are very concerned about this issue.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1354 WHEREAS, the American health care system is at a crossroads. The employer-based health insurance system that once guaranteed health coverage to working Americans and their families is collapsing; and

WHEREAS, 37 million Americans have no health insurance and more than 20 million of those are full-time workers and their family members; and

WHEREAS, 40 to 50 million working Americans have such inadequate insurance that one serious illness means financial ruin; and

WHEREAS, despite spending 11.5% of the nation's GNP on health care, the U.S. ranks behind Canada, Japan, Great Britain, Sweden and West Germany in infant mortality and life expectancy; and

WHEREAS, about 25% of U.S. health expenditures go towards wasteful or inappropriate medical procedures; and

WHEREAS, health care costs are the number one cause of labor strikes as unions fight for their members against health benefit take-aways; and

WHEREAS, solving the health care needs of Americans is too big for any one bargaining table, local government, or state government to resolve.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh calls on Congress to enact a comprehensive national health care reform program that embodies the AFL-CIO's ten principles:

- Universality that ensures that health care is a right for all Americans
 - Public Accountability
 - Affordability and Accessibility
 - Comprehensiveness
- Equitable and Progressive Financing
 - Fairness
 - Portability
 - Cost Containment
 - Quality Assurance
- Public/Private Administration

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh declares Wednesday, October 3, 1990 as National Health Care Action Day in the City to highlight and dramatize the need for a solution to America's health care crisis.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

At this time, I'd like to ask Tom Hoffman to come forward and say a few words about the purpose of this Coalition, what the strategies and the tactics of the Coalition are going to be in the coming years, and what the purpose of the Action Day is.

We were very successful. This Council was out front on the MOM care legislation which passed the State House and is now enacted into law. This is certainly a much larger battle and it's going to take many more years. This country has been debating national health insurance in the halls of Congress since 1912 and I think the need for a national health care program is long overdue in this country.

Mr. Hoffman:

I'd like to thank City Council for passing this resolution in support of this very important issue. We find it just outrageous that there are 30 million people in this country with no health insurance at all and 50 million people that are at serious risk for any serious illness and they're economically bankrupt.

So, the AFL has made health care reform in this country one of its major topics for the next few years, probably this whole decade. As Jim mentioned, it will take a long time.

In Pittsburgh, we're kicking off our campaign to get Congressional reform of the health care system in this country on October 3rd with a rally and a press conference over at the Federal Building, and I would like to extend an invitation to all the Members of City Council to come to that event. It's at noontime on October 3rd and I'm sure we'll be back asking for your support on other legislation as it develops.

Thank you very much.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd like to please Thomas Cush, Jason Abramowicz and Robert Hepner to please come forward.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

No. 1355 WHEREAS, six athletes of Citiparks Therapeutic Recreation Program/Pittsburgh Goal Getters Team qualified and competed in the 1990 World Games for the Disabled held in Assen, Holland during July; and

WHEREAS, two athletes of Citiparks Therapeutic Recreation Program/Pittsburgh Goal Getters Team qualified and competed in the 1990 Junior National Wheelchair Games in Fort Collins, Colorado during July; and

WHEREAS, the eight athletes begin their qualifying competitions in the Pittsburgh Sports by Ability and represent outstanding accomplishments for elite physically challenged individuals promoting the concept of self-confidence and independence providing an inspiration to the disabled population and a model of success for the Pittsburgh community; and

WHEREAS, the International Athletes received nine gold medals, three silver medals and two bronze medals for a total of 14 of the 21 medals received by the USA team and the National Athletes received 3 gold medals, 9 silver medals, and 1 bronze medal for a total of 13 medals.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh gives recognition to the International Athletes as follows: Robert Miklos competing in swimming - World Record; Suzanne Collet competing in swimming; Thomas Cush competing in track; Debra Gibbons competing in field events; Robert Hepner competing in powerlifting; and Stephanie Sloan competing in swimming; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh also gives recognition to the National Athletes as follows: Jason Abramowicz competing in swimming, and Kelly Timms competing in track.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferle seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd just like to say that this group of individuals is an inspiration to all of us. They have shown great determination and courage and are excellent role models for all segments of society.

Some of our awardees were unable to cut class this morning. Two of them are at Community College and one is in high school. But we have with us today Thomas Cush who has one gold and one bronze medal in track. Also, if I'm not mistaken, his mother, Mrs. Cush, is here.

Thomas Cush:

I would like to thank City Council for the honor of this proclamation. It was great competing. Thank you.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you, Thomas.

Our next awardee, Robert Hepner, received a bronze medal in powerlifting.

AT THIS POINT, THE FIRE ALARM SOUNDED IN COUNCIL CHAMBERS.

The Chair:

That is a fire alarm.

Michelle Madoff:

Don't worry. It never means anything.

The Chair:

No, sometimes it may. We are going to recess for five minutes and then come back.

Council recessed.

And the time of recessing having expired, Council reconvened the Legislative Meeting.

The Chair:

There was a small fire on the Fourth Floor of the City County Building, which was extinguished. We appreciate all of you coming back and we left off with Mr. Ricciardi and his resolution.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Before I again introduce Robert Hepner who has a bronze medal in powerlifting, I also would like to ask Larry VanBuren to please step forward. Larry is Robert's coach and behind every great powerlifter is a father and a coach. Robert's father is also here today.

Robert Hepner:

Thank you for this resolution.

Mr. VanBuren:

We'd like to thank City Council for their recognition and we'd like to thank the people at the Exercise Warehouse for their participation and their ability to let us use their facilities. Thank you.

Mr. Ricciardi:

We also have with us our next awardee, Jason Abramowicz who has one one gold medal, four silver and one bronze in the swimming event. Jason is also here with his mother and uncle.

Jason Abramowicz:

I would just like to thank the Mayor and the City of Pittsburgh for letting us use their facilities and for all the work that they have done helping handicapped athletes to be the best that they can be.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you, Jason.

As I said before, these awardees are really an inspiration to all segments of society. This event was a cooperative effort between the City of Pittsburgh and also the private sector, PPG Industries and Oliver Realty. Representing them is Bob Simerick. And also Blue Cross and representing them is Paul O'Palka. They sponsored the reception and on the road many of the expenditures. So, we thank PPG Industries, we thank Oliver Realty, and also Blue Cross. Thank you very much, gentlemen.

The Chair:

Thank you very much.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Our next resolution, if I may please ask our older adults athletes to please step forward, and we thank you for remaining after the fire alarm. I think we've lost 50 or 60 percent of our older adults but we do have a nice representative figure here today.

Michelle Madoff:

What do you mean, "older adults"? We're in the prime of our lives.

Mr. Ricciardi:

You don't say "senior citizens" though. Older adults is much better. You're either a young adult or a mature adult. Am I correct? Thank you.

If I may, I'd like to ask Michael Senko, the Special Population Program Coordinator and Carl Mancuso, the Assistant Director of Parks and Recreation, to please come forward.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

No. 1356 WHEREAS, 101 senior adults represented Citiparks and the City of Pittsburgh in the Pennsylvania Senior Games at Shippensburg University in categories from 55 to 90 years of age; and

WHEREAS, these athletes competed against 1100 seniors statewide in 19 events displaying outstanding sportsmanship; and

WHEREAS, athletics promotes physical health and mental well being and most importantly promotes and displays a positive image of aging; and

WHEREAS, their participation in the Citiparks Senior Center Program contributes to the general health of and image of a caring City.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh gives recognition to the competition of the senior adults who as a whole received 74 gold medals, 37 silver medals, and 45 bronze medals for a total of 156 medals.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd like to ask Carl Mancuso if he would please say a few words for the Department of Parks and Recreation.

Michelle Madoff:

Carl, did you run?

Mr. Mancuso:

No, luckily I only helped them run the events. I can't even compete with these Seniors. They are a fantastic group. Very competitive.

All I can say is that Citiparks and the City as a whole can be proud of the Seniors of this City. They represent the best of what City residents can be. And when they come out and they go places together, they show a tremendous amount of loyalty to the City. They wear their Citiparks color and they do things en masse. It is a tremendous representation of the City. They were the first group when the Shippensburg Games started to begin to show that kind of team spirit and I think it's one of the things that helps to make this City great.

We thank City Council and, of course, the Mayor for the support that we've been able to lend to the Seniors. But most of all, we thank the Seniors for their participation in our events. Thank you.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Now I'd like to ask Michael Senko, our Special Population Program Coordinator, to please come up, say a few words, and introduce our two representatives today that will speak.

Mr. Senko:

I think your resolution says it all and I'd just like to introduce Ray Blatz and Betty Jones who will accept the resolutions on behalf of all the Seniors.

The other two people that have joined us today are Ray Fisher, Center Director Ed Greenfield, and Joe Rogers, the Center Director from Sheraden. Joe has accompanied the group all ten years going to Shippensburg.

Mr. Blatz:

I'd like to thank Council for recognitions of the talents of the Seniors on behalf of my center which is on the North Side and the people who represented the Seniors in the Pennsylvania State Games. Thank you.

Ma. Jones:

I just would like to say that it was my pleasure to be involved in this. This is my first year and I look forward to many more. And I'd like to invite Michelle to join us too. I'm with the Hazelwood Center and, again, I want to thank you for the opportunity to be involved in this. I didn't know I could do the things that I did, but I think campaigning over the years for people for City Council gave me a little boot camp training. Thank you.

The Chair:

I'd like my remarks brought forward for the Record, please.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGE)

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1323-Wednesday, 9/5/90)

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Chairman, members of Council, I appreciate the support of this original bill. And since that time, as you all have, I am sure, read, there has been some disagreement and will be some possible legal action taken between the City of Pittsburgh and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The reason being is that the Fish Commission disagrees that the City of Pittsburgh has any legal jurisdiction to enforce or regulate safety on the Pittsburgh rivers. We in the City of Pittsburgh to some degree differ, and in other areas understand that there are certain types of legislation that should be uniform throughout the Commonwealth.

What this ordinance with this change or amendment in the ordinance does, is since the boating season is practically over in the City of Pittsburgh, it gives the Fish Commission and Commonwealth time to adopt similar regulations during a time phase that this ordinance would not be in effect, between now and May 1, 1991. I have received from the Executive Director of the Fish Commission a written commitment, and I have a copy of that letter, for them to prepare draft changes to the boating regulations applicable to the Three Rivers and under the advisement of the piece of legislation that this Council passed.

So what I am asking all of you to do is to accept an implementation date of our previous legislation nine months into the future, so during the interim time period the Fish Commission and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can adopt similar regulations that would be applicable probably statewide and not just in the City of Pittsburgh, and during the interim we would eliminate a legal battle or conflict that would certainly occur.

Which was read.

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like my remarks brought forward on this bill, please.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1113-Wednesday 9/5/90)

Mr. Cohen:

Director, you have discussed this bill before, the last time it came up. I have a few questions for you.

First, what was the origin of this federal funding? Where did this money come from?

Ms. Downing:

It is community development block grant funds that have been allocated to a line item called "Public Building Accessibility" since 1979, I believe. It is a portion of the CD budget that Council has approved each year since 1979. The amounts have varied over the years.

Mr. Cohen:

There are no city taxpayer's money involved here; is that right?

Ms. Downing:

That's right.

Mr. Cohen:

Can you explain the process by which Wightman School was designated and who designated it?

Ms. Downing:

The Accessibility Committee was formed in 1975 to advise the city on expenditures of funds to make buildings and areas accessible for those with physical disabilities. We have done it primarily through programs, one is the building accessibility line item, the other is handicapped ramps, and they advised us on locations and priorities for that spending.

Since the inception of the program for building accessibility line item, over $2.4 million has been allocated. They have helped prioritize that funding each year. They work with a city department and discussed ideas that are brought up.

In the case of Wightman School, the committee was approached by the Carriage House for a grant to help make that building accessible, so that is how the request actually got before the committee. The committee deliberated and made a favorable recommendation. The department that actually handles the contracts is the Engineering and Construction Department, so they were instructed to prepare legislation which came through your committee.

Mr. Cohen:

Do you know what some of the factors were that went into their decision for designating this spot, this location?

Ms. Downing:

From the course of the discussion, the activities that are currently going on at the Center, particularly on the second and third floor, are not available to those with physical disabilities. But those spaces are rented out to a variety of clubs and variety of groups. And because the building is not accessible, those activities in particular are not available to those with physical disabilities.

A second issue arose, in that the city's Therapeutic Recreation Program, which is a city-wide program open to all with physical disabilities, is located across the street in what is called "Wightman School Annex." There was discussion about whether there were possible linkages between that program and activities in this school, and there was some discussion about were the facilities to be accessible, that there could be some linkage, and it is not at the moment. The committee's real concern was that the building continue to be used for public functions if money were to be allocated.

Mr. Cohen:

That is in the deed, is it not, that it has to be a community service facility?

Ms. Downing:

I believe that's right.

Mr. Cohen:

In the Office of Special Populations, the people, the handicapped people who come to that office and use the park and other facilities, are they open to all the people in the city, all handicapped people in the city who are eligible, or just a particular area?

Ms. Downing:

It is my understanding it is a city-wide program, it is the office of Therapeutic Recreation, and activities happen there at the building. The playground itself below the building is accessible, but I believe they also coordinate other activities off-site.

(DELETED TEXT.)

Mr. Cohen:

I understand and appreciate what a number of people are saying here, and we may need -- certainly the City-County Building and other public buildings should be priority buildings. But the question in my mind with respect to this and whether this is a worthy project, in my mind it is, that this Wightman School Building is a community service building used by numerous community groups, and as important if not more than, is its location, which it is across the street from the Office of Special Populations where hundreds of handicapped people go. Those aren't handicapped people from any particular neighborhood, and they are from all over the city. And to make Wightman School Building handicapped accessible is going to cost somewhere in the range of $300,000.00; this is $100,000.00 of it. My understanding is this money couldn't even be spent until the Carriage House raises the additional money, so this is really to help them along to make it handicapped accessible because of its particular situation as a community service building and as a building that can be used that we know can be used by hundreds and hundreds of handicapped people who go to the Office of Special Populations.

So I certainly understand and appreciate that you may -- that the City-County Building and other public buildings need priority, but I think this one needs priority, too, because it is a community service facility, essentially a publicly used building.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I move to table that bill, Bill 1113.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it's unfortunate, the perception of what happened is not the reality. It was creative financing. I would love to see every group be as creative to save the City taxpayers money, not have to go to the foundations that help the needy like United Way. The group is being punished and being perceived as being greedy and I think it's unfortunate. I think the right thing to do is to table it and hope that we can work out our differences.

The Chair:

All those in favor of tabling the bill signify by saying aye. Those opposed?

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 1277

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 344, effective April 21, 1989, entitled 'Providing for a contract or contracts, or use of existing contracts, for the Rehabilitation of No. 1 Fire Station; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof,' by amending the title to read 'Rehabilitation of Various Public Safety Facilities,' and by increasing the total project allocation by $475,000.00, from $300,000.00 to $775,000.00."

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTION

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I would like to call attention to what I perceive to be a very serious problem, and I see we have someone here from the Law Department. I'd like to talk about the problem and then see where we ought to proceed.

All of us, from time to time, have had phone calls to our homes offering to sell us, it's usually a tape, very seldom is there somebody there, and it's usually a boiler room operation calling. Somebody called me yesterday to offer me a trip to Bermuda and to Florida and whatever and if I'd only call this number right away I could get this trip.

Normally I would just hang up but I was just curious to see who, what, where and when. I called and it was a boiler room operation. I was referred by a trained monkey who had rehearsed her speech to a supervisor and from the supervisor to a sales agent. My question was, "Who owns your company?" "Oh, there are a bunch of little private investors."

Well, the problem, you see, is that in this particular instance, it doesn't cost anything except that my line was tied up for 12 hours this week because I, like many people, have call waiting. And if you hang up on the call waiting and it doesn't disconnect, it will frequently cause havoc with your telephone.

Similarly, I've had phone calls from companies based right here in Pittsburgh and I know some of the owners and I've talked to the Telephone Company about it. They call and say, "How would you like to be in a lottery to win a great big massive television screen and projector? It doesn't cost you anything. All you have to do is call this number and put your name in, but there's a charge of $5.00 for your telephone call."

Now, a lot of senior citizens, a lot of people who don't know exactly what is happening, you get a phone number and they repeat the number five times and say, "Don't forget, call immediately." And they don't realize that they are being charged a fee.

Secondly, my understanding of the law is that the reason when you get a lottery to your home that says that you do not have to buy anything, the reason they say that is because that's the only way you can do it legally. But when they say you don't have to buy anything to join this lottery to win a television, but says that the call is $5.00, that's buying something, from my perspective.

I would like to see some interference or some interaction between the City taking some action through the District Attorney's Office, because I've already initially spoken to them and I think we have good cause. If not, I'm going to hire an attorney. It is very easy to find out who the owners are by virtue of disclosure in a law suit. If I have to go to small claims court --

I feel I'm being damaged. I know there are other people who have taken action against this kind of interference into your home, and the thing is that, really and truly, you cannot hang up on these people. If you have to call a doctor and I'm talking to somebody on Council and say, "Excuse me, I have to hang up." But when you have call waiting, you cannot hang up on that call. Or if you have the only line and they call, you hang up but they go through their taped message. You cannot get the use of your own telephone line. That's an invasion of privacy. It's taking time away from your own privileges or whatever services you paid for and something must be done about it.

And I'm hoping that the Law Department as representatives, that they will check it out, speak to the District Attorney, to Mr. Colville. I've spoken to Chris Copetas. Let's get something happening. I know that there's legislation working its way through Washington but, unfortunately, the Federal Trade Commerce, as this man haughtily told me, that, "With the Federal Trade Commission we can make calls in any state we want to make them, lady, and if you don't like it, that's tough." Well, I don't like it and I think we need to do something about it. Thank you.

The Chair:

We can tell you're feeling well again, Michelle.

Mr. Regan:

Imagine if she wrapped the other leg.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on another matter. Over a year and a half ago I raised to Council and to Mayor Masloff, and she had responded by indicating that she would investigate the matter and she actually sounded sympathetic to the suggestion. This regards the problem of garbage pickup, specifically garbage pickup throughout the City.

In certain areas of the City where, as many of us know, the garbage is not picked up for two weeks at a time due to certain holidays. I believe there are about seven holidays throughout the City. Public Works recently in this past year rotated the neighborhoods that are affected by the holiday pickup, but that's just rotating the problem.

I've always felt very strongly that it is a significant problem. It's a problem especially during the summer months with garbage being strewn all over the place, dogs and cats getting into it. One problem after another.

It is a significant amount of money in the City budget in order for us to do this, to guarantee pickup at all times, but I raised the idea of having a 10 hour a day, 4 day work week for those weeks throughout the year that the holidays take place.

The real issue I'm raising at this time is that for at least two years now, there has not been a negotiated contract with the employees in Environmental Services who do the rubbish removal and the garbage pickup. So, I'm actually asking openly to the Administration one, what is the status of this ongoing situation regarding the lack of a contract. And secondly, if there are negotiations presently for a contract, could they please again raise the issue of garbage pickup so that we can guarantee quality, weekly, regular garbage pick up for every neighborhood throughout the City and not have certain neighborhoods be without regular garbage pickup.

The Chair:

Mr. Ferlo, you're right. I don't think they ever did respond back to the suggestion of four 10-hour days.

I would ask that we follow up that letter with a request for that information.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you, Mr. President.

Michelle Madoff:

And as I asked earlier, would the President of Council please follow up with the Administration. We've written a letter as to whether the tokens for the vending machines are going to be a reality. If not, let's get on with our existing bill and what impact would that have on the City so we know when to bring it up. It's being held, as you know, until next Wednesday.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo moved to approve the Minutes of Wednesday, September 5, 1990.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Regan

Council adjourned.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to ask Director Cannon to come up here, Chief Kennedy and our medical staff. Would you all please come up here?

This has to be the best dressed, finest outfit in the United States. Let's give them a nice big hand before they even get a resolution.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1384 WHEREAS, the members of the Pittsburgh Emergency Medical Services Team devote their lives to saving the lives of others; and

WHEREAS, Emergency Medical Teams consist of paramedics, emergency physicians, nurses, first responders, educators and administrators; and

WHEREAS, the people of Pittsburgh benefit daily from the knowledge and skills of these trained individuals; and

WHEREAS, advances in emergency medical care increase the number of lives saved every day; and

WHEREAS, the professional organization of providers of Emergency Medical Services promote research to improve emergency medical care; and

WHEREAS, the designation of Emergency Medical Services Week will serve to educate the people of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania about accident prevention and what to do when confronted with a medical emergency; and

WHEREAS, it is especially appropriate to recognize the value and the accomplishments of Pittsburgh's Emergency Medical Services Team in this, their fifteenth year of meritorious service to the citizens of Pittsburgh, by designating Emergency Medical Services Week; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of Pittsburgh City Council do hereby recognize and proclaim the week of September 16-22, 1990 as Emergency Medical Services Week in the City of Pittsburgh and encourage the community to observe this week with appropriate programs, ceremonies and activities. "IT COULD ONLY HAPPEN IN AMERICA!"

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Director Cannon:

Thank you. Along with this EMS Week, I think the added joy to this celebration is that it's also the 15 year anniversary of the beginning of the paramedic service here in the City of Pittsburgh. Some of you may recall those very early days when federal job funds were used to start the Paramedic Training Program. CETA dollars, they were called at that time.

The paramedic program in Pittsburgh is an outstanding example nationally of the use of those funds in the appropriate manner to create jobs for people that have turned into permanent careers and I think we all realize how successful that effort has been in terms of the quality of the service that these people provide. It truly is recognized not only nationally, but internationally, as one of the finest emergency medical service programs in the world, and it's one of those other things that makes Pittsburgh a special place to be.

I'd like to introduce Chief Bob Kennedy for a few remarks.

Chief Kennedy:

Thank you, Director, Councilman Regan, Council President Wagner, and Members of Council. I'd like to thank you on behalf of the 180 paramedics, the men and women who provide the pre-hospital care to Pittsburgh.

In particular, there's a group of 23 who have been with us since the beginning of our service in 1975, and that's quite an accomplishment.

If you've been here 15 years, I'd like to give you some numbers of what the Paramedics have done in 15 years.

- We began service on August 25, 1975. I was very fortunate to be chosen by then-Director Cannon to be on that first crew, and we had two calls that first shift on August 25th.

- We had 4 ambulances and 40 personnel.

- We added a rescue service to the City in 1977.

- We became a City department in 1978.

- We have responded to over 800,000 calls for service since we began, and hopefully there's a commensurate amount of citizens still with us because of our efforts.

- The total miles we've put on our vehicles exceeds 7.5 million.

- We have participated in 10,000 cardiac arrests, and that's really what we're in the business of doing - resuscitating people who would otherwise not be with us.

I think a nice thing to being a paramedic, it's not the easiest job, you're confronted with life and death situations, often times death, but the most pleasurable thing a paramedic can do, I think, is deliver a new life. We've done that around 490 times. So, that's 490 new citizens of the City of Pittsburgh that we helped bring in.

Today we respond to approximately 62,000 calls a year and I would like to thank Council for their continued support of our program. And please keep that in mind in November when I'm sitting here and you're asking me a bunch of questions. Thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

I'd just like to say that we're all proud of you and I'm especially thrilled to death of how good you look. You really make the City of Pittsburgh look good and the next time we have you in here, Director Cannon and I are going to wear our uniforms. I'm going to get one myself to look that good. The City of Pittsburgh is very proud of you.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I'd just like to add to that, and I asked Mr. Perry to read it in its entirety, that resolution has been supported by all of you prior to today. It has been forwarded to the World Trade Center and we are right now actively seeking a location in the City of Pittsburgh, and hopefully that will happen.

There are also some personal communications going on and hopefully they will be fruitful. Thank you.

We now have a special presentation by Councilwoman Madoff.

Michelle Madoff:

I'd like to ask Mr. Herman Watson, the Chairman of Westgate Community Development Corporation, Lutual Love, Executive Director, and Jeff Thomas, Project Coordinator, to please step forward.

This was supposed to be a surprise for Baldy, but the President blew it.

I want to read a letter that I wrote to Mr. Baldy Regan on September 12th.

"Dear Baldy:

During my recent surgery, hospital stay and recovery, I received many generous gifts from a variety of people. But of all of those that I received, nothing touched me more than the $1000 check you made out to me for the people of Westgate.

Baldy, you understand the need this community has. You honor me when you help them.

As you would say, only in America could you find someone with a heart as big as yours.

Thank you again, Baldy, and I assure you that this contribution will be put to good use."

I'm sorry. I'm very touched by this. I'm sorry, everybody. I'm still emotional.

Mr. Watson:

My name is Herman Watson, Chairman of the Board of the Westside Community Development Corporation.

Over the past years, we've had a major struggle in the West End, overcoming drugs, overcoming different elements that kept our people in the West Side that was better known as the "Unknown Community" of the City of Pittsburgh.

Older Members of Council, Jim Ferlo, President Wagner and Jake Milliones, have come to our community and visited us several times. Michelle has been a great champion of our cause and we can only say that this thousand dollars will go far to helping us achieve our major goals. And it only shows that in the City of Pittsburgh there is a chance, if you stay bent on the way that you want to make things happen and stay true to your cause.

We really thank you very much from the bottom of our hearts for this donation. Thank you.

Mr. Thomas:

Good morning, Mr. President and Members of Council. I'd just like to add a further note on that. West Gate Community is a community populated by poor African-Americans, predominantly female, single-parents. The conditions in which they live are the most deplorable in the City. If one was to leisurely walk through the community, you would get the sense that there has been an implosion.

The physical structure of every community is in need of great repair. The people are suffering from a deprived state of despair. It is a community that needs your investment, an investment that should go beyond politics, an investment that should go beyond personalities, an investment that should go towards building better lives for 3,000 innate persons.

I hope that this thousand dollars is the first step in investing in a community that is actually the forgotten place. I trust that you will look kindly upon the African-American community of Westgate and come to its rescue, not only with your dollars but with the weight of your political office. Thank you.

Mr. Love:

Very shortly, I would like to say thank you to Councilman Baldy Regan for the thousand, and thank you to the City Council in whole for the past support, recent past support and so forth that you have been rendering to the Fairywood community.

I only hope that the funds that were unable to reach the community for the purpose of the commercial social center will be reconsidered in this year's budget for 1991. We'll be testifying tonight in front of the City Planning Commission asking them for further support. Now I'm talking about the $75,000 and that you gracefully try to come up with the $20,000.

I only can say that in the past year Fairywood community has been very much supported by Council and that we thank you for that and we hope and pray for your continued support. Thank you.

The Chair:

We have one final resolution to be presented by Councilman Darkins.

Mr. Darkins presents

Ms. McClendon:

Thank you. On behalf of the Thomas Merton Center and the Planning Committee for the U.N. Summit On Children and the Children's Vigil which will be held here in Pittsburgh on Sunday, September 23rd.

My name is Lois McClendon and my colleague, Jonathan Search, and we'd like to thank City Council for this proclamation.

I'd like to leave you with some statistics on one day in the lives of children here in the United States so when we think about the U.N. Summit On Children, let us think about what is happening here in this country and hope that President Bush, when he goes to the U.N. Summit On Children, will consider that all the money that has been going towards our national security, like $1.9 trillion since 1980 while taking away $40 million in programs for families and children, that he consider the needs of children.

These are some frightening statistics but one day in the lives of children in the United States - 689 babies are born to women who have had inadequate pre-natal care. 105 babies die before their first birthday. 27 children die from poverty. 211 are arrested for drug offenses. 1,512 teenagers drop out of school. 1,849 children are abused and neglected. 34,285 people lose jobs each day. 100,000 children are homeless.

Let's keep that in mind. Thank you.

Mr. Chairman, on Bill 1305 regarding the legislation I submitted on the U.S. citizenship requirement for the position of police officer, I'd like to amend it so that there's no legal question and also to reflect the concerns of Councilmembers that we not affect anybody who is currently on the payroll already being employed as a police officer who may, indeed, not be a U.S. citizen.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I think the substance of the debate at the table was an indication from the Administration as to whether or not any Capital Budget projects would be eliminated or not completed this year. Was there any response from the Administration regarding that issue?

Mr. Cohen:

Yes. We received just a couple of days ago a memorandum from Director Hayllar, the Director of Finance, explaining what this transaction is and what the financial ramifications of it are. Also, an itemized list of the capital improvements that are going to be made on the Stadium.

I'm convinced, from that memorandum and also a fairly lengthy discussion with Director Hayllar, that this is something that we should go ahead with. I know that there might be some disagreement on Council about this but this is the same transaction that was done last year. There is a beneficial result of it in that it frees up operating funds, about $1.7 million operating funds for the City of Pittsburgh. I would like to know, and we can pursue this later, as to why we need to do this and what that means for the operating budget down the line. But that aside, it is a beneficial result and I think one that we should support.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I don't think I've seen a copy of that letter. Was it just sent to you, Mr. Cohen?

Mr. Cohen:

No, it's to all members of Council.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, I apologize, but I haven't seen it yet and I need to look at it because it seems to me as the discussion took place last week that this payment to the Stadium is a pre-arranged contractual commitment and it uses bond money. I was concerned that they were going to issue another bond. They're not; they're using existing bond money that the Council voted on to save the Stadium in our previous negotiations. It's just a matter of transferring money that was already committed and I don't quite understand how that affects, and I would like to discuss it with the Finance Chairman and others, how it affects the Operating Budget because you cannot use Operating dollars for Capital expenditures. This is Capital money. It was bond money. It's money set aside and we're just honoring a commitment.

So, I'm interested in your statement about how it frees up Operating money from the millions and I'd like to sit down and go over that with you.

Mr. Cohen:

I can address that briefly and certainly the Director of Finance would be able to do it better than I. But in the past, except for last year, my understanding is that it was Operating funds from the City that was provided to the Stadium for these types of --

Michelle Madoff:

It shouldn't have been.

Mr. Cohen:

Well, that's the way it was. Now we are going to be transferring Capital funds rather than Operating funds. So, when I say that it will free up Operating funds, I mean with respect to the past, it will be done differently.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm really surprised, and I would like to go over that with Mr. Hayllar. I can't believe that we used Operating dollars to pay Capital funds. If anybody is listening and wondering why we don't know, it's because every week there are dozens and dozens of pieces of legislation and hundreds of invoices that come through. It's impossible to really catalogue it all. We're not computers.

But it seems to me, I don't understand and we need to have a memorandum from Mr. Hayllar as to why in the past, if indeed that was the case, we paid it out of Operating costs when it's a Capital expenditure.

The Chair:

Without getting into an extensive debate, the Administration has, in essence, assured us that no Capital projects will be jeopardized in the 1990 budget.

Michelle Madoff:

That wasn't my concern. I want to know how we get the surplus in the Operating Budget. I was assured of that and that's why I'm going to go with it.

The Chair:

Due to increased costs in the Operating Budget such as gasoline and others, additional monies are needed in the Operating Budget rather than the Capital Budget.

Michelle Madoff:

That's not my question. What I want to know is how we ever paid Capital expenses with Operating dollars. I don't think we did but I need to have that clarified.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, the only objection I continue to have besides the issue of whether or not certain Capital projects will be sacrificed, and that's always a shell game anyway and we're not going to fool anybody in regards to that issue, but the only other issue is that the Operating dollars or yearly dollars that we don't have the interest on because Capital dollars, as we know, we pay a heavy interest on.

My objection is that we already floated a significant bond issue to save the Pirates. That's a $2 million a year figure. On top of that, as we are all aware, for at least a half a decade we've made, out of the Operating Fund, a 1.8 yearly taxpayer contribution to support the Stadium. That's not counting other state funds that are coming into the City to make certain access improvements which are badly needed.

My objection, obviously, is again that we're making this allocation now out of the Capital Fund and paying more for those dollars as opposed to living within our means and within our budget as represented by the yearly operating costs of $1.8 million. So, I'm voting no on that principle issue.

Michelle Madoff:

A very important point. I think what is happening here is that you always pay the debt service. It's like a mortgage payment. It comes out of the Operating fund. But the money was taken out of the Capital fund for the Stadium and that is what I need to get clarified. I'm going to sit down with Mr. Hayllar and see if I understand it.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, I do not have a problem with transferring the funds to and from the Stadium. I do believe they are Operating funds and not Capital dollars.

The problem I have with Bill 1341 is that we continue to pour money into rental of equipment. In August we poured an additional $200,000 into that account. Here we're pouring $300,000 into that account.

I believe the reason we're doing that is because the contracting method for this year has changed. I met with the Administration last week and I was pleased that they are investigating the matter, but I'll have to continue to vote no on this until I get a satisfactory answer.

The Chair:

I would just ask each Councilmember to realize the importance of these bills, this bill in particular, in dealing with the Stadium. We do need five votes on the bill and I think it's crucial that we do get five votes on this issue.

Even though the bill has a negative recommendation, if you're voting in favor of the bill, vote aye when your name is called.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

On Bills 1291 and 1293 regarding Bell Telephone Company, no small company, no small utility, no small company that certainly is without resources. We're giving away public property in both of these bills, 1291 and 1293 for no money. We've already begun a precedent over the last several years in the City with Duquesne Light Company, as well as other utilities, requiring some fee associated with the license or with the permit.

In this case we're talking about the construction of five telephone cabinets, roughly 2 feet by 2 feet that will be constructed in various intersections. First of all, I don't even like these cabinets. Usually people are tripping over them but Public Works has indicated that they're not going to be in people's way.

But minimally, we should receive some income for giving them this public right-of-way and prerogative and the bill would spell out this permission and grant them this public property without any fee. We should collect some resources from this.

There's no hurry to approve these two bills. Nobody is going to be without phone service in Shadyside if we don't approve these bills. Now is a good opportunity to negotiate some reasonable fee to give them this prerogative.

The legislation we're approving today would require the Department to give the utility six month's notice if there is a change of heart or a change of fee. I would think the company would rather know up front what the costs are. So, I would urge that Council consider tabling these bills until they're brought back to the table with a fee associated with them. If we have to vote on them, I'm voting no on the two bills.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, this issue has come up since I've been here and my understanding is that it's a quid pro quo, that there are times when the City needs a right-of-way from Duquesne Light and the Telephone Company and that it's a trade-off. Unless something has happened and I've been lied to, and it won't be the first time, I have no reason to believe that I'm being lied to, I think it's a quid pro quo and I think we're making an elephant out of a flea and I think we should vote for it.

However, if indeed there is some question and Mr. Ferlo would like to hold a post agenda and have the Administration here to discuss in general the trade-off or the access of properties to the utilities, I think we ought to deal with it but not deal with it on a specific bill.

Mr. Cohen:

I agree with Councilman Ferlo and raised this issue at Wednesday's meeting about the general policy of charging for privileges and licenses. I think that we should look at that possibility and pursue it and I'm in discussions with Public Works and the City Law Department about that.

If we do it, though, we need a policy, an across the board policy, that will affect everyone. I don't think we can pick and choose which companies we want to charge for these things and which companies not to charge.

So, what we should do is have a discussion and look to the possibility of changing our policy so that we can get revenue from the City because I agree with Councilman Ferlo that we are giving away property and giving away a property right. There's a whole bundle of property rights and we're giving away a stick in that bundle. And we shouldn't be doing it without getting some revenue back from the City, especially given our current budgetary crunch. But I think we should have a policy for doing that and one that goes across the board and not just pick and choose particular companies.

Mr. Regan:

I'd just like to say that these big companies are easy to beat up on all the time. I think that Bell Telephone has done a tremendous job, they employ a lot of people, their workers have great benefits, and I think they do a lot for the City of Pittsburgh and I think they do a lot for the country. I'd just like to tip my hat to Bell Telephone and I'm voting for it.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I love Ma Bell as much as the next person, but using that rationale we should just give them any rate increase they want. That's not the issue here today. The issue here is being reasonable and it's certainly reasonable for the City to expect some income as a result of providing an opportunity for this company to save money or cut costs or provide their services. We do that in many other cases.

In response to Mr. Cohen, that's exactly why I'm asking that we reconsider holding these bills because we need a policy. There are some companies that come before us, Duquesne Light in particular, that we have charged fees for, and it has been haphazard. I would like to see a policy and I'm sure the companies involved, including good old Ma Bell, would like to see a policy rather than every time dealing with staff people in Public Works. There should be a uniform policy.

There's no hurry for these bills and we should ask for that uniform policy. Now is the time to act.

The Chair:

Is your motion to table?

Mr. Ferlo:

I don't think I have the support on a motion to table so I'm just going to go on with it. If I hear a supportive comment, I'll make a motion to table.

Mr. Cohen:

You're not going to hear it here. You have a supportive comment about let's work on this, let's pursue it with Public Works, with the City Law Department, and see if we can come up with a policy for charging people for licenses and privileges. If we hold up all these bills because of one company, then we do damage to some individuals that we have given commitments to for privileges and licenses. Let's go ahead with these bills but at the same time let's sit down and work with those two departments and Councilman Ferlo and I, I'm sure, will be able to get together and let's try to either introduce legislation or establish a new policy that will bring more revenue into the City.

Bill No. 1308

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements, Contract or Contracts, or to make use of existing contracts to undertake the Baum/Centre/Ellsworth/Penn Circle Transportation Study."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on Bill 1308 regarding the approval of a $60,000 authorization for the study of the Baum/Centre/Ellsworth/Penn Circle Transportation Study, I do want it noted that specifically the concern as we approved a couple years ago legislation that I had submitted for the reconsideration of construction of either a vehicular and/or pedestrian bridge at Ellsworth Avenue, I'm glad to see that that has been integrated into this study which originally was only going to deal with the Negley Centre Corridor.

Secondly, many of us have lobbied and argued for parts of the East Liberty Circle to be made two-way, and I'm glad to see that that is part of the study that is going to be reviewed by the Planning Department.

Again, this is an issue that is not parochial to just the East Liberty district. That whole area affects everything from Highland Park to the East Hills and certainly the Shady-side community. So, I'm glad to see that and I hope, as Councilman Cohen had requested, that we receive a copy of the scope of services for that study, and that would be done expeditiously.

Mr. Cohen:

On Bill 1308, I agree that the Baum/Centre/Ellsworth/Penn Circle Study is an important one by the Planning Commission and I'd like to have my comments on that bill brought forward because there were commitments made; one, that we would receive the request for proposal and the scope of study, as Councilman Ferlo said. But also there was a commitment as to the time period for that. These studies tend to take forever and we had a commitment that it would be completed in six to nine months. So, I plan to hold the Planning Department to that commitment. Thank you.

(MR. COHEN'S REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1308, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1990)

Mr. Cohen:

Director, what are the goals of the study?

Ms. Downing:

One specific question is whether the Ellsworth Avenue Bridge ought to be -- there ought to be a new Ellsworth Avenue Bridge linking East Liberty and that portion of Shadyside.

Mr. Cohen:

Did you say pedestrian and vehicular?

Ms. Downing:

The question is whether there should be a bridge that would accommodate vehicular and pedestrian or whether there could simply be a pedestrian bridge or whether there should be any bridge at all.

Those are the three questions relating to that item.

Mr. Cohen:

I am very familiar with that issue but I wonder if the study does include both?

Ms. Downing:

Yes.

Then the second portion that has to do with analyzing the Baum/Centre Corridor has to do with the discussion that we were having about appropriate zoning for that corridor and whether it should be a higher density zoning and specifically what we were discussing was the "C3-H" designation.

There are existing capacity problems at Negley and Centre which relate to how traffic moves in the whole corridor and so we thought we should look at the entire corridor to see what kind of improvement should be made, changes to traffic lights possibly considering a one-way pair where Centre would be one way and one direction and Baum would be one way or the other. We want to just work that through in a planning sense and see whether any additional development could occur on the Centre Avenue Corridor and what other improvements could be made to improve the existing problems so that is the second element.

The third has to do with how traffic flows around the East Liberty Business District and specifically there was a request that instead of making the southern portion of the Circle two-way and in order to analyze that we would have to look at how the traffic flows throughout the whole circle and whether that ought to be maintained.

Mr. Cohen:

We aren't starting from Square One on the Centre Avenue, are we? I was told several months ago when there was a seminar at the Shadyside Action Coalition that a Centre Avenue Corridor Study was well under way.

Ms. Downing:

This is all part of it. The scope of work -- what we want to study has been analyzed and I believe that's what was being shared with people for comments so that's what we're actually advertising.

Mr. Cohen:

Is there an RFP?

Ms. Downing:

Yes. I will share it with you.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you. And the last question is, is East Liberty Development and Shadyside Action Coalition, the Chamber of Commerce of East Liberty and of Ellsworth Avenue Corridor, are they all going to be brought into the study?

Ms. Downing:

One of the delays in this was simply figuring out how we should handle the who study process so yes, they will all be included.

Mr. Cohen:

Okay, there are others as well. There's a Pierce Street neighborhood group too. I'd like to work with you and we should get everybody involved.

Ms. Downing:

The intention would be to include everyone.

Mr. Cohen:

What is your deadline on this?

Ms. Downing:

Typically we say we try and finish these within six months although more realistically it's probably nine months.

Mr. Cohen:

So nine months from today we will the results of a study?

Ms. Downing:

We will try to do that, yes.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you.

On the bill to provide natural gas for our automobiles in an attempt to conserve energy, there was a very interesting article in Monday's Press, "Natural Gas May Be Solution To U.S. Oil Independency". MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

I misspoke myself when I was referring to the imports. It is barrels, not gallons. I meant barrels. I just misspoke.

On another matter. I wish to commend my colleague, Mr. Ferlo, for making something happen that is wonderful. I have a memo from my office to Maureen Hogan and I'd like to read it if I may, Department of Planning. Bill Urbanic sent it along.

"As you are well aware, since City Council passed legislation making funds available for non-CDBG area under the NBDR Program, and I believe that was the brainchild of Mr. Ferlo and all of us supported it in Council, our office has been pushing to get assistance to Mount Washington-Sheraden-Elliott business districts for the development plans.

We are delighted that the Mount Washington Chamber of Commerce and Sheraden Kiwanis Club have been chosen by the URA and City Planning to benefit from these funds.

However, because the funding was limited, we need answers to the following questions:

- How much will each group receive?
- What type of assistance?
- To what end or purpose are the awards for?
- Will the Mount Washington Chamber of Commerce receive meaningful allocations of money to allow for substantive improvements for the business and residential communities of Mount Washington?
- When should the assistance be expected?

Please supply this office with specific details as soon as possible as we will be meeting with the Mount Washington organization."

They're having their meeting tonight and we're meeting again with another group on the 20th.

And as you know, I've told Councilmembers, I shared with you, my absolute horror at the analysis that was made that Mount Washington status quo was wonderful and they don't need any help. I couldn't believe that the Planning Department would come out with that.

This sort of mollifies me a little bit but I think that we should give credit where credit is due. It was the brainchild of Mr. Ferlo; he sort of pushed it along, we all supported it, and I thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just on that issue. Long before I got here I know Mr. Wagner who represents a large part of the City that is not in CD neighborhoods has certainly been vocal and instrumental in trying to bring resources, in this case operating dollars, to some budgeted items in Planning, and I'd like to thank him.

Secondly, Dr. Milliones serves on the Board now with me regarding the NBDTR applications and the CBO funds and I'd like to point out his participation also.

I just have a few brief points, Mr. Chairman. We have yet to receive from the Administration any kind of report regarding the crises on the asphalt situation. I know, for instance, that Public Works was about to sign a major deal with another municipality outside the City which is on hold and we would like to receive both what the legal response is going to be as well as what legislative response we can have regarding with problems associated with the State Enabling Act.

Secondly, as I was sitting there last night for several hours listening to a variety of organizations and citizens speaking at the Planning Commission's hearings on the six-year development plan, and I believe there's another one this evening at the Brashear Association, or the South Side Market House --

Mr. Ricciardi:

It's at the South Side Market House at 7:00.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to remind people about that but what struck me last night, Mr. Chairman, again, is that citizen after citizen appeared at the hearing speaking not solely on the six year Capital Budget but they talked consistently about problems that basically deal with the Operating Budget, the performance of Public Works or the performance of Parks. They're singing the wrong choir to some extent.

What struck me also, and I want to note, I've never seen so many Administration directors and major decision-makers at a public hearing. It's my understanding the Mayor, Mr. Mistick directed the staff to be there. There must have been 20 major staff people there and I was a little bit taken aback. So, I want to thank them for doing that.

But it just brings the point that many of these organizations who appear at the hearings regarding the Planning Commission's six year plan, they should really reappear before City Council so that we can hear and learn from their valuable testimony and encourage those groups to once again appear during City Council's budget hearings November, December, both on the Capital Budget as well as on the Operating Budget.

My specific request regarding this issue though, Mr. Chairman, I raised it last year and I was roadblocked by Mr. Jacoby, the previous Executive Secretary, but one of the important evaluation tools that we have in Council, especially when we interview the various department directors, is the type of complaints that come into the City.

We all know from our offices many of those complaints. But we should have a monthly tally from the Mayor's Complaint Center regarding the name -- And I'm not asking for individual names of residents. I'm asking generally for some information from the Mayor's Complaint Center regarding the departments, the type of complaint, and I think we need to begin to review any of that information.

So, if there's any computer data base that they could give us regarding those complaints, I think it would serve each one of us, especially as Chairpeople of respective committees. I think it would be a good evaluation tool for us to look at specific problems and I'd like to see that information get to us before we interview various department directors.

I'm respectfully requesting through you, Mr. President, if we could please communicate to the Administration asking for that information regarding the type of complaints and the repetition of complaints and the response rate to complaints. All that information and all that hub of information is centered at the Mayor's Complaint Center. I think it would be important for us to review that information.

The Chair:

Mr. Ferlo, you have three requests. Number one, the legal response to the asphalt situation.

Mr. Ferlo:

On that, Mr. Chairman, I'm just reiterating a request to you if you could please communicate to the Administration asking for that information. We already passed a resolution; it's sort of old business.

But I am making a formal motion that we receive this information I've outlined from the Administration regarding the Mayor's Complaint Center. And that's in the form of a motion.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Let's clear the first one up first. We would like a response, Mr. Perry, within the next two weeks on the asphalt issue from the Law Department.

Secondly, we have Mr. Ferlo's motion to have an organized list of complaints that come into the Mayor's Complaint Center provided to Council. Do you want to designate a timeframe?

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like it prior to the start of the formal hearings with the department directors so they have four or five weeks to prepare that. It could be by month. It could be a combination of whatever data regarding the nature of the complaints.

The Chair:

A laundry list of the types of complaints in 1990 prior to our budget. Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

On that subject. I learned from being out on the campaign trail, as you know we just ran for district election for the first time, and when you go out to speak in the community and they say, "What have you ever done for us?" well, you know, we've done a lot of things but you can't remember. So, we started in our office to catalogue everything and computerize it and have a code. We can give you a printout on the number of water complaints City-wide that we've had in the office. We can give you a printout on the kind of complaints and what district we've had them from.

One of the things we learned, and I think it goes to the issue of the letter that I was so upset about in Planning, we've learned for example that out of the 600 complaints in the last year that we've recorded that were not minor complaints but that needed attention and we didn't direct them elsewhere and put them on our computer, one-third of them came from Mount Washington-Duquesne Heights because there are no Sam Tiglios, there's no organized group like Brookline or other places that really deals with citizen complaints. So, we've set about trying to make that correction.

But I think that I would not be opposed to getting that kind of material and I think that the Administration, if it hasn't already, might consider as the material comes in giving it a code number and just putting it in the computer so that if it isn't done for this year, at least we'll have it for next.

But I would think that if you're keeping those records in your own office, I would be willing to be $1,000 that our information only mirrors what is going into the Mayor's Complaint Center. What are we getting? We get complaints on potholes. We get complaints on abandoned houses. We get complaints on noise boxes. We get complaints on drugs. It's the same thing. You look at your own breakdown in your communities and I bet you it's like a poll. It would follow through that the Mayor's Complaint Center would be identical.

And who would like a break down from our office and our community which is really a microcosm of the City of Pittsburgh. That's what District 2 is because of the physical layout. We'll be happy to share that information if you don't get it anywhere else.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, just to clarify. I know the information that comes into my office.. That's not really the issue I'm raising. We don't direct the staff. We're not the Administration. We don't evaluate directors. We don't evaluate formen and supervisors.

There are many calls, and the one thing I always get upset about when I'm out in the field, is when somebody approaches me with something and it's usually six months after they've communicated it to the Mayor's Complaint Center.

So, I'm asking for a little bit of a different profile which I think would be a valuable tool as we go into the budget proceedings.

The Chair:

Is there any other discussion on that motion? All in favor? Opposed?

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

The Chair:

I'd like to follow up on that, Mr. Ferlo. As part of the Capital Budget hearings, the Planning Department provides Council with a list each year of all the requests made by the various community groups. I would like to request through the City Clerk that that list not only continue to be provided based on the testimony at that hearing, but it be broken down into districts this time so each Councilmember know what requests fall within their district. However, I still think all of us should receive the entire City's request.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, on the subject matter of the Capital Budget hearings, I've been informed by the City Clerk's Office because of work at the South Side Market House, tonight's meeting will be at Brashear Association, 20th and Sarah Streets, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Chair:

Thank you, Mr. Ricciardi.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President, I'd just like a little vote of confidence here for the Pittsburgh Pirates. They're going to be in town and they're coming down the home stretch and since Andy Van Slyke is from the same town as the illustrious Mr. Ferlo, I'd even like him to vote for it.

Mr. Ferlo:

Absolutely.

Mr. Cohen:

Here, here.

Mr. Regan:

So, let's have a vote and--

Michelle Madoff:

Can I vote for the ones that are absent?
Can I have three votes?

Mr. Regan:

So, I want to have a unanimous vote here for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Beat 'em Bucs and let's get 'em.

The Chair:

Let's go all the way.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Mr. Regan:

I'd also like to welcome Councilman Ferlo's brother to Pittsburgh. He was here earlier and we want to welcome him to the City. And anything we can show him in District 1, Councilman, we're available.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you, sir.

Mr. Cohen moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, September 11, 1990.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Cohen

Council adjourned.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on Bill 1338 regarding the approval for the construction of a canopy, an awning, a 7 foot long awning and stand pipes for Frenchy's Restaurant, I only want to point out to Council that this has already been constructed. So, I'm concerned a little bit about the process. Why are we approving something that's already up?

Obviously, again, there's a problem with a particular individual in Public Works. If we're being asked to approve something regarding a vacation of a street or whatever the issue is involving that department, we should get it in a timely fashion, not after the thing has already been constructed.

Also,

Bill No. 1339

itled, 'Schenley Park Plaza Trust Fund'."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 1361, which is not unusual, I was the sole dissenting, argumentative person about tearing up Schenley Park for the 75 parking spaces and eliminating the attractiveness of what we have there. As you know, you can't get through there now. It has gone on far longer than I anticipated. I opposed it, went along to be agreeable, but I am going to oppose it today.

Mr. Cohen:

Due to the urgency of that situation on Haverhill Street in Homewood, I would like to move that this become law upon the signature of the Mayor.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. President, I would like a letter to go from Council to PennDOT concerning Second Avenue between Hazelwood Avenue and Greenfield Avenue. It's a State maintained road and the State came out a few weeks ago and took off the first level and they haven't been back yet to repave it. So, I think if we could send a letter from Council to the local office, it might help to remedy the situation before winter comes upon us. That's a motion.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

In the same vein, Wyoming Street is scheduled under a Wallace Act for an emergency repair going from Grandview down to Burma Road. That strip of ground, the part past the Wyoming down turn, has been repaved temporarily, but the part leading to it has bumps in it about a foot high and it goes down about a half foot, then it goes up two feet. It has absolutely destroyed cars and people are starting to turn their bills in for misalignments. Business has been affected because people will not go up to the store on Boggs to buy their films because they will not take that road.

They are supposed to be repairing it. We need cooperation to put a water line in, which is what's holding it up. The gas line has already been put in. There was a problem with the gas line which has made the street even worse; it's a cobblestone. It is a disaster.

I would like a letter sent from this Council to please expedite repairing and coordinating the water line with the sewer line and with repaving and get it done tomorrow.

The Chair:

Sent to whom?

Michelle Madoff:

To Mr. Alex Sciulli, Dawn Botsford and Lou Gaetano. That's a motion.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, September 18, 1990.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Coyne

Council adjourned.

For the next resolution I would like to ask Father Bartoul, the Pastor of Our Lady of Victory Maronite Church in Brookline to please step forward along with Don Stich, Frank Joseph, and Yvonne Bors, the Chairperson of the upcoming convention.

The Chair presents

No. 1455 WHEREAS, the National

Apostolate of Maronites and Our Lady of Victory Maronite Church are co-sponsoring a Regional Convention for those of the Maronite Rite; and

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

Members of Council, it's an honor to present this resolution to Father Bartoul and those with him.

Our Lady of Victory Maronite Church is a beautiful little church nestled in the hills of Brookline, right off of Dunster Street. If none of you have ever been to a service there, I suggest you go. It is a very intimate experience with a great congregation and a great Pastor, Father Bartoul. We're pleased to have you here today and to welcome the Convention to the City of Pittsburgh.

Father Bartoul:

Good morning. Pittsburgh has a history, an honorable history, of honoring ethnic groups, special heritages, and when there was an opening for a new host for the Maronite National scene, we were unable to get that but we got the Regional which means from a four state area we get to pull in Maronites who honor the heritage, the customs, the traditions, of Catholics from the Middle East, to bring them to Pittsburgh, to let them see the City, to share in its sites, and also to allow the City of Pittsburgh to share in our customs and traditions, some of them dating back to the 4th Century.

So, in keeping in tune with this practice that Pittsburgh has of honoring different ethnic groups and heritages, we are delighted to be able to host this regional convention here in the great City of Pittsburgh. Thank you very much.

Mr. Darkins:

Churches always welcome here, Father. Churches always welcome.

The Chair presents

No. 1456 WHEREAS, October 6, 1990 is German-American Day; and

WHEREAS, Americans of German descent constitute the largest ethnic group in the United States of America, with more than 52 million Americans proudly proclaiming their German heritage; and

WHEREAS, German-Americans have, since the arrival of the first German immigrants in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on October 6,

1983, distinguished themselves by their loyalty to their new homeland, and their contributions to the culture and life of the United States of America, and have supported its democratic principles and have dedicated themselves to the promotion of freedom for all people everywhere; and

WHEREAS, the German-American Friendship Garden in Washington, D.C. stands as a symbol of the friendly relations between West Germany and the United States of America, and further evidences the continuing contributions of German Americans.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby proclaim October 6, 1990 as German-American Day in the City of Pittsburgh and calls upon all citizens of this City to acknowledge the contributions of German-Americans and to celebrate German-American Day.

This Resolution will authorize the condemnation of property located at 974-978 Liberty Avenue (Block 9-P, Lot 180). The property has been appraised and a letter offer was submitted to the owners. (REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MESSRS. FERLO AND WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 812, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1990)

Mr. Ferlo:

Motion to approve for purposes of discussion.

Mr. Chairman, I'll be very brief and try to summarize intent of this bill, the purpose and what the impact of this bill is.

This amendment is to the Zoning Code, Title Nine and it revises the text of Chapter 909 in one significant way and that is to remove the power and discretion that the Board of Adjustment has had for the last 25 years to determine the days and hours of operations of primarily what amounts to small businesses located in "A1" Commercial Districts of which there are about 20 commercial "A1" Districts around the city, three of which happen to be in my Council District #7.

The proposed amendment was unanimously approved by the Planning Commission as recommended unanimously by its subcommittee and I want to point out that the subcommittee on zoning matters to the Commission is chaired by Mr. Zottola the very individual the Mayor and this Council unanimously approved and appointed to Chair the Board of Adjustment. And it was their combined recommendation which gave unanimous approval to the recommended change on the revision that I will offer.

The need for this legislation as far as I am concerned is quite clear as evidenced by the public hearing testimony. The overwhelming majority of people who spoke at the public hearing who reside and or own property in the affected "A1" zone support this. There are people who live adjacent to this zone, residential individuals, who oppose it and they testified very clearly what their concerns are, concerns which I sympathize with and I want to speak about.

The practices of the Board of Adjustment which has been the impetus for this revision, as far as I'm concerned those past practices and I've characterized them as being unfair, they've been unreasonable, they're contradictory, they're inequitable, they're lacking in consistency, they're time consuming for the small businessperson and they're a detriment to the viability of these commercial corridors.

We have had 25 years of the "A1" zone classification with this limitation of the hours issue and I think it's about time after two decades that we do some sole searching and re-evaluation of the impact of the original intention in creating the "A1" zone.

I want to point out to Council that unlike every other zone in the Municipal Code, there are no permitted uses whatsoever in these business districts that we've classified as "A1". Every single use, every alteration, erection, enlargement of structures in the "A1" District must be approved by the Board of Adjustment and the Board as far as I'm concerned because I sympathize with the criticisms and concerns that have been raised by residents, that I remind Council that I've changed nothing in the Ordinance and that the Board currently has very broad powers and has broad latitude to determine detrimental effect. If there are adjoining property owners, if there are residents, if there are neighborhood-based organizations who oppose any business in an "A1" and an intended use, they have very powerful instruments at their disposal to wage a campaign against the Board granting the use of that property and I would point in the Ordinance to the paragraph which talks about the power that the Board has to not approve the use of that building or any alteration. And it talks about a detrimental effect being the nature of the business or the physical structure and the quality of that structure, the emission of fumes and noise and traffic and glaring lights. There are any number of categories in which one can oppose rightfully so an obnoxious business and that power is not being changed or taken away from the Board of Adjustment.

In the three years that I've been on Council I have battled a number of onerous businesses. I've probably, more so than any other Councilmember has been before the Board of Adjustment, the Planning Commission and Housing Court for the last three years and even before that and 99 percent of the cases I've been to, they're waging a battle on behalf of residential interests against an onerous business. So I haven't all of a sudden gone out of my mind or gained insanity; it's a question of what's fair and reasonable and I would point to the testimony of some of the individuals. The individual businessman who owns the bookstore on Walnut Street and some of the other people and I'm saying that we've had 25 years of inequitable decision making and downright unfair decisions and we should remove the power that the Board has to institute hours and days of operation while safeguarding the power that the Board has to determine detrimental effect and impact and not strip them of the power to get rid of obnoxious businesses.

If we approve this today and I will be the first to draft up a document and hopefully other Councilmembers would support it, I think what we would really have is a change in our urban city, in our urban centers around the neighborhood business districts in the last three decades. We have obnoxious businesses and they're not peculiar to "A1". In Liberty Avenue in Bloomfield, there's a battle with an AM/PM mini-mart and in other places it might be an all-night pizza shop, it may be a smoke shop on Carson Street. The way to handle that is that the police should be involved. In the case of other places it should be a consideration of going back to the Board to oppose its use in the first place but what we should do is amend all three of the business zones: "C3", "C1" -- but the problem is to amend the Code for all three of those business districts to deal with problem businesses, all night convenience stores and pizza shops and video joints and things of this nature.

So I would ask consideration for this legislation and Mr. Chairman, I would like to amend by substitution which is in line with the Planning Commission's recommendation.

The Chair:

We technically have the original bill on the table.

Mr. Ferlo:

The motion is to amend by substitution which is the amendment then would be in line with the approval from the Planning Commission.

Mr. Wagner:

Second.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

We're dealing with Mr. Ferlo's substitution.

Mr. Ferlo:

The substitution amendment is in line with the Planning Commission because it's not my interest in opposing the opinion of the Commission or the Board of Adjustment Committee but just so we're clear, the fundamental thing that I had included initially which is not under debate now has to do with the Board's ability to at least make an inquiry about the hours and days of operations. So in other words in approving my amendment today, a citizen's group or an opposing property owner has the power to raise objections to the Board to show detrimental effect by questioning the hours of operation or the days of operation.

So I've not precluded the power of someone to object and to show why a business would be detrimental due to the hours of operation. I'm only removing the power of the Board to set and determine the days and hours of operation.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Chairman and Members of Council, I agree with this Ordinance and I have been on Council and I have listened to complaints from business districts throughout the city for years.

Going back a couple years ago we were faced with an extremely embarrassing situation around Christmastime in the Shadyside district where certain store owners were permitted to be open on days and evenings in similar stores that sold the exact same products we're not, to the point where people in the Building Inspection area were out there actually citing store owners because they remained opened when the Zoning Board of Adjustment said they were not permitted to be open.

The law is not equal the way it is today and if want growth from a business point of view in this city, if we want neighborhood business districts to flourish as a focal point within a neighborhood just as the Downtown we want to flourish as a focal business district within the city, we have to let businesses be competitive with each other. Not only with each other in terms of being within the business district itself which today is unfair, but also with other business districts that may border that neighborhood and quite frankly today that does not exist.

(AT THIS POINT I WAS TEMPORARILY RELIEVED BY HELEN L. KRIEBEL)

MARY ANNE HRUSKA
STENOTYPE REPORTER

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 812-Wednesday, 9/26/90)

Mr. Wagner:

I want to clarify in response to Councilman Cohen. The problem in that district and in all "A-1" districts is not just at Christmas time; it is a continuous uncompetitive position of businesses in the city. In talking about Shadyside, because that has been the focal point of this legislation, there is now a new mall under construction in Swissvale that will have similar shops to those in Shadyside and will be open at times when shops in Shadyside are not permitted to be opened, I should state. Consequently, the business and the taxes gained from that business to this city will be lost, will be sent directly out of this city. We have a declining tax base in the City of Pittsburgh, and every single Councilmember knows that. If we want to be able to provide social programs, rehab ball fields, redo streets, we need dollars coming into this city that come from wage tax and business taxes and property taxes. We enhance property values with this legislation, we enhance the value of those stores in Shadyside, we enhance the value of that entire neighborhood and every other single neighborhood in the City of Pittsburgh.

Now, do we sometimes create a minor inconvenience for certain stores? Possibly, yes. I think Councilman Ferlo has indicated that there are ways to address that in other forms of legislation. But the real problem is, are we a progressive city or are we a dying city in terms of revenues coming into it and creating a business climate? I personally think that we have to be going in a positive direction, not one like Philadelphia, where revenues are declining each and every year because they create a negative business climate. We have to create a positive business climate in this city in order for revenues to increase, more businesses to want to locate here and more people to want to live here.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel, Stenotype Reporter)

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to thank Council for their consideration in reviewing this issue and I'd like to work to continue to look at the A-1 issue, especially the other business districts where we have concerns about nuisance and problem businesses. Thank you.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I don't want to repeat the remarks that I made last week but I do want to say -- Well, let me begin by saying that Councilman Ferlo is perhaps the most vigilant advocate of neighborhood protection before the Zoning Board, but I disagree with him on this bill.

I think that A-1 districts are very unique and special areas. They are not commercial areas which deserve great freedom to compete for customers and they're not completely residential areas which deserve complete protection from commercial interference. They're both. And because they're both, the Zoning Board calls them an integrated intermixture of residential and commercial uses. And because of that special characteristic, I think that a balance has to be struck between those two competing entities. And allowing for unrestricted commercial hours in A-1 districts would unduly tip that balance against the residents. It would not only create increased traffic and congestion and noise, but also the inability of residents who live near A-1 districts to be able to park at their houses.

Several people have said that we need to stimulate economic development in Pittsburgh and nobody believes that more than I do. We have to. But in these special districts, and there are relatively few in the City of Pittsburgh, we have to also remember that this City has lost over half of its population in the last 30 years. And we can't take actions that will make residents leave the City. And when there is that competition between economic development and protecting the residents, I think we have to fall on the side of protecting the residents. And for that reason, I'm voting against this bill.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I'm sure, as other Members of Council realize, this has been one of the toughest issues, although maybe not one of the sexiest issues but one of the toughest ones we've had to deal with here in Council.

On the surface it appears to pit the interest of certain neighborhoods against the interest of the City as a whole and it also seems to deal with trying to get rid of the unfair disadvantage that many of our merchants in the City have in comparison to those who are maybe located in the suburbs and suburban malls. It has been, I think, portrayed as one where we have to go with either one side is going to win or another, and I don't believe that necessarily is true.

I believe that a common ground can be reached and one which meets the needs of the City, the merchants and the neighborhoods. But to do this, we need to amend the entire Zoning Code for all business areas, the C-3s, the C-1s and the A-1s. This change must deal with all businesses which are thought to be nuisance businesses to establish an approval process for the Board of Adjustments on how and when these are allowed to operate.

After speaking with yourself, Mr. Wagner, and Mr. Ferlo and with the Administration, I received assurances that we will actively move to make these amendments in the Zoning Code and to make it more equitable for the business owners and make the communities have more input into what businesses are coming into their neighborhoods.

And with these commitments in mind, I will be changing my vote. I voted last week against Mr. Ferlo's proposal and this week I will be voting in favor of it.

Michelle Madoff:

I think what we're doing is throwing the baby out with the bath water. When people came and testified and they were unjustly treated, somebody was discriminated who sold books and somebody else was allowed to stay open, I think you correct the inequities. You don't impact the community by passing what I think is bad legislation. I don't want to repeat what my colleague, Mr. Cohen has said, but I agree with everything he said.

Mr. Regan:

I would just like to say that it looks like the little flower has another big victory here in Council. If there ever was a guy that I liked and if there ever was anybody I really liked working with, it's Councilman Ferlo.

But I think in tough issues like this you just have to pull your drawers up a little higher and vote the way that you think you should vote, and I'm going to vote against it.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Obviously, Mr. President, I'm very disappointed. I see some of the votes changing today and it appears the bill might pass. And not to be redundant on some of my past comments of last week, I just don't believe it's inconsistent to have a business have different store hours within different parts of the City of Pittsburgh. I just believe that the A-1 section was created as a unique district looking at the abutting property owners and the abutting residential district.

So, I would be voting against the bill because I believe it's very important for the residents and for the rest of the community to have an impact on the hours that would be in their neighborhoods on a certain business.

The Chair:

I think some Councilmembers' concerns are genuine, such as Mr. Coyne's and the hours, but I think that pertains to all zones, 24-hour convenience stores that are a nuisance to a neighborhood, whether it be a C-1 zone or an A-1 zone or whatever it may be. And I agree; I think that needs to be addressed. However, I also think that the bookstore or the beauty salon that is not permitted to be open when others are permitted to be open, is truly unfair.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Bill No. 1453

Report of the Committee on Public Safety for September 26, 1990 transmitting one ordinance to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 1237

An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance supplementing and amending the Pittsburgh Code, Title Six, 'Conduct', Article I, 'Regulated Rights and Actions', Chapter 601, 'Public Order', by regulating the distribution or sale of cigarettes and other tobacco products through vending machines, with certain exceptions, and by providing penalties for the violation thereto." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, no doubt you all read the article in the paper that says, "Enforcement of Cigarette Law Low Priority". Well, that is not true.

It appears that the Director of BBI, Mr. Cimino, was misinformed, and he was correct in saying that he could not put it as his priority but it is indeed the high priority of the Administration. I've spoken with them and they intend to have some form of enforcement. Furthermore, I spoke with them only this morning as I was arriving and they are not at all concerned about the lawsuits. They believe that the City can deal with that adequately.

I do want to point out in research in my office with reference to the letter you all received yesterday, the hand delivered letter with reference to restricting vending machines in the City of Pittsburgh from a Leslie and Joseph Cordova of the vending machine interest, let me point out, as my staff has researched, the inclines, subways and video arcades use tokens, so machines can be retooled. And when they claim a due process argument, it was thrown out in other states where vending machines were banned in Utah and Minnesota.

Now, it would seem to me that the threat by some of the vendors that they would take all the cigarette machines out of the City is an idle threat. No one gives up the ability to make money when there are machines that they can have.

And my colleague, Mr. Ferlo, amended my original bill to say that we should be reasonable and let those machines stay where they are not easily accessible to minors. This is not my bill anymore. If there is any problem with this, next year I will introduce my bill.

If nothing else happens, at least I've raised the consciousness of people that we do not want our kids on those cancer sticks, on coffin nails.

I also might want to point out that it is indeed now the Administration's bill. We can still introduce my bill next year, but I think we have to show good faith by voting for this bill today because the Administration's bill is tougher than mine. If they feel they can enforce a tougher bill, why should we stop them if we care about our kids?

In the paper this week there was an article, "Black Smokers Urged To Fight For Lives In Warfield By Profit". It was an article by Matthew Smith and I'd like to read something from it. I'm sure that my colleague, Mr. Darkins, is heavily involved in this. He has been on the committees.

It talks about "The Black community will not begin to win the war against smoking and cancer until it realizes that the problem is not the smokers but the companies that make the cigarettes", a cancer researcher said. "The problem is that the tobacco industry places a higher value on profit than the quality and value of life."

That's what we're all about. We're saying, let's take the first step here today, support the Administration's bill, and let's get on with it.

I want to say something else. I've been doing a lot of thinking about this issue of the small little vendor who is going to be hurt. Close your eyes and visualize a small mom and pop store. And you go into this mom and pop store and you see a vending machine. You're parking your car outside and you just want to get the cigarettes and run. Now, as was stated here the other day by Terry Woodcock, let's assume that people are basically good people, especially people who live in a neighborhood and constantly frequent the mom and pop stores. They're not going to steal cigarettes. So let's deal in the real world.

If you go in and you buy the cigarettes and you run out, you don't buy anything else. But if you go into the mom and pop store and you have to wait while one or two people are there, cause they're not inundated with customers, you might buy something else, or two or three things, and help the mom and pop store.

So, while I love Mr. Ricciardi deeply, I disagree with him on that issue. I think it's a red herring and let's get on with it and vote for this bill and take one step forward in the right direction.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I initially had supported Councilwoman Madoff's proposal for the banning of the cigarette machines and my position on that still remains the same. However, my disagreement comes with the fact that we're expecting Building Inspection to do a sort of policing action on these machines.

I don't know about the rest of Council, but my office is called daily with vacant buildings, with vacant lots, and the building inspectors, along with having to take care of vending, have these buildings and these lots to take care of. And I think we're stretching the workforce to an unnecessary capacity. And as long as that amendment which was added last week is in place, I cannot support this bill.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I think this is a well-intentioned bill. I never smoked cigarettes in my life and it breaks my heart to see young people starting up early, as early as 8, 9, 10 years old smoking cigarettes. I think it's a well-intentioned bill but I think it's bad legislation for a number of different reasons.

First of all, it lacks uniformity. Every single bill that I have participated in in the last three years and the track record of Council in passing legislation, we deal uniformly with an issue. In this instance, we're discriminating against that small businessperson or entrepreneur that happens to use a vending machine as opposed to the continued practice that will be maintained, and that is the over the counter sales of cigarettes to young people.

Secondly, we are establishing a prohibition-like mentality, for those of you who are older than me and probably remember the prohibition period, maybe Mr. Regan does. But the problem is that we are establishing a prohibition-like mentality. And as Mr. Cohen pointed out last week, on our children's playgrounds and schoolyards across the City we're going to have a situation, and I can see it, where the little bully and the little older and the little stronger person is going to be out there hustling tokens for a profit. And if we don't think that's going to happen, I think we're misguided and misinformed about some of the activities of our young people.

Secondly, the main reason why I'm so concerned in having originally supported the bill is the issue of enforcement. We know for a fact, and let's not fool anybody, Building Inspection Department deals reactively to complaints. It doesn't deal proactively. Once people barrage the Mayor's Complaint Center or Councilmembers' offices, or what have you, BBI goes into gear and goes into action. And we're going to have a situation because there are many people out there who are strong advocates on the issue of smoking, and rightfully so. And they will be inundating BBI with complaints. And BBI will have a responsibility and I think they will indicate, I heard Mr. Cimino on a radio show in the last week, that they will react to those complaints.

So, opportunity calls here. We have limited personnel, limited opportunities to deal with vacant lots, litter, license enforcement, code enforcement, condemned buildings and all those problems. Now we've added one more group of activities, and an activity that is actually going to be much more complicated. It's not as simple as just filing a complaint and BBI is going to issue an instant citation because most store owners and most people who are going to be found guilty of something are going to appeal this and it's going to take up time in Housing Court. This is not a simple thing of somebody getting a citation for $300 and not object to it with an attorney and tie up the Housing Court and everything else.

So, I have a real concern, obviously, regarding that issue also.

And unlike every other law that we pass regarding enforcement, we collect a fee for it.

And we don't have a fee for this. When we enforce every other license, every other Building Code requirement, we establish a fee that a citizen or an entrepreneur must pay, and that helps to pay for the enforcement mechanism. No such fee has been proposed or even collected or thought of in regards to this enforcement.

So, for all those reasons, I'm voting no, although obviously it's a well-intentioned and worth goal.

Mr. Regan:

I think the bottom line here is whether they want the parent to spank the kid or whether they want the school teacher to spank the kid. Are they interested in children? Are they interested in kids smoking cigarettes? Are they worried about tokens? Are they worried about the prohibition that happened 100 years ago?

I'm saying that we have to do something to protect and help these kids and we're not going to do it by sitting here and arguing about tokens and arguing about who is going to be the enforcer.

I personally think that the Building Inspection people do a good job. They're understaffed, they're undermanned, and they have a lot of things to do. I think they've done a good job with what they've had to work with so far and I think they'll do a good job here. At least it's a start. It's a start to help little boys and little girls and if they're not interested in doing that, then let them vote no. Let them put it on the Record.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. President, I serve on the Heart Foundation Board and also the Cancer Society Board and as the President of Clean Lung in the Homewood Brushton area, and it's now reaching all over the City of Pittsburgh, I can well see the ideology for cigarette smoking. It's a very dangerous thing. It's a thing that is killing people with lung cancer, heart disease and so forth.

I can't even conceive within my mind of thinking that this would bring some type of turmoil on the Bureau of Building Inspection for their inspectors to do what they're doing in citing properties, or whatever it is, along with stopping at various stores. I can't see where this would entangle or bring a heavy workload. And if they're going to need more people, budget time is coming and we could put more people on.

I think we're moving in the right direction and that's why I'm for this bill and I'm going to vote yes for it.

Michelle Madoff:

I was trying to be brief but it's obvious that I cannot be, so I'm going to be lengthy. This is not funny; this is very serious business. I really am very disappointed and I'll tell you what I'm really disappointed in. If we have ever seen a Council that has been more responsible than this one, I don't remember it. And I do not believe I have ever seen a Council work so well with the Administration, which has benefitted the community. And I want to talk a little bit later about some things that have happened between Councilmembers and the Administration.

But one thing that hasn't changed, and I plead with you, gentlemen, don't turn off in your minds when you hear a female voice. Let me tell you what I'm talking about. You're going like this, Mr. Coyne, shaking your head. The very first thing I said today when I wanted to be brief about the bill was to say that the Administration is committed to enforcement. And if you read the bill, it doesn't say BBI, it says Public Safety. And I believe it will be taken out of BBI.

But let's assume it stays with BBI. What difference does it make if the Administration hires two people and puts it in BBI or two people and they put it in Undercover Narcs to inspect at random. We're not talking about hiring an army, if the media is listening. We're not hiring an army that is going to be disruptive and costly to the public. We're talking about the same way they investigate the IRA. It's random checking and it puts the fear of God in the people who are violating the law. They're not going to go out every day to every house. If you have two young people who are of age that can work for the City to wear a pair of jeans and walk into a place and watch and observe our children being cancer sticks, they will report that. And I think anyone hiding behind "we don't want to make it difficult for the taxpayers" ought to remember that the cost on society and the cost to all of us is astronomical.

I just had a little illness which wasn't so little, it was major, and I was in the hospital for three weeks. I wasn't going to talk about this but I get emotional. I just got my bill from Blue Cross, Blue Shield, Major Medical, and it was over $50,000. What would people do and what do people do who don't have this kind of protection?

I'm going to read something to you.

"All win law. Everybody wins with this ordinance except those who profit from criminal cigarette sales to children. This ordinance is pro-health, pro-child and pro-law enforcement. The City is getting serious about reducing the most prevalent form of illegal drug pushing to our kids, and that's cigarettes.

Cost effective law. For a small, one-time cost to the City, kids' most reliable source of cigarettes, accounting for 75,000 packs annually, will be eliminated.

Precedent already set. Pittsburgh will now join 60 municipalities and two states, Utah and Minnesota, that have enacted this essential pro-health and pro-child legislation. Are we any less concerned about our kids than other states and other communities?

Legally sound. Although lawsuits have been threatened in each location, these laws have withstood every court challenge. In July, a federal judge upheld the Utah state law which totally banned machines except in bars.

Big city leadership. Pittsburgh will become the first major City to do this demonstrating our national leadership. Philadelphia and Erie City Councilmembers have recently expressed interest in passing this type of legislation in their cities.

Vendors should be thankful. Liquor and prescription drugs cannot legally be sold in vending machines, but the vending machine companies don't complain about those laws, do they? They should thank Mayor Masloff, and Michelle Madoff, I might add, for offering a compromising bill that would permit the option of tokens to be used.

Whose responsibility? City officials shouldn't blame kids for smoking when adult vendors put machines where kids have easy access and the City hasn't enforced the current state laws.

Other drugs comparisons. Nicotine kills 20,000 Pennsylvanians each year, while heroin, cocaine and all other illegal drugs combined kill about 400. If the City can spend hundreds of thousands of dollars trying to prevent a handful of deaths from illegal drugs, the City can spend a couple of thousand dollars trying to prevent thousands of deaths from the deadliest drug."

And I hope that Secretary Sullivan and whoever is the appropriate person in the State of Pennsylvania starts to introduce legislation to do just what Mr. Ferlo said, which is the next step, have a licensing fee and let's license the sale of tobacco as we do the sale of alcohol. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, first of all, given the issue involved and the vending machines are licensed by the State, I think proper enforcement should be by State government and Federal authorities. They should enforce what is a State and Federal law regarding underage people purchasing cigarettes, be it over the counter or the vending machines. If they did a little enforcement, we wouldn't have to discuss this bill before us today.

Now I'm even more alarmed because, if I understand my colleague, Michelle, she's now saying that it may not be BBI going out to do the enforcement; it may actually be the Police Department. Now I'm getting more gray hair than I already have. Narcs. Now we're going to have narcs and the police out running around the City regarding the smoking vending machines.

The reason why now my blood is starting to boil, in addition to my hair getting grayer, I can take you on any given day, especially this Sunday and I'd like to ask my colleagues to join me on Butler Street, where you will see open drug sales at the AmVets, in front of Sharps Bar, in front of Michael's Bar, and two other places. And if I'm going to go back to my district and say that Council's priority was to have police running around doing smoking vending machine enforcement as opposed to drug sales and a lot of other things that I don't have time to talk about, then I think we all need our heads examined.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President and Members of Council, I think we all would agree, even Michelle would agree, that this bill is far from perfect. It has undergone many forms and I think that personally I liked the original bill best.

But, I also have concerns that I expressed on Wednesday about a black market developing for tokens. That is a concern. I think we need to come back and review. If this bill does pass today, and it looks like it will, I think, we should go back and review in a year or so whether that has happened, whether a black market for vending machine tokens has developed.

But, we have an obligation, a responsibility to protect the health and safety of our citizens. And I was convinced at the public hearing, which was now several months ago, that of the people who die from lung cancer due to cigarettes, the vast majority of them start smoking when they're adolescents. And a very significant portion of adolescents who smoke get their cigarettes from vending machines. That's what it comes down to. And in my view, it's worth taking the risk on some of the concerns that we have to protect the health and safety of those people, especially, more than anybody else, our children.

So, I want to congratulate Michelle for bringing this to Council and, even though it has undergone many different forms, I still think that it's a good bill and we should vote for it.

Mr. Regan:

I just can't believe when we're trying to protect children and young people here, that who as the enforcement officer would change anybody's vote. Maybe we ought to hire the Little Sisters of the Poor over on the North Side that help the elderly. Maybe they could use a little money to enforce this law. I think it's ridiculous who is going to enforce it. I think you're trying to help young people and, whoever enforces it, we should be behind 100 percent.

I agree with Councilman Cohen that this law isn't perfect by any means and we will fine tune it to be in the best interest of the City of Pittsburgh. But I think it's a good start and I think whoever enforces it will be a good start. Thank you.

The Chair:

It appears to me as if the bill is passing, with the votes here. I think we should have a follow-up report from the Director of Public Safety as to how the bill is being enforced three and six months down the road.

Mr. Ferlo:

Ask them about drug enforcement too.

The Chair:

That obviously is a commitment of Public Safety.

But I think Councilwoman Madoff made a good point that the majority of young people are women who are smoking today. Even though the bill doesn't truly address the problem with young men which is chewing tobacco, which is even worse, and I haven't seen that in machines as of yet, I still think that the bill will, over the long haul, save a few lives in the City of Pittsburgh. It's a good bill.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, just one point that I forgot. Do you know what week this is? Isn't this the week that the President and the world is looking at saving our children? Isn't it a coincidence that this bill would come up now?

Mr. Milliones:

Call the question, Mr. President.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen	Mr. Milliones
Mr. Darkins	Mr. Regan
Michelle Madoff	Mr. Wagner
	(Pres't)

AYES 6 NOES 3

VOTING NO:

Mr. Coyne	Mr. Ricciardi
Mr. Ferlo

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the bill passed finally.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, as I mentioned earlier, I think it's really refreshing that after 12 years I have observed, and many of my colleagues have, that there seems to be a greater cooperation between the Administration and this Council, and more is happening that is good for the public.

You know, we've all been reading about what the Administration is doing about billboards and how they're finding these billboards suddenly that we haven't collected our dollars for. But let me remind everybody who brought that to the attention of this Council.

It was only when we were presented with a negotiated agreement with Patrick Media with the settlement that research was done by my good friend, Mr. Ricciardi. And thanks to Mr. Ricciardi pointing out the fact that there were billboards in communities that were not collecting taxes, even though our law says that they should be taxed, the Administration picked up the ball and ran with it. But it initiated with the work and research from Mr. Ricciardi.

I just want to point out how it gets triggered here, the Administration picks it up, and something meaningful happens. I think it's important that we point out who really is helping to get some of these things done.

On another matter. We've all been listening to the new budget that is being proposed in Washington and I am outraged, and I hope my colleagues are, that we're going to balance the budget on the backs of senior citizens and Social Security. The bill is going to be going into the Congress and I think it's important that we send a letter to our Legislator saying, please, do not proceed in this manner.

As I stated before, medical bills are killers; senior citizens are not fully covered. Many of our senior citizens live only on the small pittance they get from Social Security and I'd like to make that in the form of a motion that we send a letter, get it signed by all Members of Council and get it out immediately because we don't have much time.

The Chair:

Stating specifically what?

Michelle Madoff:

Stating specifically that we're opposed to the part of the budget which will balance the budget by really hitting up the senior citizens. You know, there's a big lobbying attack by the ARCS and by senior citizens and I'd like to support it as a senior citizen.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

Would we have a wonderful letter drafted or do you want my office to do it, Mike? Do you want to draft the letter? Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Two things, very briefly, Mr. Chairman. I'm happy to be asked and helping to convene an organizing effort to establish a First Annual Halloween Parade and Trick or Treat Night in the Lawrenceville community. It's a community-wide event that I've helped to spearhead with the support of the Boys and Girls Club and Citizens Council and the Lawrenceville Block Watch Network and Arsenal Board of Trade and all the different groups in Lawrenceville.

It's going to take place on Friday, October 26th. It's a parade that's going to be two-pronged; it's going to start at two different locations and meet in the middle at the Boys and Girls Club. It's going to kick off at St. Augustine's at one end of the neighborhood and at St. Kieran's at the other end, meeting in the middle at the Boys and Girls Club for Trick or Treat Night.

If there are any folks listening who would like to still volunteer, our Planning Meeting is tomorrow evening at 7:00 at the Boys and Girls Club in Lawrenceville. A lot of neighborhood excitement has been generated for the parade and I hope to encourage participation.

Secondly, and very briefly, Mr. Chairman, I'm pleased to announce some follow-up progress we've been making on the Equitable Gas Company rate increase.

As Council is aware, I brought this to Council's attention earlier this year. Equitable Gas Company filed with the Public Utility Commission for a $29.5 million rate hike. It amounted to be about a 10.4 percent rate hike. My office filed opposition papers to the case. We convinced the City of Pittsburgh, the Solicitor, to file as well as other State-wide organizations including the Consumer Advocate to file.

There is a preliminary recommendation from the Administrative Law Judge who formulates a recommendation to the full Commission and I'm pleased to indicate at this point that this particular Administrative Law Judge has rejected the notion of a $29.5 million rate hike and he is proposing, rather, that only a 5.7 percent increase or a $16.3 million increase be allowed and recommended to the Commission, who ultimately must vote on this.

In addition, he rejected something that many of the citizens that came out to Council Chambers before the Commission were concerned about, and that was that Equitable Gas wanted to charge a higher rate for the gas during the winter months as opposed to throughout the year and the Judge flatly rejected that notion.

So, on a preliminary basis, I think it's a fair and reasonable review. And to quote the Law Judge, he said that the proposed rate hikes he found to be unjust, unreasonable, and therefore, unlawful.

So, I guess I'm asking the citizens who are listening to this discussion, there are still several weeks of review by the Commission and I would encourage residents, especially Equitable Gas ratepayers, to write to the Commission individually and collectively to, again, indicate your opposition to what amounted to be a very unfair rate hike by Equitable Gas Company. And those letters should go out in the next couple of months. If you need to know the members of the Commission, their addresses, you can call my office at 255-2140 and receive that information. Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

I called Mr. Ferlo's office this morning, by the way, and got the Lotto numbers. Is that going to be changed?

Mr. Ferlo:

It's 36-FERLO. You can still dial that, Mr. Regan.

Mr. Regan:

Okay.

I'd like to congratulate the owners, managers and Jim Leyland and the Pirate players for a great job well done and I want to wish them well in the Series and hope that Pittsburgh wins the World Series and the Play-offs coming up with Cincinnati.

The Chair:

Thank you, Mr. Regan, and I'd like to add to that that I'd like to congratulate the residents of the City of Pittsburgh that are one-half the owner of the Pirates because they have really stuck with that team and promoted it more than ever.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think we should buy one of those $20 banners, Mr. Chairman, for Council Chambers.

The Chair:

It appears as if the public-private buy-out, more than ever today, was the right thing to do.

Mr. Cohen:

Here, here.

Mr. Cohen moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, September 25, 1990.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Regan

Council adjourned.

Municipal Record

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-SIXTH COUNCIL

JACK WAGNER President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk

PRESENT:

MR. COHEN	MR. MILLIONES
MR. COYNE	MR. REGAN
MR. DARKINS	MR. RICCIARDI
MR. FERLO	MR. WAGNER
MICHELLE MADOFF	(Pres't)

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Mr. Milliones seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'm very honored to be sponsoring the proclamation. In the last couple of years, I've gotten a lot more active with this organization, the Boys and Girls Club, and it's a very exciting organization that, in my opinion, is experiencing a rebirth in the Lawrenceville community.

One of the programs that I have been really impressed with is the SMART MOVES organization. I spoke there at their Day Camp a couple of weeks ago. There were over 80 or 90 young people. In fact, Dr. Milliones' nephew is a participant in the program. It's a very exciting, very innovative program to educate young people about the hazards of drugs and alcohol. Council has been supportive in the past of this program and I hope next year that we'll be supportive in the future.

April is certainly a shining light in the organization and she is somewhat of an international jetsetter and a goodwill ambassador for the program. She has been all around the country and it's my understanding that she might be going to Europe.

I'd like to introduce, to my left, April Wierzbowski, the honoree. We also are joined here today by Marcia Zerler who is the Senior Vice President of the Boys and Girls Club. We have a friend here of April's, Michele Pallio. We have Dolly Barie who is the Director of Public Relations at the Boys and Girls Club. And we're very honored with some of the family members of April here today; we have Kathleen Wierzbowski, April's mother, and we're also honored to have Robert Erdelcjac who is the grandfather, and we're even more honored to have Margaret Veselic who is the great-grandmother.

So, at this time I'd like to introduce April Wierzbowski and thank Members of Council.

Ms. Wierzbowski:

I'd just like to thank everyone for recognizing me and I hope you continue to give your support to the Boys and Girls Club so other kids can have the chances that I've always had. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

By the way, she's from North Catholic, Baldy.

We also have Marcia here from the Boys and Girls Club, Executive Vice-President.

Ms. Zerler:

Just a moment to thank Council for recognizing April because, in effect, by recognizing April you're recognizing the Boys and Girls Club and all the work that we do for the youth in the community.

Your support and believe in the Boys and Girls Club will go a long way, particularly in supporting our SMART MOVES program, which is our drug and alcohol prevention program for youth 8-15. Thank you.

Mr. Milllones moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to have Ms. Bryant and her family come up here. We're going to honor today one of the outstanding educators in the whole United States and I'm lucky enough to be the one to do it.

I hope you don't mind me wearing my Green Weenie today. We need all the help we can get over there.

I'd like to honor Ms. Bryant here today. She's not only a very attractive woman but she's a very, very outstanding teacher.

And Mark Brinkley, if you don't come up here I'm going to have you arrested. This is one of our leaders on the North Side, Mark Brinkley. Come on up here. Where's Franco? Come on up here, Franco. Another North Side leader.

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

I thought they were sisters but this is mother and daughter. Linda, would you do us the honor of saying a few words?

Ms. Bryant:

To our Honorable Members of City Council, good morning.

I would first of all like to give thanks to God for making this all possible, and then thanks to each and every one of you. I am honored to be recognized for my achievements in the teaching field.

One of the greatest inspirations in my life has been the 19 years that I have spent teaching the young citizens of Pittsburgh. Your recognition of me today will inspire me to greater heights to continue to teach and encourage our youth so that they will be able to master the challenges that they face as they become the future leaders of this great City.

I thank you for the support you have given our City and our school system, and I especially would like to thank Dr. Milliones for the leadership he has given us that resulted in the national recognition that our school system has received.

As I move to the national forefront in education, I do so with the pride of being a Pittsburgher. It is with this Pittsburgh pride that I know together we can make a difference in the lives of our children.

Once again, I thank you and may God continue to bless each and every one of you as you go about your task of continuing to make Pittsburgh that No. 1 City. Thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

Now you see why they named the North Side the No. 1 District.

Michelle Madoff:

Can we put you the a Xerox?

Could I have the Fire Prevention people up here, please?

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Chief Dickinson:

President Wagner, Members of Council, having come from this morning about 4:00, it started somewhere around 2:30, another 4-alarm fire, let me tell you, the presence of fire is still among us in this City.

If you recall last year, we had rather a grim message at this time of the year. From our perspective, particularly these three gentlemen I'll introduce in a moment, things were not being well attended to by the public with fire safety education. Perhaps the hardest sell in this country is what fire safety education is all about.

But for a change of pace, we're going to talk for a few short minutes some positive things about what has occurred over the past year, and there has been a lot of positive things. These three gentlemen standing to my left may not look like heroes to you, but they are in my eyes because they have one of the most difficult jobs that anyone can have, and that's education in fire safety and enforcement of the Code, the Fire Code particularly.

On my immediate left, Captain Robert Freel deals on a day to day basis with Code enforcement issues in the City. A very sensitive job.

On his immediate left is Captain Richard Cunningham who heads up our Fire Education Program throughout the City.

On the far left is Lieutenant Robert Walker who coordinates on a day to day basis one of the most successful company inspection programs that I can't rave high enough about.

The success that we've experienced this year, I want to give you two pieces of information. At the end of 1989 we lost 23 people in this City, primarily infants, young children and the elderly. This year to date, and I'm almost afraid to say this as we have literally two and a half months to go, our fire deaths are at six. That's a tremendous difference. We know in our business that it can be a cycle, that it can go up and down. We realize that.

But we are beginning to believe that the public is finally beginning to hear something. We hope it's us. We're not sure. We'd like to take credit for it. We hope and pray that's the case.

The other part of the good news is with the lower fire deaths there's lower fire injuries, those debilitating injuries that last a lifetime. Remember, a broken bone you recover from; a major burn injury you live with for the rest of your life.

So those are good news. But perhaps the most important thing that I wanted to share with you this morning is an article that I am immensely proud of. There is a leader in the fire service known as the National Fire Protection Association, the NFPA. We just received this September 24th. I won't bore you with the cover page but it's submittals by fire departments all over the country on successful education programs. We have a star among us. Let me read to you:

"Jennifer Warrick, Pittsburgh, PA. When Jennifer awakened at 2:30 a.m. to the smell of smoke, she knew she had to take action to alert her parents.

Though heavy smoke filled the house, all five members of the family managed to escape safely and dial 911 as the smoke detectors began to sound. Responding firefighters quickly located the fire inside the wall behind the living room fireplace and extinguished it.

Jennifer attributed her fire safety knowledge to the lesson she received from a firefighter at our Headstart class at the Stephen Foster Center in Pittsburgh. Lives saved - 5."

That's a win, folks. That's a big win.

Michelle Madoff:

My congratulations to all of you, but I might like to share some happy information with you too. This Council has worked very hard and very closely with the Fire Department.

Do you recall years ago when I introduced legislation for multiple dwellings to have a smoke detector and you one-upped me and did a better job by mandating, according to federal law, that we would have one in every house. It was so difficult to get that passed, but with the cooperation of the Fire Department and Council, we got that passed.

The good news now is -- The fire you did last night was a vacant property belonging to the City, as I recall. And there's new legislation now which, of course, would not apply to the City but we better set an example, that if any landlord, even an absentee landlord out of state, doesn't maintain his property, we can now fine him $1000 a day or anybody in the City who doesn't meet the Code, and we can lien the property even if he or she is not in the City. That is major progress.

That legislation went on the books in '88 and '89 and it just got into place now. I think with that kind of input we could all do a much better job and this is another example of the Administration, Council and the Fire Department working together and I'm delighted.

Mr. Regan:

Thank you, Michelle. And thank you all very much. I never met a man that didn't like a fireman. Did you ever hear anybody rap a fireman?

Now I'd like the Parents Without Partners to please come up here.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1487 WHEREAS, Parents Without Partners is an international, non-profit membership organization devoted to the welfare of single parents and their children; and

WHEREAS, Parents Without Partners was founded in 1957 in New York City by 2 single parents in a church basement, and it now has over 135,000 active members in the United States and Canada; and

WHEREAS, the Pittsburgh Chapter with over 2,500 members holds monthly meetings, dances, family picnics, community service programs, hiking, tots program for children through age 6, buddies and pals ages 6-11 and international youth council for teens.

Partners Week in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

See, the whole Council agrees and you don't get that that often.

But I'd like to congratulate you people on doing such a great job. We want you to know that you've made a lot of people's lives very happy.

I have a resolution and I'd like you to come up and say a few words.

Ms. Michelle Waldorf:

I've only been in the organization since December. People, 30 years ago, started this and I thank God that it's here, and I hope to God and I expect it to be here 30 years from now if my children or my grandchildren or anybody's here needs us. The organization will stand because we are very strong.

Butch Keenan, President of our Pittsburgh Chapter, has worked extremely hard as well as the other Board of Directors of the Pittsburgh Chapter, to keep us going and keep us where we are now.

What you have done as a service to us here today is only the very beginning. We're reaching out to other people and we couldn't do that without people like you. This is very important.

We thank you on behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, other chapters in Pennsylvania, the 5,000 members in Pennsylvania. This is really, really important and this one is for Pittsburgh. Thanks.

The Chair:

Thank you all.

We now have a joint resolution to be presented by Councilman Coyne and Councilman Ferlo.

Mr. Coyne:

I'm pleased to have with us today Leo Bigley and Bob Fleischel from the Plumbers Union.

Mr. Coyne and Mr. Ferlo present

No. 1488 WHEREAS, Plumbers Local Union No. 27 was founded in the year 1870 and associated itself with the Knights of Labor and the American Federation of Labor; and

WHEREAS, on October 13, 1890, the Plumbers Local Union No. 27 was officially chartered with the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing & Pipefitting Industry of the United States and Canada, an International Union; and

WHEREAS, the original membership consisted of 90 craftsmen; and

WHEREAS, the Officers of the Chartered Membership were Michael Joseph Counahan, Edward Welch and James McKee; and

WHEREAS, other officers associated with the Plumbers Local Union No. 27 of by-gone days were: Slatery, Kennelly, Driscoll, Mahoney, Lee, Coll, Toole, Beckett, March, Wiseman, Savage and Anderson; and

WHEREAS, the following have served as Paid Officers in the capacity of either Financial Secretary, Business Agent or Business Manager since that great day of October 13, 1890: James J. McKee, John F. Counahan, John F. McCaffrey, Charley Lawrence, Francis T. Johns, John F. Landy, Vince Leffler, Joe Steimer, Joe Allen, William Wiseman, Joe Holleran, Robert Slater, Tom Madigan and Jim McManama; and

WHEREAS, the present Paid Officers of the Plumbers Local Union No. 27 are: Andrew B. Hovanec, Business Manager; Leo P. Bigley, Business Agent; and Robert C. Fleischel, also Business Agent; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh proclaims Saturday, October 13, 1990 as Plumbers Local Union No. 27 Day in the City of Pittsburgh, which is also the day they will be celebrating with an Anniversary Dinner-Dance at the Downtown Pittsburgh Hilton.

Mr. Coyne moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Coyne:

Thank you, Members of Council. I'd like to have Leo and Bob say a few words.

Mr. Bigley:

Thank you, Mike. I want to thank the City of Pittsburgh and Council for this very nice honor.

I also want to remind you of our close co-operation with the municipalities. During our flood in the North Hills, our Plumbers Union turned out an unlimited amount of plumbers who worked free to hook up gas service lines, hot water heaters, twice.

We went out and brought the hay in. When we had a drought down south we sent plumbers out to Round Hill Park to harvest hay.

During the Big Freeze in the City of Pittsburgh we sent our men into the streets to thaw pipes, take care of the service lines for the senior citizens.

Recently, in the last six months, there was a concern about Legionnaire's Disease in our municipal hospitals and buildings, and the Plumbers Union sent out to the respected municipalities a pledge of unlimited numbers of skilled plumbers if needed.

In closing, I'd like to say that if there are any young people who are interested in the plumbing business, we're 100 years old. It's a very good trade. Like the fireman protects your safety, we protect the health of the nation.

Recently I read a letter to Dear Abby. It says:

"Dear Abby: My mother and dad want me to go to college but I would rather take up the plumbing trade. What should I do?" She says, "Become a plumber."

A society that condemns plumbing because it's a humble trade and exalts philosophy because it's a noble profession will neither have good plumbing nor good philosophy. Neither one of its pipes will carry water.

Mr. Fleischel:

I'd like to thank you very much for this opportunity to receive this proclamation on behalf of the Plumbers' Union.

It's with great honor and great pride that I'm a Paid Officer of Local 27. I'm following in the footsteps of my family that have been in the Local 100 years. So, I should say they were my predecessors and my teachers in more than one way.

I would like to tell you that this here proclamation will be bestowed right out to our membership. We have a Regular Order of Business Meeting tonight and I'm sure that they will be proud of receiving it, having it read to them, as I am of receiving it. Thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. Bigley, we bet the Council of Cincinnati over this big series we have going, we bet them some products and the loser has to personally deliver it to the other Council. The President of their Council is an ex-plumber so I would like some of your plumbers here when they deliver that stuff to us. When the Cincinnati guys bring that food up here for us to eat, we'd like to have the representative of the Plumbers' Union here.

Mr. Bigley:

Alright, Baldy, we'll pledge a bathtub and you can carry that.

The Chair presents

This transfer is necessary because of insufficient funds due to the Buckeye Oil Spill and due to payment of employees in acting positions.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

Michelle Madoff:

Unless you read the legislation, Mr. President, you don't know the reason that they're making the transfer is that Buckeye Spill is what caused the need for the additional dollars.

I think when we get that kind of legislation, we need to have attached to it, and I wrote a note for you to check, Mike, the issue is are we being reimbursed from Buckeye. What is the status of that? Have we received any money? When will we get it?

I don't want to put the money in without knowing that we're going to get reimbursed.

The Chair:

Would you like to suspend Rule 8 on that?

Michelle Madoff:

No.

Mr. Milliones presented

Michelle Madoff:

Point of Order. I just want to check what that bill was about.

The Chair:

I would also like my comments to be brought forward, please.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. COHEN'S REMARKS ON BILL NOS. 1388 and 1390-10/3/90)

Mr. Cohen:

Director, if you could explain what the Fulton Theater Renovation Trust fund is, who owns the Fulton, and what the plans are for this.

Mr. Sciulli:

Basically this is a Phase I contract for the restoration/renovation of the Fulton Theater. I believe that the theater is owned by the Pittsburgh Cultural Trust. Essentially the Department of Engineering and Construction is responsible for the disbursement of funds in this case. There is a very large amount that is being donated privately, and the Department of City Planning has applied for a $200,000.00 grant from the Department of Community Affairs from the State of Pennsylvania. And bill 1388 essentially creates the trust fund so that we can go through and disburse the money in the appropriate manner, because we will have someone that will be assigned to this project from an inspection standpoint.

Mr. Cohen:

So no city money is involved?

Mr. Sciulli:

Not on Phase I.

Mr. Cohen:

Will there be on any phases?

Mr. Sciulli:

I don't know. I am not aware of what is involved in Phase II.

Mr. Cohen:

Has the Department of Community Affairs committed to any funds at this point?

Mr. Sciulli:

$200,000.00, yes.

Mr. Cohen:

What is the long-term plan for use of the theater, what is it going to be?

Mr. Sciulli:

Basically as I understand it, the Phase I construction will include work to be done on the theater to meet code, so that the theater can be transformed into entertainment for the performing arts.

Mr. Cohen:

We discussed that yesterday a little bit. So it will not be used as a movie theater after this?

Mr. Sciulli:

That is what I understand.

Mr. Cohen:

What is the time line on the rehabilitation of this theater?

Mr. Sciulli:

I am not aware because we haven't been given the scope at this point in time; it is being handled by the Pittsburgh Cultural Trust. And once they are ready to go, we will be asked to step in and help manage the project.

Mr. Cohen:

As far as you know, the Pittsburgh Cultural Trust is behind the conversion to the performing arts and feels there is enough of a demand to accommodate it?

Mr. Sciulli:

Apparently.

(DELETED TEXT)

Mr. Cohen:

Director, since this is applying for state money, do you have any problem working with Council to make the same type of application for Regent Theater?

Mr. Sciulli:

I have no problem with that. Basically those applications go through City Planning. We are just the department that is responsible for management and disbursement of the funds. But I would be happy to work with Council on Regent Theater, also.

Mr. Cohen:

You raise a good point. We should use this as a means to start the process to do the same kind of application for that theater. I agree with the Chair: If we start pitting one against the other, there is no end to this.

(MR. FERLO'S REMARKS ON BILL NOS. 1388 and 1390-1/3/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, last year this bill came up in regards to public subsidy support for the Pittsburgh Cultural Trust, Fulton Theater. I voted no last year. I don't object and I certainly applaud the efforts of the Cultural Trust to renovate the theater. My objection comes from the limited capital that we have in Harrisburg. I resent the fact personally that we have applied for a $200,000.00 grant from the State Department of Community Affairs. And historically, these DCA grants have been used by the park system and city government to assist park reconstruction and development at the neighborhood level.

Again, I wish the Fulton Theater project well, but in terms of where this money is coming from, I am not voting for this, because I think if there is any likelihood of getting private trust or private foundation support, it is the ability of the Cultural Trust to get that for the Fulton Theater, as opposed to the renovations of a similar project in East Liberty, the Regent Theater, which is hard pressed for funds.

Secondly, the money is coming from DCA and it is at the expense of funding of neighborhood park reconstruction, of which I can think of several parks, not only in my district but throughout the city. So I am voting no on the principle as to where this pot of money is coming from and the priority issue, one priority being given to greater recognition than things that have gone on in the past. So I am voting no on the basis of where this money is coming from. I think if I were going to vote for a theater, I would rather vote for the money for Regent Square as opposed to the ability of the Cultural Trust and the Downtown Fulton Theater to be more likely a project that the private foundation community would support. Other than that, I wish the project well.

Mr. Chairman, just to clarify, because I agree with you entirely, I am not trying to pit Fulton versus Regent. I am trying to point out that historically city government has been able to use these DCA funds, these pot of monies have been used to augment capital infrastructure repairs at the park level throughout the neighborhoods. I was only using the Regent Theater as an example, but I am not proposing one more worthy than the other. I am saying where the money happens to come from and who best has the resources to raise money from the foundation community.

(End of Comments)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel, Stenotype Reporter)

Mr. Ferlo:

My main objection has to do with the pot of money that the Department of Community Affairs funds have traditionally been applied for by various departments within City government, specifically the Parks Department. The DCA state funds are used to make needed repairs in the parks system in the City and also primarily DCA funds have been used in low and moderate income communities.

The Fulton Theater Renovation Project is a worthy project but I do think that the Pittsburgh Cultural Trust and others within that organization have a better chance to raise funds and resources within the foundation community, within the corporate community. And also, I think, given the fact that the Fulton Theater will basically be income generating, I think they should apply for a traditional business assistance loan from the Urban Redevelopment Authority.

So, for those reasons and not the reason that I'm against the project, I'm voting no on 1388 and 1390. And I think it's a question of how we balance our priorities and where the nature of the dollars are coming from.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman and Members of Council, that's a gross distortion that my colleague just stated. We're talking about apples and oranges. There is no reason why all the projects that he supports and we all support can't be funded but not, certainly, at the cost of what is happening at the Fulton which is no longer going to be owned by the Fulton but owned by the association that gives us the culture in this City, that provides jobs and brings people to our City, and generates money for the General Fund.

People listening to that kind of rhetoric will believe, indeed, that we're cheating some other community but the living room of the community, the Downtown doesn't survive, we will not have people in this community. We'll not have new businesses coming in here and we will not generate the jobs.

I think that's misleading and I would very much like to ask my colleagues to stay with their vote and support this. And if they don't generate money, number one, they always operate, all these entities operate at losses. And the money, incidentally, the statement was made that they have easier access to raising money in the private sector from the foundation. We are just giving a very small portion of matching funds.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Chairman, I think the cause and the purpose is well taken, but I also am concerned, I spoke about it the other day and I'm going to still stand with that, that some of this money that is to be used going to the Fulton Theater should go into the communities. I can understand Downtown Pittsburgh being the major and the main spot of the City of Pittsburgh, but there are other areas in the City of Pittsburgh that need this type of financing and money.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I don't mind the comments from my colleague, Michelle, when she paraphrases my comments and imply that I initiated gross distortions. I don't know what I said that was a gross distortion. I stated very clearly some facts; it's not rhetoric.

The fact is, historically, and since Michelle has been here historically she should know, historically the City government has benefitted from allocations of state government Department of Community Affairs funds.

Historically, fact, those funds have been used for the parks system and other projects within low and moderate income communities throughout the City of Pittsburgh. That's a fact.

Fact. The Fulton Theater will generate income just as much as the Opera and the Pittsburgh Symphony, an organization that is endowed with $80 million. That's a fact, Michelle, also. The point being that this organization, the Cultural Trust, has the wherewithal and the resources to raise funds. The fact is that these funds should be used for low and moderate income community projects and should be continued to be used to beef up a much needed infrastructure with the parks system. Period. None of that is a gross distortion.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, in the future it might be advisable when we have this kind of legislation to send a copy of it to the affected entities so that they can speak for themselves. They don't need me as their spokesperson.

I stand by my statement earlier that indeed they do raise their money in the private sector from the foundations and to imply that they do not is not fair. We are only supporting it in very small matching funds, a very small portion, and I still maintain that in order to have money in the communities we need to have people. We've lost half our population in this community and if we don't have people coming here because it is vital and because we have great culture, we don't stand much chance of turning the situation around and therefore having the monies in the community.

Mr. Regan:

I don't think a city is worth its salt if it doesn't have culture. I think we need the culture as much as we need the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Steelers, as much as we need money poured into the neighborhoods because the poor kids of the neighborhoods, if we have these centers that they can come to if they have talent, and I think it helps the whole City.

I agree not often with Michelle, but I do agree that this City needs some culture and I agree with her on this. I love Councilman Darkins but this is the only time I'm going to disagree with him.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I'd like to bring to Council's attention a couple of items. I hope that everybody on Council has read "The Enforcement Vending Laws City Urge", an article in the Pittsburgh Press by Jon Schmitz where "State Health Secretary, N. Mark Richards, has urged Pittsburgh officials to vigorously enforce new restrictions on cigarette vending machines."

I don't want to read the whole article but I want to read two paragraphs.

"Cigarettes kill and kids learn to use cigarettes early before they develop good judgment. We in government have every responsibility to make it as difficult as possible for kids to get cigarettes in the first place.

Since kids are risk takers, because of their age, you have to more than educate. You have to make it difficult as well. I think this priority needs to be included in the top ones."

In other words, the Health Director of the State of Pennsylvania has supported our legislation and I want those who thought it wasn't important and enforcement was a joke to understand that.

Two other items. There was an article in the Press again about a contract in the Parking Authority and the claim was, the contractor is claiming that the contract specifications for equipment to be installed for the Authority Schenley Plaza in Oakland were written in a way that favored his competitor.

I'm delighted that nobody swept it under the rug and, indeed, the Authority Executive Director, Reginald Young, said the complaints were valid and the specifications would be amended. I think that's a very responsible way to handle this.

But that brought to mind, where is our Ethics Bill, Mr. Ricciardi? Where is our Ethics Bill, Mr. Cohen? Where is our Ethics Bill, Administration, Mayor Masloff? We're already into the ninth month of this year and I've been waiting three years. Can we do something about expediting it? And would we see that it applies to the authorities as well?

Mr. Cohen:

I would like to respond. I think you know where the Ethics Bill is, Michelle, because we've talked about it several times.

Michelle Madoff:

I know, but I want to speed you up.

Mr. Cohen:

I've kept you informed all along the way, I think.

If you want to know the answer, there is a Conference Committee that has been meeting regularly with representatives from the Mayor's Office, Joe Mistick, the City Solicitor, Councilman Ricciardi who is head of the Ethics Subcommittee, Bob Cindrich with is the head of the Ethics Commission appointed by the Mayor, and myself, and we are close to having a bill that we can come out with and be able to present to Council.

My bill is coming up before Council on Wednesday. I'm going to move to hold that probably for two weeks and hope that two weeks from this Wednesday we will be able to have a bill on the table that is supported by the Administration and hopefully will be supported by Council. So, I think we've very close.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you for sharing that with Council and with the public.

The Chair:

Might I add, whatever ethics legislation passes will not pertain to authorities.

Michelle Madoff:

I would like to, in some manner, have the Administration try to get the authorities to adopt our, if it's acceptable and we vote for it, Ethics Bill because I think it's needed everywhere. I think no one would disagree with that.

On an entirely different matter but one very close to my heart, particularly with what has happened to me in the last few months. Did everybody read the Post Gazette article, "Unhealthy For Chrysler"? If anybody missed it, I think it's really an eye opener. Please let me quote:

"The cost of U.S. medical care is driving Chrysler Corporation to transfer more production to Canada, according to the Toronto Star.

The newspaper quotes Robert Perkins, Chrysler's Vice President for Washington Affairs as saying that the health care benefits account for $700 of the cost of making a car in the United States while the equivalent cost is just $233 in Canada, $246 in Japan, $337 in West Germany, and $375 in France. We're more than double.

Chrysler, already making about 20 percent of its vehicles in Canada, planned a major expansion of its currently under-used factory in Ontario.

A previous report by U.S. by-partisan commission on comprehensive health care nicknamed the Pepper Commission and its former Chairman, the Commission urges universal access to affordable high-quality health care for all Americans, noting that 30 million Americans lack even minimal health care protection and another 20 million more are inadequately protected. It also stresses long-term care."

Now I realize that this probably has to be federal and this probably has to be state enacted, but I think that it would perhaps be something we ought to initiate from the grassroots level because nothing happens at the top if it doesn't start at the grassroots. For example, we might want to tell our legislators that if they don't start working in Washington to get us some form of socialized medicine, I hate to use the term but that is what is used, provide everybody with health care, then we're not going to vote for them.

I think it might be a good idea to hold a public hearing and get the input of people who are disenfranchised, who don't have the basics, who don't have medical care. And I reiterate, my recent episode which started off as a minor thing and ended up as a major issue, if I did not have insurance, ran over $50,000. That would bankrupt most families in this country.

I think we have an obligation as City leaders, starting at the grassroots level, to try to do something. So, I would like to ask the President of this Council whether he would convene a public hearing, have input from unions, the labor, because that's where the jobs are going to be lost if they start moving out because we don't have that kind of provial health care, and have the public who has been affected come and tell us their stories and perhaps we could send the transcript to the appropriate people. I would like that to be considered by the President of Council.

The Chair:

We just had a resolution sponsored by Mr. Ferlo that pertained to that issue, and there has been some public discussion. As a matter of fact, the labor unions have been very involved in that issue.

If you want a public hearing, I would suggest that you have the public hearing and you coordinate the public hearing.

Michelle Madoff:

I would be delighted but I think it's so important that I thought the President of our Council should chair it.

The Chair:

Well, I certainly would participate in it.

Michelle Madoff:

May I then respectfully request that we hold a public hearing at an appropriate time. You might even want to do it the first of the year. You do it when you think it's the appropriate time because we have a lot of budget things and things going on.

Mr. Milllones seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Very briefly, Mr. Chairman, three brief things. First of all, I was listening to KDKA Radio this morning, the John Cigna Show, and he was interviewing a gentleman from Harrisburg, I think his name was Sandy Staravin. I was alarmed when I actually heard what was going on in Harrisburg regarding the possibility of a pay raise for State Legislators. I thought we had resolved that debate a year ago and I know it's sort of breaking protocol for elected officials to speak ill of other elected officials so I won't point on any specific Legislator but as a class of elected officials, if the proposal is actually going to go through, I would be very concerned and I would encourage our friends, the Legislators, to rethink their position. Apparently they're talking about raising their salary from $47,000 to $60,000 after this election, the lame duck session, before the middle of November.

I was also surprised to learn, which as long as I've been involved in politics I didn't even know this, that the average Legislator makes close to $100,000 a year. That apparently with the $88 per day per diem amount of money on top of the $47,000. There are many Legislators that pay themselves even for holidays under the auspices that they're doing work in the community. I didn't know that; I don't think maybe even Members of Council or the general public is aware of that.

In addition, I think we're also aware that they receive $7,000, $8,000, $9,000 a year for office expenses and the automobile insurance coverage and gasoline is paid for by the State.

So, all told, we're talking about a significant amount of money. In fact, if this proposal goes through, we'd have the highest paid Legislature in the country.

We're talking about a group of elected officials who, the meetings are not televised, they're not under the gun, they're not as visible, certainly, as elected Councilmembers. I'm not proposing that Councilmembers be paid that but what I am proposing is that I think given the protest in the City many years ago about pay raises, we led to an important reform and that was a valid question on the Home Rule Charter which enables elected officials here in the City to get a pay raise that is equal or commensurate with cost of living increases that the rest of the City workforce experiences from time to time. And I think that's fair and reasonable.

I would ask that the State Legislature, if they're listening to any of this discussion, that they would seriously give consideration to that type of a referendum, that they be afforded some type of yearly or every two year increases based on the cost of living afforded to other State employees.

But the pay grab that is being proposed is really going to give all elected officials a bad name and it's certainly not deserved and it's ill-advised given the financial affairs of the State and certainly what is happening in our nation today.

On another issue. I noticed out front that it looks as though there is some type of construction activity on the steps. I would like clarification from the Council President regarding the proposed statue and whether or not that is actually happening. I was led to believe that Council was to vote on that. I'm mainly concerned about what is going to happen with the Christmas Tree, if it's being discarded forever or is that something that is going to happen each year somewhere else? I'd like a clarification, Mr. Chairman, on that if you could check with the Administration.

The Chair:

I don't think there's a need to check. It's obvious that there is a statue of our former Mayor, Mayor Caliguiri, that has been completed and is now in the process of being placed on the front steps of the City County Building. There will be a dedication ceremony not yet publicly announced but sometime prior to the end of October.

Mr. Ferlo:

I was led to believe that that required Council approval from the Art Commission. Is that not the case?

The Chair:

To my knowledge, no.

Mr. Ferlo:

Okay.

Thirdly, Mr. Chairman, regarding the Penguin deal, I only know what I've read in the newspapers. We're talking about a significant amount of money. I would like Council to begin to think about this issue. I would assume in the next few weeks legislation will be forthcoming to this Council. I would ask that Council at least think about the issue of hiring, for a few thousand dollars, a financial advisor/consultant to give us some advice on the deal.

One of the main concerns I have about the deal is the development site, the Melody Tent site, which the DeBartolo family has had for at least five years. There's been no movement; it's prime property. I don't think any prime property in and around the Downtown area should remain fallow.

We've seen recent articles about the possibility of a world trade center. There might be other potential ideas for development on that site. That site should not be beholden to the DeBartolo family who has already indicated that they're not interested in developing it; they want it for parking.

So, I think there's a higher and better use for that property and I hope that we all have an open mind and I hope that we have full public disclosure regarding some of the financial interests regarding this proposed deal.

Mr. Milliones:

I understand that the URA has that on their agenda this month, the Melody Tent site.

Mr. Ferlo:

The property, as we know, and the disposition, is in the hands of the URA.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I made a comment earlier and I was not just saying it; I meant it. When we have legislation that affects the private sector significantly, such as the Fulton, I think it would be advisable that a copy go out to them and I'd like to make that in the form of a motion. As I said, we don't need to be defending the private sector. May I make that as a motion?

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Clarification of that motion is what again?

Michelle Madoff:

That when we have legislation transferring money to the Fulton or to the Benedum or whatever, that they would get a copy of the legislation. And might even ask if they wish to attend when we vote on it.

Mr. Perry:

Is this after it's passed?

Michelle Madoff:

Before, so they can come and comment on it.

Mr. Milllones:

Clarification. How is the private sector going to comment on such proposed legislation?

Michelle Madoff:

Like they do all the time. Everybody calls us, tells us what is happening, what it's for. They correct false impressions about the fact that they're getting all the money from Council and the City and not from other sectors and the truth comes out. I think the truth is what we're seeking.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on the practical side. I don't have any problem with the motion but it's not practical. It's not practical to require the Clerk's Office to think in advance who some legislation affects. All of our bills are publicly notified and are announced publicly. We have televised meetings. Certainly anybody who is that concerned and that hard up for the money should be walking this whole process through the City government. If anybody should know that we're about to vote on money, it should be the Cultural Trust people.

Michelle Madoff:

I think we're making a mountain out of a molehill.

The Chair:

On a procedure, you would have to come with a formal written resolution.

Michelle Madoff:

Fine. I have no problem with that, Mr. President. All I'm saying is that we have 10 or 15 bills a year that go through this Council where we give money during the year, it doesn't come through at budget time and the routine, where I think that they should know and they should be told.

It would be advisable for you to send a note to Councilmembers telling them what portion is coming from Council, a breakdown of the budget, and give us some general information. That's all.

The Chair:

Okay.

I'd like to make a motion that the Pirates win tonight.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Cohen

Council adjourned.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Regan:

You know, we're very honored to have a lot of distinguished people here with us this morning and I think it's only right that we show this movie of Pittsburgh. I think we're all so very proud of Pittsburgh and there's a lot of people out there that have moved to Pittsburgh and like our City very much. Before I read the resolution, I would like to show this film.

AT THIS TIME, MR. REGAN SHOWED A FILM ABOUT PITTSBURGH.

Mr. Regan:

After Cincinnati I think we needed that. Any Cincinnati fans, the door is open there. We're here to root for good old Pittsburgh. I think our team did a terrific job and I'd like to bring the people up that produced this movie for the Convention and Visitors' Bureau. Would you come up here, Mr. Ray Werner and Mr. Chepelsky? It usually takes about an hour and a half to wake up in these Council meetings.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1553 WHEREAS, Writer and Composer Ray Werner and Art Director and Composer John Chepelsky were asked to create a film that brings alive the contagious, down to earth and contemporary personality of Pittsburgh in a genuine way, and so created an original song and video and also contributed the various talents of their company, pro-bono; and

WHEREAS, the Greater Pittsburgh Convention and Visitors Bureau, especially Joe McGrath, Bob Imperata and Ellen Wein, with the help of Duquesne Light Company, especially Mike Drajovic and Scott Simmons and along with other friends, saw the need to show the world that this is an extraordinary City; and

WHEREAS, Sue Hartford, Arranger and Executive Producer of the Music and Ed Fraticelli, Sound Mixer and Video Editor of Production Masters, Inc. used their creative and technical skills to bring this about; and

WHEREAS, other countless friends of Pittsburgh donated their talents, business establishments, beautiful smiles, wonderful faces, precious time and a very special part of themselves to make this video come alive.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby recognizes the efforts of all these people to help tell the real story of Pittsburgh throughout America and the World, and is resolved to help get this message out to as many people as possible that Pittsburgh is truly the one City in America, more than any other, that you hate to leave; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh proclaims this as the "Hate to Leave Blues Day" in the City of Pittsburgh. "IT COULD ONLY HAPPEN IN AMERICA!"

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Werner:

It's not very often you have an opportunity to write something and produce something for one of the greatest cities in the world and certainly the city for the 90s here in America. And all of us here represent a lot of other people in Pittsburgh who helped put this together.

Thank you very much for honoring us today. Thank you very much.

The Chair:

You did a great job. Thank you all for coming.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1554 WHEREAS, the Afro-American Heritage Parade Association was founded in 1987 and incorporated in 1988; and

WHEREAS, the Afro-American Heritage Parade Association, Inc. ranks high as an organization dedicated to giving credence to the belief that Afro-Americans contribute significantly to the development of this great country and to make aware to the City the bountiful intellectual Afro-American resources included in the City of Pittsburgh's population; and

WHEREAS, the Parade showcases talents and culture styles that depict Afro-American heritage; and

WHEREAS, the Afro-American Heritage Parade Association, Inc., throughout the year supports youth advancement, scholarships to deserving individuals, and provides ongoing Afro-American education, highlighting ancestral accomplishments and strides made today and for the future; and

WHEREAS, the Fourth Annual Afro-American Heritage Day Parade is dedicated to Most Worshipful Prince Hall Grand Lodge for their 175 years of unselfish service to the community.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh is mindful of the Afro-American Heritage Parade Association, Inc. for their value to the City of Pittsburgh and extends well wishes for ongoing success; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that October 20, 1990 be declared Afro-American Day in the City of Pittsburgh and that Council further salutes "Grand Marshall" George Calloway, Past Worshipful Grand Master, as he proudly leads the parade through Downtown Pittsburgh.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

Today's resolution is a joint effort because we are so proud of this particular day that is going to transpire. This is not just Councilman Duane A. Darkins' resolution but this is also Dr. Jake Milliones that is joining with me today.

I would like to have our President of the Pittsburgh branch of the NAACP come to receive this along with Mrs. Gladys Harper of the Parade Committee.

Mr. Adams:

Thank you very much, and to the august body and to its erstwhile President, we are very grateful to receive this proclamation. It further states Council's resolve to be a part of what is going on in the City of Pittsburgh.

As the Bishop has told you, this is a great day of pride for the Black community. It is the one time that we can, as other ethnics do, showcase our culture and our heritage. We are going to continue in this effort and we hope we have created an institution whose purpose and goals will never be obliterated. And we look forward to the day when all people have an understanding that we didn't begin and end in slavery, that we do indeed have a proud heritage, a great culture, and something that is so positive that if we don't tell the story, nobody will and maybe nobody should.

Our goals and our plans and our ambitions for this year and the coming year is to institute in the Pittsburgh public schools a method that not only can Black youngsters but also White youngsters know and learn about the culture and heritage of Black people. We hope with the cooperation of the School Board to buy books that we will put in the primary, secondary and the high school grades and hopefully they will become part of the curriculum for, as all of you know, Blacks are not included in the history books. And I think that it does a disservice to the total community when people live in ignorance of their neighbors.

So, we hope that if need be, we can get the support of Council to see that this is integrated into the public school system and we very humbly thank all of you for appearing today.

And for a change we have something to give Council. If Raymond Rucker will come forward and pass out the hats. We hope you'll wear them with pride and we hope you'll join us on this Saturday morning when we will be strutting.

Ms. Harper:

Mr. Wagner, Councilman Darkins, Councilman Milliones and your colleagues, it's a great morning for me. The last time I was here, the Council more or less took me in celebration of space. They have brought me back to my feet.

On October 20th we'd like for you to join us. It would mean so much for our public officials to be present so that you can help us to lead the City of Pittsburgh residents, as well as the outlying areas, on this mission for equality and justice for all. Thank you.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1555 WHEREAS, the Pittsburghers, a tax deductible, civic organization, will gather in Washington, D.C. on Saturday, October 13, 1990 to celebrate their 27th annual scholarship and community charities ball; and

WHEREAS, the Pittsburghers is comprised of former Pittsburgh area residents who currently reside in the Washington Metropolitan area and Pittsburgh residents; and

WHEREAS, the Annual Scholarship and Community Charity Ball, a black tie affair, is the chief vehicle used by Pittsburghers to raise funds for scholarship awards and community charity grants, and to date contributions to students and community charities have totaled $140,000.00; and

WHEREAS, the theme for the 1990 Annual Ball is "Celebrating Excellence in Communications: A Pittsburgh Legacy" in honor of the achievements of native Pittsburghers who have excelled in the field of communications. The honorees include: James Adams, Bobby Bennett, Andrea Bray, Phyllis Garland, Mal Goode, Connie Portis, John Senstacke, Bev Smith and Tamara Tunie Bouquett.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby proclaims October 13, 1990 as Pittsburghers Day and encourages the spirit of comradeship between Pittsburghers living in Pittsburgh and Washington, D.C.; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh and its residents recognize Dr. Floyd Keene, President of the Pittsburghers, for his leadership in taking the Pittsburghers to great heights and applaud the contributions made by the honorees in the field of communications.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like Marcia Dugan from the Highland Park Community Club's Creative Playground Committee to come forward, please.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1556 WHEREAS, the Highland Park Community Club has initiated a Creative Playground Committee to spearhead the creation of a unique creative playground in Highland Park; and

WHEREAS, in cooperation with the City of Pittsburgh Department of Parks and Recreation, the Committee plans to harness the energy of hundreds of Pittsburgh volunteers, children and adults who will actually design and build a one of a kind playground under the guidance of nationally renowned playground architect, Robert S. Leathers; and

WHEREAS, Architect Robert Leathers has designed and supervised the building of over 500 creative play areas throughout the country by employing a unique collaborative process between architect professionals, the community and its children; and

WHEREAS, the first step of the process begins on Design Day, the day an architect joins the community to identify the final site, and to meet with children to solicit their ideas for the playground - every idea from a three year old's concept of a sandbox to an eleven year old's idea for a space station - is solicited for the final design of the play area; and

WHEREAS, one of Leathers' architects will come to Pittsburgh on Monday, October 22, 1990 at 7:30 p.m. at Peabody High School so that all City residents can find out how they can be involved in the creation of the playground.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby commend the efforts of the Creative Playground Committee; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby declare October 22, 1990 to be Robert Leathers Design Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'm very honored to be active with the Club and with this Committee. City Council last year, with the support of the Administration, appropriated $10,000 in Mr. Ricciardi's committee on Parks and that contribution went to the Highland Park Community Club to help kick off a fairly ambitious fundraising effort, an effort to raise close to $100,000 to complete this task.

I'm helping to serve on the Volunteer Recruitment Committee and most Councilmembers, in fact, all of the Councilmembers here have a strong degree of volunteerism and have worked on all different kinds of volunteer initiatives and I hope to be calling on you not only for the Design Day in the evening, possibly attending the neighborhood meeting, but also when we build this next April.

And certainly, Mr. Wagner, you have a great track record with some of the City workers that have gone to various places and we hope to get you out there for this activity.

At this time I'd like to introduce Marcia Dugan from the Highland Park Community Club who is one of the co-chairs of the Creative Playground Committee.

Ms. Dugan:

Playgrounds are wonderful places for parents and for kids and what is going to make this playground even more wonderful is that hundreds of Pittsburghers are not just going to sit and watch it be built but they're going to build it. They're going to saw wood and pound nails and the kids are going to sand wood and it's just going to be a really fun project for all of us to join together to build.

I want to thank City Council for their support and their enthusiasm and for this proclamation.

We hope to see you all on October 22nd at Peabody High School at 7:30. And if you want to give your ideas for the playground, you're welcome to do that. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

Would Bob Moser of the National Council of Senior Citizens and Lynn Williams of the United Steelworkers please join me? Art Lubic, architect for the buildings; Becky Foster of URA; and Ed Palimismo of HUD. And if anybody else is with you, please join us. Harry Gunther had to leave.

This is really a special pleasure for me because I have known predecessors. I was very friendly with I.W. Able, Mr. McBride, and I think I learned to be so verbose for Mr. Able and I'll tell a funny story later. People think steelworkers only work on steel and that's not really true.

Michelle Madoff presents

No. 1557 WHEREAS, there is an established need for affordable housing for senior citizens and handicapped people with limited incomes in the Pittsburgh area; and

WHEREAS, the National Council of Senior Citizens has collaborated with the USW's Oldtimers Foundation, the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development and the City's Urban Redevelopment Authority to address the issue by building Steelworkers Tower, an 80 unit apartment complex at 2639 Perrysville Avenue; and

WHEREAS, this successful collaboration has led to the plans of constructing 50 more apartments called I.W. Able Towers at 1523 Brighton Road to further meet the needs of our area's low income seniors and handicapped; and

WHEREAS, this collaboration is presently serving single senior and handicapped citizens with an income of about $6,000 a year; and

WHEREAS, to live in the building, a person does not have to be a USW Member, but must be handicapped or over age 62 and have an income of less than $11,800 yearly for a single person or $13,500 for a couple.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh commends the successful efforts of the National Council of Senior Citizens, the United Steel Workers, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Urban Redevelopment Authority in attending to the housing needs of our low income senior citizens and handicapped residents.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Williams:

President Wagner and Councilwoman Madoff and Members of Council, I'd like to thank you very much for this proclamation and this indication of your support. We've known, of course, that you were supportive of such projects but we appreciate this tangible recognition.

I'd like to say that the United Steelworkers of America owe a great deal to the City of Pittsburgh, this community, to the citizens more specifically, and even more specifically, of course, to the Oldtimers who built our union, people of great courage and great determination who made many sacrifices in building the United Steelworkers of America.

We believe, of course, that the Union contributed in many ways to the life of this community and the quality of life here, but we're particularly pleased that in this collaboration with the National Council of Senior Citizens and with HUD that we're able to express our appreciation in this very tangible way to a group of senior citizens in the City who will make use of the housing facilities that now exist.

We are, of course, delighted that the new building will commemorate the honor of I.W. Able who was such a tower of strength to our union and to this community and indeed across the country in his years of leadership in the union. And we're just delighted that we'll be able in this way to provide some useful housing for people here in Pittsburgh and in that way to contribute to the quality of this great City of which we're all so proud. Thank you very much.

Mr. Milliones presents

No. 1558 WHEREAS, on Monday, October 15, 1990 the Hill District Federal Credit Union will be celebrating 20 years of providing the Hill District community with a convenient way to accumulate savings and acquire low-cost credit; and

WHEREAS, the Hill District Federal Credit Union as a financial institution has been successful in assisting a portion of the community to raise their standards of living; and

WHEREAS, the Hill District Federal Credit Union serves as a source of reference from which those observing it can draw inferences for hope, ambition and belief in their community's ability to achieve some degree to economic stability; and

WHEREAS, the Hill District Federal Credit Union as a neighborhood institution is a cooperative with a community agenda, community building and community organizing assistance; and

WHEREAS, as a learning institution the membership learns interest rates, credit data, saving habits, consumer habits, consumer education and forms of financial management; and

WHEREAS, the Hill District Federal Credit Union during its 20 years of service has made 5,302 loans totaling $5,413,702.00.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby recognize and congratulate the Hill District Federal Credit Union for 20 years of commitment to combating poverty and to helping the people of the Hill District community help themselves.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to have our friends from Allegheny General Hospital to please come up and also from the Butler Memorial Hospital.

I'm very, very honored to be able to read this resolution since all of my kids were born at Allegheny General Hospital. I think Allegheny General Hospital is one of the finest hospitals in the whole world.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1559 WHEREAS, throughout our lives, many heroes go unnoticed - but not today as we are honored to have some very special people with us - people that we hope we never need, but people who are there for us if indeed we do call on them; and

WHEREAS, Dispatcher Bob Young, Paramedics Chris Jones, Terry Lonchea and Denny Crawford, Life Flight Dispatcher James Jochem, Nurses Susan Randall and Timothy Rausch and Life Flight Pilot Gene Nugui were not familiar with each other but worked very hard together to save the life of one small child, and this cooperation is common in their field of work, which is not one of glamour but of necessity; and

WHEREAS, Pittsburgh has the finest hospital based Helicopter Transport Program instituted by Allegheny General Hospital in 1978; and

WHEREAS, in operation 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, physicians, nurses, ambulance personnel, police and firemen activate Life Flight by a phone call; and

WHEREAS, Life Flight personnel can travel a 130 mile radius of Pittsburgh and get immediate transportation to any one of our fine hospitals in order to save that one precious life; and

WHEREAS, Life Flight has flown more than 14,000 missions totaling 2 million miles; and

WHEREAS, Life Flight personnel were brought together from various places but share the same good will towards life, for the purpose of helping others.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh proclaims Tuesday, October 16, 1990 as Life Flight Day in the City of Pittsburgh in honor of the efforts of Dispatcher Bob Young, Paramedics Chris Jones, Terry Lonchea and Denny Crawford, Life Flight Dispatcher James Jochem, Nurses Susan Randall and Timothy Rausch and Life Flight Pilot Gene Nugui.

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

Dr. Ramonosky, you know how we feel about you. We know what a tremendous job that you and your people have done and I can only tell you that it is an honor to have you down here. Thank you very much.

Dr. Ramonosky:

Councilman Regan, President Wagner, on behalf of the assembled group, the unbelievably courageous and innovative Butler paramedics, the Life Flight crew who are not only dedicated but on line 24 hours and day, and on behalf of all of the physicians and nurses at Allegheny who have been responsible for the salvage of Stevie Selfridge, we would like to thank the City Council of Pittsburgh and the people of Pittsburgh for providing such a warm, caring environment by which we can carry out things that we do because we've been trained to do them. Without you, we would have no purpose. We thank you very much for this recognition.

The Chair:

Thank you all for coming and for doing a great job.

We have one final resolution presented by all Members of Council.

Members of Council present

No.1560 WHEREAS, a federal court order has mandated that Allegheny County construct a new jail facility to relieve overcrowding; and

WHEREAS, the new County Jail facility is expected to cost approximately $90 million and will hold 1,540 inmates; and

WHEREAS, Allegheny County has advocated legislation to the General Assembly requesting financial assistance to help pay a portion of the costs for construction, expansion and renovation of jails for counties throughout the State of Pennsylvania; and

WHEREAS, the General Assembly will place a referendum question on the ballot to authorize that $200 million dollars be made available to assist in the cost of constructing and renovating new jails, with 50 percent to come from the State Criminal Justice Fund and 50 percent to be borne by the counties themselves; and

WHEREAS, Allegheny County has identified a site near the current Public Safety Building in Downtown Pittsburgh to construct the new jail and Public Safety Building to secure a cooperative arrangement which will integrate the City and County criminal justice services.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh urges the residents of the City of Pittsburgh to Vote YES on the upcoming referendum to ensure that the State of Pennsylvania provides financial assistance to counties throughout the state so that the burden of financing additional jail cells is not placed solely on the already overburdened local taxpayers.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

I would just like to add a footnote to that resolution. This is a very important resolution. The purpose for having it, obviously, is to get the word out through the media and also through cable TV that the public, through a referendum question, will have the opportunity to vote for this resolution to reduce the burden of financing of a county jail that would be placed on the county taxpayers if this referendum does not pass. Therefore, it's extremely important that everyone vote in the affirmative for this referendum in November. We hope that the word gets out through the media and through the public. Thank you.

Mr. Cohen presented

No. 1490 Resolution further amending Resolution No. 1061, effective January 1, 1990, as amended, entitled "Resolution adopting and approving the 1990 Capital Budget and the 1990 Community Development Block Grant Program; and approving the 1990 through 1995 Capital Improvement Program," by redefining funding sources. The amount of $57,125.00 from EC-122 (Major Court Renovation), $100,000.00 from EC-115 (Ballfield Relighting) and $75,000.00 from EC-487 (Dinan Field) are being reprogrammed to EC-133 Ammon Recreation Center. The scope of this project has been significantly expanded to meet the needs of the community.

Also,

No. 1491 Resolution further amending Resolution No. 1049, effective January 1, 1989, as amended, entitled, "Resolution adopting and

Bill No. 1548

Report of the Committee on Public Works for October 10, 1990 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 1431

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 322 of 1990 authorizing the Mayor and the Chief Administrative officer of the City of Pittsburgh to enter into an agreement or agreements in individual amounts of Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.00) or less with various contractors with specialized skills in connection with the City's Solid Waste Management Program."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, I would ask my colleagues to please reconsider support of Bill 1431. We're setting a very bad precedent here if we allow a department director, and in this instance we're referring in the legislation to the Chief Administrative Officer, to expend and enter into contract and any number of contracts in an amount up to $10,000 or less. This is an open-ended, carte blanche legislation and I think it's inappropriate to pass the bill as its worded here today.

If the Administration, in order to promote and expedite any activity within the recycling area and Environmental Services, if they need to enter into contract with a consultant or hire a company, whatever they need to do, they have the power to do it. They need to, very simply, come to Council with the appropriate authorization to enter into whatever contract and whatever dollar figure.

But the way this is worded, we're giving them carte blanche approval to enter into any and all contracts in the amount of up to $10,000. We're diminishing the role and power of Council to provide oversight. And if anything needs to be looked over by City Council, it's this new program, the recycling program in the Environmental Services Department. There's lots of new activities and all kinds of contracts that will be entered into, but approving this today is a very bad precedent and I would urge my colleagues to vote against it.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I was going to speak on the same bill. I have to agree with Councilman Ferlo on this. One of our obligations under the City Charter is to oversee all expenditures of money by the City. That's a critical function of City Council, of this branch of government.

And forgetting what department it might be, because it doesn't matter, what this bill does is give the Administration the ability to enter into contracts up to $50,000. In the legislation it says 5 contracts of $10,000 apiece; that's $50,000 that we would be giving up the ability to oversee. And although I think the Waste Management Program is doing a fine job, we have to have accountability.

That's what this is all about, that Council is the body that oversees all expenditures of money. I think we need to see the expenditure of this money as well, so I'm going to vote no.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, as you may recall, when I saw this bill it raised sort of a red flag with me. I guess I've been here a long time and I keep seeing the same hearings, the same post agendas, the same issues, and of course the same bills coming up over and over again.

If memory serves me well, I was opposed the first time and it was only when Mary Beth Rizutto said that she would be giving us a breakdown of the expenditures and they seem to be in small amounts of $500 or $700 that I relented and said that I would be willing to vote for it when I had originally, on previous bills of this nature, abstained.

Thinking it over, I'm uncomfortable for the reasons expounded by both of my colleagues for voting for this. And while I'd like to be cooperative with the Administration, I'm really uncomfortable and my instincts say that my first instincts were right and I'm going to have to vote against it.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, after deliberating on this bill from last week's Standing Committee Meeting, I would agree with my colleague, Councilman Ferlo, in this case. I believe that all expenditures of this type should be first reviewed by this body being utterly responsible for the taxpayers' expenditures. So, I will be voting with Councilman Ferlo, no on this bill.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, just to reiterate. The only contract, I'm questioning last week at the Committee level, the only reference to any contract that would be entered into, as stated by Mary Beth Salley-Rizutto, was one organization, GRIP. The bill that came to us should have been a bill to enter into an agreement with a specific organization for specific services in an amount not to exceed $10,000.

So, there's very nebulous wording and very nebulous response from the Director. The only mention specifically was one organization, so the bill should come back to us in that form. And if there are other groups or other consultants that need to be hired, we should be able to review that so we can have a discussion on it.

Michelle Madoff:

One very quick comment. I think we're sending the wrong message to the public that we're abdicating our responsibility. That's what we're elected to do and that was my first instinct and I shouldn't have bent.

I would ask that we get a fifth vote for this. I really think we're doing our communities and our constituents a disservice. We have four votes, I believe. We're not hurting anybody. All we're saying is please, Administration, we're going to work with you. We think you're doing a fine job. We think Mary Beth Rizutto is doing a fine job. But let us do our jobs that we were elected for.

Mr. Cohen:

Call the question.

Michelle Madoff:

I think there's an error in the bill. We never accept bills that say "Acme Company" or "Forbes Street Associates" without getting the principle. I don't think the principle's name is here, is it?

The Chair:

If I'm not mistaken, the principle is Oxford Development.

Michelle Madoff:

I just want to know who it is.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I just want to say that I'm voting no on this legislation. I voted no originally on the lease arrangement. I find it ironic that here in the City County Building City government provides housing for County offices at $3 and $4 and $5 a square foot and yet we pay upwards of $12 and $13 a square foot in the private marketplace.

There is ample storage, if additional space is needed by the Water Department, there's ample storage in the Public Safety Building alone as well as other municipal buildings around the City of Pittsburgh. And I cannot, in good conscience, vote for an additional sum of money to store Department of Water records or whatever else they're storing.

Michelle Madoff:

Clarification. My initial reaction was the same as my colleague, Mr. Ferlo. But it appears that the process right now of going to microfiche requires that the materials be very close, very nearby, and what they're getting is some inexpensive space. $11 for Downtown space is not expensive. They're going to get $5 and $6 whatever it is.

The issue is that, in principle, I'm a little tired of seeing monies going out and expenditures and switching from one line item to another when we have this horrendous outstanding multi-million dollar balance that hasn't been collected and I have been more than patient.

As you know, last July I made a presentation to the Water and Sewer Authority to say that we've got to clean up this act that's been stinking for 35 years. And now I believe that there is some hope and the reason I've been patient is that Dawn Botsford, the new Director, is moving to clean up the problems that we've had by getting some legislation through so we can clean up what is really collectible, what isn't, and making some regulations and rules and outlining the process by which we'll go after the delinquent accounts.

I've been promised that by budget time when Ms. Botsford comes to Council to present her budget for next year, she will indeed tell us exactly what is going to happen. For me, that is zero hour. It cannot go any longer than that. There has to be a plan in place that will address those issues. And the overall scheme of things is $5 to help clean up the multi-million dollars, so much a foot, is not really of any great magnitude. But I appreciate the oversight, the overview by any of my colleagues on this committee. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

Just one question, please. Was there a dollar figure?

Mr. Cohen:

No. On that bill they're condemning the property and then they're submitting to a review board, an arbitration board, to come up with an amount. They could not agree on the price.

Michelle Madoff:

If memory serves me well, this is the property that Engineering and Construction, under McDermott, knew we were going to be developing when we developed Grant Street and didn't move to buy that property when it was available. Let Mr. Early take the property. I want to know what he paid for it. I want to be posted as a Member of this Council, as should all of us, because I went on at length about this issue when it came up originally. And I want to be sure that in the future we don't let that kind of thing fall through the cracks.

This is a very serious cost to the City. I realize now that he has it we're going to arbitrate and I like to know what he paid for it initially. We should have bought it.

The Chair:

So, your request is to obtain additional information about what the purchase price was for Mr. Early.

Michelle Madoff:

I've asked for it before. This is not the first time I'm requesting this information. I don't get the answer and I'd like to have it, but we've had a change of directors.

Could we get a letter to Mr. Alex Sciuilli?

Mr. Cohen:

Let me just briefly speak to Michelle's point. I agree that this is an important purchase -

Michelle Madoff:

It's outrageous.

Mr. Cohen:

Yes. And you said that the City should purchase it. The City has tried to purchase it and they haven't been able to reach an agreement with Mr. Early on this. The only action to take, then, is to condemn the property and have a neutral board come up with a price.

I agree with you. I don't have any problem getting more information on it, but as far as the process that's being taken here, I think it's a good process.

Michelle Madoff:

That's not my issue. Excuse me. I want to clarify it. I want to know why the City didn't buy it before Mr. Early. We knew we were going to need that corner; that's the thing I'm very distressed about. It's outrageous.

Mr. Cohen:

I think it's a good question.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, this bill and this issue has come before Council in the last three years three different times. Each time I voted no, I voted no probably for a different reason than Michelle, and that is, it doesn't make any sense. This is not only a waste of taxpayers' money, albeit state tax dollars and other dollars that will be utilized for this project. But mainly, it just doesn't make any sense.

First of all, to answer Michelle's question, the price paid by Mr. Early was $200,000. He contends that he paid an additional $75,000 for equipment within the building. The URA offered considerably less and, as Mr. Cohen pointed out, approving this bill today will condemn the property, it goes to the Board of Code Review for some other figure. Ostensibly, it's going to be at least $240,000 or $250,000 at best.

The reason why I'm opposed to it is that it doesn't achieve the stated purpose. The stated purpose is to straighten out and improve the intersection. Taking this little piece of property, if you walk the area, does not straighten out the intersection. It's true that more and better signalization is needed at that intersection, but taking this property does not attain it.

It may look good and make sense to some bizarre engineer or architect who sits in an office and plans things out but anybody who walks the area should know better. It doesn't achieve the stated purpose, it's a waste of taxpayers' money at the state level, and most importantly, we're removing a valuable piece of property off the tax rolls.

So, for all those reasons, and another hour's debate doesn't make any sense for me to talk about it, I'm voting no on this legislation.

The Chair:

I'd like to interject a comment. Our traffic safety engineers have advised us that this is necessary to make this intersection safe in the future. And that's the reason why we're pursuing this objective and I support that initiative.

Michelle Madoff:

I agree with you, Mr. President. We should have bought it when we knew we needed it, not let this Mickey Mouse issue go ahead with Mr. Early. I remember when he bought it and I screamed then. I'm really distressed and I don't think people should forget. I think this Administration, under the new director, is trying to correct a grievous wrong.

Tomorrow, as you know, there's a luncheon which I discussed with you about our Members attending, which will probably be addressing a lot of those issues because if you're going to build there you really need to have that corner being effective. I think that Mr. Ferlo and the rest of us ought to go to find out what else is needed at that intersection.

Mr. Ferlo:

On your comment, Mr. Chairman. If that's the standard we're going to use, I hope that the Administration will look closely at a property that's available at Baum and Negley. If you want to straighten out and deal with a bad intersection, I suggest you condemn that property and not this one.

Michelle Madoff:

On two other items that I think are worth noting. I'm sure that my colleagues read the articles about Philadelphia and the terrible problems facing Philadelphia, but I thought it was interesting to note that Philadelphia, with all its problems, is still getting monies from the suburbanites. One-third of the people who do not live in Philadelphia, which is indeed Philadelphia County which means New York, Connecticut, and whatever, are still paying their wage tax to Philadelphia.

If the City of Pittsburgh could get suburbanites to pay their wage tax at a little over 2 percent and even take out the percentage that they pay in their own communities, Grant Street wouldn't be covered with bricks, they would be gold bricks.

I think that we must still persist in trying to get some tax reform and not forget that we are being treated differently than Philadelphia and it isn't fair out of Harrisburg.

On another item. I just want to mention very briefly that in Tuesday's Post Gazette this morning New York City took a major step yesterday towards becoming the first large city in the United States to ban cigarette vending machines from most public places.

"The City Council's Health Committee unanimously passed a bill that would ban machines from apartment buildings, gasoline stations, coin operated laundries, restaurants where the sale of alcoholic beverages is incidental. Taverns and many bars would be exempt.

As many as 75 percent of the city's estimated 36,000 cigarette machines would be affected. The ban would take effect January 31, 1992. The full Council is to act on the bill October 25th."

And the Mayor yesterday came out with a statement saying that we're going to stand by their policy on our cigarette banning bill and let the cards fall where they may.

The Chair:

Thank you.

And on the motion of Michelle Madoff

Council adjourned.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Cohen:

Good morning, Members of Council and friends. This resolution is being introduced by Councilman Darkins, Councilman Ferlo and myself because it pertains to an organization that covers all of our neighborhoods in each of our districts.

I'd like Leslie Reicher and Tony Finizio to come up, please.

Mr. Cohen, Mr. Darkins and Mr. Ferlo present

No.1602 WHEREAS, the Eastside Alliance was created as a cooperative effort of the Eastside neighborhoods of Bloomfield, Garfield, Lawrenceville and Polish Hill; and

WHEREAS, the Eastside Alliance is a coalition of the following organizations: Bloomfield-Garfield Corporation, Bloomfield Lawrenceville Lions Club, Bloomfield Lawrenceville Lioness Club, Friendship Baptist Church, Garfield Jubilee Association, Lawrenceville Business Association, Friendship Development Associates, Lawrenceville Bloomfield Meals on Wheels, Lawrenceville Citizens Council, Lawrenceville Development Corporation, Lawrenceville Historical Society, Penn Merchants Association, Polish Hill Civic Association, St. Augustine Church, St. Francis Health System, St. Mary's Church, Trinity Baptist Church, and West Penn Hospital; and

WHEREAS, these neighborhoods are working together to keep their communities vibrant places for young and old to work and live; and

WHEREAS, the Eastside Alliance was created because each neighborhood could be stronger if they worked together; and

WHEREAS, the Eastside Alliance is working on such concerns as housing, employment, youth and public safety; and

WHEREAS, the Eastside Alliance is currently working on such projects as helping homeowners keep their properties attractive, using City loan programs for needed repairs, trying to link residents with jobs right in their own backyards, and helping to give youth a sense of hope.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh commends Eastsider of the Year, Tony Finizio; the recipient of a special Service to Youth Award, Dick Romano; and these following Volunteers of the Year: Walter Forston, Cecelia Gazica, Rick Booth, Vera George, Eve Picker, Margaret Magill, Jim Foley; Mary Zajac, Donna Couch, Anne New, Mary Meyers, Reverend Keith Grill, Mattie Howard, David Vogel, and the Parishioners of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church who work with the addicted; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby declares Friday, November 2, 1990 as "Eastside Day".

Mr. Cohen moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you, Members of Council. I'm very happy to have with us here, along with Councilman Darkins, Leslie Reicher who is the Executive Director of Eastside Alliance, and the Eastsider of the Year, Tony Finizio.

As I mentioned, this group does much to work with worthy projects such as employment and housing and public safety. And I'd like to first congratulate Tony Finizio for being Eastsider of the Year. Congratulations.

Mr. Finizio:

I want to thank Council for all the years that I've been down here asking for funds for different organizations, especially Meals on Wheels. Thanks a lot for all the support.

Ms. Reicher:

Thank you, Council. I'd like to invite all of you to come to our dinner on Friday, November 2nd to honor Tony Finizio, Dick Romano, and all the other neighborhood volunteers for all of their work.

Tony is sort of the "volunteer everyman", it seems to me. He is a name that a lot of people may not know, but his impact in the neighborhood is tremendous for a lot of individuals in the neighborhood who can't get out of their homes who he goes to help every day of his life.

So, please come out to honor Tony, and thank you very much.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1603 WHEREAS, Earl Jones, Sr. is the Founder and President of Hazelwood Development Corporation; and

WHEREAS, Earl Jones, Sr. is the guiding influence in establishing a monument in memory of Richard D. Hough, a runner who died in the Pittsburgh Marathon; and

WHEREAS, Earl Jones, Sr. used his vast skills to rally the support of Pittsburgh's corporations and individuals to raise the funds to establish the monument; and

WHEREAS, Earl Jones, Sr. is a man who is most worthy of honor and congratulations for his love of Pittsburgh and his dedication to its citizens and public officials.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby proclaim October 23, 1990 as "Earl Jones, Sr. Day" in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. President, we have Mr. Earl Jones here today and we also have Jane McMullen who is our Jury Commissioner of Allegheny County, one of them, that is receiving these honors and we would like for them both to have something to say.

Mr. Jones:

I'm honored to be here today and I would like to thank the people not for myself but the other people responsible for this monument. They consist of Jane McMullen who has helped me with the writing on the monument; Ross Calfo and Ted Komorowski. And also the people of the City and the employees of Duquesne Light and Mike Radley who gave me permission to put this monument on the Point the day of the race. Without the help of every person that donated and without the help of the City and the churches, it wouldn't have been possible.

At one time they said that nobody recognizes the ordinary man in Pittsburgh. Well, this monument does and that's what makes this such a great City to live in and I'm proud of the effort. Thank you.

Ms. McMullen:

Earl, as a member of the Hazelwood Development Corporation, I know how much the people in your area and this monument has meant to you and how hard you've worked to get it established.

I also know that when you talk about "every man", there's no more an "every man" caring about every person in their community than you. Keep up the good work.

Mr. Darkins:

I would just like to say that I want to thank you for asking me to come to present the monument at the memorial services on that day. It was just great.

Mr. Jones:

May I say one more word? One of the things that I really appreciate is Councilman Darkins coming and helping to dedicate that and say a prayer for all of the people that were in the race and those who are no longer with us. I'm very proud of his effort. He was there when I needed him.

The Chair:

Thank you all for coming today.

Mr. Darkins:

I'd like to ask Mrs. Jacobs to come forward, please.

Mr. Darkins presents

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

We have Mrs. Jacobs here today to receive this resolution. She is from Kaufmann's Triangle Corner where she will be performing.

Mrs. Jacobs:

Thank you very much. On behalf of Kaufmann's Triangle Corner, Ltd., I'd like to thank you for your support of our programs. Triangle Corner is Kaufmann's program for the Pittsburgh business community and we appreciate your support. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to move the following resolution and I'd like to have our representatives from the Housing Authority Agency come forward.

I'm very pleased that David Washington is here, the Executive Director of the Agency; Reverend Simms, no stranger to City Hall and these Chambers, one of the Deputy Directors at the Agency; and Linda Brown from Arlington who is no stranger to Council Chambers also.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1605 WHEREAS, HUD has awarded a $960,000 grant to the Housing Authority of the City of Pittsburgh to initiate a comprehensive strategy to address the complex problem of crime related to drugs and to provide a safe environment for our residents living in our public housing communities; and

WHEREAS, the program provides for physical and street lighting improvements to add to resident security and to reduce the concentration of drug related activity in open public spaces; and

WHEREAS, the Housing Authority strategy is a unique effort to combine traditional public safety and police enforcement with physical improvements in the community together with initiatives focusing on education, prevention and referral; and

WHEREAS, the Housing Authority program will work cooperatively with the statewide drug enforcement task force, the City of Pittsburgh Police Bureau, the Allegheny County MH/MR Agency, and the court system to provide services for treatment referral and consultation; and

WHEREAS, the Housing Authority initiative will strengthen the capacity of existing human and social service agencies to provide a more coordinated and comprehensive range of services to families at risk; and

WHEREAS, the Housing Authority initiative will maximize tenant involvement and participation in the fight against drugs and will be community and family focused and is a collaborative effort with such agencies as the Urban League of Pittsburgh, the Addison Terrace Learning Center, Project 90, Neighborhood Centers Association, City of Pittsburgh Parks and Recreation, Arlington Heights Resident Council and Northview Heights Residents Council.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh supports and congratulates the Housing Authority of the City of Pittsburgh and HUD for their efforts to fight drug related activity and the complex problem of crime associated with drug activity; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh extends a special thank you to the residents, employees, and Board Members of the Authority for their effort and declares our firm resolve to be a strong, visible and vocal ally in this critical battle to improve the quality of life for thousands of our residents.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think all of us in Council have been pretty active and supportive of the activities of the Housing Authority. I'm very excited about what's going on at the Housing Authority; I really believe it's a new day at the Agency both in terms of leadership from the staff, as expressed by the two gentlemen who are here today, but also I think there's a lot more leadership on the part of the Board, but most importantly on the part of the residents.

And indicative of this award from the Federal Agency is an indication that tenant involvement is really key to addressing a lot of the issues confronting our public housing communities. And certainly the anti-drug effort is premiere in that battle to improve the quality of life in our communities, communities that affect 30,000 residents here in the City of Pittsburgh.

So, I'm very excited to be a part of some of these efforts. I thought it was important that often times the Agency is barraged with publicity and often times bad publicity, and I think it's important that we give credit to this Agency when their doing good work. And I think the Agency has turned the corner. I think a lot of good work is being done.

I'm excited about another effort. One of the Mayor's appointees to the Board, Dr. Herman Reed, has been helping with Reverend Simms to do a needs assessment with the United Way Agency and there's lots of other things hopefully David and Reverend Simms will talk about. But I think it's time that we really begin to applaud and designate and articulate the things that are going on at the Housing Authority. And I'm really pleased that so many Councilmembers have become much more active in their respective communities in the public housing community.

So, at this time, I'd like to turn to David Washington and maybe Linda Brown and Reverend Simms would like to make a few comments.

Mr. Washington:

Mr. President and Members of Council, we deeply appreciate the opportunity to receive this proclamation and resolution here today. As Councilman Ferlo indicated, so often in the past the kind of publicity that has come out about the Housing Authority has been in the negative fashion and it's good to get something and hear about something that's positive.

On behalf of the Authority, let me also indicate how much we appreciate the real effort that our Resident Council Leadership in Arlington Heights and also in Northview Heights put into the preparation of our application that went in. And without the kind of partnership-type support that we've been receiving from City Council, a lot of this could not be reality.

So, on behalf of the Housing Authority, let me again just express our deep appreciation. And we're going to continue to work together to deal with this massive problem. I realize this is a beginning but we're going to work with it and again, thanks very much.

I'd like to ask Linda to come forward. This is Linda Brown who I'm sure you know is President of the Arlington Heights Tenant Council.

Ms. Brown:

Thank you, Council, for passing this resolution. On behalf of the residents in Arlington Heights, I must say this; this application was approved with the input of residents from Arlington Heights, Northview Heights. Also the Hill, we're talking Addison Terrace and Alequippa Terrace. So, without the input of the residents, I don't think this would have happened.

And there is a new day, as Mr. Ferlo said, in the Housing Authority. The Housing Authority is starting to listen to the concerns of the residents. And with the approval of this drug prevention and drug-related resolution, I think we're on the right steps. Thank you.

Mr. Washington:

And the man who had to pull this all together so that we could get the million dollars, Reverend Jim Simms.

Reverend Simms:

Thank you very much. I'd just like to add my comments to those that have already been stated.

We certainly appreciate the support of our tenant leadership in this application. Often time, as you know, when Pittsburgh is in a competitive position with other cities and other jurisdictions, we have to struggle hard to make sure that our issue is on the agenda.

We're very happy that HUD has had the kind of confidence in this Authority and its Administration, the support of Council and others, to make this grant.

As Councilman Ferlo indicated, the lifting of issues in public housing is quite heavy. And the Housing Authority is going to need a lot of help in being able to bring some serious initiatives to improve the quality of life for the 30,000 people in public housing. We'll ask each Councilmember to keep that on your agenda as we'll be coming by talking to you about Block Grant support and other areas of support that this Administration can make to help us in public housing. But we certainly appreciate that.

We ask tenants to continue to be vigilant and we are also grateful for the support of our new Boardmembers and the renewed enthusiasm that's in the Authority.

Again, we thank you very much and thank Councilman Ferlo for this public recognition of the effort. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

Also,

Bill No. 1477

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 886 of 1987 entitled 'Resolution providing for an Agreement or Agreements for the hiring of counsel to assist in the representation of the City of Pittsburgh, Richard Caliguiri, Eugene DePasquale, Ben Woods, Mark Pollock, Sophie Masloff, Michelle Madoff, Richard Givens, Stephen Grabowski, Jack Wagner and James O'Malley in the case of Metropolitan Pittsburgh Crusade for Voters, et. al. v. City of Pittsburgh, et. al., filed in the United States District Court for the Western Pennsylvania at C.A. No. 86-173, providing for the payment of the cost thereof from Code Account No. 1075, Miscellaneous Services, Department of Law, Index Code No. 107508;' so as to increase the amount authorized from $165,000.00 to $200,000.00."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 1477, I think it's appropriate that both you, Mr. Wagner, and myself abstain since we're parties to the lawsuit. There should never have been a lawsuit because they were going to get election by district in any event.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'm voting no on Bill 1477, as I've indicated, and I'd like my comments be brought forward.

However, I do think it's wrong for Councilmembers to abstain on that bill regardless of their name being mentioned in the legislation. For one thing, if they vote no, the bill may not pass because I believe it needs six votes to approve the authorization for the expenditure

We approve legislation each year regarding the tax mix on lands and buildings. For those of us who own property it directly affects us.

So, there's no logic whatsoever in this bill for people to abstain on it unless you have some ruling from the Solicitor which we haven't seen yet.

The Chair:

We haven't seen a ruling but thinking back when the legislation was originally initiated it would have never passed if everyone involved would have abstained.

Mr. Ferlo:

I wish Council would have abstained when they originally agreed to spend the money. We wouldn't be in this problem in the first place.

The Chair:

That's not the point I'm making, Mr. Ferlo, please.

So, I personally think we can vote on the legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm sorry, Mr. Wagner. Did you say you personally think we can or cannot?

The Chair:

It's obvious when it was originally initiated that we did vote for it without having the testimony or the record here. Or else it would not have passed with those Councilmembers or the most recent group of Councilmembers. We have received no notification from the Law Department saying we should not vote on the legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Wagner, my understanding of what had transpired at that point, and I was in the forefront of this effort to go to election by district so that we would have minority representation. But despite the fact that that was proceeding and it was going to happen, we were sued. If somebody wants to sue us, anybody can sue anybody for whatever they want.

It seems to me that we didn't create this bill, someone else created the bill suing us and I think it's inappropriate for us to vote for it.

And if Mr. Ferlo is so concerned about getting the bills to pay for it and the courts are indicating there should be some payment for it, then he should vote yes instead of saying, "I'm going to vote no but you other people vote yes."

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, this issue actually is covered by the Ethics Bill but since it's not in effect yet, I guess you can abstain.

My view on this is that you should abstain only if it's going to affect each of you financially. And in the substance of the bill, it may have; but since this is only on the attorneys fees aspect of the bill, there is no chance that this would affect you individually or financially.

So, in my view, which is only one person's view, but I think that you can go ahead and vote on this bill because it has no chance of you having a personal financial interest in it.

The Chair:

Because there is a difference of opinion on this legislation, I'd like to entertain a motion to recommit Bill No. 1477.

Mr. Milliones:

So moved.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Also,

Bill No. 1478

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution amending Resolution No. 65 of 1990 entitled 'Providing for an agreement or agreements with a Court Reporter or Reporters in connection with the taking of testimony at Civil Service Commission and Appeals Board hearings; and providing for the payment of the cost thereof.'"

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 1478, I must abstain because the witnesses who came to be interviewed during that particular hearing who were not on the side of the Controller's Office were not paid. I'm just not going to vote for that. I just can't do it in good conscience. Some of the hearing executives were terribly upset.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, in regards to Michelle's comments on 1478, the bill is to pay court reporting services for meetings that are recorded at the Personnel and Civil Service Commission as well as the Appeals Board. It has nothing to do whatsoever with the issue, which I happen to sympathize with, that Michelle pointed out earlier regarding who gets paid and who doesn't get paid when they're subpoenaed before the Board. This is just to pay for the reporting services.

Michelle Madoff:

On this bill, 1478, addressing the Appeals Board, I'm sending a message. Yes, I understand that we have to pay for court stenographers and so on, but I want to send a message here on what I think was unjust and unfair and at least bring it to public attention. That's why I'm going to abstain on this bill.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like my comments brought forward on Bill 1475.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1475-Wednesday 10/17/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

Director, I am obviously in favor of any new housing in this neighborhood or any others. I think I have attended approximately three neighborhood meeting in the Homewood community in the last couple years.

One continual criticism or concern that keeps being raised is how much it appears that we are doing for new construction versus what may appear -- and I don't know if it is accurate -- that we are not remodeling other structures on residential streets in Homewood. The concern being that we have a lot of stable residential homeowners on lots of streets, but that next door to many of those secure houses are abandoned houses or boarded up houses.

Can you give us any kind of report that talks specific not only about the new construction that is going on, but that can begin to talk about some of those criticisms that have been raised by advocates in the community that we are not doing enough to secure and maintain the decent housing stock that does exist in the Homewood community?

I get the feeling if we put all the money into the basket of new construction and we are not safeguarding the property owners that we do have who also live next door to a condemned building or boarded up house, it is a big problem.

Mr. Whitmer:

As you know, in Homewood there are two groups that have been doing new housing, Operation Better Block and HBRDC. We are beginning to encourage them to take on the improvements of existing homes. We do have the Housing Recovery Program which we initiated last year. It did not get off the ground as well as we anticipated, but hopefully this next year we will do a better job and the various neighborhood organizations that have been doing new housing will begin to use that funding and begin picking out individual homes that have to be revitalized.

Mr. Ferlo:

I feel like we are fighting a good battle but we are going to lose the war.

Mr. Whitmer:

I can't disagree with you. When I first came aboard, I think that was one of things we discussed quite extensively, the need to begin renovating some of these houses and spending money in that area. Secondly, we have done a lot of new construction and our second mortgage money with the decline in CD funds is slowly -- I won't say running out, it is at a much lower level than it was in past years.

Mr. Ferlo:

Another issue I raised in the past in the budget proceedings with the URA is that for every time we build a new home in Homewood, or a high-rise, we also deplete the housing stock that is there. What frequently happens is a person, especially an elderly person, will leave a decent home in the community for the high-rise or new home, and then that home is vacant and we are not doing anything with that. Somehow we have to coordinate the housing stuff that is going on in the neighborhood. So far I don't see it happening. It seems like we are fighting a good battle but we are going to lose the war.

Mr. Whitmer:

I think it is in some cases, and unfortunately, there are some cases where it is much easier to assemble a parcel of land and build new housing because of the tax delinquencies and the deterioration of the existing housing stock. We are trying to balance that out.

Mr. Ferlo:

Have any of the three groups that do housing in the neighborhood made a commitment or are they doing any feasibility on the issue of restoring the vacant and/or condemned structures?

Mr. Whitmer:

I believe Mulu and his group are looking at some houses out there. I would have to get back to you.

Mr. Ferlo:

What is the income guideline for these new 15 single families? The other criticism that is continually raised in the community is that the new housing represents an income bracket, and I agree we need to have a higher income bracket, but people most in need of housing have not been able to get a share of new housing.

Mr. Whitmer:

I don't have that precisely. It would be based on what the first mortgage got -- well, it would be based on the purchase of the home and the amount of the first mortgage, whether the person would have to be eligible for the first mortgage and how much we allocated for the second mortgage.

Mr. Ferlo:

Maybe since we are now approaching year end and the budget discussion regarding various URA programs, maybe some of the statistics will be made available.

Mr. Whitmer:

All this is based on the cost of the unit when it is built and how much we can subsidize the mortgage.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I am asking my colleagues to please remain for a few minutes and not leave because we have a very serious issue before not only this Council, the Administration, but before this City. And the scapegoating for this is going to be this City Council and I think we need to put somethings into perspective.

In 1989, July of 1989 which began long before this date, I did an audit of the Water Department. I made sure that when the new members got to Council that all members got a copy of that audit. I don't know whether everybody read it, I don't know whether everybody remembers reading it, but I would respectfully ask that you reread it. And if you don't have a copy, we have lots of extra copies to give you.

What we're seeing happening now in the public eye and what is happening to all of us again as scapegoats, is there has never been a policy. There has never been a policy in the Water Department to address the issue of what appears in our printouts showing, for example, that we had $18 million in uncollected bills. We now have $19 million. There still has not been a policy for removing things that don't belong in the billing system.

It has been a situation where our former director who is outstanding in working on making sure that the water was safe and the engineering end of it, and did a fine job of that, but never really addressed the issue of collection of delinquent accounts. To this day, there are still one-third of the people who are delinquent in water bills. One-third of the people who don't pay. But the little people, the people on welfare, the widows and so on, pay their bills.

There have been errors where the water bill where the responsibility is the department of the City, the Water Department has not done its job. Therefore, many of us, including starting at the Administration, people have been blamed for doing things they really didn't do.

I want to point out that somewhere along in '86 my office had done a six-month study on flat water bills and eventually something started to happen about that but it's still not completed in 1990. If we go back in July of 1889 --

Mr. Cohen:

Michelle, you haven't been here that long.

Michelle Madoff:

Excuse me, of 1989, July 29, 1989, October 11, 1989, July 7th. I've had on-going correspondence with the Administration and with the Water Department and, as you know, tomorrow I believe there are four bills coming before this Council that different Members of Council are introducing to try to straighten out what the Water Department should have done some time ago.

My piece of legislation, which we will discuss tomorrow in detail, addresses how we can overcome the issue of people who receive water bills that are inaccurate because they have not been informed of information they should have been informed of, and how we can go about correcting some of these problems. I know Mr. Ricciardi has a bill. I believe Mr. Ferlo has a bill that's coming in tomorrow.

The point I want to make is that no one ever did an audit of the Water Department and so last July I took it upon myself to not only do the audit but present it to the Water and Sewer Authority, who agreed that it was accurate.

The Chair:

Councilwoman Madoff, since we're going to discuss this bill tomorrow, why don't we leave that dialogue until then?

Michelle Madoff:

I am planning to do that. But I want to leave the message with the public that as head of the Water Department all these years I have been trying my hardest to do something about it. I do not want to be the person in that hot seat that says, "Well, you didn't do anything." and I know that that is the game plan of a number of people not sitting here today. There's a focus being made on that Water Department basically pointing out what we already know.

I would urge you to please go back before tomorrow, it's very brief, five or ten minutes, and read the audit. If you don't have a copy, we'll give you another copy. Thank you.

Mr. Cohen moved to approve the Minutes of Tuesday, October 2, 1990; Tuesday, October 9, 1990; and Tuesday, October 16, 1990.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Milliones

Council adjourned.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to ask the representatives of the Blue Cross as well as the Caring Program for Children to come forward.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1644 WHEREAS, the Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania Blue Shield Caring Program for Children serves the health care needs of children from families who cannot afford private insurance, do not have employer-provided health care benefits and who are not covered by Medicaid. The Caring Program is the nation's first private health insurance initiative for children from low-income families; and

WHEREAS, the Caring Program for Children was designed to assist the "working poor", which targets children from families with incomes below the federal poverty level ($12,700) for a family of four) but more than the Medicaid ceiling ($6,800) for a family of four in Pennsylvania); and

WHEREAS, through the Caring Program, children up to age 19 receive primary health care benefits including office visits, emergency care, diagnostic tests, outpatient surgery, immunizations and inoculations, routine physical examinations, and other pediatric preventive health maintenance measures; and

WHEREAS, the program is provided through the cooperation and support of Western Pennsylvania hospitals and more than 11,000 Pennsylvania Blue Shield participating physicians; and

WHEREAS, benefits are provided at no cost to enrolled children and their families. The program is supported by contributions from religious groups, businesses, foundations, civic organizations, unions and individuals; and

WHEREAS, as an expression of its commitment to the community, Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania Blue Shield match all contributions dollar for dollar. The cost per child has remained $156.00 per year since the program started in 1985.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh commends Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania Blue Shield for their efforts to provide health care needs to children whose needs were being neglected as working parents lost their jobs.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh, proclaims Tuesday, October 30, 1990 as Blue Cross of Western Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania Blue Shield Caring Program for Children Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

I reserve comments about the pronouncements today from Pennsylvania Blue Shield on the over 65 Special. Today, I do think its important that we do recognize both organizations that I think are doing an excellent program, but I think needs to have more publicity. I wasn't aware until Gerri from my office informed me about this program, and I think a lot of people out there are not aware of what this program is all about, and I think there are a lot of people here in the City that could take advantage of this program.

I'd like to let you know who is here today. To my left is Paul O'Palka, Jr., who is probably no stranger to Council. We received many of his documents every other month. He's the Director of Government Relations at Blue Cross. Speaking here today representing the Caring Program for Children to my left is Charles LaVallee, he's the Director and I'd him to accept the proclamation. Thank you.

Mr. LaVallee:

I would like to thank Jim Ferlo in particular, Members of Council, and the Mayor for your recognition. Really that every day needs to be a day for children. Jim jokes about the timing but we need to make every day a priority day.

I think its critical to understand the group of people we're targeted to, which is contained in the proclamation, below poverty which is $12,700 for a family of four, and above the medical assistance guidelines.

We estimate that in the 29 counties of Western Pennsylvania there are 42,000 eligible children, and one mother -- all these are the working poor or the working uninsured, however you'd like to refer to them. One mother summed it up best, and I brought some material and you can read her comments for yourself. She said, "there's nothing worse then having a sick child, except having a sick child who can't get care." She also said, "the decisions we're making on a daily basis are these; we have to decide between food on the table, a roof over our head, and health care." Not health care coverage, but health care.

The Caring Program by Blue Cross and Blue Shield is a private sector initiative to respond to these needs. It provides primary health care coverage, and one of the most important parts is the dignity that it provides.

For example a parent can choose from any one of the participating physicians and when they present the Blue Cross/Blue Shield Card there's no distinction, there's no stigma, and our parents -- I estimate I get about 300 to 500 letters a year just on the dignity that these families feel through having the same card that anybody else has, and that's our principle to provide the same kind of care that you would get if you had private insurance. In the same fashion so that everyone has dignity.

You know finding the kids is no problem. One of our television stations interviewed me once, a 30 second news story and we found 1,512 children in 30 seconds. That's 50 kids a second. That's startling when you think about it.

But, how the program works is as we raise funds from the community to sponsor a child is $13.00 a month or $156.00 a year, and we match that. But, as we raise the funds that's obviously where the challenge is. I'd be delighted to provide all members of Council with a form by which you could sponsor a child, but really where we need your help is to get the word out and motivate the community that we can make a difference for our children.

I spoke at the Headstart Conference this year. It was the 25th Anniversary of Headstart, and Secretary Foster summed it up best I think, "she said the world will be changed by parents who change it one child at a time." And, that's what we're trying to do is to give our parents and their children the dignity as they provide this primary health care coverage.

So, any support you can give to us in helping identify children or in raising funds I'd be delighted to work with your staff and come to any meeting you can set up, as many meetings as you set up, and we'll be putting some material in your boxes for your staff, and your review. The number is 255-8127 and its in your packet, Finally, I'd like to tell you that this idea we created five years ago, almost six now, we have a federal grant through HHS., and the program has now been replicated through Blue Cross/Blue Shield, and 11 other locations. And, that's really exciting if you think about it, back in '85 when steel was really collapsing that we created what is now becoming a model for the nation. So, its a tribute to Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania. We have a long way to go, 39 states to go, but really we all have to make children our priority. So again, thank you Councilman, and for your support.

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman on Bill 1527 I just want the record to note that Director Washington from the Housing Authority did communicate regarding the $1,560,000 of the block grants, and he has indicated that its going for major construction and repair, window replacement, roof replacement, sidewalk replacement and repair in about seven different communities.

Mr. Milliones:

Yes, I'd like to ask Mr. Ferlo a question in regard to 1527. Are any of those funds going to used for social services?

Mr. Ferlo:

Of the $1,560,000 figure, $50,000 was committed during the budget process last year to go to social service agencies providing services within the public housing community, and in the past I believe Addison Terrace Learning Center, and one or two other agencies received a small grant from that figure.

Mr. Milliones:

But, they have a new social service director. Are any of those funds going to be directed to his office?

Mr. Ferlo:

At this time I really cannot answer the question. We have to direct the communication to Director Washington.

Mr. Milliones:

Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

I will find that answer out. My understanding is that Council's interest was to fund agencies directly in the community providing services and not necessarily the administration of the program. Is that the concern? If the concern is specifically that we fund the agencies and not pay for the overhead, I think the way the grant is worded its to provide grants to agencies providing services as opposed to paying for administrative overhead.

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1529 - Wednesday, 10/24/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

I raise the same concern here. Personally, I am not proposed to vote in favor of these expenditures until I know from the Administration, and maybe they can tell us today, that the retail property owners, retail shops and/or property owners in the affected corridor are actually committed and signed on now to support the construction activities. This is the same requirement that we put on neighborhood business districts, and I am not convinced that is there yet. If it is, then I want to see it in writing.

Ms. Donahoe:

Before we can go into construction there, all of the financing would have to be worked out. Right now the financing is not in place, because the financing anticipates the participation of others, whoever those others may be.

Mr. Ferlo:

I understand there is a lot of fanfare at the press conference and unveiling at the Chamber of Commerce with the Administration, but there are a lot of ramblings on the street that there is a lot of opposition and concern that the street is going to be dug up for five years or greater, similar to the Grant Street experience, and we won't even have any retail shops left on Fifth Avenue by the time the project is done, and that the property owners are hesitant to make the commitment to supply the matching funds, in which case I don't think the project is going to go forth. Where is it actually at?

Ms. Donahoe:

We are now at the point of just doing vault surveys. There has been a contract let with UDA, Urban Design Associates, for the conceptual design work. That work is actually being managed by City Planning. There are contracts with SAI Engineers to do the vault surveys.

Mr. Ferlo:

The reason I am saying this, what is the $600,000.00 for? Is it actually to do street scape improvements or pay consultants?

Ms. Donahoe:

Part of the 600,000 would go towards the design of Phase I, which we would not let until all of the logistics have been worked out in terms of the financing.

Mr. Ferlo:

I guess I feel I am being hooked into the same scenario as Herr's Island: A major commitment of public dollars, no light at the end of the tunnel. And in this situation, it is not clear that the retail businesses and/or property owners are going to make the commitment to put up the matching funds, in which case we would expend a lot of money and we will go nowhere.

Why can't Council be given reasonable assurance at this time? Because we have already committed lots of money. We paid for design engineers, environmental consultants, vault studies. There have been lots of bills that we approved in the last year and a half and we are still not at the point of having a formal commitment on the part of the property owners to participate in Fifth Avenue Square initiative. Am I wrong?

Ms. Donahoe:

This is no formal agreement.

Mr. Ferlo:

Why are we being led down the primrose path? Why do we continue to make all these investment dollars when it is not clear there is the participation? Is it going to be a situation where you come back in a year and the Administration will say, "We spent out this money, so now we have to use all our funds, and we are going to waive the commitment of the property owners"?

Ms. Donahoe:

I can't really answer that question. Right now at this point in time there is additional vault survey work that has to be done, it has to be done well in advance before you can even get into design. That additional vault survey work should probably be completed --

Mr. Ferlo:

I have one last question. Why are the property owners hesitant and why have they not made the commitment to participate in this initiative? Is it because they are worried about the multi-year construction phase? What is it?

Ms. Donahoe:

I really can't answer that question.

Mr. Ferlo:

Can I ask the question to Director Downing? Director, I think you understand the concern I am raising. In the neighborhood business corridors, which many of us are struggling to repair, the Administration's line is, "We will gladly match the dollars, but there has to be the commitment from the property owners," and I want that same standard to apply with the Downtown property properties. In Fifth Avenue Square we are expending great sums of money. It is not clear to me that we yet have that commitment. Why are people hesitant?

I don't want a smoke and mirrors press conference, I want to know what is real and on the table and what is not real.

Ms. Downing:

When the Mayor announced this project in April, in addition to simply discussing the design elements of the project, there was also a request for shared financing in the improvements, and a suggestion that a business improvement district be formed in the Downtown in conjunction with this project. We have been holding conversations about the formation of a business improvement district with various property owners. We have to have certain information about the costs of the project in order to then be able to translate what it means to individual property owners, for one.

The vault information that Miss Donahoe was talking about a minute ago is an important element in making preliminary estimates on the costs. The second issue is what kind of assessment mechanism is the best to use in the Downtown area where you have buildings of varying types and varying sizes. In the neighborhood districts, those buildings tend to all be of similar size and similar width on the sidewalks, so the mechanisms in the neighborhood business district is fairly simple.

Mr. Ferlo:

Based on linear feet?

Ms. Downing:

Yes, but there is a choice. The Pennsylvania Economy League undertook a study for us to evaluate the various methods, and concluded that the mechanism that works best is the current county assessment system.

Mr. Ferlo:

I don't care what the method is, I am only saying --

Ms. Downing:

I am saying we had to get those pieces in place in order to then have some substantive conversations with the property owners. So we are in an organizing phase, much as we have been with the neighborhood business districts, and it takes a while to explain what a business improvement district is.

Mr. Ferlo:

The difference, Director, is we have committed massive amounts of money at this level, at these preliminary stage levels, which we have never done. When East Ohio Street was done in the East Allegheny section, you know, a district was created, the neighborhood businesses had to ante up and we anted up. We didn't spend massive amounts of monies.

Ms. Downing:

We anted up first and it took two years to actually form the business improvement district, so the preliminary work, in fact, was financed by community development block grant funds before the actual district was created, and in that sense this is a similar process.

Mr. Ferlo:

How much money will we have to spend before we know that we actually have the commitments of the property owners? Are we going to have to spend $2 million and then find out from the business owners that they don't want to participate?

Ms. Donahoe:

No. What we are doing is the conceptual design work and we are doing the vault survey work, which is both preliminary design. We will get to that point --

Ms. Donahoe:

About $500,000.00.

Ms. Downing:

And then we are having conversations simultaneously with the property owners.

Mr. Ferlo:

I wasn't even for this project, Mr. Wagner convinced me over the last several years that this was an important project to do. Now I am just concerned about the manner in which it will be done and whether or not the property owners will actually come forward and make their commitment. What are the reasons why property owners are hesitant to make this commitment?

Ms. Downing:

We are talking about a three-part financing scheme; part city financing, part through business improvement districts, and the third part is a combination of state and federal funding. It for some reason we can't secure either of the other two pieces of financing, then we are in a discussion about a different type plan. So we are trying to work on all phases.

We just are working through a process. I don't think we have had anyone say they absolutely will not form a business improvement district. It is a new concept for the Downtown property owners.

Mr. Ferlo:

I will close by saying to me it is a question of priority. If the businesses and property owners Downtown are not going to jump on the band wagon and ante up, then I think we should commit the money to Carson Street, straighten out the the East Liberty Mall, which is still a mess and we committed massive amounts of money to, do Federal Street which is a mess, and put the money where we are going to have an impact.

Ms. Downing:

We have committed funds to Southside and East Liberty through the neighborhood business district program.

Mr. Ferlo:

We are committing funds in a half baked way. We are still not going to resolve the parking curbs issues in East Liberty.

This is a comment, and I hope you will respect a comment rather than a question, which is what bothers me about all this is that Council authorized money for Ammon Recreation Center I think four times in the past in the last two or three years, and finally we have to go through this to actually get it done. What bothers me is it seems as though Council authorizes the funding, and it doesn't get done. It is unfortunate that it takes Dr. Milliones to make a point of it and for the Administration to go through these kinds of financial arrangements to make it happen. I just want to say that it bothers me if this is what is necessary in order to get something done.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, very briefly I just want to take the opportunity with the free air waves here to thank various city departments over the week-end. Especially, this past Friday night. A very large successful community event was held in the neighborhood of Lawrenceville. It was a Halloween Parade. The first major community-wide event in over forty years in that neighborhood. The Police Department in particular, the Traffic Division did one heck of a job with a very large crowd. Over 2,000 children participated in the parade, several thousand residents participated in the parade and the march, and particularly Traffic did one heck of a job in the Police Department. But, Public Works and the Parks Department helped out a lot.

I want to thank my colleague Mr. Regan for his support with some of the prizes, and his help with some of bands at the last minute. The Mayor showed up and we thank her for her attendance.

But really, I just want to say thank you to all the volunteers, and to some of the community organizations that came together and put on one hell of an event. Thank you.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you Mr. President. There was a serious water main break in North Oakland this morning. Many of you have heard about it. It broke at about 5:45 A.M., and it was a pretty large 20 inch break on Neville Street between Centre and Bayard. I've been in contact with the Water Department that area is in my district. Neville Street is closed right now and traffic is being detoured. Luckily, it didn't effect any of the hospitals or the schools, or churches that nearby, and at the moment the Water Department has informed me that only one apartment building is now without water, that's 409 North Neville Street. All of the others have been switched to a smaller 6 inch line. Two water buffaloes have been set up on North Neville Street. If anybody needs more information they should call the emergency dispatcher at the Water Department. The number there is 255-2429. That dispatcher has constant with the field, but it looks like the Water Department has it under control. My understanding is that that apartment building will not have water for several hours, but they should be back on line by the end of the day.

The Chair:

Thank you for that report Mr. Cohen.

Any other items to be brought before Council?

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to congratulate my colleague Jim Ferlo for one of the super parades of all time, and I can't figure out since he's such a nice, congenial guy; why he would dress like Dracula for the parade.

Mr. Ferlo moved to approve the minutes of Tuesday, October 23, 1990.

Mr. Darkins seconded the motion.

Mr. Regan moved to excuse Michelle Madoff for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Milliones moved to adjourn this meeting and meet again Wednesday, November 7, 1990 at 10:00 A.M., and also the Standing Committee meeting for Wednesday, November 7, 1990 at 2:00 P.M.

Council adjourned.

I hope that you will join City Planning in a film that they're making, and contact Jane Downing, which shows communities how to emulate people who are doing wonderful things. I think this could be something we could distribute to communities so that those that don't know how to do it would learn from you. I thank you and honor you.

On behalf of the Open Door, it's Steering Committee, all its volunteers and Crafton Heights United Presbyterian Church, we certainly thank all of you for this proclamation.

We invite all the people in the community of the 20th and 28th wards to continue to come on down to the Open Door and take advantage of all the programs that we do have.

---(SPONSORED BY MR. COHEN) (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff

I would respectfully like to ask that we take Bill 637 by itself, the Ethics Bill. I think there will be much discussion on it.

The Chair:

Okay, we will take that individually.

Michelle Madoff:

Basically, I think the bill is an excellent bill, overall. It's a first step. And like everything else, it can be amended down the road and I think the people who worked on it did an outstanding job.

I have just a few comments that I think are pertinent. One is very funny. As you know, I was called out of the room and I'll tell you what happened in a minute because it relates to these bills.

On Section 197.02 (d) "Family Member", I think that the sponsor, perhaps, --

Mr. Coyne:

Excuse me. Point of Clarification. Is the Councilwoman going to present these amendments individually?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes. I've submitted them. Everybody has the amendments. And what I'm going to do is just discuss each one of them. So we'll take them separately.

It would seem to me that Mr. Cohen could very easily amend -- It is really not amend, it's a correction. I think it's just wording. The language needs to be adjusted under 197.02 so that we clarify what "sibling" is.

The Chair:

Councilwoman Madoff, you are going to have to read for the Record your amendments. And then we're going to have to vote on them individually.

Michelle Madoff:

Under 197.02 Definitions. (d) "Family member" means a parent, spouse, child, brother, sister, sibling, grandparent or grandchild, in-law, cousin, aunt, uncle, niece, nephew, ex-spouse, step-parent, step-child, or the spouse of any such relative.

We're covering the whole world; nobody could work.

Section (d) needs to be broadened. The definition of "direct family" is too narrow and may be considered as weak or weaker than the definition of immediate family as defined in the State Act. Thus, there may be an argument for this section as presently stated to be stricken from Bill No. 637.

What I'm just saying is that we need to make it --

Mr. Ricciardi:

Point of Order, Mr. Chairman, if I may.
If that's a motion, don't we need a second before we have discussion on it?

The Chair:

Yes. You're right.

We have a motion on the floor as indicated in 197.02 --

Michelle Madoff:

I was just reading and explaining why I had it and then I was going to move to accept it and then somebody could second it. That's what I was trying to do.

The Chair:

We have a further definition of "family members" as indicated in Councilwoman Madoff's proposed amendment. Is there a second to that?

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

All I'm saying is, as laws are passed in the land, we can't be any weaker than the State law, but we can be stronger. But in this case, I just want to be in compliance with State law. And I would respectfully ask, it's a minor change, that the draftee of the bill just look at it and see if the wording could be, in any way, amended. I don't think it's really a change in the law; it's just a matter of being in keeping with State law.

Mr. Ferlo:

Clarification, Mr. President. On 197.02, is the amendment as underlined? Is that what we're voting on?

The Chair:

Yes.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you.

The Chair:

I would suggest, Councilwoman Madoff, that we take them individually.

Michelle Madoff:

Okay.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Coyne
Michelle Madoff

Mr. Wagner
(Pres't)

AYES 3

NOES 5

VOTING NO:

Mr. Cohen
Mr. Ferlo
Mr. Milliones

Mr. Regan
Mr. Ricciardi

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

Michelle Madoff:

197.03 Conflict of Interest (a) No public official or public employee shall exert influence with respect to property or a business with which he or a family member is associated.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Is there any discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Coyne	Mr. Wagner
Michelle Madoff	(Pres't)

AYES 3	NOES 5
---------------	---------------

VOTING NO:

Mr. Cohen	Mr. Regan
Mr. Ferlo	Mr. Ricciardi
Mr. Milliones

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion was defeated.

Michelle Madoff:

197.04 Use of Authority and Public Property (a) No public official or public employee shall appear for compensation on behalf of any private person other than himself or his family member before any quasi-judicial tribunal.

I wish to include a word that was left out. It was a typo and was left out. "No public official or public employee shall appear for personal compensation --" That doesn't mean you can't go ahead and testify or go to any hearing as long as somebody isn't saying, "Here, I'll give you fifty bucks; go do it." "-- on behalf of any private person before any quasi--judicial tribunal."

The Chair:

Are you also including Section (e) in this amendment or do you want to vote on that separately?

Michelle Madoff:

I move to strike the wording "other than himself" or "direct family". It doesn't make any sense.

And to be consistent with the language of 197.02 Subsection (d) "family member" is substituted for "direct family". So the change would be "family member".

The Chair:

Point of Clarification. 197.04, you really have two proposed amendments. You're adding in one paragraph "family member" and then you are creating a new Section (e) pertaining to authorities.

Michelle Madoff:

No, we're not up to (e) yet.

The Chair:

Alright. We're still voting on what Councilwoman Madoff just indicated. Is there a second on that amendment?

Michelle Madoff:

May I just make a comment, please?

The Chair:

No. We need a second on your amendment. Is there a second on Councilwoman Madoff's amendment adding the words "family member"?

The proposed amendment fails due to the lack of a second.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just trying to conform with State law.

Okay, now let's get to substance here.

197.04 (e) No public official or public employee shall serve as a voting member on any Authority, Board or Commission created by the City which receives all or a portion of its revenue from the City directly or indirectly.

As everybody knows who has been here a while, this is something not new.

Mr. Ferlo:

Is there a second to this amendment which is illegal?

Michelle Madoff:

People are allowed, as you are frequently allowed, to explain why you are doing something and then people can second it.

Mr. Ferlo:

I think we should have a second for the amendment, then we can discuss it.

The Chair:

We have an amendment proposed by Councilwoman Madoff, a new subsection within 197.04 Section (e) which reads:

"No public official or public employee shall serve as a voting member on any Authority, Board or Commission created by the City which receives all or a portion of its revenue from the City directly or indirectly."

Is there a second to that proposed amendment?

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, Point of Order. In the past, people who have proposed something before a second have explained why they are doing it. If people don't understand why, they may not wish to second it.

Mr. Ferlo:

We understand why but it's illegal. The amendment is illegal.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to talk about that, if you will, for a moment.

Mr. Ferlo:

You submitted a bill on it.

Michelle Madoff:

Give me the same courtesy I give you when you want to talk about a bill.

Mr. Ferlo:

It's not a question of courtesy; it's a question of being sane.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, as you know, today we introduced a referendum question to be placed on the ballot which, I can see from the tenor of this Council, will probably be defeated.

I understand this is not legal. I'm merely saying, in order to make this legal, this is something that should be considered. And I've already presented, and Mr. Perry read, an ordinance that will be placed before us next week that says that we will change the law through referendum so that we cannot serve on these commissions.

Mr. Cohen served, and I don't know who else served but I think Mr. Ricciardi did, on the initial commission that joined forces with the Mayor's commission and guess what they said. They said that no member of City Council or an elected official should serve on any board or commission. I am not alone on this.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, there is not a second on this amendment.

The Chair:

Mr. Coyne, you're right, there is not a second. But due to the sensitivity of the issue, I think we should permit a little latitude here.

Mr. Coyne:

But it's going to be coming up for discussion at the next Committee Meeting.

The Chair:

I know that but I still -- Let's throw the issue on the floor and --

Michelle Madoff:

I'm done with my point.

The Chair:

Do you have any other further discussion in regards to it?

Michelle Madoff:

No. I said what I had to say.

The Chair:

Does anyone else want to comment on it? The members who have served on the Commission?

I don't want the public to think because this is an ethics bill and it's a sensitive issue that we don't want to discuss it publicly. We do. And this issue has been discussed and if there's any further comments, I think we should put them on the Record.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, this proposed amendment is illegal. I think the Councilwoman knows that it's illegal. It's illegal because the Home Rule Charter specifies a Councilmember should serve on authorities. That cannot be overruled by a statute, by a local statute. If the Councilwoman is going to introduce a bill for referendum, that's another matter. But this particular amendment here, it's not legal under the Home Rule Charter. And if we want to change it, we have to do it that way.

Michelle Madoff:

And I am doing it that way and I've stated it. I did not know at the time that we couldn't do it this way. We have since learned from the Law Department that the way to do it is through referendum. I have just stated that I am introducing a referendum. It's been introduced today, it will come up next week, because I think this is very important.

And as the President was gracious enough to state, I think there are so many things in this bill, it's gone on for so long, it's coming to a head, I still think it's a good bill even without my amendments. I'm not going to vote against the bill; I want that to be very clear. But I think we can make it better and bills can be amended as they go along.

The Chair:

If I may add, I want to comment on this. I don't know if other Councilmembers want to or not but I personally think the public is well served by having good elected officials serve on boards and commissions. I have said that repeatedly and I want to say it again on the Record.

I have served on a couple authorities; I presently serve on Alcosan, an authority that was looked upon in a very negative sense that wasn't addressing a Brighton Heights stench problem in the past, the Saw Mill Run sewage problem. Since I have been on the Board I have made sure that those issues have been brought front and center and are addressed.

We have other Councilmembers that serve on other Boards that are doing the same. Mr. Ferlo on the Housing Authority; Mr. Miliones on URA and the Crawford-Roberts Project; Mr. Regan on the Stadium Authority; Mr. Ricciardi on the Water and Sewer Authority; Mr. Coyne on the Auditorium Authority; Mr.

Cohen and I could go on and on. I really think that authorities are well represented from this Council.

And I know, Councilwoman Madoff, you have chosen not to sit on authorities and I think you are doing an injustice to the public which you serve because you keep talking about the Water and Sewer Authority and all the ills and flaws of it, and if you chose to sit on that authority, you would be a voting member to deal with those issues. You have chosen not to do that. My colleagues have chosen to do that and I think they are serving well and are some of the best members of all these respective authorities.

Michelle Madoff:

May I continue? In response, unfortunately, I had prepared what I was going to say but everybody is afraid I'm going to say something they don't want to hear and I'm being cut off before I have the chance, as Mr. Ferlo frequently does when he says, "May I explain why I'm doing this?" and we wait and then we second the motion.

What I had said very clearly, if you'd give me a moment and, as you know, you all had copies, it says that Council to serve as a non-voting, ex-officio member until the time that we have the referendum passed.

If you're that interested, if you cannot stay abreast of what is happening as I do in the Water Department to the point where I actually went in and did an audit last July because I stay on top of it every day practically, and may of the others -- The Housing Authority, for 10 years I knew what was going there. I didn't need Mr. Lucchino to come and tell us what was happening there. I came to Council every day, every week, and told you what was happening, and nothing happened.

The point is, if you want to have somebody there, if you care about it, we can appoint people to be ex-officios, but they should not have voting power because when you have a voting power and somebody comes down and applies for a job, and I've talked to the people who drafted this legislation, the Mayor's commission people and they agreed and they told me why they came to this conclusion, that if you're a voting member of the Commission and somebody applies for a job, it is very difficult not to give preference to the person who uses your name as a reference if you're a voting member.

It is wrong and I think that it is unfair, and I don't think you meant to be unfair because I think you do do an outstanding job in what you've done because I worked for 20 years on Saw Mill Run and on Alcosan stench, and nothing happened.

But I think as an ex-officio member you could have done exactly the same thing and that's what I'm doing in the Water Department, changing the whole process. And the Administration, I'm working with them, to change how it should happen, what's going on, and I'm being very effective, and I don't have a vote.

The Chair:

And it's a shame that you don't.

Michelle Madoff:

I don't need a vote to be effective. That's my point.

The Chair:

I don't want to get into an argument here, Councilwoman Madoff, but you know how strongly I feel on this issue.

Michelle Madoff:

And I respect your feelings. I hope you respect mine.

The Chair:

I know you served on the Leasing Authority--

Michelle Madoff:

And I dropped off. It was an appointment for six months and it was something that I couldn't live with. It was the wrong thing to do.

The Chair:

Obviously.

Mr. Ricclard:

Mr. Chairman, at this time I'm not going to debate the value of serving on the board but there is something I'd like to respond to for the general public since Michelle brought the issue up.

I have served for six months on the Pittsburgh Water and Sewer Authority and not once in those six months has anyone approached me for a job either in the Water Department or with the Pittsburgh Water and Sewer Authority.

So, sometimes, Michelle, you have to be very careful because when you make a blanket statement, it appears that we're telling the public that people are approaching us for positions because we serve in an influential matter. No one in six months has ever approached me for a job with the Pittsburgh Water and Sewer Authority and I think I've been of value to that board and I think the recent articles show that.

The Chair:

I agree.

Michelle Madoff:

I think that requires a response. If I owe an apology, if the impression was that I thought anybody was doing that on Council, I do not. I do not think that any member serving on a board is doing that. Absolutely not. I think this is the best Council we've ever had. But you need only to take the list of names which are published every year, the public is listening, and look down the list of the names of the employees, and it becomes very interesting to see how many political names are duplicated on those lists.

So, you know that I am not just blowing smoke. I know what I'm talking about.

And they don't come to you and ask you for the job; they go in and say, "I'm applying for the job. My name happens to be Sue Madoff." And they didn't come to me. Or, "Mrs. Madoff gave me a reference." Or, "I know her; isn't she wonderful? And I'd just like to apply for that job." And maybe, maybe not, there's a certain amount of weight given if you come in and use somebody's name.

I think it's the wrong thing to do and if you feel as strongly as you do that you want to be part of those boards and commissions and exert the influence like you did on Alcosan, Alcostench as we used to refer to it, and Saw Mill Run, be an ex-officio member. Be appointed and without a vote. You'll be heard. You can speak.

The Chair:

Roll call on 194.04, Subsection (e).

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, there was no second.

The Chair:

You're right. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

197.05. I'm going to hold off on this one because I think that this is strictly a matter of language and I'd like to discuss it with Mr. Cohen privately.

The Offering or Accepting of Gifts, I'm letting that go.

I have one, one was distributed separately. I want to get to 197.11. ♥

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

I'd like to tell you what it says, if I may.

Mr. Cohen:

Councilwoman Madoff, if I may ask a question. You have before us an amendment on complimentary travel. Are you going to go ahead with that?

Michelle Madoff:

No, I'm holding that.

Mr. Cohen:

I support that amendment so I would actually urge you to go forward with it, but that's your choice.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just getting so tired of getting beaten that it gets, you know. --

197.07 Offering or Accepting Gifts and Favors. I'll go ahead with it.

(e) becomes (d).

(f) becomes (e).

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Which one? Councilwoman Madoff, please, if you're going to make an amendment, indicate which one.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Chairman, 197.07 addresses the issue of who pays for trips. If it's important enough to go on a trip, if the Mayor is invited to go to Vienna or Russia, we in the City of Pittsburgh should pay her bill. If Councilmembers want to go out and see whether there's a fourth generation or fifth generation way of recycling or whatever and can help the City and learn about something, they get paid.

I don't think we should rely on gifts from outside sources. We would be happy to pay and encourage the leadership of this City to go on these trips. This is in no way saying don't go.

I would suggest that we amend it to say, "If travel is for official purposes, it should be paid for by the City, not by a private party that may have some influence. If it is essential or important for the Mayor and/or other elected officials to travel elsewhere on behalf of the City, there are already City funds available for that purpose."

The Chair:

So there is a second to that amendment?

Mr. Coyne:

Yes, sir.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, the most important issue was distributed --

I apologize, everybody, and I'm asking for a little leeway. I wasn't here, as you know, last week.

I was shocked to find out that in the State Code, I believe, somebody may help me with this. We're reading 197.11.

"If the preliminary inquired by City Solicitor and further investigation by the independent investigation" --

Let me tell you what I'm concerned about instead of reading this because it's in legalese. The one part I marked off --

"No investigation may be commenced until the person who is subject of the investigation has been notified and provided a general statement of the alleged violation or violations by City provision."

I don't have a problem with that as long as they don't tell you who is the person. I understand they are saying, "Tell me who is accusing me." Can you imagine if that were the case? When I lived through three years of hell --

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you know that I have just been given my second subpoena today in the Ben Woods case. It hasn't died. I have been threatened. I would have preferred in many ways to never have been known as the person who turned this information over to the FBI. Why did I do it? I had no choice. Would any of you sitting here tell me that if somebody called you up and played the tapes for you that you would not have turned them in? What am I supposed to do? Live in fear because my name is mentioned? The FBI wasn't going to mention my name. I'm a third party.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, on this amendment, it wasn't part of the original package; I introduced it last week in compliance with a Councilperson's wishes about the need to be able to face your accuser, and I asked the City Solicitor about that.

In retrospect, after talking to Councilwoman Madoff, I think she has a good point on this and I do think that it could be a chilling affect on the filing of complaints.

So, I'm going to support this and I think that in the long run it probably is worse to have it than to not have it. So, I think that it should be stricken and the identity of the claimant would be known after the investigation but not before the investigation. So, I think she has a good point on this.

Mr. Ferlo:

I support this amendment because I think it's in keeping with the whistle-blower type of anonymity that's outlined in the State Ethics Legislation.

Mr. Milliones:

I simply disagree. I think everyone has a right, even though we're politician-bashing here today, I think politicians still have the rights that everyone should be aware of who their accusers are. Period.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, I am not politician-bashing.

Mr. Milliones:

It sounds like it to me.

Michelle Madoff:

Well I'm not. As a matter of fact, I think I took great pains to congratulate the people who took the time to do this bill because Lord knows I tried for years, Mr. Pollock tried for years, and other people tried for years, and this is a great first step forward.

But I've had some concerns over the years and we've had a perfect example of what happens, and let me give you a for instance.

Let's assume that somebody working in the Finance Department -- Let's say somebody working in the Water Department. Since it's mine, I'll take the onus. Somebody comes in and pays bills in cash. This is not possible, there's receipts. But the money is pocketed, the receipts aren't made, and someone finds out working in that department that this has happened. They take the evidence, they give it to the department head, which is the way you do it. You go to the Administration, you go to the department head, and the Administration then moves.

Why should they have to name the person if the evidence is there? Why do you have to name me if there's a tape? I think you go on the evidence, not on the person who makes the accusation.

You can't live in fear all your life. Can you imagine anybody ever blowing the whistle on anybody if they know that before an investigation has taken place that they will be confronted with the person who they caught the goods on? Can you imagine anybody ever turning anybody in again ever? On anything?

The Chair:

Yes, I can.

Mr. Cohen:

Call the question.

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

Michelle Madoff:

I'm going to ask the Administration, please, Mr. Perry, in a letter, to issue an executive order and hope that through executive order we may be able to perhaps prevail upon Council to change this. I think this is a terrible thing that we do.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, on Bill 637, I'd like to make the following amendment:

196.03 and 197.08 You have it in writing before you dealing with Consultant Disclosure.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

I won't speak at length about this. It basically deals with an important new area involving municipal government and that is the hiring of consultants by the City government. This basically attempts to deal with four specific areas, the value of the contract, what the qualifications are of the supposed or real consultant that is doing the work for City government, who the principles are, some of which are sometimes listed in bills before Council, but this clarifies and stipulates exactly what type of principles we are talking about.

And fourthly, trying to outline to Council the previous relationship that this consultant may or may not have had with City government. It's public disclosure. I think it would be helpful in our dealings in City government, especially as Councilmembers who vote ahead of time on a myriad of consultant contracts which have been mushrooming over the years. In the last decade, millions of dollars have now been executed on the consultant contracts and I referred to it last week as the newest form of political patronage. Maybe that's being a little harsh, but I do think in the interest of public disclosure, I think it's important to add this to the amendment.

Michelle Madoff:

In essence, I think we already have this. Does everybody recall the numerous times, and certainly Mike Perry recalls, and I say, "Mike, you forgot to put on who the principle is. What is the name of the contractor?"

This is something Council voted on previously. Years ago. We voted on it two or three times that any time legislation comes before us, it doesn't say, "The Acme Company"; it says who the principles are. If it's an architect, we know their name. If it's somebody doing consulting on refuse, we know their names. And if it is incumbent upon a colleague to say, or if they want to know, they either do their own homework or ask Mike Perry to please just look over the bills, have your own staff, and keep a record of how many times somebody's name comes up.

I'll tell you a charming story. I went to New Orleans one time and we said, "Let's avoid all the tourist traps." And we had lousy meals. We went to the tourist traps and they were good. That's why they're tourist traps. People go to them because they're good.

Because somebody gets a contract many, many times over, and I can think of one person in the Water Department who saved the City's proverbial over and over again, they get it because they're good and there's nobody else around as good as they are. So, I don't think you want to punish somebody because they're good and they get the work.

So, I think it's already covered under the legislation and Mike Perry just has to be very, well, get a cat-o-nine tails and send back any bill he gets that doesn't give him the principles. Right, Mike? If they don't tell you, your crystal ball still isn't working.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, in response. I wish my colleague would spend less time vacationing and more time at the Committee Meetings understanding what the issue is.

Everything that I just spelled out in this amendment, none of which is included in the bills that come before Council, I'm asking for additional and new information. We're asking for a description of the contract and we're asking for the consultant's qualifications. We're asking for who the principles are including the names of the officers and major stockholders. That information is not available today. And we're also asking for an update on previous relationships that the consultant might have had with the City. None of that is included to date.

Mr. Regan:

I take exception to that remark because the Councilwoman was on vacation. You know, she has been sick, she just got out of the hospital and had many problems. I just don't think that was fair.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Ferlo doesn't think fair is fair. Thank you, Mr. Regan.

On the amendment, I believe that the information is indeed available through the legislative proposition and I don't think we need it again.

Mr. Milliones:

You just said that.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just upset.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

BEGINNING - MESSRS. COHEN, FERLO AND WAGNER'S COMENTS ON BILL
NO. 637, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1990)

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I'd like to move for approval of this bill and for discussion, please.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Second.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Cohen:

This ethics bill that all of you have seen is a product of a conference committee that is composed of the following people:
Joe Sabino Mistick, the Mayor's Executive Secretary, Councilman
Gene Ricciardi, the Chairperson of this Council's Ethics Subcommittee, Bob Cindrich, the former U.S. Attorney and head of the Mayor's Ethics Commission, Mary Conturo, the City Solicitor and myself.

Many hours were devoted to drafting this bill and although it's not perfect it is an ethics bill that is both forceful and fair.

As you know, it contains prohibitions against conflicts of financial interest, against abusive public authority, against the exercise of undo influence for a year after leaving government. It has prohibitions against employment of direct relatives on the city payroll and also creates an ethics hearing board which has the power to undertake investigations to conduct hearings and to issue penalties.

Again, this is not a perfect bill but I think it's an important first step toward building confidence in city government and I would encourage all of my colleagues to vote for it.

I would like to propose some amendments to this bill.
Councilman Ricciardi and I visited each of you over the last several days and have discussed this bill with you and several of you had suggestions for amendments, the amendments I think are going to be circulated now and as soon as you get them, I'd like to go through them with you.

The first and I guess what -- subject to the Chair's discretion, I don't know whether we should go through these as a whole or individually.

The first amendment is to Section 197.04 which is the section on use of authority and public property.

Subsection C of that section currently reads, "No public official or city employee shall use or permit the use of his official title, insignia or position in connection with any private business."

There was some discussion of that and a couple of you pointed out that this would have an affect on a situation where a Councilmember and a company would co-sponsor an event and I think that there are several of those that have occurred at parades where, for example, a Halloween parade where a Councilmember and a local company work together to try to bring a community event.

So the amendment that is suggested here is after the word "business" state, "from which the public official or city employee receives compensation." That is the real harm that we're trying to prevent here is that no public official or city employee use his position or his title in connection with any business from which that person receives compensation, so that's a suggested amendment there.

On the next section which is 197.05, there is a waiver provision that the Board has. That section is on nepotism, on the employment of relatives which says that you cannot hire or appoint or advance the hiring of, or appointing of a member of your direct family to a position that is under the control of the City.

There is a waiver provision that says that it may be waived by the Board upon the Board's finding that the City would suffer a hardship as a result of this provision.

In order to make that waiver more specific and to make sure we really get at the heart of the problem because the heart of the potential problem there is that we don't want people to be hired who aren't qualified, and in city government it is important that we have the most qualified people be hired, so there is a suggested amendment here saying that the Board should take into account such factors as the person's experience, qualifications and the responsibility of the position when determining whether or not to provide a waiver in specific instances.

Under the Ethics Hearing Board there's one minor amendment that the Board may adopt rules and regulations to further interpret this chapter. That is really just giving the Board the authority to define terms that may not be as clearly defined as we would like and down the road I think we'll find that there are some aspects of this bill which are not clear in particular instances and if that is the case, then the board should be given the authority to interpret the chapter.

On Subsection E there are two suggested changes. The first is that any revenues that would be used by this board should be allowed to occur through annual appropriation.

Now again the board members are not salaried members, they would be volunteers, but of course, there are some costs that would be associated with investigations. So the word "annual" is a suggested amendment there so that City Council does appropriate money on an investigation by investigation basis that it be an annual appropriation and that will take politics out of the appropriations part.

The other section is that the Board itself will elect a Chairperson rather than the Mayor.

The last few are quite technical. The first one is simply a typographical change that there was a typo in the original bill on 197.09 where it used to say the City provisions reviewed as an explanation", it should say "the City provisions are viewed as an explanation".

The 197.11 adds the words, "and the identity of the claimant" basically saying that we should have the ability to -- that any subject that is investigated should know who their accuser is, that's basic constitutional law and that was a suggestion which was a good one.

Finally, the severability section I'm told by the City Solicitor that that is not necessary and that there is general severability in all laws on the books.

The severability section just says that if any portion of the bill is found for some reason to violate the Constitution or Home Rule Charter, then that portion would be severed from the rest of the bill. I have no reason to believe that would happen in this case but that is a safeguard provision that is very common in this kind of bill.

So those are the amendments that have been drawn up after discussion with every one of you and I would urge that these amendments be passed so as to come up with a package that will send a clear message to the people of Pittsburgh that we are taking a step to build confidence in city government. Thank you.

The Chair:

Further discussion on the bill itself.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to make a motion on two other amendments to this bill and I'll do them separately in case there's opposition to any one of them. The first amendment, and you have it before you, clarifies Section 197.04 to deal specifically with explaining, and I am particularly concerned with the role of Councilmembers as elected officials.

The motion here is that Councilmembers would be prohibited from appearing before the Planning Commission or the Board of Adjustment or other quasi-judicial tribunals or forums. I have a major problem with that. First of all, in the last three years that I have been in City Hall, on behalf of individuals and organizations in the community, one-half of my week is spent making an argument or a case before the Board of Adjustment on zoning matters, on conditional use applications, special exception cases. I have appeared before the Planning Commission, I have appeared before SPRPC, I have appeared in legal matters before the Public Utility Commission on behalf of individuals who could stop it from rate increases. I've been before the State Insurance Commission, PennDOT, the Board of Licensure in the State and the Medicinal Assistance Advisory Commission, those are just a few.

Without this motion in here, I think the way to amend this is to put the words -- and my amendment is that we add "for compensation" to this clause. Meaning clearly that I shouldn't be there for compensation representing an individual person's interest, but when it's for an individual and the issues that I've just outlined, I think it clarifies and maintains the concern here which is ethical behavior on the part of elected officials.

So I'd like to make a motion to amend that section by adding the words "for compensation".

Mr. Coyne:

Second.

Mr. Wagner:

Discussion. I thought we just voted for that.

Mr. Cohen:

No.

The Chair:

That was not part of Mr. Cohen's.

Mr. Wagner:

The one I have in front of me has that. This is another revision?

Mr. Cohen:

That's Councilman Ferlo's amendment.

Mr. Ferlo:

The final amendments that Mr. Cohen just presented do not include that.

Mr. Wagner:

On Mr. Ferlo's amendment I think it's very appropriate and as long as we as elected officials represent people that work for city government are appearing in a public forum as Mr. Ferlo is suggesting, we are acting in the best interests of our constituents and the people of this city and certainly that's what they want us to do or they would have not elected us and so consequently I think it's appropriate that as long as it is in a public forum and as long as there's public record to that testimony, as long as we're not receiving any compensation as a result of it, it is the appropriate thing to do.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, the second amendment deals with adding into the Ethics Code that we hopefully are about to adopt, a section that deals explicitly with consultants, be they professional service consultants or other third party contractors and professional service consultants and others who more and more it seems have often accused Council and the Administration of having "consultantitis" but we see more and more in the operation of city government and its authorities of the involvement of consultants and I think we need to make this ethics code more meaningful by dealing with or clarifying financial relationships that consultants may or may not have with public officials and/or public employees. So this section is drafted from some of the language in the state act, from some of the language that was first outlined in Mr. Cohen's original bill and some other changes that my staff and I have made.

I have often said that the newest form of political patronage in City Hall, and this is not in any way an accusation of this Administration or any in the past, but very clearly the newest form of political patronage is paid professional consultants and I think it's important that we pass a bill that is going to mean something. Most of this bill so far is redundant from state legislation. I'm all for it because the one thing that the bill does do, and I think it's a landmark, is something that the Home Rule Charter didn't do and that is establish a ministerial process by which individuals can file complaints to a local ethics board, so I'm all for it. But if we're going to case in concrete an ethics bill, let's make it be a little bit more meaningful and let's do it now while there's public attention and public concern and political concern for passage of this legislation, so I'd like to make the motion to amend, and you have the amendment before you, the sections on explaining the term "consultant" and amending 197.08 on financial disclosure.

Mr. Coyne:

Second.

The Chair:

What is the actual disclosure?

Mr. Ferlo:

The disclosure would be that if somebody is involved in a contractual relationship as a consultant with the City of Pittsburgh, that they would indicate exactly as written here and I'll just read it.

"A city employee means any individual employed by the City or is responsible for taking or recommending official action or a non-ministerial nature with regard to ...", and this is in reference to Mary Conturo's memo to us, "but where the information deals with the contracting or procurement, this is where individuals are involved in doling out millions of dollars a year, administering or monitoring grants or subsidies, planning and zoning, inspecting, licensing, regulating or auditing any person in any other activity where the official action has an economic impact, etc."

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. Chairman, this is difficult for me because much of this language looks familiar; it was in my original bill and that is the one that I introduced in April and spent hours in drafting.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. Ricciardi talked to me about it in January.

Mr. Cohen:

You know, I have just about had it with this business on Cohen versus Ricciardi. Let me just say this --

Mr. Regan:

-- no, it's Regan versus Cohen.

Mr. Cohen:

Let me say this which is that I drafted the original bill, have spent hours doing it and that's what got this thing off the table.

Now this section is one that was contained in the original bill and one that I support but I would urge my colleagues not to support it at this time and the reason is that when you put together a package like this and bring all parties into the system in putting it together, you have come up with a package that everybody can support. This was not part of the package that everyone could support.

I would like to see it because I think it's a necessary component but again, this ethics bill is a first step and as a first step it's not the final step but one that I think is a strong one and the Conference Committee made up of Councilman Ricciardi and myself and Mr. Mistic and Ms. Conturo and Mr. Cindrich, came up with a package that did not include this provision and my agreement with them was that I'd go with the package so I'm going to do that.

Mr. Ferlo:

In response, I appreciate the hard work that Mr. Cohen and Mr. Ricciardi did but I didn't delegate to them any authority or prerogative that I have as an elected official to finally vote on legislation. A legislation which keeps getting changed and molded here even at this table.

Secondly, for the very reasons that Mr. Cohen just outlined, I think it's important that we support this bill because we have a preliminary vote here on this legislation and it's my ability as an elected Councilmember and hopefully anybody else here at this table who wants to make an amendment can in a committee session offer an amendment and have decision on preliminary vote. We still have a bill that is not being finally approved today. If the Administration raises a concern, they know how to come to the other side of the aisle between now and Tuesday if they don't support this section or if there's other things that they want to express pro or con on any aspect of this bill, but this bill is continually being molded and I appreciate this notion of a conference committee but I want to see a bill that's going to mean something and for a bill that really addresses something that's been a concern to me for the last several years and that's the area of relationships with all these professional consultants that have come on board in the last few years in city government and I think if we're going to pass a bill, let's really deal with public disclosure. If my financial life is an open book with the ethics forum and the directors' forms that are filled out, I would also extend that information data base to the consultants that we do business with. And we are going to set this in concrete so let's make sure it's something sturdy.

Mr. Cohen:

I'm sure the City Solicitor is here if you want to ask questions of the Administration.

Mr. Ferlo:

I don't need the City Solicitor to determine public policy for me.

Mr. Wagner:

There's some healthy dialogue on this proposed amendment and I would like to ask the City Solicitor to please step forward and to give her opinion and the thought process that went into this not being part of the final draft and Mr. Chairman, just prior to her answering that, I want to commend her for all her hours of work in the development of this piece of legislation which I know is very difficult. Mary, I don't know how many hours you have involved here, but I'm sure if it's not hundreds it may be thousands and obviously it's a very difficult task to come up with a piece of legislation that meets the desires of everyone, meaning Council and meaning people from the private sector that were involved in the Commission and ultimately this Council.

Mr. Ferlo:

Are you asking the Solicitor for a legal opinion or a political opinion?

Mr. Wagner:

I am asking the Solicitor for a logical opinion.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

I know that she is the only other member here from the Commission and I would like to know the thought process that went into this not being part of the final draft.

Ms. Conturo:

It was discussed by the Committee. I think the conclusion was that it was a matter that was better handled -- there's a review process for professional services contracts and that probably is the review process that should consider this kind of information.

It was thought that the mechanical implementation of checking -- I assume that you're referring to political contributions and you are asking for an annual reporting at the end of the year following the contract. That was some of the language that we were looking at.

Mr. Ferlo:

This just identifies the principals of the corporations and broadens who should fill out the forms. We have excluded Building Inspectors and other code enforcement officers. It doesn't deal with what you just said.

Ms. Conturo:

I haven't reviewed with what you're looking at.

Mr. Ricciardi:

If I can go over the review process that we do now.

Ms. Conturo:

Right now when a professional services contract is to be let, the department is asking for the contract, does an informal bidding process, fills out a form and submits it to a committee which consists of the Solicitor, Jim Simms and someone from the Mayor's Budget Office. The form that is submitted includes information such as what prior work the firm has done for the City to review whether we have had problems with them in the past as well as MBE requirements and some other things like that.

It was thought that this kind of information would be submitted on that type of form rather than include it in the ethics legislation.

Mr. Ricciardi:

And that information, that is public?

Mr. Conturo:

Yes.

Mr. Wagner:

So in other words Director, it was the final recommendation of the Commission that this not be part of the final draft.

Ms. Conturo:

Yes.

Mr. Wagner:

Was that a unanimous opinion within the five members of the Commission?

Ms. Conturo:

I believe it was.

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you.

The Chair:

More questions?

Mr. Cohen:

I think there are a couple of provisions of this amendment. One of them is Provision B that says certain city employees should file financial disclosure statements and it talks about those who administer and monitor grants and subsidies, inspect licenses, etc.

The State Act, Section 404 of the State Act says that each public official and public employee shall file a statement of financial interest for the preceding calendar year with the department agency, body or bureau in which he or she is employed.

Do you regard that state ethics disclosure requirement to cover all city employees including those who are involved in inspecting and licensing and regulating?

Ms. Conturo:

The filing requirements that is in the State Act applies to public employees which is the subset of all city employees.

Mr. Cohen:

Okay. I think with that section what we have really is a problem of implementation of the State Act rather than a problem of it not being on the books. I would agree with Councilman Ferlo that the State Act covers these very people that we have under the disclosure part of his amendment and what I'd like you to do is go back and look at the State Act and how it has been interpreted and I think that under the State Act as it reads now, it does cover these very employees. So if you could provide us with a legal opinion on that.

Mr. Ferlo:

The Solicitor has already issued a letter to Council regarding this issue which she says they are not included and the reason why I'm not interested in watering down the bill since we're going to give it final approval is to explicitly state the categories and types of city employees and public employees that will have to supply this information.

This is a legal matter, this is a matter of public policy. We're not debating law here in terms of Council's prerogative or the Administration's prerogative or whether we can do this or not do this. This is a question of whether or not it's good public policy and whether or not it strengthens this ethics bill. So I hope we're not arguing the legalities here but it's a matter of public policy. And as far as this committee, this committee is about as effective in public as the MBE Review Committee which is a BS committee and if anybody doesn't know that then we can spend some time talking about it.

Mr. Cohen:

On this particular part this actually is a legal question and I'd like you to reconsider the opinion that you made in the past. It is a legal question of whether or not the State Act applies to these employees. My view is that the State Act does and I'd like you to reconsider your opinion.

Ms. Conturo:

I'll go back and take another look at it.

Mr. Cohen:

Finally, on the question of whether this bill is redundant, this bill is not redundant with the State Act. The Committee tried very hard and succeeded in making sure that this ordinance fills in holes and goes farther than the State Act currently does. There isn't anything in here which is redundant with the State Act.

The Chair:

Thank you, Ms. Conturo for your work on the bill.

Mr. Ferlo:

The amendments deal with consultants, their qualifications, the contractual relationship with the City and who the principals are. Things that we have asked repeatedly at the table.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Chairman and Members of Council, just a brief comment. This issue has been in front of Council for a year and one-half and there is a tremendous difference in the way the issue was presented this time versus previous times and being here through all of that, I really want to commend all of the parties involved, starting with the Mayor and the Commission she appointed, my two colleagues on Council, numerous representatives of the public that have had tremendous input to this bill and is any bill perfect, no I don't think so, but I know in the past there has been tremendous confusion as to what laws, rules, codes that we in government and meaning people that worked for the City fall under. Well, one of the real attractive items of this bill is the manual or the Code of Ethics Manual that is being put together or has been put together that includes a comprehensive gathering of the State Ethics Code provisions, the City Charter provisions, the City Code provisions and a few other items that consolidates for once all of the provisions by which we in government must live under. So that part of the bill I think is very attractive and helps for all of us to be better educated on the issue of ethics but simply in summary, I commend everyone that has been involved.

Michelle Madoff:

On the bill in general. I repeat for the benefit of my colleagues, I did not intend this to be bashing of any sort. I think in essence this is the first step and it's a memorable step. It's a historic step that we're taking some action to finally reflect with the public how we feel about having a Code of Ethics.

I think as time goes along I think there will be proof, evidence, that some of the issues that I've raised today and that others have raised perhaps that have not even been brought forward yet, will require or suggest that the bill be amended. But bills can be amended at any time and I do want to congratulate the people who worked on the bill.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bill?

And on the question, "Shall the bill pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Bill No. 1565

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution transferring Three Hundred Sixth Three Thousand Dollars ($363,000.00) Code Account CC, Community Communications Trust Fund, (Index Code 250555) to the General Fund, (Index Code 017939) City of Pittsburgh for reimbursement of indirect costs incurred by the Bureau of Cable Communications for 1990."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd like to make a motion to recommit Bill No. 1565 to this afternoon's meeting.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

This is on the Cable Communications indirect cost. I did ask for some information; Brother Richard did send some information but not the correct information. I'd like to just have a breakdown of what the actual costs are, including the square footage rent and other matters regarding the franchise fee.

The Chair:

Mr. Perry, if possible, I'd like to have that by this afternoon.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Also,

Bill No. 1585

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of a warrant in favor of Mellon Bank, Corporate Trust Administration, in the amount of $32,591.91 in payment for Paying Agent Fees for various City of Pittsburgh General Obligation Bonds, chargeable to and payable from the Sinking Fund (000299)."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 1585, if you recall the conversation we had with Mr. Hayllar about the issuing of bonds, that the cost of the bonds should be absorbed by the person buying the bonds. In other words, if they're going to get 7.2 percent interest, maybe they should only get 7.1 so that the actual cost, the burden of producing the bond, issuing the bond, paying the underwriter, paying whoever, would fall to the person who purchases it. It's still a good deal if they're buying them or they wouldn't be buying them.

What happens is, you know, the hip bone is not attached to the thigh bone, and we see everything piecemeal. This is an issue we discussed with Mr. Hayllar and he agreed with me. He said I'm absolutely right and in the future they would be doing this.

Now, this is an additional, I believe, $32,000, and will there be another 32 and another 32? What is the total debt going to be to Mellon Bank to pay for the handling of this bond that was not encumbered, or factored in would be the correct word, into the issuing of a bond.

I would respectfully ask that we hold this. I don't think it's going to make a real big difference to Mellon if they get their $32,000 a week later.

The Chair:

Mr. Milliones, it being in your Committee, do you want --

Is there a motion on the floor first?

Michelle Madoff:

I move that we hold it for a week. I'll tell you what, if we could get it by this afternoon, it's okay.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'll second the motion to recommit since I didn't vote for it last time.

The Chair:

Point of Clarification. The bill was not resubmitted; therefore, it will not be on the agenda today. You are requesting that information even though we are voting on the bill?

---(SPONSORED BY MR. COYNE)

Which was read.

The Chair:

On Bill No. 1391, Mr. Coyne's legislation, we have received a legal opinion from our Law Department in regard to that bill. I asked for that opinion last week. I appreciate the fact that they sent it so quickly.

In reading it, it's a little confusing to some degree, but in essence what it states is that, and I agree with it partially and don't in another sense, what it states in essence is that the bill is commendable but may be unnecessary in light of existing State laws in that it is stating that the State in essence has the right now to fine people who are mistreating animals.

The bill in front of us obviously gives us that jurisdiction. I have indicated to Mr. Coyne and to others that I think the bill is a good piece of legislation except for one aspect of it, and that is the Section 635.05 where it eliminates the use of bucking straps with rodeo-type events.

What the people tell me is that these events will never occur again in the City of Pittsburgh. They agreed to the elimination of all the other devices that are indicated. They agreed to the need for notification, veterinarian required, violation of penalties. But they don't agree to that one aspect of the legislation.

Due to the fact that I think it will eliminate these events in the City of Pittsburgh, I am not going to vote for the bill.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, although you may be pleased that we received this report from the Law Department, I am not pleased. You requested it last Wednesday and I received it at one minute to ten. And as sponsor of the bill, I am not pleased at all that the Law Department finds it only necessary to give the Councilmembers a report from their department one minute prior to us coming into session.

The report itself I find very faulty. In the first paragraph, as you said, it says, "This bill may be unnecessary." However, even though they say that the humane agents already have the powers to enforce the revisions of the bill, the State bill provides no access to the areas where the animals are kept, or were kept, or will be kept, and also provides no requirement for a veterinarian to be present. I think they are two of the main provisions of this bill.

The types of equipment that are to be used, we may agree or disagree on whether they cause comfort or discomfort to the animals. However, I think the two main provisions of the access of the humane agent and the requirement that a veterinarian be present, are not included in the State bill. Therefore, I feel that the bill I proposed is necessary for the City and I would urge my colleagues to support it.

The Chair:

I agree, Mr. Coyne; however, I personally think that we could still reach our objective here if we were to not eliminate that one aspect of rodeos which is necessary, and from what those people tell me, is not a harmful device. I know we could disagree respectfully forever on that issue.

Mr. Coyne:

Just for the Record, I have met with the same folks you have and they have explained to me that the bucking straps are necessary. My only contention is that when they portray these animals when they advertise, they advertise these bulls and these horses as being bucking broncos. And if they're naturally bucking broncos, they should need this bucking strap. If the horse is naturally going to do these actions and cause entertainment, he should be able to do it without the strap being attached. I think the strap is a way to irritate the animal to make him perform in an unnatural manner and, therefore, I think that it is not right. But, as you said, we will disagree.

Mr. Regan:

I agree with you, Mr. President. I don't think that any of us in here are that knowledgeable about it. Any information that we've gotten is hearsay. None of us are experts; none of us are experts at everything.

And, of course, I see a lot of people with no children that are interested in shutting down circuses.

I think here that it's very fair to eliminate just that one part of it. I wouldn't want to see any animal hurt.

Mr. Coyne:

In response to Councilman Regan's comments, the films we say in this Council at the public hearing weren't hearsay. They were clear demonstrations in our eyes, if only for the need of a veterinarian, that the bull that was injured at the event sat around there for at least an hour and a half --

Mr. Regan:

Councilman, I agree with you on that. I'm not disagreeing with you.

Mr. Coyne:

I just wanted to say that it wasn't hearsay. We actually saw it with our own eyes.

And once again, for the benefit of the public, as it was written initially I could see there was a concern that people thought it applied to circuses. I've rewritten the bill and it specifically applies only to rodeo events.

Mr. Regan:

I think it's a little too strong and I called the Councilman on Monday and I didn't get a return call back. So, that's just my opinion, Councilman. I wanted to ask you some questions about the bill but I know you're busy and I know you have things to do.

The Chair:

I just want to state finally that you were right, there was mistreatment with that event here in the City of Pittsburgh. We had officials come before us in the public hearing representing State government and the Humane Society. They could have fined those people for that and chose not to, for whatever reason. And I think to some degree they should have. They are now saying that the City should do what they should have been doing. And quite frankly, I think they should take a look at the State law and enforce that State law.

Mr. Ferlo:

On the issue of the No Wake Zone, this Council took the action because we felt that State government was not doing enough and I think this is the same principle even though it's certainly a different issue regarding public policy.

Mr. Coyne's bill doesn't ban rodeos; it's fair and reasonable. It's a reasonable attempt to dealing with clearly what has been demonstrated as animal cruelty. And I don't think it in any way threatens major circus events.

Michelle Madoff:

I echo the sentiments of my colleague, Mr. Ferlo. If memory serves me well, I supported you whole-heartedly, Mr. Wagner, because I thought that even though the bill existed on the State level there were lives in danger. And I'm not talking about animals; I'm talking about people's lives in danger on the waters and you did a commendable job in passing it even though the State did have the law.

And I think we can single me out and say, "Michelle, you can't do it even though somebody else can." And I don't think we can single Mr. Coyne out.

I must tell you initially, my first reaction was, what are we getting into this business of rodeo? Who goes to them? And we can't interfere with private enterprise. But I was at home ill and I watched it on television and it was cruelty to animals. It was brutal. And I am not going to vote for that kind of brutality. I am going to vote with Mr. Coyne.

Mr. Regan:

I think we all agreed to having a veterinarian there. I think we should have a veterinarian there too and I don't think that that should ever happen again.

Michelle Madoff:

They should be natural bucking broncos. They shouldn't have to be irritated by putting a burr under the strap.

Mr. Coyne:

Call the question.

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1540-Wednesday, 10/31/90)

Mr. Wagner:

Director, due to the fact this is used for promotional reasons, could it, therefore, be used for alternative promotional reasons?

Ms. Brown:

This grant? Yes.

Mr. Wagner:

Whatever happened to better signage leading to the Zoo? Whatever happened to a transportation linkage? Remember we talked about an exclusive bus that looks like an animal and is a fun buzz to ride and various ideas?

It is still, I think, the belief of many people that access to and from the Zoo is really the major hurdle in terms of promoting the Zoo.

Ms. Brown:

The Port Authority finally did bring their busses down Hill Road, which they had not done before; every one had always stopped at Bunker Hill. The idea of the Zoo bus was not feasible to the Port Authority because they change their busses all the time, so that bus would not necessarily be going to the Zoo and returning.

Mr. Wagner:

I guess what I was really referring to, and I would really wish that the Administration would explore it and these types of funds could be ideally used for it, is a bus owned by the city, operated by the Port Authority that is an animal buzz, and that bus being a fun event for children, and it goes back and forth between Downtown Pittsburgh and the Zoo exclusively, has a regular schedule, and when you look at it, you know it is the Zoo bus. No matter what we do out there, if we don't create the linkages between Downtown Pittsburgh where all the public transportation systems come, the linkage between there and the Zoo, we are never going to dramatically improve attendance at the Zoo.

And so I would like at least all of you to explore that idea and report back to us. I'd say rather see the $70,000.00 used for that purpose, quite frankly, and I never get a response from the Administration.

Ms. Brown:

What this will do is hopefully increase attendance and revenues. The analysis that was done on the Zoo bus is that the cost to operate a bus or pay the Port Authority to operate a bus for a couple of months to bring 45 to 55 people every couple of hours would not -- would not make any money, and it wouldn't cover itself, either. That is not to say we shouldn't look at it again.

Mr. Wagner:

All of you aren't being visionary in the sense that we would have a constant marketing tool for the Zoo, and that would be here and throughout the city on a continual basis, rather than the Zoo just promoting itself where it is geographically, which is the eastern most portion of the City of Pittsburgh. And the linkages aren't there, you know, it is as simple as that.

How does someone from Overbrook get to the Zoo? How does someone from Esplin get to the Zoo? Take a bus. You take two busses, you don't take one. What is the reminder for someone to go to the Zoo? There isn't any. And we need to create that linkage if we are going to put as many public funds into this project as we have.

Please respond to me specifically in regard to doing that. We put other monies towards transportation purposes, and I think we could apply it well here.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Ferlo:

On two brief things, Mr. Chairman. I noticed on the agenda for the budget hearings that the tax hearing is on November 29th at 10:00 a.m. and I'd like to respectfully request that we possibly hold an evening meeting on taxes as we have in the past. There may be people and certainly there are a lot of people in the City who work during the day and are not able to come down to Council Chambers at 10:00 a.m.

I think there's a lot of controversial issues regarding the tax policies as a City, certainly the occupation debate that has been initiated by the Mayor. There will be other bills submitted regarding the amusement tax by myself and possibly other Councilmembers as well as the property tax.

I think we should afford people an opportunity to be able to speak and I'd like to make a motion that in addition to the 10:00 a.m. hearing that there be an evening meeting at 7:00 or 7:30.

The Chair:

Mr. Ferlo, your motion is out of order. The creation of all hearings is under the complete jurisdiction of the Council President.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to make a motion that we urge the Council President to establish an evening meeting for the tax hearing.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

I have a request that doesn't need to be voted on but it was in the same vein and I thought it was going to be pre-empted or I would not have asked the question.

The Finance Chairman and the President have sent out a list of the hearing dates starting November 14th and I think it's important that the two numbers the people can contact Mike Perry -- Mike, what number do you want them to reach you at?

Mr. Perry:

255-2138.

Michelle Madoff:

255-2138 or 255-2142, if it's busy.

Numerous organizations have asked me whether I would help them find some money over the year and I always say, "Call Mike Perry and get on the agenda and come before Council and plead your case."

Mr. Milliones:

It's too late to get on the agenda. If they're not already signed up, it's too late.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, I would --

Mr. Milliones:

It's too late. The schedule has already been set. We have about 86 or 87 people already. We don't need any more.

Michelle Madoff:

But some people just don't know.

Mr. Milliones:

The schedule has already been set. It's too late to call.

Michelle Madoff:

How were they notified to come?

Mr. Milliones:

By letter.

Michelle Madoff:

They went to the same groups that came before?

Mr. Milliones:

Yes, in addition to other groups.

Michelle Madoff:

What about the groups that never came before?

Mr. Milliones:

It's too late to call, Michelle. That's it.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Also, Michelle, if I'm not mistaken, it was our responsibility to reach out to other groups, which I have and I'm sure you have and other people have.

Michelle Madoff:

Well I've been telling everybody to call Mike over the year, but I just thought it was important and maybe in the future for next year or something, we ought to early in the year --

Mr. Milliones:

Next year. Not this year. The schedule is already set.

Michelle Madoff:

Alright.

The other thing I was going to suggest, possibly, it seems to me, as a request and I don't think it needs to be voted on, it's at the discretion of the President, that while the evenings may be easier, can we indeed have the same representation, meaning, will the media be here in the evening? Probably. Will we have the stenotypists here? Is this going to make a problem? Could we consider doing it on the weekend? On Saturday?

The Chair:

All budget hearings are televised and are part of the public record.

Michelle Madoff:

Could we do it on a Saturday?

Mr. Milliones:

I would hope not.

Michelle Madoff:

Sunday?

Mr. Regan:

How about Christmas?

Michelle Madoff:

No, I don't want to do Christmas or Easter or Yom Kippur or Rosh Hashanah either.

Mr. Ferlo:

I didn't finish my other point, Mr. Chairman.

On Michelle's point, however, I remind my colleagues that any one of us has the ability to make an amendment to the budget regarding grants and donations whether a group appears before Council or not. I'm sure there will be instances where that's going to happen.

I do want to read this briefly into the public record. I've spoken at length in the past about on-street drug activities as well as prostitution on Butler Street. The Mayor has received a letter from a business letter and I'd like to read it into the record very briefly.

"Dear Mayor:

Recently our company rented out an apartment at 226 45th Street, Pittsburgh, PA, Lawrenceville.

On September 2, 1990, the tenant moved in and on Sunday, September 9, she called and informed me that open and continuous drug dealings were occurring in front of the apartment. I went out and sat on the front porch and watched a total of 35 drug deals happen. These deals were made totally open and the dealers didn't care that I was watching them from 25 feet away.

I really got mad. I used the tenant's telephone and called the police. I gave them the license number and description of the car and the dealer.

A motorcycle policeman was dispatched by the No. 5 Police Station. The policeman drove by the first time, and when the dealer saw this he drove down and parked on Butler Street. The motorcycle policeman circled the second time and then he left.

This dealer and one other were selling drugs next to the Am Vets Post 64 at 229 45th Street. These dealers and their customers were going in and out of the Am Vets. All the residents of this block confirm that this has been going on for a long time.

The following day I called Narcotics to complain and was informed that they did not have agents available on Sundays.

I then proceeded to use a camera to take photos of the dealers and their customers. Between me taking pictures and the man who bought the building across the street yelling at the junkies, we have moved the dealers down to the corner of 45th and Butler, which is the corner of the Boys and Girls Club.

In addition, we have had to put up with three prostitutes working the area between the 40th and 45th blocks of Butler Street for the last two years. I have personally called the No. 5 Police Station and also talked to the beat cop and it has not ceased. The one woman works at least 12 hours a day, 7 days a week.

As our Mayor, I think it is time to ask yourself why prostitutes and drug dealers can operate openly at the same spot for over two years. I question what the Police Department is doing while allowing this to happen.

The Boys Club has a sign up on the wall,

Safe Place, posted on their building, while the drug dealers sell drugs on the corner sidewalk of this location.

Until this is stopped, nobody wants to live near this mess." Et cetera.

I only want to point out again that it reiterates the concern and open frustration I've had regarding this problem. I wish I could say that Butler Street and my neighborhood were the only ones affected by this but that certainly is not the case. Every one of us can speak about several critical areas in our areas, be it the open street drug activity or on-street prostitution.

I would like to ask that there be clarification from the Police Department since we repeatedly have raised this issue about Butler Street and also was the scene of a very large rally a little over a year ago. I'd like to have some report from the Police Department regarding the effectiveness of drug and prostitution arrests in the area.

Secondly, I'd like to get clarification on this issue of narcotic agents on Sunday. I was always led to believe from previous discussions and review at meetings that narcotic agents worked continually, 24 hours a day. But I've gotten three or four instances in the last year where this notion has come up that narcotic agents are not available on Sunday. I'd like clarification on that.

Thirdly, Mr. Chairman, I think it's a question of Council, together with the Mayor and the Police, deciding on priorities. I've been critical of the Police Department in the past; I've accused it of being a ticket, tag and tow operation that has increased revenues from traffic officers. There's over 80 officers assigned to traffic and despite your efforts at increasing the Narcotics Division which has happened a little bit, I think our priorities are backwards.

I think we need to make a further commitment regarding drug activity on the streets and police presence. We're not doing that. We're losing that battle and I hope that this will be a major focus of the budget debate and our dialogue with the Mayor.

Obviously I'm not pleased. I'm very frustrated about this and I don't think we're getting the money that we're paying for in Police.

The Chair:

So, the request is for information --

Mr. Ferlo:

My request really is to --

Mr. Milllones:

Budget hearings don't start until next week.

Mr. Ferlo:

I understand that. But I think it's a question, and I don't think I'm alone on this, I think it's a question of how effective we are and whether or not we should start re-evaluating our police resources.

So, I'm specifically asking for a report from Public Safety and the Police regarding the arrest record of drug and prostitutions in the Butler Street area.

Mr. Regan:

I'd just like to say that I think the Police do a terrific job, that crime is all over, not just on Butler Street. I can name a lot of other places in the City where the same problem exists. I get very frustrated, like Councilman Ferlo, and I'd be glad to do anything to sit down with the Councilman and see what we could work out to eliminate the problem. But it is a tough problem.

We cannot put a beat policeman on every corner because there's not enough to go around. Police in cars can cover a lot more ground than a policeman can standing on a corner. Once a policeman makes an arrest, a lot of people don't understand that he's taken off the street for two or three hours writing up reports, taking the man to the police station. So, if you make ten arrests in the City, you take ten policemen off the street.

So, there is a problem with the new rules and regulations that they have to abide by, people's Constitutional rights. And you just can't arrest a person because you think he's doing something; you have to actually see the transaction. I know a lot of citizens can see the transaction because burglars and criminals are not dumb people a lot of times, and they know if a policeman comes and he sees them, they could be arrested. But they'll deal in front of people because they figure that they can't do anything about it.

I went with our City Impact Squad on some narcotics raids and I was absolutely fascinated with what a great job they did.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, in response. I'm asking that this public policy be debated. Personally, I don't think we're going to win the war against drugs in the manner that we're attempting to win it. And what I'm saying is, I would rather have the priority be police presence, on-street police presence, on Butler Street. And if there's going to be drug activity, let it take place somewhere other than on the street.

I don't have the illusions that others seem to have in this society about the impact that we're going to have on this problem and the manner in which we're fighting it. What I'm saying is, it's a question of reviewing this public policy.

And I'm saying, rather than have policemen run around endlessly in cars, I'm saying that I think the majority of people in the Lawrenceville community would prefer to have a police officer present in a beat fashion visibly on the street. Is that going to end drugs? No. It just means that drug activity will happen and not take over and consume the business life and the neighborhood life of that area. It's a question of what the priority should be.

I'm also questioning 80 some officers being involved in ticket, tag and tow. I can't understand why officers have to be involved in revenue generating, on Vascar, on streets where it's not a question of people speeding, it's a question of raising revenue. I'd rather have those officers be visible on Butler Street.

So, I'm raising a question of what our priorities should be in the City. Right now I think our priorities are totally backwards.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, on this issue I wholeheartedly agree with my colleague, Councilman Ferlo's request for this additional information from the Public Safety Department. I personally am looking forward to the debates during the budget time because I would like to see some of the priorities realigned.

I know in my district, and I'm not going to mention the corners or the streets, I personally am having some trouble with what Mr. Ferlo is talking about. As a matter of fact, there's a group of residents and we're going to be meeting in front of one of our district magistrate's on a home that is a nuisance in our neighborhood.

So, I think the information that he has requested can help start to lay the groundwork for some of our discussions during budget time. It will be my first budget I'm going through and I'm looking forward to that information.

Mr. Regan:

I just want to say that Councilman Ferlo and myself were the only ones that voted for 25 more police officers. But, you know, City firemen, they go out and they put out fires. You never heard anybody say anything bad about a fireman. But police officers are in the precarious position that anything they do is wrong a lot of times. I think they do a hell of a job and I think the City of Pittsburgh Police do a terrific job. I think we have a good Chief of Police in Mayer DeRoy and I think things are going to get better.

I will work with the Councilman 100 percent. But the complaints that he has are in every neighborhood in the City of Pittsburgh and every other large city. That doesn't mean that we can't stay on them and fight them. But I'm just saying that policemen in cars can do a hell of a lot more than a beat cop standing on the corner.

And like the Impact Squad, those narcotics agents will make 50 arrests. The Impact Squad will go out and knock on doors and add a little pressure and they make 6 arrests. But the people think that that's terrific. They don't know about the other 50 arrests that were being made. They get no publicity.

Mr. Ricciardi:

If I may, Mr. President. To make it perfectly clear, I'm not saying that police officers overall are not doing a good job. What I'm saying is, I think this is what the budget proceedings are about, helping to establish our priorities and helping the Administration, through a cooperative effort, in what we believe where the priorities and the resources shall lay.

I think Mr. Ferlo is saying the same thing about police officers and, correct me if I'm wrong, Mr. Ferlo. We're not saying they're not doing a good job; we're saying let's look at the priorities, let's look at the manpower, let's look at the resources, and maybe let's look at some other innovative approaches where we could have an impact on the safety, the public safety of the City of Pittsburgh.

The Chair:

I'd just like to interject a comment. I think the request is genuine also and I think we should get that kind of information. And we will have extensive debate at budget time in regard to this ever-increasing public problem of narcotics.

The question is, what can Council do. I also think that our narcotics people do an excellent job. It's probably the most hazardous position in government today, to be a narcotics detective. And we never have enough resources to address that problem. We're not alone as a municipality; every municipality in the country is in the same position.

What can we as elected officials do? Well, we go out to visit buildings that are dilapidated that police are in. We've gone out and looked at deteriorated roads. Why don't we some evening, as a body of Council, go to these hot spots? And we will request the presence of Chief DeRoy and others within Narcotics and Police, the Mayor's Office if they want to join us. Let's show that we as elected officials care about what our people in the neighborhoods are seeing. And what I'm suggesting to do is create more public attention to the issue and identify whole locations around the City. And if that's agreeable to my colleagues, I will arrange to set up an evening as soon as this week for us to go out at 45th and Butler and several other locations in the City.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, I think that's a great idea and I'd like to set up a tour. It will be at 1:30 a.m. from a rooftop in Arlington and we can watch some of these transactions and I'm sure we could all do the same. I think we should do that.

The Chair:

Okay, let's do it.

Michelle Madoff:

I think it's a terrible idea and I'll tell you why. If they know we're coming, they won't be there that day. Let me tell you from experience in my district where they're out in the middle of the afternoon selling. You have to go unannounced.

The Chair:

Well that's one less day that they'll be there, if they know we're coming.

Michelle Madoff:

Why don't we do it unannounced?

Mr. Regan:

I have a real problem in my neighborhood also, up in Northview Heights. I held several meetings and God bless Councilman Ferlo because he was right there with me. I said, "If you get 50 women, I'll march with you down the street." We couldn't get them because people are afraid.

It's a very sad situation and I would personally agree to work with Mr. Ferlo on that and eliminate that problem out there, which I'm sure we can. But like he said, they move up the street.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I just want to say that I support you wholeheartedly. Clearly there won't be drug activity if we have television cameras and us. That's not the issue. I think the issue is, to effectively raise public consciousness, community support, public attention on this issue in the community, Lawrenceville in particular, but other neighborhood hot spots have been mentioned. So, the issue is not so much that we're going to take a crowd there and make arrests that night. The issue is, as you say, to put the public pressure.

And again, I am in no way being critical of the Impact Squad. I would say a prayer for them every week. That's not the issue. The issue is, I think we have to re-evaluate what our priorities are in the Police Bureau and even in the Public Safety budget. I've always been critical of the department. I'm going to be critical this year of top Administrative positions versus on-line police officers.

Mr. Cohen:

Very briefly on that, Mr. President. When you put together that list, please let me know. I have a couple of places in my district I'd like to add.

Michelle Madoff:

May I add to that? I have a couple of places but I can assure you that if they know we're coming they won't be there. Why can't we go unannounced? Arrange it privately amongst Councilmembers.

The Chair:

We can. We'll work it out.

Mr. Cohen moved to excuse Mr. Darkins for absence from the meeting.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Milliones moved to adjourn this meeting and meet again on Tuesday, November 13, 1990 at 2:00 p.m. for the Mayor's Budget Address and the Legislative Session.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

And on the motion of Mr. Milliones

Council adjourned.

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-SIXTH COUNCIL

JACK WAGNER President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk
LINDA M. JOHNSON-WASLER .. Asst. City Clerk

Pittsburgh, PA
Tuesday, November 13, 1990

PRESENT:

MR. COHEN	MR. MILLIONES
MR. COYNE	MR. REGAN
MR. DARKINS	MR. RICCIARDI
MR. FERLO	MR. WAGNER
MICHELLE MADOFF	(Pres't)

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

The Chair:

I'd like to ask two of my colleagues, Councilwoman Michelle Madoff and Councilman Jake Milliones, to please escort the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh into Council Chambers.

Ladies and Gentlemen, the Honorable Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, Sophie Masloff.

Mayor Masloff:

Mr. President, Members of Council. Thank you very much for your kind greeting here this afternoon.

We are meeting here at a time of trouble for our national economy. Last month, the Federal Government finally began the process of looking at the due bill for the past ten years. We have had astronomical deficits and drastic federal cutbacks. A big part of our savings and loan industry has been looted, and we have a weakened banking and credit system. This is choking off growth in important parts of our economy.

Some people think that the 80's were great, a wonderful spree. Others do not. But, whatever we think, the reality is that the bills are coming due. The interest on our national debt is now the third largest expenditure in our national budget. In just two short years, we have gone from, "Read my lips" to higher taxes.

Here in Pennsylvania, the news also is bad. Our State's revenues are way below projections, and Philadelphia is near bankruptcy. When the bonds of the largest City in our State have been reduced to junk status, we must all be concerned. The fact is that there are serious warning signals in almost every national, state and regional economic forecast.

So, the question before us today is this. What kind of shape are we in? Are we prepared?

The answer is: Pittsburgh is ready.

We are ready because for 9 years in a row, we've balanced our budgets without tax increases. Our bond rating is solid, and we have done so many of the things we needed to do to position our City for the future:

- We cut the wage tax two years in a row and improved our competitive position.
- We initiated a successful bank rating system to help insure an adequate supply of mortgage and home improvement loan money for Pittsburgh residents. The banks have responded, and they are putting money where they've never put it before.
- We have greatly improved the collection of delinquent taxes. In 1990, we increased collections by almost $3.5 million dollars, an increase of 35%. In 1991, we will do even better.
- Overall, we are managing our resources better, increasing accountability and efficiency throughout City government. For example, our Firefighters, working on down-time, inspected 6,500 commercial properties this year and prevented countless future disasters.

Another reason we are ready is that we have succeeded in solving many of our biggest problems:

- We made an agreement with the County for a new Public Safety Building and Jail.
- We worked out an agreement with the Penguins about the Civic Arena on terms favorable to the City.
- We succeeded in creating a recycling program to comply with State law at no additional cost to City taxpayers.
- We got rid of the Police Trial Board.
- We passed a new Ethics Bill.
- At long last, we've made real progress with Alcosan -- taking effective steps to solve both the odor and sewer problems which have been with us for so long.

And, we are ready because we are doing a better job in City government day-to-day:

- We have improved emergency response time on 911 calls by an average of 3 minutes per call.
- We rehabilitated 25% of our City pools this year.
- We made major capital improvements at 15 of our largest recreational facilities.
- We trained and placed nearly 1,000 City residents in new private sector jobs.
- We proved, once again, that we have the ability to adapt to tough challenges during the oil spill on the Allegheny River. Pittsburgh was the only city in this area that stayed open, pumping good, clean water throughout the crisis.

But, while we are proud of all this, we know that Pittsburgh is not an island. The slowing economy all around us threatens to stall our growth. Hard times may or may not be on the horizon, but one thing is certain: Tougher times are coming soon.

We are ready for the challenge of tougher times. Above all, it is going to require leadership. This Administration is ready to lead. This Council is ready to lead.

The 1991 Budget I am presenting today reflects our concerns about the present situation and our determination about the future. Some things we'll move ahead. Some things we'll hold even. Some things we'll sacrifice.

We have had five watchwords in mind in preparing this budget: planning, stability, thrift, consistency, and compassion.

What does that mean? It means we are going to maintain the gains for the future, which we have made by cutting the wage tax. We must hold the wage tax where it is now and we will. It also means that we will exert the most stringent discipline to keep the City's fiscal condition sound. This budget is balanced — without any tax increases.

Let me give you a few figures. We propose to spend a total of $334 million dollars. The budget includes several additional auditors and investigators in the Finance Department to further enhance our tax enforcement program. This will produce at least an additional half a million dollars. There are several fairly sizable fee increases totaling well over half-a-million dollars. This budget includes a 2-1/2% increase for all non-union employees.

We are eliminating over 250 positions from the General Fund. A substantial number of these are unfilled now and some of them have already been eliminated during 1990. But there will be some filled positions eliminated and there will be some layoffs.

This budget was hard and difficult to prepare. With all the numbers, I have never forgotten that the budget is really about people. To achieve the savings we had to achieve, it looked, for a long time, like we were going to have to eliminate a very large number of filled positions and lay off a great many people.

But, wherever possible, we have avoided layoffs and cut back by attrition. Wherever possible, we have transferred people from the General Fund to user-fee based trust funds. Wherever possible, we have reassigned people who are freed up by improved efficiency to new programs. For example, we will save the need for 66 positions in Environmental Services by instituting a bulk-goods pick-up program. But, approximately 40 of those people will be needed as we move into the recycling program. Where this was not possible, we are offering an excellent early retirement program for non-union employees.

By doing these things, we have avoided massive terminations. Now, having done everything we know how to do, we must face reality. The future of our City depends on a lot of things. But, nothing is more important to the City's future than that we have the courage to keep our house in order.

Mr. President, Members of Council, let me summarize the financial part of my message. The National government is not living within its budget; the State government has not been living within its budget; Philadelphia has not been living within its budget. By God, the City of Pittsburgh is going to live within its budget, and we will do it with fairness and the future as our guide.

The truth is, we have faced much more difficult things before. We have survived depression and recession. We survived the awful wrenching transition to a more diversified economy. One of the reasons we survived is that Pittsburghers know how to pull together. We know that in rough times, the least fortunate often suffer the most.

I guarantee you that we will be sharing our equipment more -- as we did with our neighbors in Homestead this year. In these things, I am always guided by my earliest memories. We always set an extra plate.

We are going to make this building more accessible to the disabled. We are working on a plan with the Center for Independent Living to do that.

And we are working hard with our minority contractors to remove the obstacles they face in working with the City. We are exploring the possibility of using letters of credit as a substitute for the bonding requirement on smaller jobs. We are working to create a revolving loan fund for meeting a company's first payroll. In a few days, I will be announcing a comprehensive program for minority and women-owned businesses. I am committed to do everything our imagination and resources will permit to guarantee equal opportunity to working women and minorities in our City.

We are not helped in that effort by the fact that the President vetoed both the Family Leave Bill and the Civil Rights Bill this year. These vetoes have depressed working women and minorities everywhere. These are not partisan matters. These bills are about families and fairness, about jobs and justice. They should set the foundation for the work we try to do here. I deeply hope these bills will be revived in Congress next year and passed into law with the President's help.

Last year, my top priority with the State was to reform the Trial Board System. By working together, we were able to do that, and I am convinced we will see the positive impact of this change for decades to come. This year, working with the General Assembly, we hope to succeed in lowering the amusement tax and develop an alternative regional income source.

We are making this effort not just to secure a better competitive position for the Steelers, the Penguins, and the Pirates. We also want to improve the health and vitality of all our cultural institutions: symphony, opera, public theater, ballet, as well as our neighborhood movie houses.

During the coming year, I will also propose the creation of a new sports and festival federation. This federation would oversee all the major regional tourist events that occur in the City such as the Marathon, the Children's Festival, the Arts Festival, the Fourth of July, and the Regatta. These events are major attractions for the City and the region. We will be working with the County and the State to secure a permanent source of funding for the Sports and Festival Federation.

You are all aware that I have traveled to Washington several times and to Harrisburg to help gain support for the new Airport Busway. We simply must succeed in guaranteeing that the City will have full access to the jobs and business possibilities that will become available at the new Airport.

There is another transportation initiative which is equally critical for our economic future. The two greatest engines of employment within our City are Oakland and Downtown. We need to strengthen both and to connect them. It is long past time to stop studying and to begin to plan and to build a direct rapid mass transit corridor between Oakland and Downtown. Pushing this project forward is vital to the City's future.

It is not possible to discuss the future of our City without talking about our relations with tax-exempt institutions; particularly, our great hospitals. As you know, we have pursued an aggressive policy toward hospitals that claim tax exemptions without merit.

Our overall position is this: This City simply cannot bear the burden of supporting municipal services for the core health care system for large parts of Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. We must be made whole.

We are deeply grateful that Presbyterian University Hospital and St. Francis Hospital have come forward to help us voluntarily. Other institutions have not been so inclined.

The City will continue to review all tax-exempt properties to make sure they comply with the law. If they are not "purely public charities" as required by the law, we will challenge them in court. I am convinced we will win.

We will fight any appeals of those victories to the highest courts. The simple fact is: City taxpayers cannot continue to pay the bill for the entire region.

Of course, I do not welcome long legal battles with some of our City's most important institutions. So, today, I want to outline a compromise I would accept. In concept, it would be modeled on the way municipalities are compensated in Pennsylvania for property owned by public utilities.

Public utilities are exempt from real estate taxes. However, they pay a fee to the State of 30 mills on the book value of their property. Meanwhile, municipalities report to Harrisburg the amount that would have been paid by the public utility had they not been tax-exempt. The General Assembly then distributes those funds on the basis of a formula to all municipalities.

Under such a concept, both sides would be served. The hospitals would retain the tax exemption which is most important to their ability to fund their growth through tax-exempt bonds. Pittsburgh would be reimbursed for the cost of serving these huge facilities, and no additional revenue would be required from the State.

Of course, such a compromise could only work if it were taken to Harrisburg by the City and the hospitals working together. I am willing to do it.

My message to the hospitals today is this: We love your work and respect your skill. We have heard you say that you don't mind helping the City, but you must not risk your legal position. We will gladly join you in partnership in Harrisburg, or we will see you in court. It's up to you. Either way, the taxpayers of this City will be served.

Mr. President, Members of Council, today's budget marks the ninth year in a row that Pittsburgh has been without a tax increase. We are rated among the five Most Livable Cities in the Country. It is our job to keep it that way. Thank you very much for your attention and support.

The Chair:

Thank you, Mayor, for the 1991 Budget Proposal and Address.

I would like to ask one of my colleagues for a 15 minute recess motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

So moved.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

And on the motion of Mr. Ferlo

Council recessed.

Pittsburgh, PA
Tuesday, November 13, 1990

And the time of recess having expired,
Council reconvened.

PRESENTATIONS

Michelle Madoff:

May I please request that representatives of the National Retiree Volunteer Center, (NRVC), Richard Parran, retired Vice-President of PPG - the Pittsburgh Conference Chairman, please step forward? Donna Anderson, National President of NRVC in Minneapolis, Minnesota; Otto Silha, retired Chairman of Cowles Publication and Vice-Chairman and Member of the Board of NRVC; and James Roddey of Allegheny Media, member of the NRVC Advisory Board. Will you please come forward and bring everybody with you?

I happen to be addicted to the Press and Post Gazette and I happened to read about your organization. I was enormously impressed and thought it was appropriate that we have a resolution in your honor.

Michelle Madoff presents

No. 1686 WHEREAS, the National Retiree Volunteer Center, (NRVC), which is the catalyst that mobilizes and empowers retirees to become a force in their communities by providing leadership and service in meeting critical community needs, is sponsoring a national conference; and

WHEREAS, on November 14, 15 and 16, 1990 the City of Pittsburgh will be hosting this conference, LAUNCH '90 Retiree Leadership: Untapped Power to Light Up America's Future, the first business summit on retiree leadership and service ever to be held in the United States; and

WHEREAS, this summit is designed to mobilize a national movement of retiree volunteers in providing community leadership to deal with the critical issues that face our nation by the utilization of their wealth of knowledge, talent and expertise; and

WHEREAS, current and recently retired Pittsburgh business leaders such as Richard Parran, retired Vice-President of PPG - the Pittsburgh Conference Chairman; William Schenck, Vice-Chairman of PNB, - Finance Chairman; and William Block, Chairman of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette; Douglas Danforth, Retired Chairman of Westinghouse Electric Co.; C. Fred Fetterolf, President of ALCOA; Robert C. Milsom, Retired Chairman and CEO of Pittsburgh National Bank; David M. Roderick, Retired Chairman of USX Corporation; and Otto Silha, Retired Chairman of Cowles Media and Vice-Chairman, Board of Directors of NRVC, who serve as Honorary Chairmen have been instrumental in providing the local leadership to promote this national conference; and

WHEREAS, James Roddey of Allegheny Media, who serves on the National Advisory Board of NRVC, along with Donna Anderson, National President of NRVC in Minneapolis, Minnesota had key roles in the planning and recruitment of local participants and sponsors for this important meeting.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh wishes to recognize the leadership and members of the NRVC for their vision and direction in convening this historic conference, and hereby declares that November 14, 1990 be designated as National Retiree Volunteer Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Michelle Madoff moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

James, would you like to say a few thousand words?

Mr. Roddey:

I don't know why they always choose me to comment.

I think it's interesting and ironic that the theme of this conference is "Light Up America's Future" and the conference ends on the 16th, and that's Light Up Night in Pittsburgh. I think it's symbolic. Pittsburgh certainly is a city of our nation's great past and our great future. And to have the conference with that kind of theme here in Pittsburgh ending as we light up the lights I think is a nice touch.

We have raised over $200,000 locally for support of this conference, all from private contributions. We didn't come to Council and after hearing today's budget it would probably not have been a very fruitful visit.

But we do want to just call you attention to the fact that in a city that has many retirees, in a city that has an inordinate number of corporations for its size, there could be no more appropriate place for a conference of this type where people retire from their companies but stay in their company units organized with their working associates from their working lifetime and transfer, really, from active duty in their company to volunteer duty in their company.

Such companies as USX and Mellon and PNB and Heinz and Westinghouse and Alcoa all have programs and we're very fortunate to have this conference. Over 600 business leaders, chairmen of boards of companies, presidents of major companies around the country, Dow Chemical, Honeywell, 3-M, several Cabinet secretaries from the Republican Administration, and I know all of the Councilpeople are excited about that. But we will have leaders from all over the country talking about how this program can be extended around the country.

Two members, the past Chairman and the new Chairman of the Points of Light Foundation will be here and hopefully they will participate in lighting the lights at the Point on the 16th and our theme will be, "Light Up America's Future; the Points of Light Meet the Lights at the Point".

So, we thank Council and Councilperson Madoff, certainly, for recognizing the conference, and all of you for leading the kind of City that makes it possible to have a volunteer ethic in tradition such as we have. Thank you very much.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. President, could I have Mr. Michael Cash and Ms. Susan Marrow come forward, please?

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1687 WHEREAS, Casper W. Weinberger is one of the most outstanding Americans and civil servants in the United States of America; and

WHEREAS, Casper W. Weinberger served his country with honor as United States Secretary of Defense during the Regan Administration; and

WHEREAS, Casper W. Weinberger is a native of San Francisco, California and a graduate of Harvard College, Harvard Law School and a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Honor Society; and

WHEREAS, Casper W. Weinberger has achieved great success as a former Captain with the United States Army, as a Member of the California State Legislature, as Director of Finance for the State of California, as Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, as Director of the Office of Management and Budget and as Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare; and

WHEREAS, Casper W. Weinberger is a man most worthy of honor and recognition for his years of sacrifice and unselfish service to his fellow man and to his country.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby proclaims November 13, 1990 as "Casper W. Weinberger Day" in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

Discussion. Mr. Chairman, I don't wish to embarrass my colleague, Bishop Darkins, but I am very upset at this resolution. I'd sooner vote for a proclamation for Mephistopheles than Casper Weinberger. He represents the worst of not only the Regan Administration but any administration and I would violently oppose proclaiming any day Casper Weinberger Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

He's responsible for the constructive engagement philosophy of the Regan Administration regarding the oppression in South Africa. He's responsible for the brutal murders and killings in Central America, and there's no way I would vote for this gentleman. With all due respect to my colleague and to the guests. It would be over my dead body.

The Chair:

I would hope we would not get into an extensive debate on this.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, in the past, Councilmembers have come forward regarding the issue of abortion. This Chambers is divided on the issue of abortion. Many of us believe personally that we're opposed to abortion. We believe that women have a right to choose what's going to happen with their own bodies.

There are times when, unfortunately, certain proclamations come forward to these Chambers regarding controversial issues and, unfortunately, certainly honoring somebody is not a controversial issue but in this particular respect, this particular gentleman, the former Secretary of Defense in the Regan Administration, there's no way I could vote in favor of that and I just feel obligated to speak my mind.

I'm not asking for a tabling of the motion but I'm letting you know that I'm voting no and why, and I would certainly respect my colleague and I apologize to the guests who are here today.

Mr. Regan:

I don't even know this gentleman but he has done a lot of good things in his life and I'd like to respect him and admire him for that.

I would like to say that there are a lot of people here that I might not agree with but we're presenting something in here by a Councilman and I think all he's doing is embarrassing Council. I don't think it's fair because a lot of us bring resolutions through here and I'm sure we all don't agree.

He's talking about pro-choice. He don't worry about murdering babies but he's going to go against a guy like this. And I totally disagree with him on that. But that's one issue. This is America; there's a lot of issues in America. And I have to admire the Bishop for presenting this resolution and I hope wholeheartedly we're going to support him on it.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen
Mr. Darkins
Mr. Regan

Mr. Ricciardi
Mr. Wagner
(Pres't)

AYES 5

NOES 3

(MR. COYNE, MR. FERLO AND MR. MILLONES VOTING NO)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion passed finally.

Mr. Cash:

On behalf of the Rivers Club and Casper Weinberger, I'd like to thank you in accepting this for him. He'll be at the Rivers Club tonight.

This is part of what we call the Lecture Series at the Rivers Club, the second year running, and we'll have individuals such as Mr. Weinberger and George Plimpton and Dr. Jean Kirkpatrick later on this year. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ferlo:

Oh great. Another great person. You should invite some humanitarians to the Rivers Club.

Mr. Regan:

Yeah, well keep killing babies --

The Chair:

Mr. Regan, Mr. Ferlo, you're both out of order.

Michelle Madoff:

This is still a democracy, Mr. Ferlo.

Mr. Ferlo:

That doesn't mean we have to proclaim the day after him.

Michelle Madoff:

I didn't vote for it.

Mr. Milliones presents

No. 1688 WHEREAS, Marian Wright Edelman was born in Bennettsville, South Carolina, graduated from Spelman College in 1960 and later earned her law degree from Yale Law School in 1963; and

WHEREAS, Marian Wright Edelman founded the Washington Research Project which became the Children's Defense Fund (CDF) in 1973 and has been an advocate for disadvantaged Americans for her entire professional career; and

WHEREAS, Marian Wright Edelman, as the first black woman admitted to the Mississippi Bar, began her campaign for children in the mid 1960s by directing the Legal Defense and Education Fund of the NAACP branch in Jackson, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, Marian Wright Edelman's involvement in many civil rights cases helped to successfully fend off political attacks against the Child Development Group of Mississippi, a Head Start Program with over 100 centers in mostly rural, poor communities; and

WHEREAS, Marian Wright Edelman and the CDF have demonstrated how government and private groups can reduce infant mortality, get children immunized, house homeless families, assure safe child care, and most importantly give children the education they need for breaking out of poverty.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh joins in offering congratulations to Marian Wright Edelman for becoming a powerful voice for justice for our nation's children and for receiving the 1990 Thomas Merton Award in recognition of her long-term commitment in the struggle for racial and economic equality.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd like to ask Christine Comform, President of the South Side Community Council and our honored guests this afternoon to please come forward.

We have with us Katie Farrell, Lisa Laskovich, Christy Powell, Tracy Laskovich, Lori Prokopezuk, and Dana Chase.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

No. 1689 WHEREAS, Katie Farrell, Sara Huber, Lisa Laskovich, Christy Powell, Tracy Laskovich, Germane Washburn, Lori Prokopezuk and Dana Chase have been selected as winners in the South Side Community Council's "Don't Get Hooked On Drugs" contest; and

WHEREAS, the South Side Community Council's "Don't Get Hooked On Drugs" campaign is designed to encourage youngsters to say no to drugs and to learn about the consequences of drug use; and

WHEREAS, the South Side Community Council received national recognition from Neighborhood USA for its "Don't Get Hooked On Drugs" program for children and adults; and

WHEREAS, approximately 150 children and adults are involved with this program annually.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby congratulates Katie Farrell, Sara Huber, Lisa Laskovich, Christy Powell, Tracy Laskovich, Germane Washburn, Lori Prokopezuk and Dana Chase for being selected as winners in the "Don't Get Hooked On Drugs" contest.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you, Mr. President and colleagues. We know how important it is today to fight drugs on the street and we found it very difficult in the past to fight the supply of drugs. But I think what we're doing as a society is turning our attention to fighting the demand for drugs.

The South Side Community Council, along with other neighborhood based organizations, are beginning to hold annual seminars and educational events throughout the year, not just for youngsters but for adults. I had the opportunity to attend this one and it was a great program; it was about all drugs, the evils of alcohol, the evils of tobacco, and other hard-core drugs from the City.

So, I'd like Christine Comfort to say a few words. And I'd like to say that Tom Waschak who is the chairperson of this committee on Public Safety is unable to attend today but he sends his best. So, Christine Comfort, if you could say a few words and maybe introduce our guests.

Ms. Comfort:

Thank you, Gene, and City Council. I'd like to personally take credit for these wonderful children, but I can't.

The Public Safety Committee of the Community Council has worked many long, hard hours to put together our "Don't Get Hooked" program. It's a program we've very proud of and I think these children prove that the program works.

If these children are the future of South Side, then all I can say is, it looks like we have a very bright future.

I'll now turn it over to the children.

Dana Chase:

My name is Dana Chase and I'm an eighth grader at South Side Catholic. I just want to thank everyone that made it possible today.

I feel that drugs are very bad and I'm glad that I'm not on drugs and nobody else I know is on drugs. I feel that nobody should be on drugs because they know the consequences and they shouldn't be on drugs.

Thank you.

Lori Prokopezuk:

My name is Lori Prokopezuk and I'm in the eighth grade at South Side Catholic School.

I would like to give a special thank you to City Council, South Side Community Council, and Sister Carol, for making this award possible.

Tracy Laskovich:

My name is Tracy Laskovich and I'm in fourth grade.

I'd just like to say thanks.

The Chair:

Thank you all for coming.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, I move to have Bill No. 637 reconsidered.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

The Chair:

I have to rule that you cannot move to have that bill reconsidered because you voted in the affirmative. It must take someone, according to Robert's Rules, that voted in the negative on a piece of legislation.

Mr. Milliones:

So moved, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Michelle Madoff:

May we just change the procedure?

The Chair:

You now have the floor.

Mr. Regan:

Two of your loyal supporters jumped in there for you.

Michelle Madoff:

Thank you. I thought you wanted to change the process and have Mr. Ricciardi move to have 637 reconsidered.

Mr. Ricciardi, do you wish to --

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you. I'd like to pass this out.

Michelle Madoff:

We were advised by the Law Department how to do it so if we didn't do it right, don't blame us. We try hard.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, I am now distributing an amendment I would like to make by deletion. 197.11 Investigations, to delete "and of the identity of the claimant".

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

The Chair:

All Councilmembers are aware of this but I was hoping one of you would explain what is happening here. Would you care to, Mr. Ricciardi, in regard to this being part of the Ethics Bill that passed Council last week? This being part of the Ethics Bill that passed Council last week and this amendment was put on the floor. It did not pass; it had a 4-4 vote. The same amendment and the same bill can be reconsidered only at the next Legislative Meeting. It must be put on the floor by someone who voted against the amendment and you are now doing that.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, I did vote against the amendment at the last meeting. The amendment was made by, I believe, Michelle Madoff and I'd like to put it back on the floor.

During the process of the bill in the later stages when it comes to the Hearing Board, there are two other sections where either the employee or the elected official will become aware of the claimant either through justification or frivolous suit. This will eliminate either the elected official or the employee or the director of knowing who the claimant is at the very beginning before the investigation has started.

I think it would be much more comfortable, relaxing and assuring for a person to remain with his name not to be used while the initial investigation is processing, continuing. It would do what we're doing across the country, Mr. President. We're all knowing that we should protect as much as we can, "whistle blowers". So, what we're trying to do is by deleting that clause.

The Chair:

Thank you, Mr. Ricciardi, for the clarification. Procedurally, Mr. Perry simply has to read another portion for the Record.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

No. 1679 An Ordinance amending Bill

No. 637 approved November 7, 1990, entitled, "An Ordinance supplementing the Pittsburgh Code, Title One, Administrative, Article XI, Personnel, by adding Chapter 197, Code of Conduct, providing public officials and employees with a Code of Conduct, providing for education as to the same and establishing a Pittsburgh Ethics Hearing Board to judicate charges as to certain provisions hereof by deleting the words in Section 197.11 (b) "and the identity of the claimant".

Which was read.

The Chair:

That is simply an amendment to the bill that has passed. The amendment did not have a favorable vote; it was 4-4. Someone who had voted against it has proposed it; therefore, according to Robert's Rules, it is permissible.

Mr. Perry:

And it will be on the agenda a week from Wednesday.

Michelle Madoff:

Why don't we vote on it now?

Mr. Perry:

You can suspend Rule 8.

Michelle Madoff:

I move to suspend Rule 8.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

The Chair:

Okay, this will be on the agenda tomorrow, Mr. Perry, correct?

Mr. Perry:

Correct.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Cohen:

Point of Information, Mr. Chairman. Can this not be voted on today, Mr. President?

Michelle Madoff:

I think it can.

Mr. Cohen:

My understanding, at least from the Solicitor, is that it can.

The Chair:

It could be if it were proposed as an amendment. It is proposed as a whole new bill with an amendment.

Michelle Madoff:

No, it was proposed as an amendment, Mr. President.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I proposed it as an amendment by deletion. So, I believe we could vote on it today, Mr. President, according to the City Solicitor's Office.

The Chair:

Let's ask for a ruling from the Parliamentarian.

Parliamentarian:

After discussing this with the City Solicitor, she has ruled that there needs to be an entirely new vote on this piece of legislation.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'm sorry, I was unable to hear him, Mr. President.

The Chair:

The Parliamentarian, at the advice of the City Solicitor, has ruled that there needs to be an entirely new vote on the piece of legislation.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I appreciate the Parliamentarian's view. The question is not whether there should be a vote; the question is when. I'd like to ask the Parliamentarian if that, given that all Members of Council are here today, if that cannot be done at this session today.

The Chair:

There really is no urgency here and there obviously is favorable opinion within Council for the passage of the amendment.

Based on the Solicitor's opinion, I think we should simply put it on the agenda tomorrow.

Michelle Madoff:

And then it doesn't come up again until next Tuesday and somebody might not be here. We're in agreement and I'd like to move that we do it now.

The Chair:

Well, you cannot. The ruling has been that it comes up tomorrow.

Is there any other Unfinished Business other than that item?

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, several months ago we asked for information from the Administration regarding the complaints that are filed at the Mayor's Service Center and we wanted this information before we go into budget proceedings with the various department directors to review the complaints, the repetitiveness of the complaints, and the nature of the complaints. It has a lot to do with Public Works and Environmental Services and the like. I would respectfully request that information once again.

The Chair:

Mr. Perry, please request that information.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'm all in favor of this resolution to designate the park a historical park and a historical district. However, I really believe in my heart and also listening to the testimony at the public hearing that a greater issue affecting the park is the preservation and the restoration and maintenance of the tree population that exists in the park.

I hope that in approving this today that we don't have smoke and mirrors from the Administration but that they will sincerely review the tree maintenance program that has been drafted by the community. There was an effort there logging in and detailing every tree, the life expectancy of the tree, the quality of the tree, what kind of rehabilitation needs to take place regarding the trees in the West Park. I hope that the Administration will take that to heart and come forward with a plan.

We can designate the park as a historical park but it's not going to mean anything unless we retain the beauty of the park as experienced with the magnificent trees and foliage that exists in this area.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Cohen:

Good morning, everyone. Would Margaret Tauxe come up to the podium, please?

Mr. Cohen presents

No. 1725 WHEREAS, now that the Cold War is over and democratic processes are emerging throughout Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, there is no longer justification for escalating the U.S. - Soviet nuclear arms race, the two countries already possessing 60,000 nuclear weapons between them; and

WHEREAS, both the United States and the Soviet Union continue to explode nuclear warheads underground in order to develop new, more advanced nuclear weapons; and

WHEREAS, nuclear test explosions by the United States and the Soviet Union encourage the spread of nuclear weapons to other countries and seriously hamper their efforts to curb nuclear proliferation; and

WHEREAS, nuclear test explosions allow the development of costly new weapons at a time of huge deficits and tough budget choices, thus draining much needed resources from our cities and states; and

WHEREAS, the radioactive contamination from nuclear test explosions has left several areas of the United States, Soviet Union, South Pacific and China unfit for human, animal and plant life; and

WHEREAS, an opportunity to ban nuclear testing in 118 countries will occur January 7-18, 1991 in New York, namely a Test Ban Treaty Conference to amend the 1963 Partial Test Ban Treaty, which will include the banning of underground testing.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh calls upon President Bush to join other nations in a mutual and verifiable suspension of nuclear testing and to instruct his negotiators at the Test Ban Treaty Conference to work with urgency for approval of a Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh calls upon the Members of the Pennsylvania Congressional Delegation to support Joint Senate - House Resolution #287 which urges that President Bush take these steps to achieve a Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty.

Mr. Cohen moved to adopt the resolution

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen

Michelle Madoff

Mr. Coyne
Mr. Darkins
Mr. Ferlo

Mr. Millions
Mr. Wagner
(Pres't)

AYES 7

NOES none

(MR. REGAN AND MR. RICCIARDI ABSTAINING)

And a majority of the votes of Council being in the affirmative, the motion passed finally.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you, Members of Council; I appreciate it.

This is a very important resolution. There are several reasons for supporting a Comprehensive Nuclear Test Ban Treaty; environmental, budgetary. But most important of all is the cause of peace.

I'm very happy to have with me today Margaret Tauxe who is the past President of Peace Links, a very active organization which participates and promotes the cause of peace. She and her husband, Dr. Tauxe, just recently came back from an International Test Ban Conference and I'm happy to ask her to speak to us today.

Mrs. Tauxe:

I want to say how much I appreciate the Council for passing this resolution and I salute your understanding of how global issues, national issues, impact on the local issues. It's very, very important.

The Western Pennsylvania Campaign For Comprehensive Test Ban has been organized as a campaign in order to increase support for this conference which was called by 118 nations who have been the signatories of the original partial Test Ban Treaty.

It was understood at that time that the moment it became possible to verify any abrogation of this treaty, that it would move to a total test ban treaty. That time has long been passed.

Unfortunately, our present administration is not enthusiastic about supporting this for reasons of their own. So, it really has to be a ground swell effort of people rising up and saying this is what we want.

I think it is particularly important for people on this Council, and obviously they do, to understand the economic impact of this issue.

In the new budget, you probably noticed, that it was divided very much into a tri-apartheid grouping and there are domestic budget, a military budget, separated. It just so happens that nuclear testing comes under the domestic because the Department of Energy is financed under the domestic budget. Funds that are spent on this totally unnecessary testing program are coming out of your bridges, coming out of your children's support for schools. That's where it's coming from.

I'm sure you don't know this. I didn't know this before, but each test costs between $30 million and $70 million. Each one. And on the 15th of this month we conducted one for Great Britain. They don't have anyplace to blow their bombs up.

Every year it costs us a minimum of $700 million. And if this program is discontinued, we stand to gain $10 billion overall. It seems to me it's obvious that we can't keep just blowing up dollars in the desert and I want to thank you for supporting this.

Mr. Cohen presents

No. 1726 WHEREAS, Barbara K. Shore serves as the Director of the Doctoral Program at the University of Pittsburgh's School of Social Work; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Shore has dedicated herself to serve the public in such diverse roles as: President of the Stanton Heights Civic Association; Chairperson of the Human Relations Task Force of the United Jewish Federation; Chairperson of the Allegheny County Children & Youth Services Task Force; Founding Co-Chair of the Children's Lobby of Western Pennsylvania; Founding Member of the Center for Victims of Violent Crime; and member of other groups too numerous to mention; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Shore has received many awards, including Pennsylvania Social Worker of the Year, Pitt School of Social Work Distinguished Alumni Award, Persad Center Award of Appreciation, Pittsburgh Woman Magazine Woman of the Year, YWCA Woman of Distinction, National Council of Jewish Women Hannah G. Solomon Award, National Council of Christians and Jews Humanitarian Award, Martin Luther King Award, and Kids Need Heroes Award; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Shore is to be honored by Governor Robert Casey on November 27, 1990 as a Distinguished Daughter of Pennsylvania.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby declares Dr. Barbara K. Shore a Distinguished Person of the City of Pittsburgh in recognition of her invaluable contributions she has made to the residents of the City; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh declares

November 27, 1990 as "Dr. Barbara K. Shore Day" in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Cohen moved to adopt the resolution.

Michelle Madoff seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

Councilman, one day isn't enough for that lady. Give her three or four days.

Mr. Cohen:

That's true.

Michelle Madoff:

Let's give her a week.

Mr. Cohen:

How have you had any free time on your hands?

This is a real honor for me. Dr. Shore has made, as you heard, numerous contributions to this City. I know all of you have worked with Dr. Shore on numerous activities in the past.

I have had the privilege to sit with Dr. Shore on a couple of committees and it seems that whenever Dr. Shore decides to speak on an issue, people on the Committee seem to lean a little bit closer and listen a little bit more intently because Barbara Shore always knows what she's talking about and she has really made a tremendous contribution.

Dr. Shore:

Good morning, everyone. I thank you for what is a wonderful honor.

Certainly the work that all of us do, and as I look around this room I see so many of us that participate in efforts in a variety of areas know that we don't do those things hopefully for the rewards we get but rather because the quality of life and the importance of bringing all of us together to improve that quality of life for our City, our County, our State, our nation, and indeed internationally, is so very, very crucial.

It is wonderful to be able to work in those areas that seem important to all of us as improving the quality of life, the dignity for human beings, the possibility of people maximizing their potential, being able to realize their fullest potential in every way possible is a wonderful opportunity. I've always felt fortunate to be in a field where my work becomes part of one's mission, and that's very fortunate when one can have that opportunity.

It also means that all of us together have become good friends, good supporters of each other, are able to work together to further improve the quality of life for all of the residents of our City.

I think we know that Pittsburgh is a very special City, but we know we have lots of problems still to be tackled. And I would pledge myself to tackle all of those in the future as we have attempted to do together in the past and hope that we together can begin to make Pittsburgh more and more special for all of the citizens of our City and of our County and of the Commonwealth in which we live.

I thank you so much for this honor. It's marvelous. And I'm just very, very pleased to be honored for doing that which is so self-enhancing and so self-validating and to have all of you as my good colleagues in that effort. Thank you ever so much.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. President and my colleagues on Council, I'd like to ask Mrs. Wade to come forward and her brother, the attorney, and his wife, if you'll come forward. And I believe you have some guests from out of town with you today from New York. Your aunt. Please come forward.

After looking over all of the resolutions that are going to be given today, it looks like we should call this Women's Day here in City Council because it looks like we're honoring women.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1727 WHEREAS, Mildred Wade is one of the most accomplished African American women in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS, Mildred Wade has been a positive influence in the lives of young people by dedicating over 22 years of her career to the development of children while at Louise Child Care Center; and

WHEREAS, Mildred Wade holds a Masters of Arts Degree in Education from Tuskegee University, a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Education from Pitt and is a graduate of Schenley High School; and

WHEREAS, Mildred Wade has been listed in Who's Who among American Women and Who's Who among Black Americans; and

WHEREAS, Mildred Wade has served on many boards and with countless organizations such as the Sickle Cell Society of Western Pennsylvania, the NAACP, the Urban League of Pittsburgh, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the National Council of Negro Women, the Kingsley Association, the Wesley Center AME Church and the Delta Sigma Theta

Sorority; and

WHEREAS, Mildred Wade is a woman most worthy of honor and recognition.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby proclaims November 24, 1990 as "Mildred Wade Day" in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Milliones seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

Mrs. Wade, would you like to say something?

She's quite a lady in this town, fellows. Michelle, she's quite a lady in this town.

Michelle Madoff:

If you sponsor her, she has to be.

Mrs. Wade:

First I'd like to say a special thanks to Councilman Darkins who feels that whatever I am doing is worthwhile in this community. And I want to thank you for voting also to present this resolution to me today.

Whatever I have done, if I've done anything, has not been for love of self; it has been for the love of people. And I promise you that, as I leave this room, I shall continue to do whatever I possibly can to improve upon the quality of life of my fellow African-Americans as well as for the entire citizenship of Pittsburgh. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. President, I'd like to ask the representatives from the Jene-Magers Post and from the community organization to come forward, and Public Works, and all the other folks.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1728 WHEREAS, the Garfield Veteran's Honor Roll Memorial was dedicated following World War II to honor the men and women of the Garfield community who served so heroically in the fight against fascism; and

WHEREAS, over the years the Memorial Monument suffered from vandalism, deterioration, and outright neglect by the City and the community at large; and

WHEREAS, the Jene-Magers Post 278 of the Veteran's of Foreign War and the Bloomfield-Garfield Corporation joined forces to spearhead a community and public effort to relocate, restore and re-dedicate this historic community treasure; and

WHEREAS, City Council's contributions of public funds was equally matched by private donations from Post 278 to create a restoration fund of over $7,000; and

WHEREAS, in-kind contributions of materials, land and labor were donated by the following: St. Lawrence O'Toole Church (site and on-going maintenance), Mr. Bob Yeske of the 43rd Street Concrete Company, Allegheny Plywood (lumber), Bloomfield-Garfield Corporation (shrubbery), Allegheny County (programs and plaques), Carlini Brothers (monument restoration and re-location); and

WHEREAS, a dedicated core of citizens expended a great number of hours coordinating and executing this project including Mr. Raymond A. McGill, Service Officer, V.F.W. Post 278, Richard Swartz, Director, Bloomfield-Garfield Corporation, Joseph A. Pulgini, Director, Allegheny County Department of Veteran's Services, and the Reverend Father James G. Graham of St. Lawrence O'Toole Church, Patrick Sergi, Joseph A. Wehrheim, Joseph Wolff, Walter Kulas, Mickey Joyce, Ray Fern, Bill Reynolds and Leonard A. Miller; and

WHEREAS, a dedicated core of community volunteers donated their free skilled labor including Mr. Pat Byrne, Nick Tutich, Tom Brose, Sr. Vincenzo Acierno, Don Reismeyer, Bill Dedig, Agnes Brose, Louis Acierno, Tom Rini, Willie Jackson and Ken Walsh who worked tirelessly to restore and re-dedicate one of the most beautiful Veteran's memorial monuments in our City.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh extends a special salute and thank you to all the volunteers and supporters who did not forget the heroic contributions of our veterans; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council declares Saturday, November 24, 1990 as "Veteran Appreciation Day" in our City and urges all citizens to visit the Garfield Honor Roll located on Penn Avenue and contribute in any appropriate manner to further restoration of veteran's monuments located in the neighborhoods throughout our great City.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you very much.

To my left, we have Aggie Brose who is no stranger to Council Chambers, representing the Bloomfield-Garfield Corporation. And we're very honored to have a delegation from the Jene-Magers Post here this morning. We have Bill Reynolds who is the Post Commander; Ray McGill, the Service Officer; Patrick J. Sergi who is the past Director and Commander, and we have Ray Fern. We also have a Public Works employee, Pat Byrne down on the end; he didn't want to speak today. But Public Works and Pat himself from the community worked very hard on the monument. And to his right is Vincenzo Acierno who also volunteered his skilled labor for this monument.

I'd like Aggie and possibly Mr. McGill or one of the Commanders to say a few words. Thank you.

Mr. McGill:

I would like to thank the City of Pittsburgh for the appropriation of the funds for this memorial. It was over on the Giant Eagle site and was moved across to St. Lawrence's property. And I'm sure without this appropriation and the funds gathered, this monument would have been gone.

People don't realize what a monument means to people like us. The day we dedicated that monument, I saw all these old guys that are still living up there bring their sons and the grandchildren down there and say, "Here is my name on this monument."

Some of those plaques are gone and will never be recovered, but the monument looks beautiful and we want to thank everybody that had a hand in taking care of this.

My name is on that monument. My brother's name is on the monument. And I had one brother retire last year from the Maritime Commission with 50 years service, and his name is on that monument. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to get Pat Byrne up here just to say thank you to his fellow workers. Pat's an employee in the Public Works Department.

Mr. Byrne:

I'd like to thank City Council for supporting this resolution and for raising half the funds that they matched the money with the Jene-Magers Post.

I'd also like to thank Aggie Brose. Without her, none of this would have gotten off the ground. Councilman Ferlo and my fellow workers, Vince, Willie Jackson, Ken Walsh, Tom Rini, and there's a few others I can't think of right now.

But I didn't have a problem volunteering my service. My father's name is on this memorial, both of my uncles are on it, and when it comes to something like that, they just forget about everything else and you're willing to lend a hand. That's about it and I'd like to thank Council.

Commander:

On behalf of the people that we represent, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Jene-Magers Post 278 and the neighbors of the Garfield area, you really don't know how much everybody appreciates and acknowledges with grateful thanks the support that we received from City Council. You made everybody in our neighborhood, in our area, feel very good that this monument was restored and it could not have been done unless we had the support of all you people. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to personally extend a thank you to our Council President, Jack Wagner, who several years ago first raised this whole issue of appropriating a small amount of money in the Parks budget to begin restoration projects throughout the City of various veterans' monuments.

Unfortunately, this was the only project that successfully matched community and that pot of money that Council put into the budget and it's my hope that this coming year we'll re-appropriate that pot of money and urge the Parks Department and the Administration to work with neighborhood-based organizations and veterans' groups to work on other monuments. God knows we have enough of them around the City that needs to be restored. But I want to thank President Wagner for his leadership on this whole issue.

At this time, I'd like the representatives from the Community Savings Association to come forward.

We have a great institution in the Lawrenceville community that we sort of stole out of the Old Allegheny City, from Councilman Regan's district. But I don't think he'll be too upset.

This is Mr. Ken Tyson; he's President of the Community Savings Association and Debbie Starr who is the Branch Manager in Lawrenceville.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1729 WHEREAS, Community Savings Association was started in the 1880's in the old City of Allegheny which has now become the Northside of the City of Pittsburgh;

and

WHEREAS, the City of Allegheny at that time represented a mixture of grand homes and undeveloped lots and built itself up to a great city with a true sense of community and provided the greatest opportunity for the forerunner of today's Community Savings Association to become one of the most important financial institutions in the City of Allegheny; and

WHEREAS, soon after World War I and a generation later Community Savings settled in Lawrenceville, a community of established homes, stores and factories along the south bank of the Allegheny River; and

WHEREAS, the people of Lawrenceville then, as well as now, enjoyed a reputation for hard work and a profound sense of family and community and quickly supported Community Savings when it opened its Lawrenceville office back in January of 1922; and

WHEREAS, Community Savings Association has grown to be one of Pittsburgh's fastest growing thrift institutions, with 12 offices, over 100 employees and $320 million in assets; and

WHEREAS, Community Savings' first century can be attributed to the loyalty of their customers during good times and bad and they are now celebrating their One Hundredth Anniversary.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh commends the officers, employees and customers of Community Savings for their dedication and commitment to our great City; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh proclaims

Wednesday, November 28, 1990 as Community Savings Association Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you. I'd like to call on Ken Tyson, the President of the Savings Association, to say a few words. I personally am not a customer at Community Savings; maybe I will be in the future. But I do know this bank because I've worked very recently with Debbie Starr, to my left here, helping to pull together one of the largest community-wide events in Lawrenceville and that was the Halloween Parade. I've never seen a person work so hard and all of the employees of the bank coming out and working so hard on that community event. So, I know it's an important organization in the community.

At this time, I'd like to ask Mr. Tyson to share a few thoughts with Council.

Mr. Tyson:

Jim, I just happen to have a signature card here to sign you up as a customer.

On behalf of all the employees, officers and directors of Community Savings, I do want to thank Council for this great honor. We have been around for 100 years. I have personally been involved with Community Savings for 38 years as of February 1st. We have three offices within the City of Pittsburgh, all which are community offices. We have no office Downtown. We serve our communities and the people in our communities. We look forward to doing this in the future and with your help and with God's help we shall continue to do this. Thank you very much for this great honor.

Michelle Madoff:

Do you have low rates on mortgages?

Mr. Tyson:

We are hoping to get low rates on mortgages. We have been lowering rates on mortgages over the last couple of months. That's what makes this country good. Thank you very much.

Mr. Ricciardi presents

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby salutes Mr. Hugh Brannan, III, for his service and dedication to many local organizations and congratulates him on his selection as the South Side Chamber of Commerce's "Man of the Year" for 1990.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

This morning I'd like to invite up our honorees, Mr. John Sobocinski and his wife, Alice, and their guests this morning, Michelle Balzer and Joe Chardello.

This is a joint resolution presented by Council President Jack Wagner and myself.

Mr. Ricciardi and Mr. Wagner present

No. 1732 WHEREAS, in December of 1979 Mr. John Sobocinski, a resident of the South Side and a veteran of World War II, constructed a Unity Flag on the roof of his Sarah Street home to provide encouragement to the hostages in Iran; and

WHEREAS, the flag has been maintained for the past 11 years by Mr. Sobocinski and his wife, Alice, and has served as a symbol of their patriotism; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Sobocinski is once again utilizing the roof top Unity Flag through photographed post cards which will be mailed to service people in the Persian Gulf.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby recognizes and commends Mr. John Sobocinski and his wife, Alice, for their undying patriotism and asks all Pittsburghers to participate in the Unity Flag Post Card Project for the men and women serving in Operation Desert Shield.

Mr. Ricciardi moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Milliones seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Thank you, colleagues. I'd like to now ask Mr. Jack Wagner, our President, who is sponsoring this resolution with myself, to please say a few words.

The Chair:

Thank you, Councilman Ricciardi, Mr. Sobocinski and family and friends. It's an honor to present this resolution and today we've actually had three resolutions that deal with patriotism; the one by Councilman Cohen relating to a nuclear test ban, the one by Councilman Ferlo in regards to the Veterans' War Memorial in Garfield, and your resolution. I think they all tie together because they all really mean that we care about Americans and we care about preventing wars in this country and supporting people that serve for our country.

You did that back 11 years ago when we had some hostages in Iran. That flag really was a unique idea on your roof. Anyone who hasn't seen it, it's in a post card form and Mr. Sobocinski is encouraging that Americans send the post card to actual military people that are serving in the Middle East today, to show them that we care about them and we support them.

So, we thank you for doing that. We thank you for your patriotism, for your involvement for 11 years, and I'm sure you'll be there in the future. We'd like you to share a few words with us.

Mr. Sobocinski:

First of all, I'd like to thank everybody involved and all the people who helped me in this program.

Perhaps I can show one of the post cards that we're sending out to the troops in the Persian Gulf. We have mailed approximately 3,000 of these cards and all we ask people to do is to jot down a short message on the back of the card. We do the rest. We'd like the cards returned to us so that we can keep an accurate count of how many we mail out to our troops.

Michelle Madoff:

Where do we get the cards?

Mr. Sobocinski:

I'll have Michelle announce that in a few minutes here, where the cards can be picked up or where people can stop to have them filled out.

It's difficult for me to talk when I get choked up so I'm very glad that I have Michelle to lean on. She's been so much help to me that I can never thank her enough. And I want to thank Jack Wagner. If I try to thank each and every invidual involved, I'd have to be here for two days.

So, once again, I thank everybody very kindly.

Ms. Balzer:

Good morning. It's wonderful to be here as always.

On behalf of State Representative Frank Gigliotti I'd like to thank Councilman Wagner and Ricciardi for this resolution this morning. I'd also like to thank John for involving our office in this wonderful project. It continues to be a labor of love for the thousands of people who have taken pen in hand and sent an encouraging message to those serving our country in the Persian Gulf.

The cards can be obtained at 2023 East Carson Street which is our district office. We've had the opportunity to pass those out to school children, college students are participating, senior citizens are walking in and picking up cards and taking them to their groups. There are a million ways that we can send a clear message that we're behind our military personnel.

The other thing we're asking for help for is, if anyone is interested in donating to this project, so far John has borne the cost of the cards and the postage, we've since set up a P.O. Box which is 42288, Pittsburgh, 15203. This will continue the project. We need the volunteers and we need the donations to make sure that we can continue Operation Desert Shield.

Again, I thank all of you. It's a pleasure to be here.

And, John, you're a wonderful volunteer, as all the volunteers are in Pittsburgh which really makes it someplace special. Thank you.

The Chair:

John is going to drop some cards off through Gene's office and distribute them through our offices. Thank you all very much.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Mr. Milliones presented

Bill No. 1721

Report of the Committee on Finance for November 14, 1990 transmitting sundry resolutions and one ordinance to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 1632

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution approving the Second Amendment to the sublease by and between the Public Auditorium Authority of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County and Civic Arena Corporation."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 1633

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution consenting to the use of revenues of the hotel tax to pay for the costs of certain improvements to the Civic Arena."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

I strenuously object to both of these pieces of legislation, specifically on the reimbursement with the hotel tax revenues of close to $2 million going to the Civic Arena Corporation for repairs previously made unauthorized. I oppose that and I think a better use of that money would be the allocation of dollars to the Convention Center, repairs and renovations, possible expansion or possibly utilizing those hotel tax revenues for promotional and other kinds of needed activities that are going on regarding the promotion of our City and the tourism business. I object to them being committed to the Civic Arena Corporation.

On the actual leasing arrangement, I object because of several fundamental issues. First of all, there's no full public disclosure regarding the private financial affairs of the DeBartolo interest in the Penguins and in the Civic Arena Corporation, and I think it's irresponsible for us to approve such a lucrative financial arrangement without full public disclosure.

Secondly, I question the need for these resources given, other resources that are available, including the private interests of the DeBartolo family who operates and owns the Penguins at the Civic Arena.

Thirdly, I strenuously object to the Civic Arena Corporation having another seven year option on the Melody Tent site which I think should be opened for other interested developers to come in and entertain proposals for development while still safeguarding the land and the parking arrangement that obviously is needed at the Arena. Thank you.

Michelle Madoff:

Now let's talk about the real world. We own the building as taxpayers. We have to maintain it. It doesn't matter whether the person owning it or leasing, excuse me, is rich or poor. If you have a house and you're paying a mortgage payment and the roof is falling in and the windows are falling in and it becomes a blight and nobody wants to rent it, then you pick up that debt.

So, let's deal with reality and let's get on with the vote.

Mr. Regan:

I would just like to say that we're lucky to have the DeBartolo family running that operation up there because I didn't see anybody hollering when they were losing money. And you know, if you have money, it doesn't make you a nicer guy because you lose. If the DeBartolos were losing money, what are you going to say, that they're nice people now? They're business people and I think that the deal is a good one for the City and a good one for DeBartolos. We need a big league operator like DeBartolo in there to make it happen. There was a lot of years when he lost a lot of money and nobody said anything.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. President, as a Boardmember of the Auditorium Authority, I feel that this is a very fair deal.

As Councilwoman Madoff has pointed out, the City and the County do own the building and I do believe it is our responsibility to keep up the maintenance of it.

As to Councilman Ferlo's attempt to say that it is a secret deal or there are some secrets involving the Civic Arena Corporation itself, I'd like to point out for his information and for the public that the only records that will not be made public are those pertaining to the Penguin organization itself. All other financial dealings of the Civic Arena Corporation are public and will be made public whether it's on the Authority's request or City Council's or the County Commissioner's or the public.

So, just to make the record clear, there isn't any hidden agenda here.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd like my comments brought forward on this discussion that took place last week.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I'd like my comments brought forward on both of these bills, please.

The Chair:

I strongly support the bills and I'd like my comments brought forward for the Record.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

BEGINNING - MESSRS. FERLO AND WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NOS. 1632 AND 1633, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1990)

Mr. Ferlo:

Just a couple of questions. First of all I think the Penguins are great but I think this deals stinks and I know I disagree with the Administration on this and I respect the work that's been done on this proposal to Council.

First of all, the work has already been incurred, the repairs have been made. And it is true that this is a city-county facility and I've heard Mr. Foerster comment on the radio that's it's our house and we've got to make the repairs which I don't disagree with but I think we should make the repairs and that should be reflected in increased rents for whoever is utilizing the facility, be it the Penguins or anybody else.

As far as re-financing the previous debt service of the previous bond, it makes sense to do that given the market -- you don't have to go out and float another $5 million bond or re-finance the previous bond indebtedness that we have. If it makes sense to do it then it makes sense to do it irrespective of us proving another significant bond issue for this deal; is that not true?

Dir. Hayllar:

No, for a number of reasons. We might re-finance anyway however --

Mr. Ferlo:

-- but the impetus to re-finance should be based on what the interest rate is.

Dir. Hayllar:

Not entirely. If you have to go out and get new debt, that makes that savings --

Mr. Ferlo:

-- so you're saying we should go more into debt to re-finance the old debt.

Dir. Hayllar:

No. You have a limited number of times you can re-finance, you don't want to waste those opportunities. There is an effort and expense in doing it and having to have additional funds makes that decision for you. I'm not convinced that the decision would be made between the City and the County to re-finance the existing debt without this. It might very well be.

Mr. Ferlo:

One could re-finance the previous debt based on the favorable market independent of also committing for another significant bond issue and it makes sense or it doesn't make sense independent of whether or not we want to increase additional debt.

Dir. Hayllar:

That's correct.

Mr. Ferlo:

The public disclosure still upsets me. I appreciate the leadership that Mr. Coyne has shown on the authority and at least having certain documents being review by members of the Public Authority, but we're still talking about significant public dollars that have already been committed in the past, are being proposed to be committed here today as well as the supportive bills I assume will come in the next few months regarding the proposed bond issue, so we're talking about locking ourselves into major public dollars and to private initiative dollars and I resent the fact that there's not full public disclosure regarding the financial affairs of the Penguins. When I say public I mean public, P-U-B-L-I-C. And it's not good enough that only a few selected individuals albeit some members of the Public Authority have privilege to that information, it should be public information based on the public subsidy of these dollars.

I realize we disagree on that but it's the other thing that upsets me about this.

The third thing that is locked into this agreement also is a continuation of the Melody Tent site being retained by the DeBartolo interests and I don't know what good faith they've shown over the last five years in moving towards developing that property. It has a higher and better land value use in the present parking lot arrangement that's there and I don't think they should be the ones to absolve this, I think it should be open to the URA and others to come in and propose construction activity on that site while safeguarding parking privileges for the Arena, so I cannot vote for it also on the basis of the Melody Tent site option.

Dir. Hayllar:

You can't do both. You can't take the parking away and then safeguard his parking rights.

Mr. Ferlo:

There's such a thing as having parking down below or one or two stories and building a building above it.

Dir. Hayllar:

You should also note that in that area there hasn't been any private development at all for quite some time.

Mr. Ferlo:

There has to be options before there can be development. No one has an option on the property other than the DeBartolo interests.

Dir. Hayllar:

Nobody anywhere up there has developed in the private sense. The development that's going up there has been publicly subsidized.

Mr. Ferlo:

Right, but is not the City and the URA committed to over $500 million housing development initiative?

Dir. Hayllar:

Absolutely.

Mr. Ferlo:

Is that not some incentive that's now going to change the --

Dir. Hayllar:

-- hopefully that will change the economy of the entire area to make more developments.

Mr. Ferlo:

And I agree and my only point in objecting to this arrangement here today regardless of the finances is that I think we should entertain other proposals from other development interests in this city and I want to know if the Administration has entertained any other proposals from development interests.

Dir. Hayllar:

The tenant needs to control the parking for those games and I think that is in the City's interests.

Mr. Ferlo:

My last question. In the last two years the Casey Administration, the State Legislature, had made a significant commitment to the tune of $8.5 million for the City of Philadelphia for some of their major league sports activities. Why haven't other options been utilized, either going to the Administration at the statewide level support for the Penguins or the physical repairs to the Arena. Other kinds of things have been done in the past at the stadium regarding the sale of corporate medallions. I mean, why are we once again bailing out one of the richest men in the country?

Dir. Hayllar:

The owner is not relevant to this company. If this were a factor, you wouldn't care who the owner was, you would be concerned about the jobs that were involved and could be lost.

Mr. Ferlo:

It's a question of giving public support and public dollars where there is a need. I think there's a direct relationship and this Administration has reflected a direct relationship to supplying public dollars where there's a need. It's not clear to me that you met that threshold of establishing the need for this kind of public dollar commitment.

Dir. Hayllar:

Whether there is a tenant in that building or not, it is our building and we will be required to maintain it; that's first. If there's no tenant, the cost is immense and we'd literally have a white elephant. The circus -- and we lost the rodeo -- the circus will not be enough to sustain the use of that building. We really need that primary tenant in there. It's all part of the package.

Again, the ownership is not the issue; it is the job's attendant to having that team play there.

Mr. Ferlo:

But I think the ownership is the issue to the extent of what one's relative resources are to support what is a "for profit" endeavor and since there isn't public disclosure regarding the finances of this deal, I am completely ignorant and every Councilmember other than Mr. Coyne maybe is voting on this ignorant of what the actual financial position is of the Penguins and any of the financial interests.

Dir. Hayllar:

-- Mr. Turner has gone through the books --

Mr. Ferlo:

-- Mr. Turner is about the last person I would have faith in given the budget yesterday.

Dir. Hayllar:

I will certainly carry that message to him.

Mr. Ferlo:

I hope he's listening to this discussion.

Dir. Hayllar:

We have gone through the books as we required and he has had a sense of confidence of what the team's finances are.

Mr. Ferlo:

I appreciate the work that the Administration has done on this but I could not vote on it in principle because of public disclosure and the Melody Tent site option and I think Mr. DeBartolo has deep enough pockets. You're talking about us maintaining a debt service now and you will come to us in another month for another debt service for the Pirates.

Mr. Wagner:

Gentlemen, a couple questions up front. What is our total outstanding debt to the Civic Arena?

Dir. Hayllar:

I'm embarrassed. I should know but I don't have it with me. I can give you an off-the-wall figure and then have to come back and tell you I'm wrong.

Mr. Wagner:

Any ballparks?

Dir. Hayllar:

I'd hate to give you a ballpark. It is a number I can give to you in exactly three minutes but it requires me to go to the top of my desk and getting it.

Mr. Wagner:

Prior to Tuesday, let us know what it is and what our additional anticipated debt will be.

Dir. Hayllar:

Your additional anticipated debt is $2 million with probably a maximum increased debt service of $200,000.00 a year, partially offset by an increase in the rent.

Mr. Wagner:

What is the value of our asset?

Dir. Hayllar:

I don't know what the depreciation on a public building is. It's obviously -- the Civic Arena, the property around there might be $60 million to $70 million.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to know those two numbers because really it puts everything in balance as to what we have invested, what the worth of it is, whether or not we have adequately invested in that parcel to keep it up to spec in terms of what its value is.

I'd like to follow-up on the seating questions. I'm sure in the renovations that have been made and the engineers that have looked at the Arena, we know whether or not we can add seats to move us up a few notches as Mr. Cohen indicated. Is that possible to add three or four hundred seats from an engineering point of view?

Mr. Brown:

Mr. Wagner, when the Arena was first built, the seating capacity was less than 11,000 and we have now added almost 6,000 seats. Now whether you can add more and the effect on the building is an engineering question. I'm sure the engineers could look at that. Mr. Sciulli and the Civic Arena engineers could look at it and see where we could find room for additional seats

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to know that as quickly as final vote. I'm voting in the affirmative on this for a number of reasons but, I also want to be to some degree reassured that if we do slip in total seating capacity that we can immediately invest the dollars that are necessary to put us back up there somewhere in the middle of the other cities that have a professional hockey team and certainly if we have millions of dollars invested there and we can invest a few more hundred thousand dollars to assure the continuation of a franchise and enhance seating capacity which in essence helps everyone and to my knowledge today the majority of hockey games are sold out at the Arena so consequently an additional 500 seats would be sold would help us in a multitude of ways, would help the Penguins, would help the Civic Arena Corporation bring in additional parking tax revenues, amusement tax revenues, etc., etc., so I would like to know if we can add a few hundred seats to put us in a more competitive mode as is indicated in the proposed lease agreement. And I think people that know arenas can take a good look at that and tell you whether or not it's possible and I'd like to know that.

With anticipated future improvements, what is the status of the operation of the roof presently today and if the roof is not in good operational condition --

Mr. Ferlo:

-- point of order, Mr. Chairman. Mr. Wagner has raised several significant questions regarding information which I would like to be able to review before final vote. I'm not objecting to having him at the table, by the way. I'm only pointing out that if there's some urgency to prove this today as opposed to waiting next Wednesday so we can receive this information.

Mr. Wagner:

Mr. Martha, what is the status of the -- maybe I'm asking the question and making a statement at the same time. I think our Arena is extremely unique in that we have a moveable roof or a roof that can open. Not only the shape of the roof but in comparison to other arenas in this country and in Canada, it's extremely unique and in my opinion it's not utilized enough. What is the status of its condition and if its condition is not good, is that part of the anticipated improvements?

Mr. Martha:

The condition of the roof at the Civic Arena is fine. When we want to, we can open the roof. We offer the roof opening as one of amenities that any of our tenants can enjoy. Unfortunately, we have a slight operative problem because we hang lights from the inside of the roof for hockey games. Those lights were stalled about eight or nine years ago mainly for television and the lighting requirements of televising hockey games, so we have to take the lights down to open the roof but people who request the roof opening, we can open our roof. It is one of two in North America, the other one was just built in Toronto with their new stadium.

But I have to comment that the utility of opening the roof causes problems that have to be explained to the tenants. When we are talking about music, the sound alterations for instance for a rock concert are rather significant and when you open the roof there's a tremendous down draft inside and obviously we have weather limitations. If it rains, we can't open the roof, if the wind velocity outside is 20 miles an hour or more, we can't open the roof so there are limitations in opening the roof. But it's fine.

Mr. Wagner:

In the arrangement of the lights is there any consideration to make the arrangements such in structural improvements that we would not have to remove the lights to open the roof?

Mr. Martha:

Under Phase IV one of the projects is a recommendation for an entirely new lighting system on the inside of the Arena and one of the elements of that is the cleaning and painting of the inside of the dome which will significantly improve lighting in the Arena.

Mr. Wagner:

Which could mean that would not have to remove lights every time the roof was opened?

Mr. Martha:

Actually the removal of the lights is no big problem. We can do it in eight hours, so if we have a tenant that comes along and wants the roof opened, we can remove the hockey lights. Obviously we don't want to open the roof for a hockey game.

Mr. Wagner:

Why is that if the weather conditions are appropriate?

Mr. Martha:

It gets cold inside the Arena. Opening the roof has its advantages but it also has some disadvantages.

Mr. Wagner:

I'd like to compliment all of you, Civic Arena Cooperation, the Penguins, the Auditorium Authority, for doing an exceptional job this past year with the National Hockey League All Star Weekend because you truly brought very positive attention to the city for an entire weekend; you did an exceptional job.

Mr. Martha:

Thank you.

Mr. Wagner:

With that I'd like to state that the roof is so unique that the more we utilize the option that we have there I think the better we market our city on a continual basis and however we can enhance the operation of it or utilize it more frequently, I personally would like to see us do that, not just for the benefit of the Civic Arena Corporation and the event that's there, but for the benefit of the City of Pittsburgh. And I really think it brings unique attention to our city. It was one of the flaws when we built Three Rivers Stadium, that we did not have an opening that faced the city. Well, we built the Arena correctly and the roof opens facing the city but we don't take advantage of it and I'd like to see us do that more in the future and hopefully if structural improvements need to be made we can do that.

If I may follow up, a couple more questions.

It was mentioned earlier we were talking about the Melody Tent site and I know Director Hayllar mentioned it. Have we in any way considered any options for doing anything at the Melody Tent site and you have mentioned -- I don't know if you recall it -- you mentioned the possibility of a parking garage and other developments there. Is there any discussion going on in that regard with the City?

Dir. Hayllar:

Not to my knowledge. George Whitmer may be more current on that. Certainly if parking is a key there are two options. Beyond that perhaps the URA has additional information.

Mr. Wagner:

I want to make a statement on the record that I think we have waited too long to do something at the Melody Tent site and what that is, whether it's a development that would incorporate parking, office, commercial, residential, I think the time has come for us to lay a plan out and proceed with that plan. I would hope it's not in the back of our minds that the Civic Arena is old and it needs to be replaced. With all of the capital improvements that we've made recently and intend to make in the future, I would hope that that facility is there and in operation indefinitely into the future. I would hope that the Penguins are here indefinitely into the future beyond 1997 and we enhance the parcels around it to make sure that the Arena is more functional and more attractive for professional teams and other events. Certainly everything we're doing is working towards that end including our objective to reduce the amusement tax.

Director, do you want to comment on that?

Dir. Hayllar:

Yes. You earlier asked what the outstanding debt on that was. I got my notes now. It's $14.5 million is the answer to your question is the City's share of the Auditorium Authority debt. That includes money that was used for the Benedum as well. But the bulk of that is towards the Civic Arena.

Mr. Wagner:

So the total debt then would be $29 million with half of it shared by the County, a portion going to the Benedum

Dir. Hayllar:

Yes, a smaller portion.

Mr. Wagner:

Any idea of what the value of the whole complex is including the land?

Mr. Martha:

No, I don't.

Mr. Robinson:

We will get it for you.

Mr. Wagner:

I want to say that I'm voting in the affirmative here and I think having professional hockey in the City of Pittsburgh is a tremendous attribute to the City and I would like to see it stay here beyond 1997 and hopefully we can do things around the Arena to enhance it and hopefully greater revenues can be coming back to the City of Pittsburgh as a result of it.

The Chair: Thank you, gentlemen.

The Chair:

I'd just like to state again for the record that I'd like to see the roof open more. I think it's really a tremendous marketing tool for the City of Pittsburgh and I would hope that the Civic Arena Corporation would do that in the future when whether conditions permit.

Which was read.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, discussion on Bill No. 1671. Bill 1671 is a bill that would grant $10,650 to a private party for the de facto taking of a piece of property.

Just to refresh my colleague's memory, unfortunately, the Department of Public Works resurfaced a lot that was not the City of Pittsburgh's. That lot started to be used by numerous different people including the City of Pittsburgh, some truck turn-arounds, and the like.

At the table I questioned the Administration concerning why don't we just give the property back, make it whole, rip up the resurfacing and give it back. The reasoning behind it was that we're sort of happy that we have it now because it's going to help traffic flow. Well, I took a run out there over the weekend and I just can't understand how it's going to help traffic flow. First of all, there's so many streets in our own districts that we wish could get resurfaced that it's ironic that a lot was surfaced that wasn't supposed to be.

But I just think this is a total waste of money. I think we have a good professional Law Department and if we made a mistake, let's take back our mistake, rip up our resurfacing, and save the $10,650.

What I see happening here is that this vacant lot isn't worth anything and the owners saw a way that they could get $10,650 by selling the lot. They knew that there was no way to sell the lot and they thought, "Well, the City made a mistake and let's try to hit them up for $10,000." So, I'll be voting no on that bill.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd like to make a motion to recommit that bill.

RICCIARDI)

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

I'd like to take 1679 separately, if we may, Mr. President.

The Chair:

Fine. Let's do that now.

Michelle Madoff:

There seems to be some confusion. In the preliminary vote the other day, I thought we had the votes. I've also spoken to some of my colleagues who indicated that they would support it, although we may lose some support.

I want everybody to understand, please, and I'll try to be very succinct. I'll use an example. In County government, and at banks, occasionally there's an embezzlement. When there's an embezzlement, the auditors are called in and either there's an embezzlement or there isn't an embezzlement. Nobody's name is mentioned. There's no reason to mention the name of the person.

If somebody were to play McCarthy tactics, and that's what the concern is of my colleagues who I think really support a very good ethics bill but are afraid that somebody will play McCarthy tactics. The fact remains that Mr. Cohen did put into the bill, along with the originators of this draft, there is a provisos to protect you against that.

But more important, if we do not eliminate the identity of the claimant before the full investigation has taken place, how many people are going to be willing to put their guts on the line? We will be discouraging people from coming forward. Granted, people can continue doing what they do now; they send anonymous mail to us.

Mr. Wagner knows for a fact that I got a terrible anonymous letter about something concerning something that he was familiar with. I immediately brought it to him and dumped it in the garbage pail. It was anonymous and I dumped it.

I'm making the point that we don't want to have to deal with anonymous accusations. The point is, there should be no naming of the person to discourage and encourage anonymous letters. They should go through proper channels.

The unfortunate episode with Mr. Woods, believe me, had I not been forced by the Courts to go and testify, and I pleaded with the Judge not to force me to testify, my name would never have come out. I had nothing to do; I'm third-party hearsay. I had nothing to do with whether there was guilt or innocence on the party. The evidence spoke for itself.

Are we cowards? Are we afraid to say that we should not discourage people from coming forward if they know of some unethical behavior on the part of government? I don't think so. And I think people who vote to change the vote we had the other day at the moment we have eliminated the identity of the claimant, as of our preliminary vote. And if you vote yes, it stays out. Is that correct? And if you vote no, it would go back in, I presume.

The reason I'm not going to say, "Let's just sneak it through" is because somebody -- If we don't get the votes we'll come back next week and say, "Okay, let's put it in now." I just think we ought to deal right on the table. This is an excellent piece of work. It's an excellent ethics bill. It has so much going for it. We're going to really start to deal with the perception of this Council of not caring about ethics.

I plead with you. Please vote yes to keep the identity of the claimant out until the final investigation.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Chairman, I think as adults, this is a new Council and we have a different ideology than others in the past. I don't think that we should be into the theory or the thought of throwing the stone and hiding your hand. I think as honest people, elected officials, I don't think we have anything to hide and I just feel that it's the guilt that would be upon anyone that has information that would not bring it forth and would not want to be identified. So, I'm going to have to oppose this bill. I'm going to have to vote no on this.

Michelle Madoff:

May I say something? You know, I don't like to bring it down to the personal, but you leave me no choice. The day Mr. Woods was convicted, I had death threats. My name should never have been part of this issue. And I think it's a disgrace that we're going to bring the person's name forward. It looks as though that's how the votes are going to go.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, could I just clarify something? If I'm not mistaken, we already approved the ethics bill. We're voting on an amendment.

The Chair:

Yes, we have. We are only voting on an amendment to the ethics bill.

Thank you.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 450

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the designation as a Historic District under Section 513 of Chapter 1007 of the Code of Ordinances that certain district known as the Allegheny West Historic District."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on Bill 450 regarding the approval of the Historical District known as Allegheny West, I'd like my comments brought forward.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGE)

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 450 - Wednesday, 11/14/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

My own personal view is there was a public hearing, I think the community is evenly divided on this question. I personally could not support the historical designation as it is written in the bill we will be approving today. I do support historical designation for the residential streets; however, this bill, if it were approved, includes commercial corridors where the overwhelming majority of property owners do not support historical designation. This bill also includes properties that need to be developed. My own personal view is I can't support it. It did receive a favorable recommendation.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to ask Council to consider remanding this back to the Planning Commission for further consideration and to the Historical Review Commission for several reasons.

First of all, this bill comes to us with what I can determine as majority opposition to the designation. And the methodology used by the Historical Review Commission and the Planning Commission was basically flawed. The tabulation of support for this designation did not include consideration of the property owners in the commercial district along Western Avenue. And whether someone is for this or against this, we've set a pattern in City Hall of enlisting the opinions of all people in the consideration of rezoning matters.

And it is a fact that the property owners in the commercial districts were not included in the survey regarding majority support of property owners. So, in the past, when we've designated rezoning, it's usually met a means test of overwhelming support. That was the case for Friendship rezoning; that was the case for probably 20 or 30 zonings that I've supported in the last three years, and I think it's been the case traditionally in City Hall. I don't think that means test was met and I think the Planning staff tabulation of support for this legislation was flawed and I think those property owners have as much right to say what's going to happen to their property as anybody else.

The character of the neighborhood is developing historical qualities and that's mainly happening along the residential streets and I wholeheartedly support historical designation for the residential streets.

But the other problem I have with this bill, and speaking to opposition and asking consideration to remand it, is that there are several large parcels of property in the zone that would now be designated historical district that have been undevelopable and have not been developed over the last several years. And my own personal view is that this designation would be onerous and would lend itself to ensuring that those properties will not be developed.

Again, I do support historical designation for the residential streets, but I cannot support the bill as it has been presented.

And the other reason why I had asked consideration to remand it back to the various commissions is because the Historical Review ordinance is under a rewrite by a consultant and by the Planning staff and will be considered by Council. And I think that the designation should come up following a change in the consideration of the ordinance itself.

My motion is to remand this back to the Planning Commission for further consideration.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Mr. Coyne:

I would agree with Mr. Ferlo based upon the premise that the rules and regulations are being rewritten and I can't see any need right now in rushing this through under the old guidelines when we have a Review Commission that hopefully is going to give us a new set of rules that is going to apply City-wide within a matter of months.

So, I think the wise decision would be to hold up on this legislation until we hear what the new rules will be.

Mr. Milliones:

My comments are, Mr. President, that this is the first that I've heard that the input process from the various residents was flawed. I never heard that before.

I would not support this bill being sent back to City Planning for a variety of reasons; one is that this has been going on certainly since I've been on Council and long before that.

Secondly, I don't think you're going to get, regardless of the process agreement between the residents of Allegheny West and the merchant owners, the store owners. That's very clear to me. I think that we should move ahead with this designation.

The question was raised, I raised the question with City Planning staff and it is not their recommendation that we wait until after the recommendations come in from the consultants who are working with the Historic Preservation.

So, I think we've dragged this out long enough and I don't think we're going to have unanimity and I think it's simply time to make a decision.

The Chair:

Is there any other discussion on recommitment, not the worthiness of the bill?

Mr. Cohen:

I don't think we should recommit this, Mr. President. I know that the Planning Department is studying this with a group from Clarion Associates and I think that they are moving along. But this has been an incredibly long process and if the people of Allegheny West would like to have a less restrictive historic designation down the line, if that's what the Planning Department comes up with, we could always do that.

I've walked Allegheny West several times in the last several months, actually with both sides on this issue, and this is an area that really deserves protection. It has unique historical value and it's different from some of the other potential historic areas of the City because it is truly threatened with the Stadium there and with other potential development there. It really is a neighborhood that is threatened and unless we take steps to preserve that neighborhood then we may find that we're not going to have the kind of historic value that's there now.

So, I think we should move ahead and if the people of Allegheny West would like historic designation that is less restrictive, then we could always do that in the future.

Michelle Madoff:

This is not the first hearing since I've been here or you've been here, Jack, that we've heard on this issue.

If I may remind those of us who may recall from media reports and for those of us who were here, the concern was that if we don't declare it as a historic designated area the merchants and some of the real estate owners who don't even live in the City want to move expeditiously to do what they want to do in violation of everything that would make that community and maintain the integrity of that community and we cannot wait. We must vote for it now.

Mr. Regan:

I agree with the honorable Finance Chairman that this has dragged on a long time and I think it's time to vote and whatever way my colleagues would like to vote, that's up to them. But I think it's time to move on. I think the time has come to vote.

Mr. Ferlo:

I agree with many comments that Mr. Cohen and Dr. Millions have raised. And again, I want to reiterate, I support the historical designation for the residential streets. I think the problem is, again, regarding the process. We did hear specific testimony at the public hearing as well as when Dr. Downing was questioned. It was quite clear that the tabulation of the aye and nay votes from property owners in the commercial district were not included in the tabulation of the votes overall and that was the information conveyed to the Planning Commission.

Secondly, the one value of remanding this back to the Commission is for the Commission to give better consideration to the possibility of some of the district being a change in the actual configuration of what they proposed to actually have a historical district. Take into consideration the testimony from those individuals who would like to develop property in that area as well as the commercial business owners along Western Avenue. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

The Chair:

I think every member of Council received notification that the meeting with Carnegie Library will be on Friday, November 30th at 10:00 a.m. here in Council Chambers.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, just a brief request. I wasn't able to attend the private meeting with the Mayor regarding changes in personnel but since, obviously, the Mayor's budget message has been clear that upwards of 30 or 40 people actually have lost or will be losing their employment with the City between now and the end of the year.

I would respectfully request that the Administration give us an indication as to who those individuals are and, secondly, whether or not there can be any provisions for placement of those individuals in other positions which have been proposed to be budgeted in the upcoming year.

The Chair:

Are you asking that in the form of a formal letter?

Mr. Ferlo:

Yes. I'd like to make a motion that we respectfully request that information from the Administration.

The Chair:

Specifically what would it include again?

Mr. Ferlo:

The letter would respectfully request the information regarding who actually has been terminated or laid off due to budget constraints, and a consideration by the Administration for information regarding whether or not any of those individuals can be placed into other positions in the City.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd like to ask Mr. Ferlo a question if I may. I agree with Mr. Ferlo about the people being placed in other positions with the City if that's possible. I'm curious why Mr. Ferlo would like to know the names of the individuals and not the positions themselves.

Mr. Ferlo:

Either way, it doesn't matter to me. The value of the names is that it's easier for Councilmembers to know explicitly what those individuals did in terms of job position. We see these nebulous job titles and sometimes it doesn't mean as much. Many of us work in the field with these individuals and it makes it -- Just for the sake of knowing more clearly what those positions were.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. Ferlo, I would support the position titles and just the description of the position titles and the departments, but not the names themselves, because then it becomes a matter of maybe politics or personality. I think it's very important for us to target the position and that position and how it directly services the taxpayers. So, I would support Mr. Ferlo on the position but not the name.

Mr. Ferlo:

I don't have any objection to that, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'll second his letter for positions only and not names.

WHICH MOTION PREVAILED.

Michelle Madoff moved to approve the Minutes of Wednesday, November 7, 1990 and Tuesday, November 13, 1990.

Mr. Milliones seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Coyne:

I have with me today Mr. Red Whittington and Mr. Steve Kohman to accept this proclamation.

Mr. Coyne presents

No. 1752 WHEREAS, Disc Golf, played like "ball" golf but using high-tech discs instead of clubs, and raised baskets instead of a hole and pin, is uniquely successful in providing a kind of recreation young people can relate to; and

WHEREAS, today there are 325 disc golf courses in 41 states and 3 Canadian provinces sanctioned by the Professional Disc Golf Association where an estimated 1,200,000 rounds of disc golf are played each year; and

WHEREAS, this very inexpensive sport can be played in Pittsburgh at the Schenley Park Disc Golf Links; and

WHEREAS, the Schenley Park Disc Golf Links were made possible by a grant from the Hunt Foundation and by the volunteer effort of the Pittsburgh Flying Disc Society; and

WHEREAS, the Pittsburgh Flying Disc Society, in addition to installing the course at Schenley Park, has sponsored tournaments and other events including a benefit raising $1,000 for the American Diabetes Association.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby recognize the Members of the Pittsburgh Flying Disc Society for their invaluable contribution to recreation in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Coyne moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Coyne:

Thank you, Members of Council. I think

Mr. Whittington and Mr. Kohman have a few words to say.

Mr. Whittington:

Good morning, City Council Members, and thank you for the opportunity allowing us to speak on the benefits of Disc Golf here in Pittsburgh.

I have been involved in Disc Golf myself for about ten years and it wasn't until 1987 that we finally put a proposal into the Hunt Foundation to fund the installation of the course hardware. That was through the efforts of Citiparks; Vince Hurley and Tony DiMaria were instrumental in their commitment to bringing Disc Golf to Pittsburgh.

Since the installation of the course we have had four Professional Disc Golf Association sanctioned events in Pittsburgh drawing competitors from at least a dozen states and Canada.

We hope to put Pittsburgh on the map on the pro tour. Each time we have a tournament here, we always have people complimenting the beauty of our parks and the friendliness of our people here. So, it's really good for the promotion of Pittsburgh in general.

Our club, the Pittsburgh Flying Disc Society, we publish a quarterly news letter and have a circulation of approximately 800 people. Our aim is to introduce and promote disc golf sports, especially to the youth. We would like to work with schools and anything like that. We're willing to donate the time for clinics and demonstrations. And we are moving toward holding higher visibility tournaments here in Pittsburgh, hopefully, eventually having the World Championships here.

On behalf of the Pittsburgh Flying Disc

Club and the hundreds of disc golfers here in Pittsburgh, we'd like to extend our thanks to Vince Hurley, Tony DiMaria, and John Hunt who is a board member of the Hunt Foundation who is also an avid disc golfer. He has an 18 hole course in his back yard.

Michelle Madoff:

What is disc golf?

Mr. Whittington:

It is Frisbee Golf. As you can see by the picture right there, the idea is to throw the disc into the basket. It's played exactly like regular golf with the exception that you're using flying discs and you're using the pole hole assemblies to throw the disc into. We have an 18 hole course in Schenley Park right now.

I would like to introduce Steve Kohman at this time.

Mr. Kohman:

Thank you, Red. Good morning, Members of City Council.

I would like to make you more aware of the excellent opportunity for the citizens of Pittsburgh we have in the sport of Disc Golf. Let me begin with a direct quote from the current rules of Disc Golf. "Trying to explain the growing popularity of Disc Golf begins with one central fact: Throwing a flying disc with power and accuracy is a marvelous sensation. The constant challenge, the social nature of the game, the good physical and mental conditioning and the fact that it's inexpensive to play, are also attractions. Disc Golf is a recreational sport for everybody regardless of age, gender or ability."

I've had the opportunity to see the sport grow in the last few years in the City. On Sunday, we met a woman with four young children enjoying the Indian Summer weather we've been having here in Pittsburgh out at the Schenley Park Disc Golf Course. Older people are also enjoying the game as a social outing, more frequently including participation and events in the fundraising event for the American Diabetes Association. The novelty and ease with which the sport is learned makes it so much fun to play.

Disc Golf is played for free at some of the most beautiful parks all over the country. With the small cost of a Frisbee, anyone can play the sport and get some exercise and fresh air out at the course. It's this kind of community service that City Council should consider offering.

The monetary cost to the City is very small, or even none, as in the case of the only course we currently have in the City, at Schenley Park. This is good to know in the case of budget constraints and financial difficulties we're all going through at this time.

We do need the approval and commitment of land use to obtain more courses in the City. The courses are laid out in natural terrain with the hills, trees and bushes providing obstacles to the flight of the disc, which is very much a key part of the game. As such, the integrity of the natural terrain can be preserved.

Many other benefits to the park will occur with the installation of a Disc Golf Course. The park will be self-policed by the players, and result in fewer crime incidents. The players will keep litter off the course and keep the park clean. But most importantly, the otherwise little-used park space will be enjoyed by many people.

The area players are willing to provide guidance and help in designing, installing and maintaining any new courses this City decides to develop. Land areas to be considered are other parts of Schenley Park, the new riverfront developments, and Frick Park which, incidentally, was the temporary course site of the 1984 Pro Tour event which was regarded by the players as one of the most beautiful courses they have ever played. We will be happy to discuss the details of new course locations further at your convenience.

As the sport rises from infancy in the Pittsburgh area, we should not be left behind other cities in seeing the benefits. Cincinnati has 11 courses with new courses going in every year. I had the opportunity to play a new course in Columbus, Ohio two weekends ago right next to the Hoover Dam. It was very beautiful and it was wonderful to be able to get out and get some good exercise while seeing the wonderful park surroundings. Let us help present Pittsburgh to others in this way too.

The Chair:

Thank you, sir.

Mr. Darkins presents

Mr. Coyne moved to override the veto.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

(MAYOR'S VETO LETTER)

November 21, 1990

Honorable President and Members
City of Pittsburgh
City Council
510 City-County Building
Pittsburgh, PA 15219

RE: Council Bill No. 1391

Dear Mr. President and Members:

I am returning herewith, as vetoed, Council Bill No. 1391. I want to emphasize to you and the many well meaning animal rights advocates who are interested in this Bill that my veto should not be construed as an absence of concern for the welfare and rights of animals. To the contrary, I personally share such concerns. Nevertheless, for the following reasons, I believe my decision is in order.

The State Criminal Law specifically prohibits and makes it a summary offense to cruelly treat or otherwise abuse or neglect any animal. State laws vest substantial powers in both police officers and agents of societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals including the right to make searches, according to law, and the right to seize animals where necessary. The District Attorney as well as agents of societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals also has the authority to initiate criminal proceedings for violation of the State law.

Enforcement obligations under the proposed Ordinance (Bill No. 1391) would be the responsibility of the Department of Public Safety. This could include police officers, the Bureau of Environmental Services or the Bureau of Building Inspection in certain circumstances. At this critical time when serious budget and personnel problems must be addressed, I do not consider it appropriate to add additional enforcement obligations and responsibilities to the above mentioned Bureaus as they are already overburdened and simply will not have the manpower to devote to this situation.

It is my judgment that State law provides in more general terms the same protections to animals as are available under Bill 1391, together with more substantial enforcement powers in both police officers and humane societies. I think that we must work with the State law and not be quick to assume the responsibilities of other agencies or governments. I urge Council to sustain my veto of Council Bill No. 1391.

Sincerely yours,

Sophie Masloff
Mayor

(END OF LETTER)

available to subcontractor agreements by $158,790.00, from $1,458,000.00 to $1,616,790.00, chargeable to and payable from the various JTPA Trust Funds.

Which were severally read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Milliones moved to suspend Rule 8 by providing for consideration of the bills only until or after the 8th calendar day following the meeting in which the bills were introduced so the bills will be introduced on the agenda this Wednesday.

Mr. Ricciardi seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed

Also,

No. 1741 Resolution providing for the issuance of warrants in favor of various banks in the aggregate amount of $4,240.85 in payment for Bank Services Fees rendered to the City of Pittsburgh for the third quarter of 1990, payable from Code Account 1063 (106302) Miscellaneous Services, Department of Finance.

Also,

No. 1742 Resolution making appropriations to pay the expenses of conducting the public business of the City of Pittsburgh and for meeting the debt charges thereof for the year beginning January 1, 1991.

Also,

No. 1743 Resolution fixing the number of officers and employees of all departments of the City of Pittsburgh and the rate of compensation thereof for the year beginning January 1, 1991.

Also,

No. 1744 Resolution adopting and approving the 1991 Capital Budget and 1991 Community Development Block Grant Program and approving the 1991 through 1996 Capital Improvement Program.

Which were severally read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

Also,

No. 1745 An Ordinance No. 17, approved August 17, 1990, entitled "An Ordinance amending and supplementing the Pittsburgh Code, Title Six - Conduct, Article I - Regulated Rights and Actions, Chapter 601 - Public Order and Title Seven - Business Licensing, Article VII - Service Businesses, Chapter 765 - Commercial Refuse, to add provisions for the administration and regulation of the collection and recycling of recyclable materials and leaf waste, and imposing penalties for the violations thereof" to amend the types of materials to be collected of such materials and related licensing requirements, and to renumber the subsequent sections and references accordingly.

Which was read and referred to the Committee on Public Works.

The Chair presented

No. 1746 Petition from the residents of the City of Pittsburgh, requesting a public hearing to discuss Council Bill No's. 1593, 1594 & 1595 concerning the proposed amendments and supplements to the Pittsburgh Code, Title VI, Article III, Dogs and Other Animals.

Which was read, received and filed.

Penitentiary. And a man with a speed boat was crashing through those ducks and killed about three of those ducks. Porky the Duckman and his gang showed up at my office and I sentenced the guy to 90 days in jail, $300 fine, or he had to go 4 weekends and help Porky the Duckman feed the ducks. And when he went down, I got a call from his attorney on Monday morning that Porky the Duckman was going to throw this guy in the Allegheny River. So, I instructed his attorney just to have him sit in the car for four weekends down there and watch, as a community service.

So, I'm not a new person to help take care of animals but I cannot, in just conscience, vote for a bill that I don't believe in.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I think it's important that we override the veto. This bill is very fair and very reasonable. It does not ban rodeos. It does not ban circuses. The bill deals simply with the issue of abuse of the animal by banning certain devices used which obviously are cruel and inhumane. It deals with enforcement by having humane agents recognized by State statute available during the performance, and that would not rely on any drain of resources in City government. And it deals with having veterinarian services present during the performance.

It's unbelievably fair, reasonable, and I think it's important to override the Mayor's veto. This bill has nothing to do with hunting and fishing. It has nothing to do with baby seals or furs. It has nothing to do with animal lab research. It has nothing to do even with ducks or vegetarianism. It has to do with the very simple fairness regarding abuse of animals in rodeo performances.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Councilman Ferlo just touched upon some of the points I was going to make and not to sound redundant but it is true that this piece of legislation will not ban rodeos in the City of Pittsburgh. But it will require veterinarians on site and it would also eliminate the cruel and inhuman treatment of animals. It will eliminate the pain and suffering that they now, under certain conditions, receive.

Even at the public hearing when we had a person who stood up with a stun gun and took out that little 9 volt battery and said, "How can this small battery hurt an animal?" Well, we all know what stun guns do to 300 or 400 pound animals or a 200 pound person. It will knock that person on their back. So, it's not true at all. Stun guns can hurt animals, bucking straps do hurt animals, and very sharp instruments inflict pain upon certain animals.

So, I am supporting this. I do want to commend Councilman Coyne for his initiative in sponsoring the legislation, and we all know Mr. Regan's record in the North Side as a Magistrate on the fair treatment of animals. But in this case I think we should override the veto.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I also respectfully disagree with our Mayor on this issue. After being at the public hearing and witnessing some of the films and photographs that were exhibited there, I was convinced that some of the techniques that are used at rodeos really are cruel, like electric prods, like fixed and sharpened spurs. And I came away thinking that these are not the kind of techniques that should be used in a modern civilized society. I think this is moderate legislation. It doesn't go any farther than to ban these particular devices and I think that we should all support the override.

The Chair:

I'd like to make a comment. I didn't vote in favor of the bill and I'm not going to vote to override the bill, but for reasons different than the Mayor. I said at the time, and I still believe it right now, and I have been a proponent of safe practice with animals also, since I've been here. I've owned a dog my entire life and I've seen a lot of people that mistreat dogs in this City, and one of the reasons that I have a bill in front of Council today dealing with dogs and cats.

But, the problem here is, we will eliminate rodeos. And it has been stated to us by the rodeo people that they are in favor of 90 percent of Mr. Coyne's bill, the elimination of electric prods or shocking devices, the elimination of wire tie downs, the elimination of fixed sharpened spurs. They favor the presence of a veterinarian, which the bill indicates. And, true, the State legislation does not require that. So, they are, in essence, in favor of the far majority of this bill.

There's one part of it that they're not in favor of, and that is the elimination of bucking straps on the animals. They say with the elimination of bucking straps, you, in essence, eliminate rodeo or rodeo related events.

That basically is the reason why I am not supporting it because I think that one aspect of the bill should have been removed because, in essence, we will eliminate rodeos.

And, again, I think what Council is doing, and I know I have done this myself, we keep jumping in and doing what the State should be doing many times. There is obviously a lack of enforcement here at the State level. At the previous event at the Civic Arena many of the violations that existed could have been cited by the Commonwealth if they would have had people present and would have done it.

So, again, we're doing their job and we constantly do that. And I don't know why we simply don't tell State government to do their job and to do it well.

Mr. Ricciardi:

I'd like to address that issue, Mr. President. Bucking straps are not only uncomfortable to an animal but very painful. And what proves that to me is that when an animal is bucking, that animal continues to buck even after the rider is thrown off or gets off until another horse and rider is able to go up and release it. And not to get into the details but most of us know where the bucking strap attaches to.

So, I want the bucking strap eliminated. I think it is not only uncomfortable to an animal but it provides pressure and is very painful to them. And what shows that to me is that after the bucking strap is removed, as Michelle Madoff pointed out after the public hearing, the horse or the animal stops bucking. So, I think that's a very important part of the legislation, the bucking strap.

Mr. Coyne:

Just to deal briefly with that same point. The rodeos portray themselves as having genuine bucking broncos and genuine bucking bulls. Well, these animals actually will buck without the strap, if that's what they actually are. I've been told they're bred to do that. They will buck with or without the strap. So, I think the rodeo still can come to Pittsburgh and, if they have genuine bucking horses, then the cowboy just has to get on and they just need to open the shute and the horse will buck. However, my contention is, the only reason the horses buck is because it's in a great deal of pain caused by the bucking strap.

The Chair:

I respectfully disagree.

Mr. Regan:

I just want to mention one thing. I am absolutely in agreement with the veterinarian being there but I cannot agree with the bill in its entirety.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion to override?

And on the question, "Shall the motion pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

Ayes:

Mr. Cohen	Michelle Madoff
Mr. Coyne	Mr. Milliones
Mr. Ferlo	Mr. Ricciardi

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Mr. Milliones presented

Which was read, received and filed.

I'd like to make a comment. I didn't vote in favor of the bill and I'm not going to vote to override the bill, but for reasons different than the Mayor. The Chair:

Mr. Chairman, on Bills 1674 and 1675 regarding the transfer of property to the School Board for expansion of Perry Traditional Academy, we did respectfully ask for some information regarding the information of the arrangement of the lot blocks and which lots were, if any, in Riverview Park and are part of this transaction.

In Bill 1675, specifically lot block 341 and 225 mentioned in that bill are in Riverview Park and we did not receive this information from the Administration. So, I respectfully request that we recommit these bills to better understand exactly what we're transferring to the School Board.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Mr. Regan:

Discussion. I would like to say that Perry Traditional Academy is the only high school in the City of Pittsburgh without a new gymnasium. Their gym is probably one of the worst gyms in any high school in the United States, bar none. There is millions and millions of dollars standing out that could be lost for the renovation of this building, their gymnasium and swimming pool.

And I think it's totally unfair to hold this thing up any longer. There has been plenty of time. Anybody who was interested in it, they've had plenty of time to look this thing up and down and whatever way they wanted. I think it's damn time that Perry High School gets what it long deserves. And if anybody wants to take time out to go or have somebody on their staff go look it up, I think that's fine.

I think we ought to vote and we ought to vote today because the North Side and Perry High School is long overdue for something that all the other schools in the City of Pittsburgh have had, a good gymnasium and a good swimming pool.

The Chair:

Mr. Ferlo, who was that information requested from?

Mr. Ferlo:

From Finance on the transfer of the property. From Director Hayllar. Mr. Murphy was at the table.

In response to my colleague, Mr. Regan, I certainly support the expansion of Perry Academy and would want to support in any way the transferring of property. But I do think it's not unreasonable nor is it unfair for us to ask for the information.

If we look at the map, and I have it before us, Lot 341 and Lot 225 are distinctly Riverview Park, part of Riverview Park. In this second bill that's in here, Bill 1675 specifically mentions those two lots. I don't think I'm being unfair or unreasonable and I don't think this in any way delays what eventually is probably going to happen. But I think we're just asking for the proper information from the Administration regarding the transfer of property. I'm not being an obstructionist.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I think this is a reasonable request. I don't think it's an attempted delay, that it's really an attempt to get more information. Frankly, I'm not prepared to vote on this unless I have more information. I have a basic problem with taking any parklands and I would just like an explanation of what that is. Nobody has lobbied me about this bill and I think that we should recommit and just take a few more days and just re-examine it.

The Chair:

I would agree in that we hold it no longer than one week. In other words, we would definitely be voting on this bill a week from today.

Mr. Regan:

I would like my colleagues to be aware that there are millions and millions of dollars riding on this that, if we run out of time, then Perry High School is not going to get a new gymnasium, Perry High School is not going to get a new swimming pool, and Perry High School is going to be a second class citizen like they've been for a lot of years strictly because of the lousy facilities that those kids have to play under.

The Chair:

But we would hold it no longer than one week.

All in favor?

Michelle Madoff:

I had my hand up.

The Chair:

On the recommittal?

Michelle Madoff:

Yes. I think there's problem here. I think that not only do we hold it one week, but we make sure that the people who are supposed to give us the information give us the information in time so that if any transfers have to be made, if indeed that property is as Mr. Ferlo assumes, in the park and if it is imperative that that little bit of land be transferred to the school so that they can have their playground, they get it. I know what you're talking about. I've been up there.

And it isn't just enough to say we'll wait a week and then we come back in a week and say, "Oh my goodness, it really is in the park. Now what are we going to do?" That is not the way we can function and I think you would agree with me, Mr. President.

So, would you not only ask that we define where the property is, but somebody meet with Mr. Regan immediately and work out any problem so that indeed we can vote with a clear title next week.

Mr. Regan:

I've just been told now that there have been plenty of meetings. We've had public hearings here. We've had many meetings in the neighborhood. And now it comes time to vote and nobody is prepared to vote. I think that that's totally unfair to those people on the North Side.

The Chair:

The problem that exists is that we have a Councilmember and a Council that has requested specific information from a City department and it has not yet been provided.

Mr. Regan:

That's not the fault of the kids playing in that gymnasium or the little girls and boys swimming in that swimming pool. That's not their fault.

And if they lose those millions of dollars, they're not going to have a facility like every other public high school in the City of Pittsburgh and I resent it.

The Chair:

You're absolutely right, Mr. Regan.

I am prepared to vote in favor of the bill and I believe every other Councilmember is, but I don't think that the appropriate department has provided sufficient information.

Michelle Madoff:

Can we hold this until the end of the meeting and get him up here?

The Chair:

That's fine, if it can be provided in writing. What you have asked for is information to be provided to Council with initial approval at last Wednesday's meeting. It's obvious that additional--

Mr. Ferlo:

We asked for an explanation, Mr. Chairman, of the various lot and blocks that were to be transferred and if any of those lot blocks are in Riverview Park and if they are why they are being transferred.

Clearly, Bill 1675 does indeed transfer land from Lot 341 and Lot 225 and based on the map, the City map of Riverview Park, that is part of Riverview Park. It may be that that's the best thing to do and we should still approve it, but I think we're at least owed an explanation.

The various public hearing had nothing to do with the transfer of the lot blocks. It had to do with rezoning the area.

The Chair:

Your motion is to hold Bill 1675 and not 1674?

Mr. Ferlo:

We could do both because they're complimentary bills, Mr. Chairman. My motion was to hold both bills for an explanation.

Mr. Regan:

With all due respect to the President Pro tem, we've gone over and over and over this same issue. How many times do we have to go over the same issue? How long do these people on the North Side have to wait for a facility equal to all other public schools?

Michelle Madoff:

Point of Order. I apologize to my colleagues and to the President of Council. I skimmed the bill and I didn't see that it says that "The proper officers of the City of Pittsburgh are hereby authorized to execute and deliver a quit claim deed in form approved by the City to the School District of Pittsburgh conveying all rights and interests, if any, in the City of Pittsburgh in the following properties."

That means the land has been transferred. Therefore, there's no reason why we can't vote today. That's what it says.

The Chair:

The land is not formally transferred until Council approves it.

Mr. Ricciardi:

If I could ask a question of a few of my colleagues at the other side of the aisle, this way I know how I could vote on this.

Mr. Ferlo or Mr. Cohen, are we saying that if the property is park property in this case, these two parcels, that either one of you are having a problem transferring park property, in this case so Perry High School can build? Are you saying that you're having a problem transferring park property?

Mr. Ferlo:

That's an unfair question, Mr. Chairman. I think we're basically saying that at a Committee Meeting a number of Councilmembers asked about the various lot blocks and which ones, if any, were actually encroachment or taking of land in Riverview Park. It was a very fair and reasonable question. Unfortunately, the person at the table could not explicitly indicate to Council which properties were Riverview Park. Since that discussion, we were owed a written explanation and that has not come forward.

I don't think we're holding any project up. We're not withholding funds. These are public monies and I don't see this as a delaying tactic. I think we're owed information when we respectfully request it from the Administration.

Mr. Regan:

That same gentleman that didn't understand, I asked for a public hearing on the North Side and asked for a delay which you okayed. We had at least 100 people at a meeting on the North Side and it was voted unanimously that they go ahead with the project. All of a sudden now, a month later, we're stalled again.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

certain property in the 17th Ward to be used by the Department of Public Safety for tow pound

I have been contacted by residents of the area and they have requested that Council hold a public hearing prior to discussing that vote in Committee. So, I'd like to make a motion that a public hearing be held on Bill No. 1692.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

The motion passes and we'll refer it to Council President Wagner to set a public hear-

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

We have here today Mr. Ed Davis and the coaches and the players and Mr. Davis will come and if he so sees fit some of the coaches will speak also.

Mr. Davis:

Thank you, Councilman Darkins, Councilman Wagner, Members of Council. You have before you members of the Three Rivers Basketball League Elite All-Star Team. There were 10 out of about 200 that represent the best that Western Pennsylvania has to offer.

These gentlemen achieved a remarkable sixth place showing out of about 40 teams competing in a national invitational tournament.

We thank you for your special recognition today.

May I quickly introduce them to you so that you'll know them in the future. To my left here is Malik Hightower who will be playing at Perry High School; Coach Howard Bullard, Alderdice High School; Coach Dave Pastorkovich of Mars High School; Eddie Benton of Perry High School; James Billingsley of Perry High School; Ernest Giles of Alderdice

High School; Bruce Patterson of Langley High School and there are some major, major schools hot on his trail as well as Malik; and Dave Masciola of Canevin High School.

We have a quick presentation. I hope this is appropriate. This is Chet Friedman who is the CEO of the Western Pennsylvania Police Athletic League, and Aspinwall's finest.

Mr. Friedman:

We present this in recognition of a man's effort, commitment and spiritual guidance to this team. Without him, the team would not be in the position it is now. So, it gives me great pleasure to present this plaque to Reverend Darkins on behalf of the Pennsylvania Police Athletic League and the Three Rivers Basketball Team.

Mr. Darkins:

I am really excited. I wasn't expecting this this morning.

I want to say to you, thank you ever so much. It's been a joy as well as a pleasure working with the League this year. I enjoyed visiting both high schools and watching the young men play.

I must say again, I am really excited. Thank you so much.

The Chair:

Thank you all.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Bill Neal, would you come forward, please?

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1838 WHEREAS, the Champions Association, under the leadership of William R. Neal, Jr., has enabled young people from all backgrounds to become high achievers; and

WHEREAS, the Champions Association has uplifted the African American community through positive role models and innovative programming; and

WHEREAS, the Champions Association is a non-profit organization that has sponsored basketball camps, summer basketball leagues, anti-drug and pro-health lectures and educational exchanges; and

WHEREAS, the Champions Association will sponsor the 15th Annual Willie Stargell Pittsburgh M.V.P. Awards Banquet at the Allegheny Club which will highlight the positive contributions of prominent Pittsburghers; and

WHEREAS, the Champions Association is an organization most worthy of honor and recognition.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby recognizes the Champions Association and its capable Executive Director, William R. Neal, Jr., for their invaluable contribution to the young people of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

We have Mr. Bill Neal here, the Executive Secretary, and he might like to have something to say.

Mr. Neal:

Thank you very much. I would like to simply add to the words of Ed Davis and his colleague that without the on-going assistance of Councilman Duane Darkins, better known in the community as Reverend Duane A. Darkins, a great deal of what we've been able to accomplish over our 15 year history would not have been able to do so. We have been very fortunate in our community to be able to have a man like him behind us.

I would also like to congratulate everyone that is directly involved with the Champions Association from my position, the Board of Directors, the Executive staff, individuals like Connie Hawkins and Kenny Durett and the gentleman standing next to me who have helped make the program the success it has been.

To keep it very short, I will simply say that there are a lot of problems that we face in our community and it takes a great deal of support and a great deal of contributions from all directions to combat those problems and the Champions Association hopes to be around for another 15 years to do that.

The gentleman that is standing with me a lot of you may recognize as Ron Carter out of Perry High School some years ago. He went on to VMI where he established himself as a legend there. He broke all of their basketball scoring records and was drafted by the Los Angeles Lakers. After playing with the Lakers and the Indiana Pacers, he retired from basketball.

He epitomizes the kind of things that the Champions Association is about. A young man that came from the city without many people giving him an opportunity or a chance to make it, having come from Perry High School and gone all the way to the top. I present to you Ron Carter.

Mr. Carter:

It's a real pleasure to be here. I flew in from Los Angeles just to tell all of you who have been supporting the Champions Association, the programs that Bill Neal puts forth, both athletic, academic and spiritual, that it works. I am a product of Perry High School, I am a product of this City, I am a product of the Champions Association, Ozanam Culture Center, Northview Heights, and through those experiences, Champions being a major factor, I have been able to go on to both the professional rank in athletics and also pursue graduate degrees from two universities.

Actually, I'm just here to tell you that it works and thank God you all are here and don't stop supporting the Champions Association. Thank you very much.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like to ask Dr. Jay Passavant to come forward, please. He's from the North Way Christian Community Church.

Mr. Ferlo presents

No. 1839 WHEREAS, North Way Christian Community was established nine and a half years ago in the community of Wexford; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Jay Passavant is Senior Pastor of North Way Christian Community which presently has a membership of 1600 persons; and

WHEREAS, North Way Christian Community members have a heart for the entire City of Pittsburgh and have developed longstanding and ongoing work with effective inner-city ministries such as Greater Love Outreach, Youth Opportunities Unlimited and Urban Partners; and

WHEREAS, in keeping with North Way Christian Community's service to the needy throughout the City, each year Dr. Jay Passavant and other organizations have hosted a Christmas Banquet and invited those persons who are in greatest need to partake in a full-course turkey dinner and other gifts of the season with approximately 4,000 people in attendance at the 1988 and 1989 banquets; and

WHEREAS, the banquet providers recognized that the needs of our City are worthy of even greater expenditure of effort and have joined forces with Larry Jones, Executive Director of Feed The Children, an international organization which feeds hungry children worldwide, in order to conduct "Operation Care: Pittsburgh"; and

WHEREAS, David Van Gorder of North Way Christian Community will be coordinating the massive food distribution in which scores of agencies, local church ministries and other need-meeting agencies throughout Pittsburgh will distribute approximately 250,000 to 1,000,000 pounds of food to City residents in need; and

WHEREAS, the distribution will take place on December 7 and 8, 1990 at the Three Rivers Stadium parking lots with absolutely no cost to the persons who have registered to receive food, and all food will be apportioned according to predetermined criteria.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RE-

SOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby applaud the outstanding service of the volunteer organizations and individuals who will foster the holiday spirit of giving by conducting the largest free food distribution in the City of Pittsburgh; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby declare December 7, 1990 to be Operation Care: Pittsburgh Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

Thank you, colleagues. I just want to introduce Dr. Jay Passavant who has helped to coordinate this activity. This is certainly a tremendous undertaking for this year and I'm sure he has the cooperation of our City government and lots of other agencies throughout the City of Pittsburgh.

I'd like to introduce Dr. Passavant and have him say a few words about this important activity. Thank you.

Dr. Passavant:

Councilman Ferlo, President Wagner and all Councilmembers, I want to say on behalf of North Way Christian Community and the other 340, as of this time, organizations who are part of Operation Care: Pittsburgh, thank you for this resolution and your support of this event.

Our desire is to do something to help meet the needs of the thousands of people of this City that you and I know who are in need. We believe at this Christmas season there's no better or more tangible way to express the love of Jesus Christ to people than through feeding them with fresh food and other vitally important necessities.

We think at this point that it's possible for us to make a tangible, a very visible demonstration of that love through this food giveaway and we are delighted that so many have signed on with us.

Clearly, this is just the tip of the iceberg. I'm aware that one event does not meet the needs of people over a long period of time. However, our desire is that somehow we'll motivate others along with us to make a difference.

I hope that the message that is coming through to Council today is that individuals can pull together, combine their resources, make a contribution to help alleviate the suffering and pain of people at this time.

I appreciate your support. We look forward to working with you in the future. Thank you very much for this resolution.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to have the Police and the Blair family come up here, please.

It is with great pride that I have the honor of reading a resolution this morning for Sergeant James T. Blair who lost his life in an accident last week. He's one of the finest police officers the City of Pittsburgh has ever had.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1840 WHEREAS, due to an unfortunate accident which took the life of Sergeant James T. Blair, the City of Pittsburgh has lost a true professional and dedicated employee; and

WHEREAS, Sergeant Blair's charm and friendliness endeared him to his comrades and his attitude prevailed in his everyday dealings with the public; and

WHEREAS, Sergeant Blair was a loving husband to his wife Vivian Rovinski Blair and role model to his three sons, James, Donald and Thomas, and big brother to sisters Jean and Toni; and

WHEREAS, as we know, a policeman's life is the essence of stress and fraught with danger, but Jim Blair went about his everyday duties in a manner which gives courage and character to all who are involved in public safety and protection; and

WHEREAS, may his spirit always be remembered by those who knew and admired him.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that in honor of Sergeant James T. Blair, the Members of Pittsburgh City Council proclaim Tuesday, December 4, 1990 as Sergeant James T. Blair Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

This resolution in on behalf of all the City Council and the whole City of Pittsburgh.

I'm also going to ask permission from Council and the famous Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh that we name the Traffic Division Building in the Strip as the Sergeant James T. Blair Building. That can't be done today but I'm going to ask to put that into the works and see if we can name that building after this Sergeant.

I now would like to ask Director Cannon to say a few words.

Director Cannon:

I would just like to thank Councilman Regan and City Council for this honor today honoring one of our fine police officers and particularly one of our fine traffic sergeants.

Chief DeRoy also has a few comments.

Chief DeRoy:

You know, police work at best can be frustrating and it can be rewarding. But as Councilman Regan has pointed out, many, many times, and it's illustrated in this little dissertation he usually gives, when the paramedics show up, you're in pain and they put needles in you, they shove a thermometer in you, either end, they do all their wonderful things and everybody says, "Gee, what great guys they are."

And at times, the firemen, they're called. They come to your home, they knock your windows out, of course all in the line of duty. They put holes in your roof and then they flood your house. And they're the greatest guys in the world.

Now, the police answer a routine call and many times somebody will yell out the window, "Get the heck off my property unless you've got a search warrant." Sometimes the job can really be painful. Sometimes we're undermanned, out-gunned and second-guessed and, by God, we're second-guessed many, many times. Sometimes we go to court only to see a criminal walk out either on a technicality or for some other reason. Sometimes morale is seriously affected, and these are the things that lead to morale.

Then the officer says, especially during the hours that he's not working that diligently, kind of relaxing slightly, he says, "Does anyone really care?" You know, I've asked that question myself during the 34 years that I've been around. But we continue on and we do a good job and sometimes a thankless job.

But today, after the supreme sacrifice of James T. Blair, one thing is for sure; we know that somebody does care and City Council did, especially Bernard Regan. And we in the Bureau of Police thank him and I'm sure the Blair family likewise thanks him. Thank you all.

Mr. Regan:

I'd now like to give these resolutions to the Blair family and I would like to say this. When you're a little kid and you're in trouble, you holler, "Mom". And when anybody is in trouble they holler, "Police". So, no matter what anybody ever says about a policeman, you're the first guy, he's the first man or woman you holler for, Councilwoman, when you're in trouble.

And I say that when we kneel down at night and say our prayers, and when we say God bless America, we should say, God bless the Police and especially Sergeant James T. Blair and his family for the sacrifice that they've made for the City of Pittsburgh. Thank you.

The Chair:

Councilman Regan, while you're handing those out I'd like to make a brief comment.

On behalf of my colleagues, certainly the Blair family, again, you have our prayers and our heartfelt sympathy.

And I want to state something that really impressed me and that is that just about every one of these officers and many others have said to me and to Councilmembers, "What a great professional Sergeant Blair was." There's no better group than the professionals within the same ranks, I think, to make that comment. And that really tells us something about Sergeant Blair.

I think Councilman Regan's idea to name the Traffic Building after Sergeant Blair is a great idea and it would be a tribute to the City of Pittsburgh. Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

Now Thomas Blair, Sergeant Blair's son would like to say a few words.

Thomas Blair:

On behalf of my family and friends, we'd like to thank City Council for all they've done and it always will be remembered by us. Always. Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

I'd just like to thank Director Cannon and especially Chief DeRoy for the show of police officers. I have never in my life seen more shined shoes and men and women look better in my life than they did to go there and honor Chief Blair.

And I also would like to thank the State Police. I would like to thank the police in the townships and boroughs who blocked the way on the way to the cemetery. They blocked every road on the way out to the cemetery and at ever crossing the policemen from those townships and boroughs stood at attention. And I'll tell you, I was never prouder to be a Pittsburgher and never prouder to know a man like Jim Blair in my life. Thank you very much.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to have the Perry High School City League Champs Football Team come up here with their Principal, Mr. Aluise and Mr. Catanese, their Coach.

This is the great Perry High School Football Team, the City League Champs, who have compiled an overall record in the last two years of 24 wins and 1 loss. I think that they not only have done a fantastic job in the sports field, they're doing a good job at Perry Traditional Academy as students. And that's really what we're all about here.

I'd like to read this resolution in honor of this team and in honor of their Principal, Patsy Aluise, and Coach Catanese, their famous Coach.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1841 WHEREAS, the Perry Commodores High School Football Team won the City League Championship Title, with a victory over Oliver on Saturday, October 27, 1990; and

WHEREAS, the Commodores won a back to back City Title with a record of 11 wins and 0 losses; and

WHEREAS, the Perry Commodores championship team is comprised of the following players: Larry Brown, Deon Triplett, Abu Whitaker, Dan Troiano, Montele Crawford, Lonnie Syke, John Tracy, Anthony Zenmon,

Lanier Freeman, Lewis Waters, Shawn Barrett, Evans Moore, Paul Chaffee, Vernon Vereen, Chris Patton, Jamiel Curges, Mike Coates, Andy Kust, Kahlil Curges, Charles Pinnick, Patrice Howze, Marquise Evans, Richard Macklin, La-Mont Dandridge, Shawn Kennedy, David Lazaro, Tony DeCarlo, Mitch Coles, Dave Barr, Ramon Waldon, Dave Johnson, Donald Payne, Wakike Jones, Dorian Couzzens, Mike Weimer, Dave Eubanks, Steve Singleton, Curtis Johnson, Lloyd Fowler, Buddy Richter, Ken Scanlon, Regis Bane, Dennis Martin, Ted Carter, Harry Jackson, Ken Roebuck, Qwyn Durrett, Chad Skrocki, Demetrius Waldon, Joe Woods and Jerry Lundy; and

WHEREAS, other faculty members contributing to the success of this championship include Head Coach Gus Catanese, Assistant Coaches Dave Helon, Richard Nash and Pat Walsh, Principal Pat Aluise and Athletic Director Harry Stephens; and

WHEREAS, the Perry Commodores Football Team has brought competitiveness to the City of Pittsburgh Football League.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh hereby extends its sincere commendation to the Perry Commodores High School Football Team on winning the City League Championship. "IT COULD ONLY HAPPEN IN AMERICA!"

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

Thank you very much. I'd like their Principal, Mr. Aluise, to say a few words.

Mr. Aluise:

I'd like to thank Mr. Regan and City Council for honoring our football team. We did leave one name off; Mr. Bryant is also an assistant coach who is very instrumental in our success.

Again, as Councilman Regan indicated, we're very proud not only of the fact that they are very good competitors on the football field, but they do their work off the field as well. Many of our youngsters here are honor roll students and out of the 13 seniors, I believe all 13 will be going on to college. So, that's a credit to them and their coach, Mr. Catanese. Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to give you Coach Catanese who last year went up and played Berwick for the State Championship. They were a 35 point underdog and they ended up winning the game which was one of the greatest thrills of my life watching these kids from the City League go up there and beat the famous Berwick who were ranked, at the time, 3rd in the nation.

Mr. Catanese:

Thank you, Councilman Regan. Thank you all for having us here. We certainly are delighted to be here and to represent the North Side in the City Championship. Even though we did beat another North Side Team, Councilman Regan, I'm sure you don't mind.

Like I said, we're delighted to be here and we're just sorry that we fell a little bit short in our bid to go on to the State Championship game. We would like to have given Councilman Regan another opportunity to assess us a 15 yard penalty, but perhaps he'll be with us next year. Thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

Thank you very much. Fellows, does somebody want to speak for the team?

Player:

On behalf of our teammates, coaches and managers, and our principal, I'd just like to thank you all for having us here.

Mr. Regan:

Thank you very much and good luck, Coach.

Now I'd like to ask Coach Shay and his wife, Cindy, to come up. Dr. John Kinsmore, would you please come up? Pat McDonald, would you please come up? And any other teachers from the Community College of Allegheny County that are here.

I'd now like to read this resolution for Coach Bill Shay who at the Community College of Allegheny County last year not only won the National Championship but was picked as National Coach of the Year.

Mr. Regan presents

No. 1842 WHEREAS, Bill Shay has completed 22 seasons as Allegheny Community Basketball Coach, has compiled an amazing record of 522 wins and 150 losses and ranks among the top junior college coaches in the nation; and

WHEREAS, Bill Shay finished the 1989-90 season in dramatic fashion as his Cougars erased a 19 point deficit and went on to defeat Muskegon Community College of Michigan 85-76 to capture the NJCAA Division 2 National Championship at Bay City Michigan; and

WHEREAS, Bill Shay was named the NJCAA Division 2 Coach of the Year with his outstanding record of 36-2; and

WHEREAS, during Coach Shay's career, Bill's Teams have made six NJCAA National Tournament appearances and have made an unprecedented 21 consecutive Regional Tournament appearances; and

WHEREAS, Bill Shay has won thirty games in a season four times and twenty games in a season sixteen times; and

WHEREAS, Bill Shay is a former Scout in the National Basketball League with the Pittsburgh Pipers and the Cleveland Cavaliers; and

WHEREAS, Bill Shay received his Bachelor's Degree from the University of Pitt and his Master's Degree from Michigan State University; and

WHEREAS, Bill Shay started the Pittsburgh Steelwheelers which are still playing before many crowds; and

WHEREAS, in his 22 years of coaching, over 90% of his players have graduated from CCAC and 80% have graduated from 4 year schools, stressing that education is forever and school is the first priority.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh proclaims Tuesday, December 4, 1990 as Coach Bill Shay Day in the City of Pittsburgh in recognition of Coach Shay's outstanding career.

Mr. Regan moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Regan:

Coach Shay, it's not every day you get a day named after you in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Shay:

Councilman Regan, President of Council, Members of City Council, a most sincere thanks for this honor. And on behalf of Dr. Kinsmore, Pat McDonald and my wife, Cindy, who are with us here from the Community College, it's most certainly been for us a very gratifying experience to get an education and really to come here today and see all the things that go on that Council provides for all the people in this area. I mean that sincerely. You just never get to see what goes on in the City until you have a chance to come and see all the things that happen, all the energy and all the enthusiasm that you provide for us.

Again, thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

This is Coach Shay's wife, Cindy, and they have two lovely daughters that are attending class at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, so they couldn't be with them today.

But we did have the guy that controls his salary come down here and make a personal appearance today, the Honorable John "Mac" Kinsmore, the President of Community College of Allegheny County.

Dr. Kinsmore:

Before I came here a year ago, the one person I had heard of in Pittsburgh, because I was in the Community College, was Bill Shay and the reputation he had as a winning basketball coach over the years.

I think the thing that has been most wonderful for me is to work with him for a year. And all the things that were said about him were true, as far as a winning basketball coach. But what I didn't know is that he really did have his priorities absolutely in order. And the statistics Baldy read, in a community college you don't know how rare that is in intercollegiate sports in a community college across this country. Last year I believe there were 9 sophomores; all 9 of them got college scholarships and they're all playing college ball now.

He is a special man and it's really terrific that you've honored him. Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

The only thing I can say about Coach Shay is, he takes care of people first. And if you called Coach Shay at 6:00 in the morning, he's in his office with some student that is trying to get ready to go to school.

I've seen many a great basketball player when I was sitting with Bill Shay, and I mean great, great basketball players, that were borderline because of a problem they may have had, and Coach Shay would say, "Listen, son, you go to school and come back next year." Here's a great athlete say, "Hey man, I'm a great star." And he says, "I'll help you. Get a year of college in and I'll do whatever I can to help you. But as far as you're athletic ability goes, you're class-work comes first and I'm sure we can work you onto the team if you're willing to make that sacrifice."

I'd like to also say hello to Pat McDonald who is Secretary to the President. You can't get any stronger than that because you can't get to him without going through her. That's why I made sure she was up here. Thanks a lot. Have a nice day.

The Chair:

Thank you all.

Mr. Cohen presented

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like my discussion with Director Gaetano last Wednesday to be brought forward, please.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1694, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1990)

Mr. Cohen:

Can you explain what this bill does?

Dir. Gaetano:

First, I'd like to thank Councilman Cohen who recommended that we look into our fees and that is exactly what we have done. We haven't changed our fees and a lot of our permit fees for many, many years and some of them were really ridiculous.

What it will do is, it raises the street opening fees, it raises the bond on utility companies that when utilities come in and they open up our street they have a $2,000.00 bond. We're raising that to $5,000.00 now and keeping it for two years.

It raises the big portions of the actual permit fees for our bridges. People that come in like Kaufmann's, the bridge you see over Forbes Avenue or the pedestrian bridges that you see at the University of Pittsburgh has. We had a ridiculous fee of $500.00 and it now raises it to $1,000.00.

Michelle Madoff:

It's still ridiculous.

Dir. Gaetano:

And it's still not that much. Tunnel fees. We have many pedestrian tunnels and not many people know that we have it under our streets in Oakland. We're raising the fee from $500.00 to $1,000.00.

We have had many things in the City of Pittsburgh that this Council has passed in the past that really require a fee that we've never charged a fee for and it actually has to do with only one individual person and it's that person that we're doing this work for. Many times people sell their homes and find out that their home is on the city right-of-way and I come here for encroachments. We go out and have them doing surveys, checking with the encroachment is and we've never charged a fee for that before and now we are. It's not much of a fee, it's only $50.00.

Tie-backs is a very big thing that we have. On all major buildings that we have Downtown, when you have major excavation four stories down, tie-backs are actually put in and with each tie-back that goes in underneath our streets at no cost to the City of Pittsburgh. We're now requiring that a cost for every tie-back that comes under our street of $50.00 each.

The last portion of the legislation is on monuments and I don't mean statues or things like that. I'm talking survey and precise topographic location monuments. People inadvertently destroy them in front of their houses and they'll put a sidewalk in and they'll tear them out not knowing how valuable that piece of monument is and it costs the City of Pittsburgh over $2,000.00 to replace one of these. So what we're telling within the particular legislation is that if they tear that monument out, they're going to replace it at a $2,000.00 fee.

The only thing in the legislation that would increase and it's a very, very minor amount then as the sidewalks go up a minimum of $5.00, a fee for a sidewalk and that's it.

Mr. Cohen:

Director, I want to thank you for taking the initiative on this. We have really been giving away property rights for a relatively small amount of money for many years and because you put together this new fee schedule I think it puts us more in line with property rights should actually cost and I really appreciate you doing this.

Tell me, who will this hit the hardest?

Dir. Gaetano:

It will hit the utility companies as to street openings in that the piece of legislation tells them that if you don't come back within so many days and fix that hole in the street after you opened it up, you're not only going to pay the new permit fee but you're going to pay $100.00 above that, so it's forcing them to get their work done a lot faster. It will hit like a big building owner downtown who builds his building and put these tie-backs in the street, that we have to check and everything else and really they will benefit from it.

Mr. Cohen:

It won't really affect the small property owners.

Dir. Gaetano:

Not one bit.

Mr. Cohen:

How much revenue do you think this will generate for the City?

Dir. Gaetano:

We actually generate somewhere around $225,000.00 a year. This can actually bring it up to $50,000.00 to $200,000.00 more so we can go up to $400,000.00.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you for doing this.

Dir. Gaetano:

Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd like my comments brought forward on Bill 1433 on the helistop ordinance.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGE)

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1433-Wednesday, 12/5/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

The request a few weeks ago was an issue raised regarding Allegheny General Hospital, and we asked for a legal opinion, which you did send up, and I thank you, which basically states that the actions on this ordinance are independent and separate from any pending lawsuit regarding particular needs of this hospital. I am sure there might be Councilmembers who have questions about that memo.

I have obviously urged that we adopt this ordinance and codify into law requirements regarding heliports. I think the planning staff has done a real good job in amending the code with this ordinance. So I urge the moving and adoption of this ordinance.

(Deleted text.)

Mr. Ferlo:

I think this is a great ordinance, as I indicated earlier, and I hope we approve it today. I again applaud the Planning staff for their deliberative review. I think alot of the criticisms and concerns raised by those who have a vested interest in the hospital systems have been addressed in this. The other thing is the issue of some of the issues Michelle has begun to address earlier in this discussion, and that is the issue of maintenance of these helicopters, the fueling. There is no reason why city government, in approving this ordinance today, can't send a message to the hospital council and to others who operate these heliports to have shared services. In the area of fueling, in the area of maintenance of these vehicles, in this case the helicopters, there is no reason why hospitals can't share the burden and the cost of that at centralized locations. In Lawrenceville, I will be glad to come up with several industrial sites in Lawrenceville. There are places in Hazelwood, places in South Side, throughout the city, industrial areas that can accommodate this kind of center. I would hope that the hospitals would meet and cooperate on some of those expenditures, so it is not a problem to health and safety residential neighbors. This is an ordinance written for the year 2000. It is a good ordinance; I hope we approve it.

(END OF REMARKS)

(Transcribed by Helen L. Kriebel)

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 1433 on the heliports. I understand this is a bill that deals with safety. I have a great concern that we're going to see a heliport at every single hospital.

I also have a great concern that Allegheny General, because it has its heliport, indeed causes the other hospitals not to get their fair share of people who need hospital treatment. And we're seeing a hospital prospering, fighting us in the courts on contributing.

I think the dangers to the community must be evenly divided. We cannot have one heliport and worry about the safety of that heliport, and then have them peripherating all over the area. I have some very, very great concerns. My understanding is that they will not be able to fuel on the heliport, they will not be able to do maintenance at the heliports.

And my understanding of this bill, and I wish somebody would address it, whoever is the sponsor, Mr. Ferlo might be able to help with this, are we going to, through this bill, allow heliports to proliferate throughout the City? I would just like someone to address this if they could help me.

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like to address that. The answer to that question is no, that this is a bill that has regulations governing heliports City-wide, that any new either helipad, heliport or helistop, and those are the three definitions in this bill, would have to be filed for a conditional use which would have to go before City Planning and also before City Council.

So, by approving this bill, we aren't approving any additional helipads --

Michelle Madoff:

At this point.

Mr. Cohen:

That's right. They have to go through that process of coming through City Planning and City Council. I think that City Planning went through a very thorough process in coming up with these regulations. The current regulations date back to 1958. They refer to a federal agency that no longer exists in the federal government, and I think it's about time that we come up to date and have regulations that apply to modern time.

Michelle Madoff:

I support that. That's what I thought this bill was about but I wanted to be sure that I wasn't voting for more than just this legislation.

I do want to point out that I've spoken with the Administration about the fact that I believe that we should have a heliport system in conjunction with 911. When somebody calls for an ambulance, they tell the ambulance what hospital they want to go to. If somebody is unconscious and they have a burn, they take them to a burn unit. If it's a child, they take them to Children's Hospital. If it's a heart problem, they can take them to many hospitals. They go where the appropriate hospital is.

And I would hope that the day would come, and I see it happening, where we're going to have a central heliport tied into 911 and when a helicopter is necessary for saving a life, it will be through 911 and not through Allegheny General or other hospitals who have determined that they will pick up the patient because they have the helicopter.

Mr. Ferlo:

I just want to say, as I indicated in the Committee session, this is a very important bill and as far as I'm concerned it's a bill that reflects the needs of the year 2000, as Mr. Cohen pointed out, the original bill dating back several decades.

So, I want to thank the Planning staff and others who worked on it. I think it's a great bill. A lot of thought has been given to this legislation. And in approving this today, we will deal with what has happened for the last several years and that is a proliferation of various kinds of helicopter landing sites without proper review processes in place for residents, for adjoining business owners, for institutions, for the Planning Department and ultimately for Council to be able to review these occupancy permits.

So, I want to just commend the staff once again for their work on this ordinance. It's a very good ordinance and I think it will address a lot of the health and safety issues that have come up in relation to what Michelle has called a proliferation of these helistops that have been constructed.

Also,

Bill No. 1811

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution authorizing the Mayor and the Director of City Planning to enter into an Agreement or Agreements with food banks serving the residents of Pittsburgh to provide services to disadvantaged persons; and providing for the cost thereof."

Which was read.

Michelle Madoff:

On Bill 1811, in relation to the Administration's commitment with Council to earmark $20,000 for food banks, I'd like to offer an amendment.

I was a little bit concerned that the Administration in submitting this legislation did not waive Rule 8 to expedite it since part of the rationale was that this money would be utilized before the end of the year. So, in addition to waiving Rule 8 earlier to get this on the agenda today, it was my hope upon final passage of this bill that we would also make it become law upon the signature of the Mayor.

The only other problem with the bill, however, is that it does not specifically earmark the money and enter into contract with any agency. And if we're interested in expediting --

Mr. Coyne:

Point of Order, Mr. Chairman. If Mr. Ferlo is making a motion to amend, I think he needs a second.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'll make the amendment and get a second and then I'll discuss the bill. But to be fair to

Mr. Coyne, I'll just make the amendment that you have before you to Bill 1811 which would amend this $20,000 bill to specifically designate it to the City's anti-poverty agency, Pittsburgh Community Services, Inc., which then in turn can fund the various food pantries under the Hunger Trust Fund. So, I'd like to make that in the form of a motion.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

The Chair:

Is that amendment in writing?

Mr. Ferlo:

Yes, sir. Unfortunately, you don't have one in front of you. I apologize.

Just very briefly, Mr. Chairman, this money would be consistent with the commitment of Council. Historically, in the last two years in particular, the Pittsburgh Community Services, Inc. Agency, is the City's anti-poverty agency funded by the Administration and Council. In the last two and a half years in particular, this agency has acted as the conduit or the umbrella to disburse money to upwards of 40 or 50 food banks throughout the City of Pittsburgh. It is this agency that has the contractual relationship with the City and if we're interested in expediting it and doing this in a fair and logical and rational process administratively, it would make sense then to supplant or add to the existing contract that we have with Pittsburgh Community Services, Inc. And this, then, would enable food pantries to readily take advantage of these additional funds. And on that basis, I'd like to offer the amendment.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. President, it has been my understanding, after speaking with the Administration, as soon as I heard that they were going to free up the money I contacted the Administration to find out how they were going to go about distributing those funds. So, my understanding, and if I'm wrong I'd like to be corrected, is that the Administration has already taken steps with food banks throughout the City to distribute those funds so that funds will be available for the holiday season.

I think that what Mr. Ferlo's amendment will do is slow up the process rather than to speed it up because now we're going to have to go through a middle party instead of the Administration going directly out to food banks and giving the money to those food banks as, from my understanding, they're doing. We're going to go through the middle person and then I think it will be slowed up. So, I would urge voting against Mr. Ferlo's amendment.

The Chair:

If I may just ask the question, why are they not identified in the original bill?

Mr. Coyne:

I don't know.

Mr. Ferlo:

I can answer that question, Mr. Chairman. The reason why they're not identified is that certain members were called in relation to the vote on the Christmas Tree by the Administration. The Administration called certain Members of Council in relation to Mr. Regan's bill which is later on the agenda for an easement and basically indicated to some Members of Council that it would be appropriate at this time to vote against the easement and in exchange there would be a few thousand dollars available to food banks in their Council district, which is fine. If the Administration wants to play petty politics with the poor, that's fine with them but it's not fine with me.

This Council has instituted a process in City government, a fair process, and that is allocating Community Development Block Grant and other operating dollars to the City's anti-poverty agency, the Pittsburgh Community Services, Inc. They have the administrative model and the contractual model in place to expeditiously receive this money and funnel it out to those groups City-wide, not in certain Council districts that may have voted politically with the Mayor on the easement.

So, let's be fair and let's be realistic about what this bill is about. And if the Administration wants to be fair, I think the easy way, and I beg to differ with my colleague, Mr. Coyne, to move this along expeditiously is to amend the existing contract that the Administration has with CSI. It takes a lot longer to enter into contract with organizations that have yet to even be funded by City government. A contract has to be written up, they have to come back to Council for authorization to enter into a contract. This is the quickest, most expeditious and most equitable way to get the money to those who are most in need. My bill doesn't pay politics with the poor.

The Chair:

Okay, on the amendment only.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, I deeply resent the implication that anybody buys my vote with any influence and I speak, I think, for everybody on this Council. I think that's a terrible thing to say.

My support for the Administration's position that we not have the Menorah and the Christmas Tree, which I happen to like very much, in front of the building was that we were threatened with a massive law suit that would start with something like $20,000 and go to $150,000. That is what we have been accused of and I think that needs to be put aside.

Now, on this particular issue of the food bill. I personally stated that I would like to see one agency distributing the money. However, what I subsequently learned, and I'm sure my colleagues have learned, that unfortunately the Pittsburgh Community Service Organization has eliminated some groups because they just don't have enough money to give it to them. And here is an opportunity for Councilmembers who have been approached by community groups who distribute food in their community and have been shut off from funds, to give them a little bit of money. And that's why I'm going to vote against Mr. Ferlo's amendment.

Mr. Regan:

I'd like to know what food banks are going to be serviced, if not all of them. I agree, you can't fool around with the poor people. And if that's done, it's a damn shame.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. Chairman, I have a problem with this amendment. First of all, I don't know who Mr. Ferlo is referring to about the colleagues on Council because I have never been contacted from the Administration in regards to this situation.

Secondly, I'm opposed to the Pittsburgh Community Services because I just witnessed this past Saturday wherein that I was in our neighborhood, paid $199 for two tractor-trailer vans that went to the North Side to the Stadium to bring commodities and food to the Homewood Brushton area. And I took it upon myself to call the food banks in that area to make sure that the food is going to be distributed properly.

So, I have a problem with this. I think that this Community Services have left out a lot of food banks and to go through this process, it will be after the effect of services. I think the message that I'm hearing here is that we want to take care of these families before Christmas, not after Christmas. We want to help these people now, not later on. And that's the significance behind it all. I'm just opposed to this.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I just want to make a final point that I not often am a defender of the Administration but I think this time, in this case, Mr. Ferlo is playing the petty politics and not the Administration. I think the Administration is making an honest effort to get money out to food banks who I trust will be looking City-wide, not specifically in any Councilmember's district. And I think that we should support them and get this money out there to the people who need it instead of sitting here discussing which way we should manage that money being distributed.

The Chair:

Roll call vote on the amendment.

Mr. Ferlo:

There's still additional discussion, Mr. Chairman, on this bill.

The Chair:

Well we're going to have final comments and this amendment is not earthshaking and therefore I would like us to stay to the amendment.

Mr. Ferlo:

Just to be clear again, if we're interested in expediting the contract, then we should amend the existing contract that we have with Pittsburgh Community Services. That's the way to guarantee that this money will actually get to the food banks.

As far as some food banks not being able to avail themselves of funding from Pittsburgh Community Services, it's because they don't have enough money. Between the money they get from the Federal CSI and between the money that we commit from the CDBG, they just don't have enough money. But they've never turned down an organization for any reason other than the fact that there are no available funds.

As far as groups getting funded between now and Christmas who are not already in the funding stream, it takes the Administration upwards of three or four months to execute a contract with any new agency. So let's not play a game out here. And if that's not the case, then I'll admit that I'll be the biggest fool Christmas Day, and I don't think that's going to be the case.

Mr. Regan:

Councilman Coyne said "petty politics". Is he talking about some poor people being fed and other poor people not being fed? Is that petty politics?

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. Coyne didn't say that. It was Mr. Ferlo.

Mr. Regan:

Well, my ears aren't that bad, Councilwoman. I heard exactly what he said.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm sorry.

I just think that what we're doing here is really, by this debate, playing politics with the poor. I support the Pittsburgh Community Service. I also agree with Mr. Ferlo who made the best argument for why I'm voting against this resolution. There just isn't enough money to handle everybody and there are some groups who have been cut out of the system and here's a chance to help some of the groups and that's why I'm not voting for the amendment. They're both two worthy efforts and I don't think that by supporting the position of giving to the groups who have been out of the system we are voting against the poor. It doesn't have to be one way; there can be more than one way of dealing with the problem.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'd like the media and Council to follow where this money will go because it will go to those Council districts who voted --

The Chair:

That really is not a point of order. There is a piece of legislation on the floor.

Michelle Madoff:

Well, if the sponsor rescinds his piece of legislation, I think that would take care of it.

The Chair:

That's not a point of order. There is a bill on the floor. A point of order must deal with the situation at hand in Council, not a piece of legislation.

Michelle Madoff:

Perhaps I didn't know the correct terminology but I think the message is very clear as to what I'm saying.

Mr. Regan:

Well I think my message to you is very clear that there's a hell of a lot more involved here than just forget about it.

Every big city in the country has a Christmas Tree and a Menorah --

Michelle Madoff:

So do we.

Mr. Regan:

Not on our property. The State Capitol has one, the White House has one, Philadelphia has one, Allegheny County has one. There's a lot more here than just roll over.

I commend the Mayor for giving the 20,000 and I thought it was a great thing on her part, but there's a lot more here. There's a lot of people that have beliefs in this country and there's a hell of a lot more of them than the people that are against it.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, even though there's a final vote on this bill today, I would still like a legal opinion from the Solicitor and any other legal scholarly minds in the Administration in explaining how it is that we're able to expend upwards of $10,000 erecting a Tree and a Menorah across the street on private property. We had Public Works out there. We had General Services. We had the Forestry Division. We had cherry pickers, tandems, cranes. We have electricity for the Menorah that's coming off the utility pole which is a public account. All of the public dollars expended to put up the Tree and the Menorah on the private property, not to mention the fact that we're losing parking tax revenue from the 20 or 40 parking spaces that have been eliminated across the street.

So, I would like a legal, scholarly opinion in explaining how it is that that's not theft of services as opposed to being within the constitution framework that was argued by the Solicitor earlier last week.

Mr. Ricciardi:

Mr. President, during our Committee Meetings, the City Solicitor said that this body could not initiate an easement. The easement must come from the Administration. I have yet to see any written documentation on that. So maybe we should contact the Solicitor, not just for this bill, but for future bills because I was unaware that this body could not initiate an easement.

The Chair:

I agree, Mr. Ricciardi. Several items were asked of the Solicitor of which none have been received in terms of legal opinions.

I suspect we're going to vote on the bill finally today and I would still request, through the City Clerk, that those opinions be granted in writing for possible future discussions on this issue --

Mr. Ferlo:

And I'd still like a financial accounting for how much it cost to put the Tree and the Menorah up across the street and who is paying for it.

The Chair:

Mr. Ferlo, you don't have the floor.

Mr. Ferlo:

I know.

The Chair:

Including the opinion requested by Mr. Ferlo.

I might state that a vote of yes would be in favor of the bill, even though it has a negative recommendation. A vote no would be opposed to the bill.

I would like to make a brief comment.

I'm going to vote in favor of the bill. I don't think the bill is going to pass, to be frank about it. But I truly think that even though the Tree is across the street, the reason why it's there is because of Mr. Regan's efforts.

Michelle Madoff:

The amendments are in front of all Councilmembers and they are the result of a very substantial amount of discussion between Councilmembers, community groups, vendors and civic associations dealing with the original proposal and I think that what we have in front of us is something that is going to be acceptable to everyone. It deals with a few specific changes, one that Councilman Regan had brought to the table last week concerning the size of vehicles. It clearly defines the size of what vendors' vehicles may be and increases the amount of time from a half hour to one hour, at Mr. Ricciardi's request. It keeps in place the fact that there will be no vending permitted in the central business district Downtown. And it eliminates the employer's master license and licensing fees since the Administration is going to be offering an employer's master license this afternoon and licensing fees, meeting with the Department of Building Inspection we thought it was better off to leave it with the Administration's bill this afternoon.

So, in front of all Councilmembers is the bill as amended and I would ask for a vote of yes.

The Chair:

We are still dealing with the amendment and the amendment only. Any discussion on the amendment?

Mr. Ferlo:

I think this is a very good set of amendments and overall I think the bill should be approved. It liberalizes something that I think we should liberalize and that is individuals who legitimately should have the right to vend on the City streets without interfering in the prerogatives of businesses in other districts be it Downtown in the central business district or out at the neighborhood commercial corridor.

One of the main objections to Mr. Coyne's original bill had to do with the issue of some of the vendors, and one was pointed out, a notorious vendor in Oakland, given the large display area that this individual assumes and consumes on the street. And if I understand this amendment correctly, Mr. Coyne has addressed this issue by limiting, which is not in the Code right now. This amendment would limit the size and the width and the length of that stand. And I think that would address the major criticism and I believe one of the only criticism that was raised with the original ordinance.

So, I think we should approve the amendments. It deals with something the Code does not address right now and that is the size and the obnoxious nature of certain display stands on the public right of way.

And also, outside of the central business district, a vendor would not be allowed anywhere close to a business that has the same kind of a display. So, in other words, outside a central business district a flower vendor cannot be within 200 feet of another flower shop. So I think it's a good bill.

Michelle Madoff:

I want to thank the sponsor of the bill for particularly addressing the issue and my colleague, Mr. Ferlo, for pointing out the issue of flower vendors. Since I mentioned once before the master license type person indeed assigns someone to sit within 100 feet of a widow on Valentine's Day and Mothers Day selling flowers.

So I'm glad that's in and I'm delighted that Mr. Coyne responded to my concern about the master license because I think that the young gentleman who has a place in Oakland who said to us at the hearing that he only has one display, and when we asked about the other three he said, "Oh, they work for me but it's their's." My concept of vendors is to help those who don't have jobs or trying to be entrepreneurs and going out and being sole proprietors.

I think this is a good bill and I will support it. I hope that in the coming years we will amend the vendors to not harass them. I still think an hour is too little but it's an improvement on what we had and I will support it and hope that in next year again we will improve on that even further.

Mr. Regan:

I would just like to reiterate my feelings on it. I think this is a one-person amendment written for one person and one person only. I have gone by there many times and there are racks and racks of clothes. It makes him a store not paying 50 cents a day to operate something that a store owner would have and maybe in that area pay $2,000 a month.

I also would like to say that Mr. Coyne at the last meeting said that he was going to talk to me. I think he has talked to everybody else but me. I think that the Building Inspection, it's impossible for them to administrate this thing or police it. And I don't think anybody has bothered the vendors. This is the only vendor in town that is violating the law and he's violating it every day and if Councilman Coyne wants to stand up for someone that is violating the law every day, so be it.

Mr. Coyne:

Obviously, Councilman, you haven't read the bill. I have sat here for the year that we've been on Council together and you have made several statements throughout that period concerning certain bills where it's obvious you haven't read it and, unfortunately, this is once again that occasion.

I mentioned last week that if you had any concerns on the size of the vehicles that I would be very happy to put it in. As of yesterday afternoon you did not contact me.

I did my own research and these figures are in here for the size of the vehicles. The current vehicles of the vendor you're speaking about in Oakland are larger than this. He would have to conform. The vendor in Oakland also has his vehicles within 250 feet of each other.

He would have to conform to that rule in this bill also.

So, if you would have taken the time to read this bill, you would have seen it obviously, obviously, does not protect one individual and does not deal with one individual.

Mr. Regan:

Well I must have glaucoma, Councilman, and my eyes must be failing me if what you say and what I say are two different things altogether because I've ridden by there many a time. The vehicle parks there to unload, blocking the view coming out of Forbes Avenue to make a left hand turn. In fact, the University of Pittsburgh --

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, do I have the floor? I don't remember Mr. Regan being recognized for the floor.

The Chair:

Were you completed?

Mr. Coyne:

No I wasn't.

The Chair:

Okay, you have the floor then.

Mr. Coyne:

If I may just ask one question of Mr. Regan. Have you read the bill?

Mr. Regan:

Yes.

Mr. Coyne:

And you don't think this affects him adversely, the vendor in Oakland?

Mr. Regan:

Not at all.

Mr. Coyne:

You don't. Then we have a very different point of view.

Mr. Ferlo:

On the amendment. If I understand the amendment, this very much affects the one individual and I don't think we should be writing legislation for one individual either to assist one individual or to detract from the rights and privileges of one individual. We should write legislation that affects and deals with problems on a City-wide basis and I think this bill does that.

But in terms of that one individual or anybody else, that one individual has an obnoxious stand. It is a stand that is at least 10 feet high. It's a stand that's probably 20 feet long and 5 or 6 feet wide. As Mr. Regan once called it, it's a store on the street, and that's what it is. This bill, with the amendment, would limit that individual's prerogatives. It would limit that person's stand to 7 feet high, and for me 7 feet is pretty high, 8 feet long and 3 feet wide. But that would greatly limit and change the very characteristics of what that individual has right now at Forbes and Bigelow.

The Chair:

On the bill as amended, I would just like to make one comment. I am voting against the bill and I have said that from the start. I wrestled with this issue twice since I've been on Council. You can never satisfy the vendors and I attempted with major amendments to a previous ordinance, not only to help the vendors but also to protect businesses in general. And, quite frankly, I thought the original bill was a good one and I think we need to take a lead from our Building Inspection people as to what is good and what isn't good because they're the ones out there on the street enforcing it every day.

Mr. Ferlo:

I share many of your concerns, Mr. Wagner. Historically, when I first got to Council, I had a pretty conservative view about this issue of vendors. Those individuals who came to me over the last three years in particular, and even in public hearings on this issue before Council, were primarily minority vendors who came to me who complained basically that the economy within that community, frankly, was one that would allow vendors to operate on street. And this is notable in the Homewood corridor and in East Liberty, in particular. In fact, it was individuals from the minority community that come to me, historically, with what you have termed complaints.

At first I was not sympathetic but I think in reviewing the bill, as amended by Mr. Coyne, it would help deal with what I think is a more fair situation and that is allowing vendors at least some time on the street as opposed to the limitations to 30 minutes. And I think it would reduce harassment. If anything, it would make more uniform the ability of the Building Inspectors to actually issue citations that can be upheld in a court of law. Many of the citations issued in the last several years have been thrown out and laughed at by the judge.

So, if anything, I think this bill in effect will actually make more real the threat of citations enforceable by the building inspectors.

And, obviously, the third thing which I've harped on, and that is freeing up building inspectors for more critical issues like vacant lots and demolition of buildings.

Mr. Regan:

Well, if the building inspectors are charged with upholding the law, then I think that's where they should be. I think that they do a terrific job and I don't see those vendors being harassed at all and I'm for vendors. I think they're colorful, they're good for the City, and I was opposed from day one to this.

I also would like to state that last week I was threatened in my office to blow up my office and they guy introduced himself over the telephone as a vendor. He could be anybody; he doesn't have to be a vendor, but I don't appreciate that either.

MUNICIPAL RECORD

Proceedings of the Council of the City of Pittsburgh

VOL. CXXIV

Tuesday, December 18, 1990

No. 49

Municipal Record

ONE-HUNDRED TWENTY-SIXTH COUNCIL

JACK WAGNER President
MICHAEL PERRY City Clerk
LINDA M. JOHNSON-WASLER .. Asst. City Clerk

Pittsburgh, PA
Tuesday, December 18, 1990

PRESENT:

MR. COHEN	MR. MILLIONES
MR. COYNE	MR. REGAN
MR. DARKINS	MR. RICCIARDI
MR. FERLO	MR. WAGNER
MICHELLE MADOFF	(Pres't)

The Meeting was opened by the recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

PRESENTATIONS

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, in the absence of our guests, I'd ask the City Clerk to just read this into the Record. It's a resolution proclamation acknowledging the efforts of Steel Valley Authority.

Mr. Coyne:

Also, Mr. Chairman, I'd like a copy sent of the resolution to be sent to the Governor's Office.

Mr. Coyne and Mr. Ferlo present

No. 1889 WHEREAS, the Steel Valley Authority is an Intermunicipal Jobs Authority which was created by Pittsburgh and nine Mon Valley milltowns to help economically revitalize distressed communities; and

WHEREAS, the SVA is a unique "job dislocation strike force" to prevent workers from losing their jobs and to retrain essential payrolls and revenues in the City, especially in times of recession; and

WHEREAS, the SVA has developed, through the City's Intermunicipal agreement and growing relationship with the nine other Mon Valley member communities, additional support in Harrisburg resulting in state funding for City projects; and

WHEREAS, the SVA has accomplished several major successes for the City in 1989 and 1990, including:

- Redevelopment of Industrial Sites: The SVA helped win passage of $20 million in the Industrial Communities Site Fund (ICSF); the City received $2,000,000 for two Pittsburgh sites on the South Side and North Side in 1989. The SVA was also a catalyst in the passage of the new Tax Increment Financing Bond Program.

- Manufacturing Retention and Expansion: The SVA took a lead in the city establishing a new "early warning" business and labor outreach program for firms in distress. The SVA has been directly responsible for retaining or expanding jobs at several firms in the city and valley. Some 500 firms have been surveyed in the city; many received business assistance or URA loans.

- City Pride Bakery: The SVA has taken a lead in organizing a new employee-owned bakery for the city to replace the jobs lost when Braun Bakery closed down. The City Pride Bakery, when financed, will result in 122 jobs, including many of the former Braun workers. Pittsburgh is the largest city in the country without a mainline bakery.

- Cytemp Plant Closure Prevention: As part of the Early Warning Network, the SVA conducted a pre-feasibility study for the local managers and workers at the Pittsburgh Cytemp plant. As a result of that study, investors have formed a new company, Pittsburgh Flatroll, which plans to retain the facility, invest in the company, and save 40 jobs.

- Employee Ownership: As the foremost public institution in the ESOP field in Western Pennsylvania, the SVA has also made considerable progress at the state level in creating support for workers to buy viable facilities. The SVA led the fight to maintain the ESOP Fund at the state, and utilized this fund for two projects.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh acknowledges through this acclamation its sincere appreciation and support of the efforts of the SVA.

Mr. Ferlo moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Milliones:

Would Mr. Hayllar from the City Finance Department come forward, please?

Mr. Milliones presents

No. 1890 WHEREAS, the Department of Finance is headed by the Director of Finance and the Deputy Director/Treasurer, who are appointed by the Mayor; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Finance, along with the Pittsburgh Community Reinvestment Group, helped form the Neighborhood Reinvestment Committee which co-developed the Bank Depository Rating System; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Finance's criteria for evaluating the performance of financial institutions in Pittsburgh by providing home mortgage, home improvement and commercial mortgage loans in low and moderate income neighborhoods; by providing marketing construction and permanent financing to non-profit developers of newly constructed or renovated residential or commercial properties; by participating with the City and its authorities to provide low cost credit to finance start-up and expansion activities, particularly for minority and female owned businesses; and by participating and providing technical assistance and resources on an ongoing basis to community based organization; and

WHEREAS, the Department of Finance's Bank Depository Rating System allocated the City's banking business to banks who score highest in the City's Rating System for neighborhood reinvestment.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh recognizes the Department of Finance and the Pittsburgh Community Reinvestment Group for their collective efforts, which led to the City of Pittsburgh receiving the National League of Cities' 1990 Technology Achievement Award in Finance for its Bank Rating Reinvestment Program.

Mr. Milliones moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Milliones:

We are very proud of having received this award from the National League of Cities and I'd like the Director of Finance, Mr. Ben Hayllar, to have a word to say along with one of his employees.

Mr. Hayllar:

Thank you. This is Judy Gula who is the head of your Cash Management Division in our department who oversees the administration of the bank rating system.

Stan Lowe would have been here but he's over at the Dollar Bank MAC Machine making withdrawals and it obviously will be a few minutes before he gets here.

This rating system is really done in conjunction with a consortium of community groups who have been doing this on their own for some time. We are putting our money where their mouth is and I believe as we look at the national standards of what other cities are doing, this partnership is working very effectively. And we have seen from many of the banks a very profound response to put money in all neighborhoods of the City.

We are very grateful for Council's proclamation. It will be displayed in the Cash Management area. I kind of wish I got it before my budget hearing but I guess this indicates that hearing went alright. Thank you very much.

Mr. Regan:

I'd just like to say that Mr. Hayllar, Mr. President, that any time you get Dr. Milliones to honor you, you're something special.

The Chair:

Congratulations.

Mr. Darkins:

Mr. President, I'd like the members of the Guild and the people from The Harriet Tubman to come up.

Mr. President, the Mayor welcomed these people here today and I thought that was so kind and so wonderful. As you see, they're all women and the Mayor is a woman and this is their 75th Anniversary. The Mayor said she's right along there somewhere.

Mr. Darkins presents

No. 1891 WHEREAS, the Harriet Tubman Guild is celebrating its 75 years of service to the Greater Pittsburgh community and was founded by Mrs. Abraham Lincoln; and

WHEREAS, The Harriet Tubman Guild is a non-profit organization that seeks to meet the needs of the disadvantaged and underprivileged; and

WHEREAS, The Harriet Tubman Guild first established the Harriet Tubman House located at 7921 Frankstown Avenue and thereafter built the Harriet Tubman Terrace apartments located at 550 Negley Run Boulevard in 1969; and

WHEREAS, The Harriet Tubman Guild has operated these facilities with the mission of serving the elderly, handicapped, displaced and low-income people; and

WHEREAS, The Harriet Tubman Guild has established ten adult chapters and one youth chapter while continuing to serve the Pittsburgh community with dignity and pride; and

WHEREAS, The Harriet Tubman Guild is an organization most worthy of honor and recognition.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Council of the City of Pittsburgh does hereby proclaim December 18, 1990 as Harriet Tubman Guild Day in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Darkins moved to adopt the resolution.

Mr. Milliones seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Darkins:

We have the President here today.

President:

Thank you so very much and we are quite proud of our home because it does help people who are underprivileged. We have 56 units in the Harriet Tubman Terrace and we have some handicapped. It is the only building that has been built by Negroes. Of course, we have integrated also; we have White families there and we're very happy to have them all. And we're hoping that those of you at some time or another will come out and see the work that the women do and how they maintain the building at 550 Negley Run Boulevard.

Speaker:

To the City Councilmembers, I am happy to be here today and I deem it a great privilege and an honor for Bishop Councilman Darkins to invite us down here to give us this proclamation. We have worked hard and we are proud of our work. Thank you.

Speaker:

Good morning to City Council. We are happy to be present today. I serve as one of the Vice Past Presidents of the Harriet Tubman Guild and Chairperson of the Social Service Committee for the Harriet Tubman Guild.

We're delighted to be here today and so glad that you take time out of your busy schedule to look at us and see that we're at work for Kingdom Building.

We want to thank Dr. Darkins for inviting us and we cherish the 75 years that we have worked. Some of us weren't there in the beginning but we're here now and we really appreciate you having this time to give us. Thank you so very much.

Speaker:

To Reverend Darkins, Members of City Council, it is indeed a pleasure to be here this morning and we appreciate your recognizing the work that the Harriet Tubman Guild, Inc. has done. We feel it has been a very important mission to provide housing for disadvantaged individuals. We hope to continue the work and we thank you again.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

Mr. Milliones presented

Bill No. 1881

Reports of Committees on Finance for December 11, 1990 transmitting sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 1706

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of a warrant to Sharon L. Brentley and Mark A. Brentley, her husband, in the amount of $15,000.00 in full settlement of claim for personal injuries, and providing for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 1755

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of a warrant in favor of Sciulli Brothers, Inc. in the amount of $13,942.89 for the final payment of an Emergency Contract to perform repairs on Clarence Street between Greenleaf Street and Well Street, in the 19th Ward of the City of Pittsburgh; and providing for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 1756

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of a warrant in favor of Consolidated Rail Corporation in the amount of $8,142.15 in payment of railroad flagging expenses incurred during the Reconstruction of the Larimer Avenue Bridge; and providing for the payment thereof."

Which was read.

Also,

Bill No. 1768

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution providing for the issuance of a warrant or warrants in the amount of Forty-Seven Thousand Nine Hundred Eighty-One and 58/100 ($47,981.58) Dollars, for payment, without previous authority of law, to Mon Valley Petroleum, for payment in full in connection with the City's gascard program."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, on Bill 1768, the infamous Mon Valley Petroleum gasoline credit card system that we implemented last year and a half, I realize this is a warrant in the amount of over $47,000 and we have to pay it, but I would ask that this year, since the Administration is touting the line or being more fiscally responsible in terms of its expenditures, I would ask that they review the gasoline credit card system.

This is a program that was sold to Council originally with a dollar figure of $300,000. This year alone, over $600,000 was expended with dubious benefit. We know full well that there are gasoline pumps available at Public Works locations throughout the City which could be utilized as far as supplying gasoline fuel for our vehicles be it emergency vehicles, Public Works, etc.

So, I would hope that in approving this today, we send a message to the Administration to once again review the expenditures.

The Chair:

Is there any further discussion on the bills?

And on the question, "Shall the bills pass finally?"

The ayes and noes were taken agreeably to law, and were:

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(BEGINNING - MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NOS. 1778 AND 1779, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1990)

Mr. Cohen:

Director, we had just approved a license for a bridge by Presbyterian Hospital over Darragh Street I believe it was. Is this related to that?

Dir. Gaetano:

Indirectly this ties a lot of their complex together, yes.

Mr. Cohen:

Could you explain what this is please?

Dir. Gaetano:

One's a tunnel and one is electric lines. We did have a resolution up here but the initial resolution that you did pass included telephone lines and telephone lines should not be included. There's a franchise agreement that they have to pay for that. There's already approval for that and they deal with Brother Richard and pay the City a fee on. Electric lines, other than the initial permit, this is underground conduit that connects a couple of your buildings; that's all that is. The tunnel is an actual pedestrian tunnel that goes from Presbyterian across DeSoto and to the other complex of buildings they have there.

Mr. Cohen:

If I recall, the bridge was over Darragh Street. Does our new fee arrangement apply to this?

Dir. Gaetano:

Absolutely.

Mr. Cohen:

So we're going to get more money for this than we would have a month ago.

Dir. Gaetano:

We will get a little bit more than double, yes.

Mr. Cohen:

Do you recall how much it is?

Dir. Gaetano:

It's $1,000.00. It was $500.00 before and with the other two things that are on there, it would be something like $1400.00 compared to $500.00 before.

Mr. Cohen:

Thank you, Director.

Mr. Ferlo presented

Bill No. 1883

Reports of Committees on Planning, Housing and Development for December 11, 1990 transmitting one ordinance and sundry resolutions to Council.

Which was read, received and filed.

Also, with an affirmative recommendation,

Bill No. 1696

An Ordinance entitled, "An Ordinance amending the Pittsburgh Code, Title Five - Traffic, Article VII - Parking, Chapter 549 - Residential Parking Permit Program, Section 549.13 - Parking Permit Fees and Exception, by providing for an increase in the cost of the permit from Ten Dollars ($10.00) a year to Twenty Dollars ($20.00) a year."

Which was read.

Mr. Ferlo:

On Bill 1696, Mr. Chairman, I'd like to make a motion to amend the Parking Permit Fees and Exception on making the Residential Sticker Parking Program $15.00. There's an amendment on the table.

Mr. Cohen seconded the motion.

Mr. Ferlo:

Very briefly, Mr. Chairman, this is an increase doubling the amount from $10 to $20 for the Residential Sticker Parking Program. It's an effective program; however, I think it's important that all of our increases this year at least be realistic and fair and I don't think a doubling of that fee is fair.

Secondly, the major institutions have caused this problem in the first place, be it the University community or large institutions elsewhere, many of which are in my district. The neighborhoods need relief and that's why all of us are supportive of the Residential Sticker

Parking Program. But to raise the fees from $10 to $20, I think, is unfair. I think it should be a gradual increase and the amendment here is intended to make that a gradual increase, raising the fee from $10 to $15.

Mr. Milliones:

May I ask, Mr. Ferlo, what is the amount of revenue that would be lost as a result of it?

Mr. Ferlo:

If we go by the Administration's figures, it would be about $30,000 to $35,000. The Administration, on the $20 figure, I believe indicated a sum of $65,000 in the budget for revenues received as a result of raising it to $20. So I would assume, then, if we're only raising it to $15, that it would be a lost of $30,00 to $35,000.

Michelle Madoff:

My understanding, if memory serves me well, the purpose in doubling the fee was that you've got sticker parking but you don't have anywhere to park because nobody is doing the enforcement. So, you pay $10 and you get virtually nothing. But if you pay $20, they're going to spend the difference of the money making sure that you indeed have a parking space. And it would seem to me that it's $20 for what period of time?

The Chair:

One year.

Michelle Madoff:

One year. And it would seem to me that if I could really park in front of my address, somewhere where I lived, and have the cars removed, it would be well worth the money because the $10 is a throw away if you can't park. And the $20 with surveillance and making sure you will have a place, to me seems to be a bargain.

Mr. Regan:

I have a lot of respect for our President Pro tem, Mr. Ferlo, but you're only talking about $5. And if you can own a car, you sure could take care of $5 over 365 days of the year.

Mr. Cohen:

Mr. President, I opposed the increase from $10 to $20 in a large part of my discussion last Wednesday with the Director of City Planning. I don't see any firm commitment on the part of the Administration to increase enforcement of Sticker Permit Parking.

And what's more, if you look at the map of the City and where the permit parking areas are, you'll see that they are close to large institutions like the universities and like the hospitals. And there hasn't been any attempt by the Administration to try to get those institutions to help pay for this increase in permit parking.

And for that reason, I don't think that this raise is an appropriate one until we see the Administration at least extend its hand to try to get the institutions to contribute to it and, more importantly, to commit to increasing enforcement. This increase in the fee without increasing enforcement doesn't make sense.

Mr. Ferlo:

In response to my colleague, Michelle, because I think she raised an excellent point, I think that if there were going to be increased enforcement I would not be offering this amendment and I would certainly vote for the $20. I voted no on the increase to the $20 and I'm asking for support today.

If the Administration were sincere in that statement, Michelle, the budget would be reflective in that commitment, and it's not reflective in the budget. The budget does not indicate an increase in the number of parking meter patrol officers. It's the same number budgeted as last year. If that sincerity were real, it would have manifested itself in the budget. That did not happen and this is basically just an attempt to raise revenue.

The Chair:

If I may add one point. The Administration has made a commitment towards increased enforcement and I would expect them to follow through with it.

Michelle Madoff:

On the same point, Mr. Chairman. I think that did come up at the table and the question was raised. I think some very valid questions are being raised here. I think Mr. Cohen is right; the institutions have an obligation to help the City with the enforcement and offset the cost. But my understanding when the question was asked at the table, that Jane Downing said, "It is in another code account that we have budgeted for additional inspection". Now, I think that we can always change our minds on Friday but I think we should let it ride the way it is because we have some other very serious issues to deal with and I don't think the $5 is really going to make or break the City. But I think we need to get people -- If we're giving them sticker parking, then let's give it to them. Let's not kid them. And we do need the enforcement.

Mr. Regan:

We keep beating up on these institutions. Allegheny General Hospital on the North Side, for example, employees 1100 people from the North Side. They arrange low interest loans for people to buy houses. They've worked arrangements to try to employ a lot of people. We just can't be beating up on institutions all the time. I think there are certain things that are fair and we should go after them, but there are other things that aren't fair. We're talking about $5 here, a difference of $5.

Bill No. 1718

A Resolution entitled, "Resolution authorizing the Director of the Department of Parks and Recreation to increase fees and charges at the Schenley Park Golf Course, effective January 1, 1991." (AS AMENDED IN COMMITTEE)

Which was read.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. President, on Bill 1718 regarding the Schenley Park Golf fees increases, I'd like to make two motions. The first one would be to amend the bill by reducing the proposed new adult seasonal fees from $250 to $175.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Mr. Coyne:

I think it's a fair increase. It's going up from currently $125 and I think it greatly affects the senior citizens who play golf up there. I think it's a fair increase and one that the City can live with.

The Chair:

Mr. Coyne, do you want to take them both together?

Mr. Coyne:

I would rather take them both apart if I could.

The Chair:

Okay.

Michelle Madoff:

Discussion. I was lobbied by the same people. They're old friends of mine from my former district, Squirrel Hill, for the most part.

And my sense was that they're not objecting to the $250 fee. My sense was that they're objecting to the times that they're being curtailed from having to pay an extra fee if they want to play during the time we're looking for additional revenue.

I discussed it with Louise Brown and the response was that this is not an open and shut deal. They want to try it as recommended here and if it really is unfair, if we find out that, as the people lobbying us are saying, the senior citizens who play there, that no one is using the time that they're being charged extra for, that $3 extra to play, then it will then be removed. The Administration is going to work very closely, Louise Brown particularly, with these people.

I know what this facility means to these people. I have voted with them concurrently in previous years and I think at this point they understand the problems of the City. This is a negotiated arrangement that was made between the City and the people who use this facility and I think we ought to leave it alone.

Mr. Ferlo:

I wasn't lobbied by anybody; I haven't talked to any golfers. But again, I think all of our fees across the board, including this, should be gradual increases, not drastic increases. I'm glad that the amendment is separate because I think the $250 back to $175 is fair. The occupation tax and the amusement tax were also suppose to be temporary.

Mr. Regan:

I just want to say that my colleague said about working closely with Louise Brown. Well, she's going to be the President of that great university so she's not even going to be here.

Michelle Madoff:

Well I believe that when a department head speaks, they must be speaking for the Administration. I don't think they have the authority to go ahead and do something without checking.

The Chair:

If I may just add a comment. These various changes in fees are not reflective of any changes in the budget. Every time we try to change something here, we must make further cuts in the budget. And it would have been better if we would have made these changes a week ago rather than today.

Mr. Milliones:

I have a problem supporting an amendment to decrease the fees for golfers. And I agree that every change that is made here has to be made up, balanced in the budget, and I don't see anyone adding anything but I hear everyone making amendments to withdraw revenue. And we need to deal with that. We have to have a balanced budget on Friday.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I think the accurate way to state it is that it's not a decrease; it actually is an increase from $125 to $175. So, we are increasing the fees by $50. The net loss will be $6,000 and I think if you look at the total scheme of the City's budget, $6,000 isn't going to make or break anybody.

Mr. Milliones:

But I find it hard to believe, Mr. Coyne, that golfers cannot afford the increase. As I understood it, they were more concerned about the restricted hours as opposed to the fee.

The Chair:

Procedurally, Mr. Coyne, you're wrong because there is an affirmative recommendation on a bill of which you want to amend it. So, consequently, that bill is being changed with anticipation of it being passed.

Mr. Coyne:

Of course, but from last year's seasonal fees of $125. We're still talking of an increase to $175. So, basically, 1990 and 1991 I'm not incorrect. I am correct that it is an increase in fees of $50.

The Chair:

No, you're wrong because your amendment hasn't passed yet.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. President, my second amendment would be to eliminate the $3 surcharge for restricted play.

Mr. Ferlo:

I'll second that for the purpose of discussion.

Mr. Chairman, I'm opposed to this. One of the reasons why this is a good thing that the Administration has done, if I understand the golf course's operation, is that this would enable those individuals who want to pay on the weekends to play and others, older individuals, have been afforded the annual pass and they would be able to play throughout the week.

But the weekend is the time that we need to raise revenue from the course and we should vote against this amendment.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President and Members of Council, for those of you who either were here or were following the evolvement of this golf course situation - and we were all lobbied, you may say you talked to them but it's still lobbying - did indeed come before this Council for the public hearing and pleaded for us not to lease this golf course out to private entrepreneurs. And there was a strong movement in the Administration to save money, make it a better golf course and open it up to more people, and we didn't do that. We let them keep virtually their own private little club.

But now, with the problems the City is confronted with with revenue, they have to understand they can't have that luxury and I think it is ridiculous that we're really beating this to death. There's still the opportunity to remove that fee. If nobody is using it, they're going to be able to use it without a fee and I don't think we should be interfering at this late stage of the game.

The Chair:

I also want to add that Council was successful in getting the Administration to submit reductions in fees last week to the original bill plus make commitments on enhanced maintenance at the course.

Is there any further discussion on the motion?

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. President, as the year draws to a close and the Governor moves to approve the Capital Budget of the Commonwealth, we're all aware, as is the Governor, of the major projects of interest that are occurring in the City of Pittsburgh. However, there are certain projects that are lesser known which are proposed in the State's Capital Budget and these are of significant importance to the City of Pittsburgh.

In the Capital Budget, an $8.5 million line item exists for the future progress at the South Side electric furnaces, and another line item for $1.5 million has been proposed for improvements at the former Hays Ammunition Site. These two projects hold great significance to the future economic health of the City and I'd like to make a motion that a letter be sent to the Governor and to the Budget Secretary saying that City Council supports these two areas of endeavor in City and hopefully that we will see them come to fruition next year.

Mr. Regan seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

On another matter, Mr. President and Members of Council. This morning all Members of Council received, and I just looked at it as I was coming into the meeting, the original copy of the agreement between the County and the City with reference to the Public Safety Building and the Jail.

On reviewing it and trying to get a little clarification, it appears that we're seeing a lot of saber rattling. And I would hope that the County Commissioners, instead of refusing to talk to the Administration, they have not returned a call since last Wednesday, would sit down at the bargaining table because I think if they do, the issue can be resolved.

It's an oversimplification but what has happened is that if the County, which has agreed to take over the lockup service when the facility is built, were to do it earlier, it would save the City approximately $1 million.

We have, from my understanding of this agreement, taken on the largest portion, the millions of dollars, of preparing the land, buying the property, and we were originally going to build our own Public Safety Building on that facility along with the County Jail. The County came back and said, "Oh, there's not enough room for you to build your own facility; therefore, would you go elsewhere?" And we said, the Administration said, "We'll look and see if we can build something nearby." And they did and they looked and they said on the parking lot we will build our facility at much greater and incurred cost to the City taxpayers, not to mention that the City taxpayers are also County taxpayers. And the soon this thing gets resolved, the less fees we're going to have to pay, fines and penalties as mandated by the Courts. And it seems that by taking over the lockover the savings to City and County taxpayers will be between $300,000 and $400,000.

I think that this is, they say saber rattling. Well, "If you don't let us do it, we're going to build a 30-story Public Safety Building" or "We're going to go to the suburbs." Well, let's look at those realistically. The impact of a 30-story jail would not be advantageous to the City. It would not be cost effective; it would be much more costly to operate. And let's talk about going to the suburbs, Mr. Commissioners. The cost of bringing your hardened criminals in here and the guards that you're going to need.

The Chair:

Councilwoman Madoff --

Michelle Madoff:

I'm almost through, please.

The Chair:

If I may interject. This issue will be on the table tomorrow.

Michelle Madoff:

wait until tomorrow.

The Chair:

Michelle Madoff:

Michelle Madoff:

The Chair:

I don't want to see us get into a debate on this issue when, in fact, we're voting on the bills possibly tomorrow. And I think we should debate it at that time. Therefore, there's not going to be anymore discussion on the issue.

Michelle Madoff:

I'm just making a statement urging the Commissioners to meet

Mr. Regan:

Can I respond?

The Chair:

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, I would just like to point out for my colleagues on Council that this is out of all the positions that were eliminated from Mr. Flaherty's office, this is the only one that is currently filled. The woman has just left another job to take this position and I think it's sort of unfair on Council's part to move to get rid of this position when she is in there and she left her former job. As far as I know she's a good woman, she's a hard worker in the community, and I just think that Council should keep the position.

Mr. Milliones:

Mr. President, I will remind Mr. Coyne that this position was filled after Council made the preliminary vote not to fill the position, to eliminate the position.

Mr. Coyne:

Mr. Chairman, the woman was hired in mid-November and because of the length of time it takes for the paperwork --

Mr. Milliones:

As I understand it, the hire was made after we had the preliminary vote to eliminate the position.

Mr. Coyne:

To correct Mr. Milliones, Mr. Chairman, the woman was hired prior to that. She didn't start work until after that because of the time period of City paperwork.

Mr. Ricciardi:

If I may, President Wagner, we all know the paperwork involved in both the private and public sector and after some conversation with Personnel and Civil Service the paperwork with City government is approximately two to three weeks.

Also, I'd like to point out that this is a Civil Service job which means the person that did fill it on Monday is qualified for the position. I would hate to see a person who is qualified who went through two or three weeks of paperwork become involved in any type of pawn in a possible game of chess.

So, I will support this and respectfully ask my colleagues also to support this appointment.

Michelle Madoff:

I sound like a broken record but with a $2.5 million budget in the Controller's Office and 95 jobs in tact, there's sufficient money in the Controller's Office to permit it, the placement of somebody in Materials Inspection long before the last minute appointment even though it went through November and it took some time for the paperwork, we were already approaching or into the budget procedure. If it took the Controller eight years to know that he needed to fill this job or to make provisal to make the monies available for the job, that is not the position that Council should be put in, to be scapegoats for any department. I urge my colleagues to vote no.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGES)

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1853-Wednesday, 12/19/90)

Mr. Wagner:

Discussion. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Members of Council, all of you have graciously agreed to also co-sponsor this piece of legislation. I know I have spoken with each one about it. The legislation is straightforward, in that any city employee that is called to service, whether they be in the Reserve or National Guard or any component of the U.S. armed forces called to service in the immediate future to the Middle East crisis, their pay would be adjusted based on the difference between military pay and what they make here working for the City of Pittsburgh, and their benefits would continue. This piece of legislation I must state has nothing to do with the policy of this country or diplomatic decisions that have been made, it is a piece of legislation that supports employees and their family that are concerned about serving their country. And I think it is very important that this city do what Allegheny County recently did in terms of showing our support to people that serve their country and also work for the City of Pittsburgh. So I appreciate everyone's support on the resolution, and I think it is the right signal to send.

(MR. WAGNER'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1854-Wednesday, 12/19/90)

Mr. Wagner:

Thank you again, Mr. Chairman. This piece of legislation was actually requested by Council as a result of the layoffs which have occurred with the proposed 1991 budget of approximately 35 employees. Legislation was originally sent to the Law Department and was revised prior to submission of it. The legislation pertains to a sick time accumulation with those employees. Not all employees qualify, only a handful of them are affected by the legislation, and as I indicated, it pertains to the layoffs. The effective employees have an unused sick time that under present circumstances the employee cannot be paid for that, if this legislation is not passed. The employees who are vested in the pension plan will be paid for their sick time at the same percentage as their pension under this proposed piece of legislation. An example of that would be if they are eligible for 80 percent of their pension, they will be paid for 80 percent of their unused sick time as part of this layoff. In my opinion, the bill is very fair. It is a one time only initiation for these employees, and certainly these employees were not abusers of sick time or they would not have sick time accumulated; in other words, they have been quality employees for the City of Pittsburgh and they rightfully deserve a percent of that unused sick time.

Mr. Ferlo:

Mr. Chairman, I'd like my comments brought forward.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGE)

(MR. FERLO'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO. 1875-Wednesday, 12/19/90)

Mr. Ferlo:

I will try to be very brief, since we have a discussion at length on the jail situation.

This bill was implementing and allowing the Director of Parks to implement a system of collecting fees for swimming pools. It was implemented several weeks ago; I strenuously objected to it then, I will continue to raise this issue as each new Council becomes seated. We did defeat the Administration's plan to double the fees. My basic opposition has to do with the merits of implementing these fees in the first place.

It is my contention that we have to spend close to $50,000.00 in administrative overhead to raise $125,000.00 for a net of $75,000.00 per year, based on these fees. I had suggested at the time in opposing this several years ago, that what I would rather see the Administration help lead, and I would certainly be the first to support it, is an adopt a pool kind of program. For the 33 pools that we have and for the $75,000.00 net profit that we actually net profit that we actually raise in revenue, we could adopt a pool and have community based organizations, others, raise roughly $2,000.00 to $3,000.00 per pool. I would make that pledge to raise that money for the four pools in my district, and I would hope that other Councilmembers would consider that.

Basically this gets down to the issue of whether or not we see the benefit accruing to the large number of young people throughout the city. This is money well spent. For the two and a half months the pools are open at best, oftentimes it is less because of weather conditions, I think we are being penny wise and pound foolish, that this is a program we have spent large sums of money for infrastructure, and I would like to afford the freedom of any and all individuals to utilize the swimming pools without the burden of coming down here with the pool passes, et cetera.

Which was read.

Mr. Cohen:

On Bill 1763, I'd like to make an amendment and I think it's on everybody's desk.

All of these bills deal with the Jail Agreement which includes, of course, the transfer of the North Side Lockup over to the old Public Safety Building. The amendment before you assures that there will be an amendment to the lease at the old Public Safety Building, as Executive Secretary Joe Mistick explained last Wednesday, the relocation of the North Side Lockup to the old Public Safety Building and that renovations be done there. This is supported by the Administration and is part of the deal with the County.

Mr. Ferlo seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Michelle Madoff:

On the bill as amended, I think that this is a good example of what has happened in the Year of Our Lord, 1990, where this Council has worked cooperatively whenever possible with the Administration. And here our Mayor has worked cooperatively with the Commissioners and the Commissioners with the Mayor on a very important issue.

The City and the County cannot operate as separate entities. We need each other and I believe that the problems confronting the country, the economic possibilities that could be negative. They're all to be commended and I'm delighted that it ended the way it did and I just want to thank the Administration, the Mayor and the Commissioners for listening to this Council and being responsive.

Mr. Ferlo:

On the same issue, I would respectfully request that the Administration listen to Council a lot earlier in the game and not the last minute, 11th hour theatrics that they played this year.

The issue of the lockup was raised over a year and a half ago in a post agenda that I sponsored with neighborhood groups from the North Side. At that time, Mr. DiNardo representing the Administration and General Services, made commitments to this Council over a year and a half ago. Those commitments were never filled. Some time later I objected to the fact that we provided space for the County Jail facilities because of the Cohill situation and that went on deaf ears by the Administration.

So, in the future when there are complicated arrangements and memorandums of understanding to be worked out with the Administration and County government or anybody else, I wish that those would be conveyed to this Legislative Branch of government who ultimately must decide the merit and the wisdom of the legislation.

Mr. Cohen:

I'd like my comments brought forward on this, please.

(REMARKS ON FOLLOWING PAGE)

(MR. COHEN'S COMMENTS ON BILL NO 1763-Wednesday, 12/19/90)

Mr. Cohen:

After discussing this deal with you, Mr. Mistick, and with county officials yesterday as well, I want to congratulate you, I really do. I think this is a much fairer deal for city taxpayers, frankly, and that is an important point here. But an equally if not more important point is we have an agreement that as early as yesterday it looked like we are on a collision course, today we have an agreement, an agreement which is essential to building a new jail and essential for law enforcement. I want to congratulate you.

man who has done an excellent job to please come forward and say a few words in regards to the 1991 Budget.

Mr. Milliones:

Thank you very much, Mr. President. I would like to say that the Mayor sent over a budget of $334,774,766.00 and we just passed the budget in the same amount. I want to say that that was revenue neutral in that we did not increase our estimated appropriations to balance the budget.

I think that is fiscally responsible and I would like to thank all of my colleagues for co-operating to pass this difficult budget in the spirit of cooperation. I think it was a difficult budget because any time we have to lay people off, that is difficult for all of us. However, we must remain fiscally responsible while providing at the same time the best quality of life for all of our citizens.

Happy holidays.

The Chair:

Thank you, Councilman Milliones.

We need one final motion on the effective date of the final piece of legislation being when it is signed by the Mayor.

Mr. Ferlo:

So moved.

Mr. Coyne seconded the motion.

Which motion prevailed.

Mr. Ferlo:

I just want to thank my colleague, Dr.

Milliones in his role as Finance Chairman this year. I think he did a heck of a job.

I would only ask that the budget cover be corrected. I'm Chairman of Planning, Housing and Community Development, unless Mr. President has changed my Committee.

Mr. Milliones:

It will absolutely be changed, Mr. Ferlo.

Michelle Madoff:

Mr. President, Finance Chairman, male members of this esteemed body, I would like to personally thank you for treating me with respect. This is the first Council that really has treated me as a colleague continually. It is a welcome, refreshing change, and the little token gift I have given you to relieve your tensions is just to thank you, for while we may have disagreed, we have not been disagreeable. Thank you.

Mr. Cohen:

I want to thank Councilwoman Madoff for this gift. So long as it is a non-pecuniary gift of nominal value, I will accept it enthusiastically.

Michelle Madoff:

It's under $50.

The Chair:

I would just like to add that I also compliment Mr. Milliones for doing an excellent job and each one of you for adding in a very positive sense to the budget. Certainly our budget staff did a great job, the City Clerk's office, and everyone involved. But even more so than that, the entire year on Council to me in my seven years on Council has been the most productive year of any Council in my opinion in terms of professionalism. We have dealt with a multitude of difficult issues, the gay rights issue, the jail issue, ethics legislation, and this Council has been very respectful to each other, even when we had major disagreements. I think it's a tremendous improvement over previous Councils.

Happy holidays.

Mr. Milliones:

Mr. President, we appreciate your even-handed leadership as well.

Mr. Cohen:

Second.

The Chair:

Thank you.

Mr. Regan:

Mr. President, I would like to extend a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to you and all of my colleagues on Council. I would also like to extend that to the Mayor's Office because they have to run a tough ship. It's easy throwing something at the other guy.

And I'd like to congratulate you, Mr. Wagner. You're a very even-tempered guy which I think helped the rest of us.

I'd like to thank Jake Milliones as the Finance Chairman. I think he did a tremendous job. I guarantee you, I'm not afraid of anybody but I'm afraid of Jake.

And I'd like to thank the Little Flower, the President Pro Tem, when he had to fill in. It's a shame that we weren't prepared when he filled in, brother; we would have ripped him up.

And I'd like to thank the TV crew who I think did a tremendous job. It's not easy focusing some of us in.

I'd like to thank the Pittsburgh media. I honestly think they're the finest media in the United States. They write what they think is right. I don't think they take any cheap shots.

I'd like to thank Mr. Perry and his staff. Without you people we couldn't have done it.

And I'd like to personally extend all the holidays good wishes to you. Thank you.

Mr. Ferlo:

Since we're thanking everybody, I'll thank the taxpayers for giving us the revenue to spend and argue about for the last six weeks.

And I know the Mayor is going to kill me for saying this, but I want to wish the Mayor a happy birthday in a couple of days.

Mr. Darkins:

I would just like to say ditto to everything that has been said.

And on the motion of Mr. Milllones

Council adjourned.
